

MARRIAGES.

MARTIN-BENNINGSON.—A pretty wedding occurred at the home of Mrs. Margaret Benningson, at Howard, on Tuesday, when her daughter, Miss Helen G. Benningson, was united in marriage to Mr. Byron Martin, of Mansfield, Ohio. The ceremony was performed by Rev. W. F. Carson in the presence of about fifty guests. The bride was beautifully attired in a gown of white georgette crepe, with veil and carried white roses. Following a delicious wedding breakfast Mr. and Mrs. Martin left for a wedding trip to Buffalo and on the Great Lakes, after which they will go to Lansing, Mich., where their home is already furnished.

SHIRK-FINICLE.—Stanley Shirk and Miss Ruth Finicle, both of Lewistown, motored to Bellefonte Tuesday of last week and at eleven o'clock were united in marriage by Dr. E. H. Yocum, at the Methodist parsonage on Linn street, the ring ceremony being used. They came to Bellefonte because they were both members of Dr. Yocum's congregation when he preached at Lewistown. They returned to Lewistown the same afternoon and left on a two week's wedding trip through the middle west, where they both have relatives.

WATKINS-MANN.—James E. Watkins and Miss Daisy M. Mann, both of Curtin township, were married at five o'clock on Wednesday afternoon of last week, by Squire G. Wash Rees, at his office in the Lyric theatre building.

Worthy of Their Hire.

Dr. Ezra H. Yocum, pastor of the Bellefonte Methodist church and who is revered abroad as well as at home, was in Altoona on Monday attending the conference in the Eighth Avenue Methodist church, held in the interest of the intensive annuity fund of the Central Pennsylvania conference, and voiced his sentiments in the matter as follows:

"The day is coming when every man who gives years of service to a certain line of work will receive a pension. I am interested in this movement," continued Dr. Yocum, "as in every movement that pertains to the work of the church of Christ, not for selfish reasons, but for the honor of the church. The church owes the man who gives a life service, a life support, and she cannot be true to the teaching of her Lord unless she gives him a competency when he can work, and adequate support in his retirement. When this fund is raised the church will be able better to care for her active ministers."

John W. Vogel's New Idea.

It remained for John W. Vogel to do what, it seems to us, should have been done many years ago. Thirty years of Mr. Vogel's life have been devoted to minstrelsy and few managers in that line accomplished so much. But now Mr. Vogel is offering us what he is pleased to term an operatic, minstrel farce-comedy; a musical show with enough minstrelsy to please those who prefer that form of entertainment. In fact, "Japland,"—for that is the title of the vehicle used by Mr. Vogel for the alliance of the several forms of amusement—contains a more than modern minstrel first part as well as a complete act of grand and comic opera, farce-comedy and extravaganza. Included in the Vogel company is Arther Deming, who has many warm, personal friends in Bellefonte. "Japland" can be seen at Garman's, Friday evening, September 30th.

Rehearing Refused in the Filler Case.

Harrisburg, September 20.—The State Board of Pardons tonight announced that it had refused to recommend commutation of the death sentence of Joseph W. O'Brien, of Philadelphia, who murdered a 9-year old boy named Goldman in Montgomery county, and also refused a rehearing to H. E. Filler, Westmoreland, sentenced to be electrocuted next week.

Filler's case, which has been in the courts for two years and reviewed by the State and United States Supreme courts, was considered by the board in June and commutation refused. Today during a plea for a rehearing, counsel for Filler presented affidavits from eleven jurors saying that if a matter of a rebate for a cash fare had been presented, they might have decided differently. District Attorney Eicher of Westmoreland, then presented papers from the jurors withdrawing their statements.

Applauds President Wilson.

From the New York Herald.
The country has just escaped a railroad strike which threatened to involve the entire country, which menaced our national peace, our national existence; which would have dislocated the entire social fabric and might have led to a long procession of ills so serious that to contemplate them is abhorrent.

This has been avoided through the resolute action of President Wilson. The Herald, repeating what it said yesterday, says today: All honor to Mr. Wilson for having induced Congress to pass the bill which led to the rescinding of the strike order. But what individual who is engaged in criticising this act of Congress—what editor, what railroad president, what member of Congress who voted "no," what economist who would have settled the matter in some way unexplained—what single individual would have accepted the responsibility of letting the strike begin?

Death of President's Sister.

New London, Sept. 20.—Mrs. Annie M. Howe, only sister of President Wilson, died last Saturday morning after a long illness. She suffered a severe sinking spell at dawn and the end came soon. Opiates were administered to deaden the pain caused by peritonitis. Mrs. Howe was sixty years old.

Joseph Wilson, brother of the President, and Mrs. Howe's sons, Wilson and George, her daughter, Mrs. Cothran, and her niece, Miss Margaret Wilson, were at the bedside.

The remains were taken to Columbia, S. C., where burial was made on Monday. The President attended the funeral, returning to Washington on Tuesday.
