His sight being impaired by the hot rays of the sun shining against his bed accounts for him being tardy in putting three of his plans upon record.

CROW BLACKBIRD

(Quiscalus quiscula)

Length, twelve inches. Shorter by at least three inches than the other grackles with trough-shaped tails. Black, with purplish, bluish, and bronze reflections.

Range: Breeds throughout the United States west to Texas, Colorado, and Montana, and in southern Canada; winters in the southern half of the breeding range.

Habits and economic status: This blackbird is a beautiful species, and is well known from its habit of congregating in city parks and nesting there year after year. Like other species which habitually assemble in great flocks, it is capable of inflicting much damage on any crop it attacks, and where it is harmful a judicious reduction of numbers is probably sound policy.

It shares with the crow and blue jay the evil habit of pillaging the nests of small birds of eggs and young. Nevertheless it does much good by destroying insect pests, especially white grubs, weevils, grasshoppers, and caterpillars. Among the caterpillars are army worms and other cutworms. When blackbirds gather in large flocks, as in the Mississippi valley, they may greatly damage grain, either when first sown or when in the milk.

In winter they subsist mostly on weed seed and waste grain.

New Guinea and Cameroons Stamps.

The "ship type" of postage-stamp for Germany's second oldest colony, New Guinea, or New Britain, as it is now, also dated only from 1900, and was replaced in September, 1914, by some of the most interesting of the "occupation" stamps issued by the British authorities. The name German New Guinea was somewhat of a misnomer, the more so as the seat of Government was situated at Herbertshohe, on Gazelle Island, in the Bismarck Archipelago. At one time Germany had aspirations of altering the name to German Australia, but it didn't come off. The Cameroons, too, were not blessed with their Hehenzollern postage-stamps until the end of 1900, and the extinction of this unhappy type has been accomplished by the overprinting of the surplus stocks with the initials "C. E. F." (Cameroons Expeditionary Force) by the British authorities, and quite recently by wording in French signifying France's part in the administration of this territory.—Westminster Gazette.

One Instance of H. C. L.

"Yes," the shoemaker said, as he wrapped up a pair of shoes he had just half soled, "there seems to be no end to the rise in prices. The sole leather that I bought twenty years ago for twenty-three cents a pound now costs me sixty-eight cents. Here are the bills and you can see for yourself."

"Has the rise been sudden?"

"No, it has been gradual and continuous."

With sole leather costing three times as much as it did twenty years ago, one has at least a glimpse of the increased cost of living.—Columbus Dispatch.

Truth Triumphs

BELLEFONTE CITIZENS TESTIFY FOR THE PUBLIC BENEFIT

A truthful statement of a Bellefonte citizen, given in his own words, should convince the most skeptical about the merits of Doan's Kidney Pills. If you suffer from backache, nervousness, sleeplessness, urinary disorders or any form of kidney ills, use a tested kidney medicine.

A Bellefonte citizen tells of Doan's Kidney Pills.

Could you demand more convincing proof of merit?

Fred Scott, 247 E. Lamb St., Bellefonte, says: "I have to drive quite a bit over rough roads and the jolting had a bad effect on my kidneys. The trouble started with pains across the small of my back and if I stooped, I could hardly straighten without sharp pains across my loins. Doan's Kidney Pills were recommended to me by friends and I got a box at Green's Pharmacy Co. They brought me relief from the first. One box made a cure and I have not had the slightest backache since."

Price 50c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mr. Scott had. Foster-Milburn Co., Props., Buffalo, N. Y. 61-33

Dogs of War in Holland.

Dogs have always been used in the low countries as the motive power for light carts and in towing ships in the canals. Now a special variety of machine-gun dog of war is being bred, resembling the Eskimo dogs in their vitality and high spirits. They keep cheerful and efficient long after the human machine has yielded to fatigue. —National Geographic Magazine.

For forty years Hood's Sarsaparilla has been more successful than any other medicine in expelling humors and removing their inward and outward effects. It is distinguished for its thoroughness in purifying the blood, which it enriches and invigorates.
