

PINE GROVE MENTION.

Now we write in 1917—and to all a Happy New Year.
 Chester McCormick and A. O. Johnson are each steering a new car.
 Harry Hoy, who has been ill with typhoid fever, is now convalescing rapidly.
 Mrs. Charley Louck, who has been ill with acute indigestion, is now improving nicely.
 Mrs. Mary Harper has gone to the George C. Harper home at State College to spend the winter.
 Dr. C. T. Aikens, President of Susquehanna University, greeted old friends along the line last week.
 Brooks and Hugh Fry are the proud owners of a young Shetland pony that is the center of attraction about their domicile.
 Henry McWilliams is seriously thinking of quitting the old farm home on account of scarcity of help in and out of doors.
 The famous "white horse" made his general New Year's day, causing a general reckoning among tenant farmers throughout the valley.
 Communion services will be held in the Presbyterian church here next Sunday, January 7th, at 10:30 o'clock. Preparatory services Saturday at 10:30 a. m.
 Harold, the son of Mr. and Mrs. L. H. Sunday, is a very sick lad, suffering with pneumonia. The little fellow was never stout, so that his recovery seems doubtful.
 Among the home comers for Christmas were H. N. Walker and wife, Ralph and Ruth Illingsworth, Mr. and Mrs. W. E. McCormick, W. H. Roush, Mary From and Boyd Gardner.
 Clyde Fishburn bought the J. D. Hubler farm at the $8,100 mark, while Alf Lee bought the G. W. Campbell farm near Linden Hall for $8,000 and expects to go farming in the spring.
 W. P. Ard, with J. C. and Randall Dunlap, Fred Goss, Prof. A. L. Bowersox, Edith Dunlap, Earl Houck, J. H. Everts and wife, H. A. Gummo and wife enjoyed the Yuletide at their several homes here.
 On the morning of the 29th a chubby little son came to the Charles Musser Ross home and on going to the barn to do the many chores he found his suckey with a pair of twin heifer calves by her side. All are O. K.
 W. C. Frank's wife presented him with a Christmas present in the form of a bouncing little baby girl, No. 9 of that happy family. William now thinks of increasing the toll for thrashing to feed another mouth and clothe the new arrival.
 The High School boys and girls banqueted themselves Wednesday evening, Dec. 27th, at the home of Add Krebs, on West Main street. A splendid feast was enjoyed, including the National bird, with all the side dishes, cake and ice cream. The evening was spent with games, fun and music.
 The members of the State College High school composed a sledding party to Baileyville Wednesday evening with W. R. Dale handling the ribbons over a pair of sorrel steppers, and safely landed the party at the Daniel Irvin home at Baileyville, where a big lay-out announced their coming. Mrs. Irvin and her dutiful daughter made everyone welcome to their hospitable home. All enjoyed the "eats" as well as the sled ride.
 The I. O. O. F. banquet held last Friday evening was the social event of the season, for the Three Linked fraternity and their friends found covers for 150 and all were taken. Dr. Aikens, of Selingsgrove, was chosen toastmaster and was the guest of honor. He and Rev. L. N. Fleck were the principal speakers, though a number of members responded. Miss Mabel Musser gave a recitation which was well received.
 One cold blustery morning recently a young sport, evidently not a broncho rider, was dumped from his horse several times going from Pine Grove Mills in a distance of a mile. The plunge the rider got landed him in the snow banks, and the horse ran away and took shelter in the G. Mc. Fry henery, lost to the rider, who decided to hoof it to State College. Once there he got busy over the phone and as a result the lost horse was found. We venture to say the next vacation trip over to Old Tussey Mountain will not be on a broncho.

Stonge—Bartges: Albert B. Stonge and Miss Cora Bartges occasioned a real surprise to their friends by going to Bellefonte on Thursday, Dec. 28th, where they were quietly married at high noon by Rev. A. M. Schmidt. The groom is an iron worker at Danville, where he resides after Jan. 15, 1917. The bride is well and favorably known hereabouts and her friends unite in extending congratulations and best wishes.

SWARTZ: A telegram announced the death of Mrs. R. H. Swartz, of Chicago, on the 26th of Dec. 1916, after a long illness of heart trouble and dropsy, borne with true christian fortitude. She was a daughter of the late Hugh and Rebecca Gilliland Lauraine and was born in Ferguson township, Nov. 3, 1838. She attended the old Pine Grove Mills Academy and Seminary, where she fitted herself to teach school. In 1867 she was married to Reuben H. Swartz, of Mill Hall. To them one son, Hugh L., and a daughter, Grace Turner, were born, who with her husband and five grand-children survive. The older set will remember Mollie Lauraine, a favorite among the students at the old seminary and a class-mate of the late General Beaver. She was an active member of the First Presbyterian church of Chicago, and was laid to rest in the Evergreen cemetery on Thursday, Dec. 28th.

GOEHEEN: The many friends of Miss Elmira Goheen will be filled with grief over the news of her death which occurred Dec. 23, 1916, at 12 p. m. Her decline dates back several years when she suffered a partial stroke of paralysis which slowly ebbed her life away. She was a daughter of the late Robert and Margaret Murray Goheen and was born at Rock Springs, Dec. 15, 1843. Three years later the family moved to Harris township, residing there ever since as farmers. After the death of the parents the two sisters, Elmira and Lucretia, conducted the farming until 1900, when they retired to Boalsburg. For sixty years she was a consistent member of the Presbyterian church. She leaves her sister, Miss Lucretia Murray Goheen, of Boalsburg, and John B. Goheen, of Baileyville.
 Funeral services were held in her late home on Tuesday, Dec. 26th, in charge of Rev. L. V. Barber and Rev. Stover. Burial was made in the Branch cemetery.

REBERSBURG: The Christmas services held by the Reformed Sunday School on December 24th and the Lutheran Sunday School on December 25th exceeded anything of the kind ever held here. Both churches were crowded with congregations that gathered from the entire valley. The program of each was so good and elaborate that we would like to publish each, but space forbids.
 A festival and box social was held in the Rebersburg High School building on Saturday evening, December 23rd, for the benefit of the class of 1918. The members of this class are as follows: Katharine Detwiler, Ruth Douty, Kathryn Oaker, Naomi Hunsicker, Gladys Hackenberg, Stella Meyer, Emma Smull, Mary Frank, Ethel Meyer, Paul Detwiler and Ralph Gramley. A large audience was present and the evening proved a most delightful one. Music, recitations and addresses were included in the program. Later the boxes were sold at auction and brought in fifty cents. Candies, cigars, ice cream and cake were also on sale and a nice sum of money was realized. Many members of the class of 1916 were present, buying boxes and doing everything possible to make the affair a success.

EAST BRUSH VALLEY: Our end was well represented at the shooting match at Rebersburg on Monday.
 The ice crop, which was simply immense, was harvested during the past two weeks.
 Samuel Mowery, our hustling friend, is busily engaged with his engine and cutter in cutting corn fodder for his neighbors.
 Fisher Mowery and Carl Mowery enjoyed a visit with their sister, Mrs. Alfred Reed, of Millinburg, over Christmas.
 Good sledding, molasses and doughnuts constitute the menu for January.
 Allen Royer and sister, Miss Pearl, of Madisonburg, were visitors in our midst last week.
 Wm. E. Shultz, Stanley Zeigler and George Daley enjoyed their holiday vacation with friends and relatives in this vicinity and departed for their place of employment on Tuesday of this week.
 Wilbur R. Brungard left for his home at Pittsburgh one day this week.
 Mr. and Mrs. Ammon A. Showers of Green-Burr, spent the first day of the New Year with the former's parents in this vicinity.
 East Brushvalley was by no measure in the rear during the Christmas exercises last week. Notwithstanding the storm and cold that day, many were the eager faces wending their way toward their respective parental roofs.
 On last Tuesday evening the home of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Yearick was livened by a jolly bunch of young folks who came with pure motives for the occasion. Games and singing constituted the programme of the evening. At an early hour the crowd departed and some of them were hypnotized so they almost went home hoodless. Following is a list of those present: Misses Mabel Musser, Sara Corman, Bernie Crouse, Florence Winters, Neta Page, Gladys Hackenberg, Kathryn Detwiler, Hester and Emma Smull, Harry Stover, Naomi Hunsicker, Ethel Meyer, Alice Weber and Messrs. Norman Zeigler, John Ocker, Orien Beish, George Day, Harry Shultz, Harold Hackenberg, Harold and Russell Auman, Ralph Gramley, Paul Detwiler, Chas. Corman, Edwin Weaver, Samuel Hubler, Paul Winters, Robert Brungard, Howard Metzger, Earl Smull and Raymond C. Bair.

RUNVILLE: Mrs. W. T. Kunes, who has been on the sick list, is recovering slowly.
 Mrs. Grant Houseman, of Altoona, is visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. James Lucas.
 Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Spotts, of Unionville, spent Friday at the home of W. T. Kunes.
 Miss Lucy Smoyer is the guest of her sister, Mrs. Alice Yeager, of Jersey Shore.
 Evangelistic services began at the United Brethren church on Tuesday evening.
