THINGS ABOUT TOWN AND COUNTY.

—Harry P. Austin, of Milesburg, went to work as a guard at the new penitentiary in Benner township on Monday.

—Dr. Ezra H. Yocum has decided to close the M. E. Parsonage on east Linn street for the winter and take a room at Mrs. Tanner's, on High street.

—Oliver P. Morgan, of Snow Shoe, last week purchased from John Johnson the Beaverton coal mine near Houtzdale and will operate the same in the future.

—Miss Sarah Wetzel has resigned her position in Katz & Co's store and accepted one with the State-Centre Electric company, in their office on High street.

—The Pennsylvania railroad company has had a gang of men at work the past two weeks putting down new plank on the crossing on High street and also leveling up the brick to bring them to grade.

—Memorial services will be held by the Bellefonte Lodge of Elks in their hall on High street on Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock. Henry Hipple, of Lock Haven, will make the Memorial address. The public is invited.

—H. C. Menold, instructor in manual arts in the High school of Bellefonte, will be married in Harrisburg during the holidays. Mr. Menold will bring his bride to Bellefonte upon his return the first of the year.

—The Aid Society of the Presbyterian church will hold a Christmas sale of fancy work in the chapel Thursday afternoon, December 7th, beginning at 2 o'clock. There will also be cakes, candy, bread, rolls, etc., for sale.

—The Pearson Coal Mining company is the name of a new coal company that is being organized by Noah H. Swayne, Charles McMakin, John C. Hollenback and Gust Pearson. They expect to begin operations in the Philipsburg region.

—The Bellefonte Academy closed the football season in Bellefonte last Saturday afternoon by defeating the Strong Mansfield Normal team by the score of 7 to 0. It was a hard fought game from beginning to end and the Academy won on merit.

—The Parish Guild of St. John's Episcopal church will hold an exchange at the Parish house on Saturday afternoon, December 2nd, at 2 o'clock. Cakes, pies, candies and other good things will be on sale. The public is cordially invited to attend.

—About four o'clock on Monday afternoon Harry Mann, of Milesburg, remarked to a friend that he guessed he'd go out and get a wild turkey for Thanksgiving. Taking his gun he went up on the point of Bald Eagle mountain and an hour or so later returned home with a sixteen pounder.

—Congressman Charles H. Rowland has filed his expense account for the late campaign which amounted to $2,432. Of the above amount $500 were given to the county committees of Centre, Clearfield, an McKean counties and $300 to Cameron, most of the balance being spent for the dissemination of information.

—Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Buckius and little child have gone to Clearfield to remain until next March and during their absence Mr. and Mrs. Paul Kirk will occupy their residence in the Cooke house on east Linn street. The Buckius family have been residents of Bellefonte since the state highway offices for this district have been located here.

—Officials of the Bellefonte Steam and Gas company are now investigating the merits of fuel oil burners for under their boilers, with a prospect of installing such burners under one battery of boilers as an experiment in furnishing heat. They claim that they are being driven to some resort on account of the scarcity and high price of coal. Dealers in Bellefonte are also complaining about the difficulty in getting all the coal they require to meet the demands upon them.

—Now that Thanksgiving day is a thing of the past there will likely be a rush of early Christmas shoppers, but this need not interfere with Bellefonters spending an hour or two each evening at the Scenic. It will help you to forget the perplexing questions of the day and give you mind a rest so that you will be able to tackle the next day's work with a clear head. And at the same time you will have had the pleasure of seeing an evening's program of high class motion pictures.

—On Wednesday Dr. Chas. T. Henning took possession of the old Hyde steel plant at Clearfield and at once began to remodel the property for the purpose of manufacturing and rolling nickle and high grade nickel steels. It will probably be March 1st before the Doctor will be able to get the plant in full blast, but he expects to be operating the nine inch mill by January 1st next. In all probability this will prove a great industry for Clearfield and the "Watchman" will give full details later as to how its operation will be linked up with certain other industrial enterprises now forming.

Many Deer Hunters on the Trail

Centre county mountains were invaded the past week by a small army of hunters for the opening of the deer season this morning. In addition to the hundreds of hunters who went out from Centre county alone there are dozens of hunting clubs from all sections of the State. Bellefonte is not as well represented this year as usual. The famous Panther hunting club did not go out, the members deciding to rest on their laurels for a year at least. The Gentzel-Miller party left Bellefonte on Monday for their old camp on Three Runs, in the Green woods, Clearfield county. A Milesburg party left on Saturday for the little Big Run section back of Orviston. Several parties from Howard and Curtin townships are encamped in the same region. Hunting parties from up Bald Eagle valley are out at Beaver Springs and other places in the foothills of the Alleghenies, while the Snow Shoe hunters are occupying their old camp on Pine Run.

Many hunting parties have located in the mountains in the vicinity of Coburn. The Coburn club is occupying a new club house on the sunny side of Thick mountain north of Cherry run. R. R. Palmer and party, of Altoona, are located on Panther run and Robert DeLisle and another party of Altoona are located at Poe Mills. J. E. Berringer and a crowd of Catawissa hunters are located at the Junction; Theodore F. Beck and party, of Rutledge, are at Cherry run; William Birdseye and party, of Turtle Creek, are in Poe valley; Calvin E. Weaklem and party of Pottsville, are at Swift run; the Snyder party is located in High valley; two parties from Reading and Lebanon are with the Lingles in Poe valley; the Peter Wingard party is at Paddy mountain; the Spring Mills party has pitched its camp on the Big Flat and the Laurelton party is on the Weikert run.

The Centre Hall, Potters Mills, Boalsburg, State College and Pine Grove Mills clubs are at their old camps in the Seven mountains, while the Roosevelt club of Gatesburg and Pennsylvania Furnace has gone into camp on Tussey mountain this year instead of the Alleghenies. Naturally every hunter that is in the woods anticipates getting a deer, but the most of them are doomed beforehand to disappointment, because if they did it would take every buck in Pennsylvania to go around.

And that reminds us of a true story told us this week of the late Aaron Hall, of Union township, who in his palmy hunting days was one of the best hunters in Pennsylvania. In one year, it is said, he killed three panthers, four bears, one of which weighed between 500 and 600 pounds, and fifty deer, not counting a large amount of small game. Of course that was forty or fifty years ago and game was more plentiful then than it is now.

C. Y. Wagner Had Narrow Escape

On Saturday evening C. Y. Wagner drove out Water street in his new Ford car to go to his home on Willowbank street. As it happened the passenger train on the Lewisburg and Tyrone railroad was late, a fact he did not know and he was running along at a fair rate of speed. When he got in sight of the railroad, however, he saw the watchman at the crossing waving to him to stop but his brakes failed to hold.

All the time he was getting nearer to the railroad and when he got near enough he saw the train rapidly approaching the crossing. It was too close for him to attempt to cross so he swung sharply to the left but the car was already too far advanced and he was sideswiped by the train which struck the car on the right front, stoving in the radiator, breaking the lamps and fender and bending the steering apparatus. In fact the car was turned almost half around by the impetus of the train.

Fortunately the car did not upset but as it swung around the right hand side door flew open and Mr. Wagner's daughter Anna, who was in the car with him and was holding her baby brother George on her lap, was thrown out on her back in the roadway, but when picked up she was still holding the boy in her arms and he escaped without even a bruise. Anna sustained a few bruises and a slight shock, but no serious injury. Mr. Wagner was not injured in the least but it was about as narrow an escape as he ever had. The car was damaged to the extent of from forty to fifty dollars.

Change of Time Table on the Bellefonte Central Railroad

Leave State College at 8:00 and 11:40 a. m. and 5:00 p. m.

If the difficulty of getting coal continues there will probably be a curtailment of passenger train service between Bellefonte and State College.

NOTICE

On and after Saturday, December 9th, 1916, the Bellefonte Central Railroad company will discontinue passenger train service between State College and Pine Grove Mills, Pa.

An Apology.

The "Watchman" deems it necessary to make explanation to those of its readers who may have discovered many typographical errors in its columns, as well as detected the makeshifts we have been compelled to resort to in order to get enough type together to complete the editions.

For a month or more the gas service in Bellefonte has been so poor that the metal in our type setting machine could not be kept hot enough to cast type more than an hour or so a day. The result has been that columns of news have had to go into the paper without correcting, for the reason that there was not enough gas to permit of the recasting of slugs in which errors were detected by the proof readers.

This week there has been no gas at all and as our machine displaced much of our type and compositors, as well, we are trying to get out a paper by hand composition without enough type-setters or type to do it satisfactorily.

Our faith in the Bellefonte Gas Co. is almost shattered and unless we can get something more than assurances of better service soon we shall be forced to resort to electricity for heating, as we understand some of our neighbors are now doing.

The Pennsylvania railroad company has issued a booklet containing a general description of the entire system and all the country and towns traversed by the road and its tributaries. It is not only an interesting document but one which contains more valuable information in a condensed character than can be found in any other publication.

The Martinsburg "Herald" has started a campaign for the purchase of a community college bell for the Morrison Cove college which the Byers brothers expect to have completed and ready to open for educational purposes, by April 1st, 1917. Any person willing to contribute toward the cause can make remittance to the Herald, Martinsburg, Pa.

Miss Anna Mary Hunter, daughter of the late Capt. J. A. Hunter, who has been spending the winter with her sister, Mrs. Susan Hunter Smith, at Blairsville, went up to Erie last week to visit her brother, Dr. Wallace Hunter, and while there was stricken with appendicitis and underwent an operation in one of the Erie hospitals. At last accounts she was getting along as well as can be expected.

Among the Pennsylvania railroad employees who will be retired to-day on a pension is Orlando G. Galbraith, a painter in the car shops at Altoona. Mr. Galbraith was born in Milesburg, this county, on August 26th, 1851, hence is past sixty-five years of age. He has worked for the railroad company in one capacity or another practically all his life. In 1878 he married Miss Susan Walk, of Centre county, and they have been blessed with thirteen children. Mr. and Mrs. Galbraith are planning to spend the winter in Florida.

Suit was entered in the Clearfield county court on Monday against the Moshannon Coal company, of which Congressman Charles H. Rowland is the principal owner to restrain it from paying a bonus of 33 1/3 per cent. of their wages to its employees. The suit was brought by the operators association which alleges that the Moshannon company has broken its compact in paying the bonus without the knowledge and full consent of the association. Argument on the case will be heard before Judge Bell at Clearfield tomorrow.

Owing to the Bellefonte Academy opening two weeks later than usual last fall on account of the infantile paralysis scare the only Thanksgiving holiday allowed was one day, yesterday, consequently none of the students went home. State College students will have from Tuesday until next Monday and a large number of them went out to Pittsburgh for the State-Pitt game. The migration of the students always makes a lot of work checking baggage consequently Joseph Undercoffer and John Scholl spent Tuesday and Wednesday at the College checking baggage right through to the students' destination.

Prothonotary David R. Foreman made a record in certifying the official returns of the November election, including the soldier vote on the border, to the Secretary of the Commonwealth. The law distinctly specifies that the soldier vote must be opened and counted the third Friday after the general election. In accordance therewith the vote was opened and counted last Friday afternoon, but the tabulators did not return their certified copies to the prothonotary's office until about ten o'clock Saturday morning. Mr. Foreman then went to work and copied all the returns complete in figures then wrote them out in full, certified them, made out two hundred and twenty-six certificates, did them up under the seal of his office and sent them by express to Harrisburg on the 4:50 train Saturday evening. When one considers the amount of writing that had to be done and how careful and particular it was necessary to be, the work was done in remarkably quick time.

A Buck in a Barber Shop.

Grant Meyers, of Lemont, has a grievance. He also has a bill for damages he would like to collect from some one, if he only knew who. Grant owns a barber shop on one of the main streets of that town. In the front is a double plate glass window, set pretty low down. On Friday morning between six and seven o'clock some strange dogs got after Wade Herman's sheep. Three of them took to the road with the dogs in full pursuit. They chased them from the Herman farm into Lemont and when the buck spied Mr. Meyers' barber shop he took refuge therein by jumping through the glass of one of the windows. The dogs went elsewhere. The buck stayed in the shop ten or fifteen minutes then jumped out through the other window, thus completely demolishing the handsome glass front.

While the buck was in the shop William Coble passed and saw the animal. He walked up street and meeting Mr. Meyers told him he had better hurry down to his shop as he had an early customer. The barber naturally asked who it was and Mr. Coble said he thought it was a Mr. Buck. Mr. Meyers hurried to his shop but the buck was gone and all he saw was the ruin left in his wake. Now he can't get damages from the dogs because he don't know where they belong, and he can hardly go after the sheep because it was chased through the window by the dogs, but he does think that the sheep might at least have gone out the way it went in and thus left him one whole wind.

Colored Chauffeur Sent to Jail.

Harry (Smoke) Miller, the colored chauffeur who drove J. C. Condo's automobile onto the pavement at the corner of the Brockerhoff house on Monday evening last week, averting by virtually a hair's breadth the mangling if not killing of several people, entered a plea of guilty before Judge Quigley on Friday afternoon and was sentenced to pay a fine of one hundred dollars, costs of prosecution and undergo imprisonment in the county jail for a period of three months. The judge also told Miller that in the event of Condo's case going to trial in court he would expect him to come into court willingly and testify to the truth. Miller was taken to jail at once to begin his sentence.

Probably four-fifths of the automobile accidents in the country are the result of men operating cars when they are under the influence of liquor. While few accidents have happened in this county because of this fact there is no question but that there are too many instances right here in Bellefonte of intoxicated men driving cars, and Miller's sentence is an object lesson of what others may get if they ever get in a like predicament.

TYDEMAN-FRYBERGER—Arthur Frederick Tydemans, of Butler, Pa., and Miss Mary Fryberger, daughter of Capt. and Mrs. C. T. Fryberger, were married in the Trinity Methodist church of Philipsburg at 1:30 o'clock on Monday afternoon in the presence of a large number of invited guests. The ceremony was performed by the pastor, Rev. Charles Wesley Wasson. Mrs. L. W. Nuttall played the wedding march. Immediately following the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Tydemans left on a wedding trip to eastern cities at the conclusion of which they will take up their residence at the New Willard hotel, Butler, where Mr. Tydemans is located as an inspector for the Standard Oil company.

GRAZIER-COX—Albert Clark Grazier, of Huntingdon Furnace, and Miss Mary Esther Cox, of Tyrone, were united in marriage on Wednesday last week at the parsonage of the Mulberry street Methodist Episcopal church, Williamsport, by the pastor, Rev. B. H. Mosser, D. D. The bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Gregg Cox, of Nealmont, while the bridegroom is a son of the late Clark Grazier, and is well known by many people in Centre county from having been a student at State College. He now has full charge of the Grazier farm at Huntingdon Furnace, where he and his bride will make their home after an extended wedding trip.

KELLY-CONFER—Owen Kelly and Miss Ella M. Confer, of Curtin, were married at the parsonage of the Lutheran church in Hollidaysburg on Saturday afternoon at one o'clock, by the pastor, Rev. Julius F. Seebach. Following a brief wedding trip they will reside at Curtin.

FYE-CONWAY—James R. Fye, of Howard, and Mrs. Irene Conway, of Salladasburg were united in marriage at Lock Haven, on Wednesday afternoon last week, by alderman James C. Smith.

The Tempest Stock company will play a week's stand at Garman's the week beginning December 12th. This will be the tenth annual visit of this popular company to Bellefonte and their repertoire includes some of the latest and best high class plays. They will play at their usual popular prices, 10, 20 and 30 cents. Don't fail to hear them.

C. Y. Wagner has purchased the wheat crop grown on the experiment farms at State College, about five thousand bushels, all told, which he has disposed of to a New York firm.

Oil Drillers Down 900 Feet.

The firm of Pittsburgh prospectors who are drilling for oil on the Christ Sharer lands about three miles north of Hannah station, in Taylor township, have now reached a depth of nine hundred feet. They have gone through an immense bed of solid red rock and are now in what they term the "first sand." They expect to go down to a depth of from 3,000 to 3,500 feet, which will be necessary to determine if oil exists in that locality. The approximate cost of putting a well down that deep is fifteen thousand dollars.

So far the only grounds under lease to the Pittsburgh firm are the lands of Christ Sharer and the John Kelly farm. Other land owners who have been asked for options have declined giving a lease, as the term of ten years asked for in which to do prospecting was considered too long. Both the prospectors and residents of that locality are optimistic over the outlook for striking oil or gas.
