Messrs. Whiting, Nissley and Kloff came down from State College, Sunday evening and held a meeting in the United Evangelical church in the interest of the Anti-Saloon League, and all present received good advice and statistics to convince them that the use of alcoholic drinks would not help a young person secure a good position, as it has often been proven that such persons are not wanted.

Ye Old-Tyme Quilts.

Entertainments for October, from the "Woman's Home Companion."

A quilt show was the novel entertainment planned by the woman's society of a church in a progressive Western town.

Committees were appointed to search the neighboring country for examples of old-time patchwork and advertise the undertaking. Prizes were offered for the oldest quilt, the most beautiful, the most unique design, and the best workmanship.

The exhibit was held in the town hall, and was open from ten in the morning till ten at night.

The walls were hung with the gay-colored quilts, and long tables and clotheshorses were also used for the display.

Besides the old-fashioned quilts made of bright-colored bits of calico and muslin, silk piecework and knit and crocheted coverlets were shown. Some beautiful examples of modern design and handiwork were also entered in the contest.

A tea-table corner was fitted up, where young girls in old-fashioned gowns served tea, coffee, cocoa, and sandwiches, pickles and cake at a moderate charge.

An old-style New England dinner was served at 6 o'clock—chicken pie, baked beans, brown bread, cabbage salad, and pumpkin pie.

In the evening a short concert of old-time songs such as "Ben Bolt," "The Quilting Party," "When You and I were Young, Maggie," and the like, was given by singers in old-fashioned dress.

Great interest was evinced in the quilt show, throngs of people attended, and a large sum was realized for the society, for visitors all admired the popular Log Cabin and Nine Patch, the wonderful and intricate Rising Sun, Rose of Sharon, Tulips, Cherry Trees, Jacob's Ladder, and Ocean Wave.

Patterns of the old-fashioned patch-work designs were on sale and brought in a good profit for the society.

Easy Enough.

"How do you manage to tell the Robinson twins apart?" "It's very simple. If you see one of them and think it's Dorothy, it's sure to be Ruth, and vice versa."—Ex.

"So you spent a quiet vacation on the farm?" "I thought it would be, but dogs were barking, frogs croaking, and the farmer's baby was teething."—Buffalo Express.

CASTORIA

Bears the signature of Chas. H. Fletcher. In use for over thirty years, and The Kind You Have Always Bought.

German Production of French Iron.

The real reason for Germany's persistent attempt to take Verdun is said by Fernand Engender, a member of the French Chamber, to be a desire for permanent possession and use of the iron mines of Briey. His argument and statistics have been developed by Lucien Chassinage in an article published in the "Journal," of Paris.

In the opinion of this French statesman, German military leaders and diplomatists have long borne in mind the extension of boundaries to include nearby mineral resources which the empire itself lacks. Thus in 1871 the acquisition of French Lorraine brought iron mines which now produce three-fourths of Germany's total production.

Since 1897, Germany has had to buy minerals of France; and in 1913 France sold her four million tons. From that time, this Frenchman asserts, German economists recognized the desirability of acquiring such resources as the war of 1870-71 had left France, and German national aspirations concentrated on the mines of France and Belgium. He also maintains that:

Before war was declared Germany was on the mining land of Briey, and after the victory of the Marne, victorious France had no war material, no means of manufacturing war materials. Between 70 per cent. and 90 per cent. of her production of iron, of steel, of cast iron, and of steel was gone. One hundred and twenty-seven thousand tons of iron had not been able to be produced in Germany during the war. It was necessary to import iron and steel since the month of August, 1914, it would have been impossible to continue the war.

As raw material for the manufacture of great quantities of rough iron and steel, "minette" (the Lorraine material) is becoming more and more important. That mineral only can be extracted from our own ground in rapidly increasing quantities. Minette now covers from 60 per cent. to 80 per cent. of the production of iron and steel. We might count the war as very nearly lost should our production of minette be disturbed. This quotation shows how important French iron is to the Germans. They need Belgian coal for their allies and for their commerce with the neutrals. The Belgian coal mines and iron mines of Briey are the two elements that the Germans most require for their war. Loss of those elements, Deputy Engender declares, would mean the annihilation of German military power.

Panama Canal Chains.

The huge locks of the Panama Canal are guarded by massive chains stretched across the channel. No vessel can crash into the gates at any of the locks because of the fenders, placed seventy feet from each gate and near the surface of the water. If the chains are struck by a boat they gradually yield to the force, paying out to a certain distance, which depends upon the violence of the impact.

The mechanisms which regulate the chain fenders are installed on either wall. A system of hydraulic cylinders is used for raising and lowering the chains. The action of the fenders when struck by a boat is modified in part by the friction produced in the machinery, but mainly by the resistance produced by water flowing through valves.—Popular Science Monthly.

The Criminal.

"You admit then," said the Judge sternly, "that you asked this gentleman for a nickel?"

"Yes, Your Honor," replied the prisoner humbly. "I hadn't had a bite to eat for twenty-four hours, and—"

"Silence!" roared the Judge. "You are a self-convicted vagrant and I sentence you to thirty days in the county jail."

"Gee," muttered the culprit as he was being led to his cell. "I's s'pose if I'd asked the old gink for ten dollars I'd got a life sentence."—New York World.

Medical.

Out of the Gloom

MANY A GLOOMY COUNTENANCE IN BELLEFONTE NOW LIGHTENS WITH HAPPINESS.

A bad back makes you gloomy. Can't be happy with continual backache.

The aches and pains of a bad back are frequently due to weak kidneys.

Doan's Kidney Pills are recommended for weak kidneys.

So Bellefonte citizens testify.

Mrs. S. S. Leitzell, 118 E. Beaver St., Bellefonte, says: "I was troubled by backache in a severe form and I was nervous and ran down. Dizzy spells were common. The kidney secretions caused me annoyance. Doan's Kidney Pills fixed me up right good. Whenever I feel a return of the trouble, I at once get a box at Parrish's Drug Store, and they prevent the attack from becoming serious. Doan's Kidney Pills are worthy of praise."

Price 50c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mrs. Leitzell had. Foster-Milburn Co., Props., Buffalo, N. Y. 61-41

Candidates for Congress Generally for Suffrage.

A great majority of the candidates for Congress, both Democratic and Republican, have declared themselves in favor of woman suffrage, in reply to inquiries sent them by the congressional committee of the Woman Suffrage Association.

Out of 359 replies to the committee's inquiries, 308 were favorable to suffrage and an amendment to the constitution; twenty-five were unfavorable and twenty-six were non-committal.

Of the candidates in Pennsylvania, only two, Leshar, Democrat, in the Sixteenth, and Cassett, Democrat, in the Seventeenth, declared themselves against suffrage. Greist, Republican, in the Ninth, and Breakley, Republican, in the Twenty-eighth, refused to say if they would vote for a suffrage amendment if elected.

630 Acres of State Lands for Feeble-Minded Women.

The State Forestry commission approved an application to set aside 630 acres of the White Deer state forest reservation in Union county, for the State village for feeble-minded women, which is now under construction.

Several tracts were purchased in the Cumberland valley.

The Goal.

FINE GROCERIES

Fancy Wisconsin Cheese, with mild flavor. At the present market value of Cheese it should retail at 28c to 30c per pound but we still hold our price down to 25 cents. It's a fine bargain at this price.

We have made no advance on Canned Corn, Peas and Stringless Beans. At our present prices they are as good value as any food product on the market.

Our White potatoes are good size and fine quality. Also Parsnips, Onions, Turnips, Sweet Potatoes and Cabbage.

If you are not pleased with Syrup in tin cans and pails try our fine goods sold by the quart and gallon. We have a pure Sugar and a fine grade of Compound goods at 50c and 60c per gallon. Sure to please you.

California Naval Oranges—seedless. The smaller sizes are all gone for this season, but we have fancy fruit at 30c, 40c, 50c and extra large at 60c. Have just received some very fancy New Mackerel. Try them.

We have the Genuine New Orleans Molasses—new crop, light colored, heavy body to sell by the quart or gallon. It will please you.

Evaporated Peaches, Pears, Apricots, Prunes and Raisins, all at reasonable prices. Come to the store that has the goods you want.

If you are not using our Vinegar, just try it and see the difference.
