—W. Harrison Walker Esq., has received the 1917 automobile license applications and is ready to supply owners on demand.

—Though not a huntress Miss Verma Chambers was very liberal in her distribution of pheasants on Tuesday among the young ladies who work in the various offices in the court house.

—Beginning Saturday, Oct. 21st, Gregory Bros. will add a fine restaurant list to their confectionery. Everything will be of the best quality and cleanly served—Candyland. 41-11

—Just 39 to 0 is the way State trimmed the West Virginia Wesleyan football team last Saturday and tomorrow the game will be with the U. of P. on Franklin field, Philadelphia. Watch for the result.

—Calder L. Ray this week received word from the Postoffice Department that he has been placed in the line for an appointment in the railway mail service, though just how soon is not known.

—The Chapel Concert Quartette will give a concert in the lecture room of the M. E. church at Milesburg on Wednesday evening, November 1st. at eight o'clock. The admission will be only 25 cents and the public is invited.

—The Bellefonte Academy eleven has two big football games to play in the near future. The first one will be the University of Pittsburg Freshmen on Hughes field on October 28th and the Indiana Normal at Greensburg on November 4th.

—W. Fred Montgomery resigned his clerkship in the Bellefonte post office last Saturday and left for Lewistown to accept a clerkship in the office of the Standard Steel company. His place in the post office is being temporarily filled by William M. Garman.

—A little son was born to Mr. and Mrs. J. Willard Hartwick, at the Bellefonte hospital, yesterday morning. Mrs. Hartwick prior to her marriage was Miss Ruth Wetzel and the many friends of the young parents are now showering them with congratulations.

—The Ladies Auxiliary of the Bellefonte hospital cleared $235.56 at their rummage sale held in the Bush Arcade Saturday and Monday afternoons. Everything contributed was sold by five o'clock on Monday afternoon. The above amount will be placed in the general fund for improvements and support of the hospital.

—Mrs. John H. Wilson, with her three youngest children, came to Bellefonte from Altoona last Saturday and for the present will make her home with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harlan Saylor. Her eldest daughter, Miss Jeannette Wilson, will remain in Altoona indefinitely, as she has a good position there.

—Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Clayton Poorman, of Tyrone, have announced the engagement of their only daughter, Miss Caroline Poorman, to James Downes, of Tyrone, the wedding to take place in the near future. The bride to be is quite well known in Bellefonte and has frequently visited here. Mr. Downes is a well known young business man of Tyrone.

—Robert Swan, director of public works of Pittsburgh, died very suddenly and unexpectedly of heart failure, just after he had retired to bed on Saturday night. Mr. Swan, who was known in Bellefonte from having visited here on several occasions, had quite a reputation as a civil engineer and before going to Pittsburgh had been engaged in construction work in New York city.

—Manager Garman announces as an attraction for Saturday, October 28th, the three act musical-comedy, "Maid to Order," featuring Miss Rose Botti, a pretty young prima-donna. McCracken is a son of the late H. W. McCracken, and was born and raised in the Glades in Ferguson township, this county. The pastor has not made public his plans for the future.

Troop L Fought A Mimic Battle.

Stand on Sentry Duty a Half Day in a Hard Rain. Other News of Interest from the Camp.

By Corp. Harry J. Cohen. Camp Thomas J. Stewart, El Paso, Texas, Oct. 14.

It seems, although it is now almost a week since the event happened, that we will be unable to forget the pleasant surprise that was accorded us last Sunday in the form of a dinner that even landlord Horton S. Ray would have given his seal of approval to. We don't know how it all happened, but we understand the government owed us a rebate on our allowance for our mess, which we hadn't consumed during the month. A check for the amount was sent us and the big feed was the result. No doubt you would like to know how the bill-of-fare fared, so here goes: Tomato puree, chicken, mashed potatoes, cold slaw, celery, split peas, corn, pickled beets, radishes, coffee with sugar, iced lemon tea, creamed bananas, ice cream and cake and Fatima cigarettes. Some feed, indeed, and the only things that were missing were the menu cards and the silver service.

We left early Monday morning for what was to be a two days war manoeuvre and about 11 o'clock reached our base position about twelve miles north of camp, where our squadron proceeded to pitch its temporary camp. We put up our "doggie" tents and layed our equipment in front of them, so as to get the benefit of a good sunning. After dinner Troop L was called upon by the Major to act as a patrol south of the base and to send out scouts in order to locate the enemy, which happened to be the first and second squadrons. It was but an hour later when one of the severest storms we have encountered since our arrival here swept down upon us, and as we did not have our slickers with us we were all drenched to the skin. You can imagine the picture we made standing out in the desert in the downpour of rain, with a strong east wind blowing. As our orders were not to return to the base until 6 p. m., we just naturally stood there, shivering and chattering our teeth.

After a wait that seemed ages the allotted time came and we galloped back to our provisional camp, only to find our tents washed down and all our blankets floating around in the brooklets the rain had formed. Night falls pretty early now, so those who wanted to catch a wink of sleep were forced to lie down in the mudpuddles and to cover themselves with their soaked blankets. To make the scene complete, as if it weren't enough already, it rained the entire night and a more thoroughly disgusted bunch could not be found when morning finally rolled around. Capt. Curtin was asked by the first sergeant whether he wanted the usual morning setting-up exercise given the troop. "What," replied the captain, "Haven't we been setting up all night?"

Getting all our possessions together after breakfast we started south and engaged the enemy in battle about four miles from Camp Stewart. From our position along the mountain we had an unobstructed view of the hostile force and we can't see any other way but that we licked the daylight out of them, although we haven't yet heard what the referee's decision was.

Having gotten back to our camp in time for a hot dinner we were surprised to see that the rain had hardly been felt there, as the dust was almost as plentiful as ever. We were tired, and since no one suffered any ill effects from the experience, were glad that the manoeuvre was staged under those conditions. Our casualties consisted of one man missing in the person of Ray Bryan, who was captured by a hostile patrol, after giving them a warm chase and information that put them on the wrong track.

The entire regiment was under arrest on Wednesday by order of the Colonel, and no man was allowed to leave camp that day, but as that also was pay-day, we had more time to jingle our gold before the merchants of El Paso laid claim to it. It is an assured fact that the thousands of soldiers here are the makers of many fortunes for the business people of this city.

Our drills are not as strenuous as they have been and are now held mostly for the purposes of keeping the horses in shape. We have more time for ourselves and a good many of the fellows have purchased shot-guns and put in the time hunting the cottontail and jack rabbit, as well as other small game.

Wednesday, the eleventh, was exactly three months since we landed here, and a good many of us believe it is time to quit, but from the rumors we get there don't seem to be very much hope, although it hardly seems possible that we will pass the winter at this place.

As usual the fellows are all in splendid physical trim and health, and it is a rare day that any of us report to the hospital for aid. Kindest regards from the boys to the folks in Centre, and also remembrances from Boal's gun troop.

—The Ladies Aid of the Methodist church will hold an all day fair in Petrikin hall on Tuesday, September 7th, at which there will be on sale fancy work, all kinds of food stuffs and cut flowers. Special orders may be given Mrs. J. E. Ward.

—Even chestnuts have gone up. A Bellefonte merchant last week ordered a bushel and a half and when he got the bill he was asked to remit at the rate of $10.50 per bushel. He might have kept the nuts at that but when he found them four or five quarts short he returned the same. Two days later the Bellefonte merchant received a letter of thanks from the consignee, in which he stated that he had sold the chestnuts for two dollars more than originally asked.

—Hundreds of nimrods were out bright and early on Monday morning hunting for pheasant, squirrel and wild turkey, and hundreds of others were out on Monday evening hunting pleasure at the Scenic. Only partial success favored the former but the latter got all they were looking for and more. That's what keeps up the Scenic's big reputation. If you expect to see something big it's always bigger, and when you look for anything new it's always newer. That is manager T. Clayton Brown's big point in conducting the Scenic.

—The Bellefonte High school football team opened their season with a whirlwind game, last Saturday afternoon, when they defeated the Jersey Shore High by the score of 40 to 0. In fact the visitors were entirely outclassed at every period of the game. Showing such fine form in the first game, if they continue to improve during the season the Bellefonte boys should draw first count for that handsome silver loving cup offered by Mr. P. P. Griffin, of Lock Haven, as a trophy to the winner of two games out of three between the Lock Haven and Bellefonte High schools.

—Miss Mary McGarvey was the unfortunate victim of an automobile accident on Tuesday morning about eleven o'clock and as a result suffered a slight cut on the forehead, but was not otherwise injured. Miss Blanche McGarvey spent the most of last week at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Nathan Reese, at Karthaus, and Miss Mary went out on Saturday to spend Sunday. On Tuesday morning Alfred Reese, a son of Mr. and Mrs. Reese, decided to bring the young ladies home in the family Saxon Six car. Mrs. Reese and little daughter and Mrs. Meeker and young daughter came along. Coming around the curve in the road a short distance above Runville they came suddenly upon the traction engine and threshing machine of C. P. Reese, which the latter's two sons were taking up the mountain. The automobile collided with the engine, throwing Miss Mary McGarvey against the frame of the windshield. All the others in the car were somewhat shaken up but uninjured. Word was telephoned to C. P. Reese, on the mountain, who came down with his big seven passenger car and brought the ladies to Bellefonte.

—Former Bellefonte Girl Robbed of Jewelry. The following item from Monday's Harrisburg "Star-Independent" will be of interest in Bellefonte because Mrs. Hummel before her marriage was Miss Lucretia Williams, a daughter of the late George Williams, of this place.

Charged with robbing the apartment of Mr. and Mrs. V. Lorne Hummel, 107 South Front street, of jewelry valued at more than $300, Mrs. Belle Bennett, of Indiana street, a domestic at the Hummel apartment, was arrested yesterday and lodged in jail by the police. The Hummel robbery occurred on Saturday afternoon and following the arrest, in which Police Chief Wetzel, Captain Thompson and Policeman McCann and Hyland figured, most of the stolen jewelry was recovered.

Part of the stolen loot, according to the police, was found in a box in a shed which had been searched the night before by the authorities, while the remainder of the jewelry was recovered in a yard adjoining Mrs. Bennett's home. The woman denied having any knowledge of the robbery, but made statements which were contradicted by other witnesses.

Pardon Recommended for Garfinkle. The Board of Pardons at their regular meeting on Wednesday recommended a pardon for Howard Garfinkle, of Phillipsburg, convicted in the Centre county court for receiving stolen goods and now serving a term in the western penitentiary.

Only five pardons were recommended at the conclusion of the October hearing, the Board declining to ask that clemency be extended to Henry Ward Fother, aged 17, of Jefferson county, condemned to be electrocuted for murder, although judges had joined in the petition. The case of Dominick Digio, aged 18, Schuylkill county, to have been heard on Wednesday, was continued.

The Board also refused all applications for rehearings and all held over cases.

A reception was given Rev. Malcolm DePrue Maynard, the new Rector of St. John's Episcopal church Monday evening by his parishioners, at the parish house, on Lamb street.

Widow Wants Compensation.

Referee W. W. Champion, of Williamsport, will hold a hearing at Beech Creek next Monday in the matter of the claim of Mrs. Claire Mains against the Pennsylvania railroad company for compensation for herself and five children as the result of the death of her husband, Simeon C. Mains, who was struck and instantly killed on the crossing at the Beech Creek station on the afternoon of May 26th last.

Mr. Mains was crossing the railroad track in an automobile when he was struck by train 52. The railroad company disclaims liability, although at the time of the accident they offered to give Mrs. Mains a nominal sum in settlement of all claims. Mrs. Mains, by the way, was left without any support for herself and children and feels that she is justly entitled to compensation. The case is one that is exciting considerable interest in that vicinity, and the outcome will be watched with more or less interest.

Two More Cases of Infantile Paralysis.

Ferguson township had another outbreak of infantile paralysis on Tuesday when two children of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Homan, living on the Branch about a mile east of Pine Grove Mills, became ill. A consulting physician was called on Wednesday and the diagnosis of the family physician that the disease is infantile paralysis was confirmed. The two victims are Mr. and Mrs. Homan's five year old son, who is very bad, and their three year old daughter, who is suffering with only a mild attack. As a result of this fresh outbreak of the disease the Branch school was closed yesterday, as the Homan family lives close to the school house. In the meantime every precaution will be taken to prevent the spread of the disease among neighboring families in that community.

"Peg O' My Heart".

One of the greatest successes of the past decade, a play which does not depend upon the seriousness of any one theme, with no mention of any great political question, no crooks, and without the inevitable triangle or any of the deeper problems of sex, is "Peg O' My Heart," which will be at Garman's Monday evening, October 23rd. This play delighted the audience who witnessed it on its appearance here last season, and it will without doubt draw a big house next Monday evening.
