Hon P. Gray Meek, Bellefonte, Pa. Dear Mr. Meek: I have your kind favor of January 5th and thank you for reminding contributions amounting to $30.00 for fund for taking care of campaign indebtedness.

$200,000 yet to raise before our victory of last fall becomes as clean as one as every Democrat should want it to be. What will you do to help wipe off the slate.

Let us make it at least $100 that old Centre has subscribed to pay off the debt.

PLEASANT GAP ITEMS.

Tommy Williams alleges that it is easier training children when you haven't any.

That Pleasant Gap girl who married mother's darling boy has mighty little use for mother.

The rain falls on the just and on the unjust, but that foxy guy, Charlie Stitzer, always carries an umbrella.

Herbert Showers says he is under the impression that it's easier to keep your eyes open if you keep your mouth shut.

Wm. Kerstetter and Squire Herman have embarked in a new profession, that of crating furniture for people removing from the Gap.

Butcher Keene, our progressive family butcher, slaughtered 118 hogs in twenty days during the season just closed. This is going some.

Marriage will never be a failure as long as the supply of men holds out, so says Heck Griffith, storekeeper of the New Western Penitentiary.

She has nowhere to go but a picture show.

At least it was so the fair Katie said; But I would if I might Suggest that at night She'd be far better off if she went to her bed.

John Barnes, our milk man, has been laid up with a severe attack of the grip the past ten days. His vast delivery is fortunately not suffering in the least, as his young and energetic son, Joe, is conducting the business with the same regularity as did the old milk vander.

There seems to be an uncontrollable craze among our young girls to take frequent trips to Bellefonte in the auto busses with a view of patronizing the movie shows. The protests of the parents notwithstanding, go they will—even if their obstinacy is prevailed against by the ones who should know what is best for the erring ones.

On an average of about thirty-six two-horse sledloads of wood, of the various grades, two cords to the load, are now being conveyed daily from the Greenvalley timber tracts to the Pleasant Gap P. R. depot. A. V. Miller's new development under the management of Mr. Brooks are also adding materially to the shipping product.

George and Ward Showers, for a number of years employees of the White Rock Lime works, some weeks ago abandoned their positions with a view of bettering their condition. After looking over the outside field they evidently concluded that Pleasant Gap was good enough for them, as they returned to work at the old plant Monday last.

The Rev. McKechnie, our M. E. minister while on his vacation recently at Berwick was prevailed upon to fill his pulpit in that vicinity during his short stay. However as he went away from home for a brief rest he wisely declined all but two. Good men are always in demand but unfortunately their goodness is often overtaxed in consequence of their willingness to do good.

The slight slumps caused on account of a bunch of laborers leaving White-rock rather abruptly recently, is about adjusted, since new men apply almost daily for work and are speedily placed.

The fact is that any reputable, capable man needing and wanting work can invariably be accommodated. One trouble has been that men here heard of the fabulous prices being paid in Pittsburgh up the Monongahela valley, Akron and other points, and a few have made the change to their sorrow. It is true that when they arrived at their new destination they could secure no employment at three and three-fifty a day, but at the end of a month they discovered that owing to the extreme high cost of living at those places it would have been better for them to have remained at White-rock since the cost of living here is about one-half, compared to large manufacturing points.

SAYS HENRY DIDN'T NAME McADOO

Big Bankers, Including Morgan and Vanderlip, Summoned by "Leak" Committee to Give Testimony.

The peace note "leak" investigation committee—the rules committee of the house of representatives—spent another session on Thomas W. Lawson, of Boston, and then extended its field of inquiry by summoning J. P. Morgan, Henry P. Davison, Frank A. Vanderlip, So. Wexler and Arthur Lipper, all nationally known bankers.

The exact purpose of summoning these heads of the financial center was not disclosed.

Lawson's testimony was an amplification of his sensational statement, in which the committee understood him to say that Representative Henry Democrat, of Texas, chairman of the rules committee, was the mysterious congressman who told him a cabinet member, a senator and a banker were engaged in a stock gambling pool, and that the cabinet member was the secretary of the Treasury William Gibbs McAdoo; that the banker was Pliny Fisk, and that the senator's name began with "O."

Lawson declared his information came from another source, which he did not disclose. He declared emphatically Henry had not mentioned McAdoo's name, and that the only names Henry had mentioned were those of Bernard Baruch, a Wall street operator; Count von Bernstorff, the German ambassador, and Secretary of State Lansing. Henry, he said, repeated a rumor that the ambassador made $2,000,000 in the market, and that Lansing and Baruch had conferences in New York.

Archibald S. White, Lawson said, added to what he had heard about McAdoo's alleged relations with Fisk.

Mrs. Ruth Thomason Visconti, who wrote Lawson a letter, offering information, and later, he says, told him that Joseph P. Tumulty, the president's secretary, and W. W. Price, one of the White House correspondents, profited by the "leak," suddenly disappeared, and the sergeant-at-arms of the house, after making a fruitless search with a subpoena, reported he was unable to locate her. Members of the
