THINGS ABOUT TOWN AND COUNTY.

—Prof. J. C. Weirick, of Howard, has been elected superintendent of the public schools at Ashland, Pa., at a salary of $1,700 a year.

—Miss Belle Lowery entertained a dozen of her young lady friends at a porch party on Monday evening. The time was mostly spent in playing five hundred.

—Fred Lane, who the past year has been solicitor for the American Union Telephone company in this place, has been transferred to Lock Haven, where he will continue in the same line of work.

—Dr. W. U. Irwin, of Unionville, is now driving a new 1917 model, six cylinder Buick touring car, received only a few days ago. The doctor will use the car in his extensive practice as well as for the pleasure of himself and family.

—P. H. McGarvey & Co. is the name of a new firm which has opened up an auto supply store on Bishop street in the room formerly occupied by G. S. Clement. They will handle the U. S. tires and a full line of auto supplies.

—Mrs. James C. Furst narrowly escaped serious injury when accumulated gas in the oven of her stove exploded Sunday morning. As it was her eyebrows were burned off, her hair considerably singed and her face slightly burned.

—The Bellefonte Central train crew discovered a dead deer lying in the field on "Squire Archey's" farm near Pine Grove Mills, on Tuesday. The deer had been dead several days, but the men were unable to discover the cause of death.

—While swimming in the old axe factory dam at Axe Mann on Tuesday Fred Miller, the thirteen year old son of Mr. and Mrs. George C. Miller, fell from the bank into the water, striking his left arm on a stone and breaking the bone between the wrist and elbow.

—The summer session for teachers at State College closed last Friday and the eleven hundred or more teachers all left for their respective homes that day and Saturday. About one hundred more teachers were in attendance this year than last, or an increase of about ten per cent.

—Harold Manley, son of attorney W. B. Manley, of Altoona, was drowned on Monday evening in the Juniata reservoir at Wopsy station where he and several companions had gone to swim. Young Manley was a student at State College, and intended returning to that institution in September.

—Mr. and Mrs. John Robinson, of Belington, W. Va., have announced the engagement of their daughter, Miss Mary Robinson, to Nevin J. Wetzel, a son of the late Hon. J. H. Wetzel, of Bellefonte. The prospective bridegroom is now employed at the DuPont powder plant at Carney's Point, N. J.

—Mr. and Mrs. Robert W. Wray will move the first of October from East Brady, Pa., to Newark, N. J., Mr. Wray having been made master mechanic at the P. R. R. shops at Jersey City. Mrs. Wray and her son are spending the summer at Ocean City, where Mr. Wray joins them for the week-ends.

—The Ammerman building on Bishop street has been leased by the Singer Sewing Machine company, who took possession of the same yesterday. This is the first time the building has been occupied since it was used by the Vintena company, owing to the long litigation between the company and the Misses Ammerman on the question of damages.

—Miss Zoe Meek has been appointed postmistress at Clarence to succeed Charles H. Watson, who has filled the office a number of years. Miss Meek at one time was superintendent of the public schools in South Phillipsburg but the last few years has been teaching in Clarence and has the reputation of being unusually adept in teaching Slavish children the English language. She will now relinquish her work as a teacher.

—Along the line of economical retrenchments the Pennsylvania railroad company is cutting down the number of section hands. On the Lewisburg and Tyrone road the change has already been made and George Sherry is now foreman on the section which reaches from Bellefonte to Oak Hall. Ordinarily this was in two sections. In order to facilitate the men in getting around small motor cars have been purchased for the use of the gang, and Mr. Sherry and crew put theirs in use for the first time on Wednesday morning.

Troop L Out of Quarantine.

Down to Hard Work at Drilling. All the Boys Enjoying the Best of Health.

By Corp. Harry J. Cohen.

Camp Thomas J. Stewart, El Paso, Texas, Aug. 5th. It doesn't seem quite fair that while all the fellows are sporting in town this afternoon I must still be penned up as if our quarantine hadn't been lifted, but such is the case. This morning Captain Huff gave us a final chest and throat inspection and immediately the announcement rang forth that Troop L was once more in its own sphere and a power to be reckoned with. But as for myself it just happens to be my Irish luck (even though my name is Cohen) that my turn of having charge of quarters should fall on this eventful day. The announcement of this news brought forth three big hurrahs followed by a tiger.

The week as a whole rolled by without any real important happenings, but we were given an insight into real war-fare the early part of the week when we took up for instruction patrol duty, followed by battle formations, and all the rushes, charges and the different movements pertaining thereto. These instructions were such that we were out of the vicinity of our camp for about three hours at a time, and often across the line that divides Texas from New Mexico. The country there is about opposite from where we are camped, and while we were maneuvering on the base of Mt. Franklin, of the Sierra Nevada range, we had time to notice the abundance and the different varieties of cactus and other wild plants which abounded there.

One thing was evident, and that was that while we are encamped on a sand desert, and consequently in the midst of sand storms, on the New Mexico side it is all loose stones. Sergeant Shreffler remarked that he would a whole lot sooner be overtaken by a sand storm than by a stone storm. Judging by the size of the stones, all seemed to agree with him in this matter. It must be said, however, that so far as picturing a scene, words cannot describe the beauty of the wild life characteristic with this part of the country.

I had promised to report the case against "Tip" Sanford for maintaining a nuisance. The same was pulled off without a hitch, and Sanford and the dog were found guilty. Of course it was up to us to find out which one was the nuisance and Sanford's attorney, Corporal Yeager, pleaded for a new trial, which was granted. But the poor pup got loose on Wednesday last week and we haven't seen hide nor hair of him since. Sanford is not the same boy he was, and refuses to be consoled over his loss.

Also I must mention here as a puff for myself that my letters in the "Watchman" have created such a wonderful world-wide reputation for me that my genius has at last been recognized and I was chosen as the dignified stenographer of the court. My first job was taking care of the notes in the case of the Troop vs. J. A. Robinson, of Milesburg, charged with the wilful neglect of government property, in not remembering where he placed his rifle (grave charge.) After deliberating pro and con between District Attorney Deering and Robinson, who refused the aid of counsel, he was found guilty and sentenced to the woodpile for one hour each day for an entire week. There is also a similar charge pending against one Sherman Lowry, of Coleville, and if he has any friends in Eggtown they had better get busy, as it looks real blue for the boy.

We are looking forward now to the issuing of horses, which may happen any day, and every man has been given minute instruction on the saddling and bridling of the horse. We get the loan of a mule every afternoon for this purpose. The picket line is now up and every evening will find us clearing a new drill field of all undergrowth, so as to be in readiness with all detail.

This morning we had our first regimental review, and was inspected on the field by Col. Wood and in our quarters by Major Fetzer. We are now sandwiched in between the infantry on the south and the artillery on the north, and while our regiment is not blessed with a band, still music always permeates the air from both sides of us. These branches of the Pennsylvania service were formerly located at Camp Pershing, close to Fort Bliss, but after we were comfortably placed they were moved north on either side of us, and have made things quite home-like to us.

The health of the Troop is now better than at any time since we landed here, and as the isolation camp for the measles has been abandoned we are together again plugging our way to efficiency under the direction of our capable officers.

Kindly do not take much interest in the snake stories you hear so much about, as they are the result of an imaginative mind more than a reality, and only tend to worry the people at home.

Regards to all friends from the members of Troop L.

—Henry J. Darenkamper, of Lock Haven, has been appointed a guard in the hospital at the new penitentiary at Rockview, going to work on Saturday of last week.

—Dr. H. A. Surface, the State Economic Zoologist, has finally decided that it is no use to buck against the powers higher up, and has announced that he will step down and out of office on August 15th, the time limit given him by Secretary of Agriculture Charles E. Patton.

—Mrs. Solomon Poorman, an aged lady residing in Bush's Addition, fell down a flight of stairs on Sunday morning and broke the small bone in her right fore arm just above the wrist joint. A year or so ago she fell and broke her leg and Sunday's fall, while not causing a re-fracture, injured that member quite painfully.

—The man never was born who did not at one time or other enjoy the beauties of nature and the average man, woman and child of today appreciates the motion pictures. They combine the beauties of nature with the highest development of art and are always a study for mankind. The scenic is the place in Bellefonte where the very newest and best motion pictures can be seen each evening. No holdovers or no state pictures, everything up-to-date.

—Quite a number of Bellefonte people attended the Methodist day gathering at Lakemont park, Altoona, last Thursday. In addition to those going on the train two of the Emerick motor buses went up loaded and M. R. Johnson took a load up in his car. Between fifty and seventy-five ministers were present from the Central Pennsylvania conference while the chief speaker was Bishop Luther B. Wilson, of New York, who appeared in place of Bishop McDowell, who was prevented from attending on account of illness.

—Commissioner of Labor and Industry John Price Jackson and Mrs. Jackson, of Harrisburg, have issued invitations for the marriage of their daughter, Miss Mary Kathryn Jackson, to Frank Winthrop Reynolds, of New York, the ceremony to take place at the Jackson home on Saturday, August 26th. The officiating minister will be Rev. William N. Hubbell, of New York, a cousin of the bride. Only the immediate relatives will attend the ceremony but many invitations have been issued for the reception afterwards.

—Bellefonte has always felt proud of the excellent service given by the hotels of the town. In fact it is only speaking the truth when we say that we do not know of a town in which all the hostilities are up to the class held by those that Bellefonte boasts. Just now, when auto touring is so popular, travelers from all sections with whom we have come in contact are loud in their praise at the splendid manner in which they are conducted and the excellence of the food served. All of this redounds to the good name of our town, because strangers who are pleased do not fail to carry away pleasant memories of the place and to recount them to their friends.

—When Rabbi J. Leonard Levy, of Pittsburgh, was in Bellefonte for his lecture at the Chautauqua two weeks ago, he took a walk around the town on a sort of trip of inspection. Arriving at the Garman building on the corner of High and Spring streets his attention was attracted to the cabinet display of photographs of Miss Mary McGarvey's studio. So impressed was he with the artistic nature of the work displayed that he ascended the stairs, briefly interviewed that young lady and arranged for an immediate sitting, having his picture taken in different poses. Rabbi Levy has undoubtedly been a much photographed man, and his prompt decision to be photographed by Miss McGarvey is quite a compliment to her skill and genius as a photographer.

—Twenty-eight women representing the Centre county Suffrage association, drove to Altoona Wednesday, in two of the big yellow busses to attend the all-day inter-county conference rally held at Lakemont park. The meeting, which was in charge of Mrs. C. E. Kiernan, fourth vice president of the Pennsylvania Woman Suffrage association, of Somerset, was called to discuss general organization plans and to inaugurate field work connected with the better health campaign, which will be taken up this fall under the direction of Dr. Samuel G. Dixon, State Health Commissioner. In the absence of Dr. Dixon, Charles W. Webbert, general state health inspector, made the address of the day, talking upon the infantile paralysis epidemic and the new model health regulation, which these women will endeavor to have adopted throughout the State. The delegates and their chairmen from twelve counties were hospitably entertained by the Altoona Suffrage association, whose guests they were for lunch.

—John Bullock, a son of L. C. Bullock, of State College, returned home on Monday morning from Detroit, Mich., and had an interesting story to tell of being down at El Paso, Texas, in the interest of the Packard Motor company. He saw all the members of Troop L and shook hands with every one of them.

—Miss Marion Spangler, of New York City, and her niece, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Brown, came to Bellefonte this week for a visit with Miss Spangler's grandmother, Mrs. James McCullough. Although from New York, the child passed the strict quarantine, owing to having come from an uninfected district of the city.

—Mr. and Mrs. M. R. Sample came from Philadelphia Saturday to spend several weeks with Mrs. Sample's relatives here and at State College. During their stay in Bellefonte they will be guests of Mrs. G. Fred Musser, and while at the College will visit with Mrs. Philip Foster. When returning home they will be accompanied by their son Edgar.

—Dr. Hugh L. Fry, son of Capt. W. H. Fry, of Pine Grove Mills, and who the past two years has been located in middle Tennessee doing government work, was last week transferred north to Kendallville, Ind., to engage in educational work and likes the change very much. Dr. Fry is a graduate of the University of Pennsylvania class of 1909.

—All told about two thousand people attended the big festival given by Our Boys band of Milesburg on Saturday evening. Both the Howard and Runville bands were present and they were not at all stingy with their music. The band boys cleaned up just $196.00.
