

ALLIES ASK NEW MAP OF EUROPE

Entente Terms of Peace Given to Mr. Wilson.

SECURITY FOR SMALL NATIONS

President Told Invaded Countries Must be Restored and Complete Reparation Made for Damages Sustained.

The reply of the entente allies to President Wilson's note was received in Washington from Ambassador Sharp at Paris.

The reply makes specific designation of its terms of peace, which include the restoration of Belgium, of Serbia and of Montenegro, and complete reparation for the damages they sustained and the evacuation of invaded territories of France, Russia and Rumania, with such reparation as is considered just.

The terms also require the liberation of Italians, Slavs, Rumanians and Czech Slavs from foreign domination and provides for the reorganization of Europe, guaranteed by a stable regime and founded upon the respected nationalities and the full liberty and security of all great and small nations.

While Alsace and Lorraine and the Italian Tyrol are not specifically named, yet the terms require the restitution of territories previously severed from allied nations by force or contrary to the wishes of their populations. This is considered clearly to refer to Alsace and Lorraine and the Italian Tyrol.

While Russia's claim to Constantinople is not specifically alluded to the Turkish clause is considered indirectly to mean the replacement of Turkey by Russia at the Dardanelles and the retirement of the Turkish empire from Europe.

The assurances of Emperor Nicholas of Russia concerning Poland are also endorsed.

Among other things the reply says: "But a discussion of future arrangements for assuring a durable peace presupposes a satisfactory settlement of the present conflict; the allies have as profound a desire as the government of the United States to terminate as soon as possible a war for which the central empires are responsible and which inflicts such cruel sufferings upon humanity.

"But, in their judgment, it is impossible to obtain at this moment such a peace as will not only secure to them the reparation, the restitution and the guarantees justly due them, by reason of the act of aggression, the guilt of which is fixed upon the central powers, while the very principle from which it sprang was undermining the safety of Europe, and, at the same time, such a peace will enable future European nations to be established upon a sure foundation. The allied nations are conscious that they are not fighting for selfish interests, but above all, to safeguard the independence of peoples, of right and of humanity.

"The allies are fully aware of the losses and suffering which the war causes to neutrals, as well as to belligerents, and they deplore them; but they do not hold themselves responsible for them, having in no way either willed or provoked this war. And they strive to reduce these damages in the measure compatible with the inexorable exigencies of their defense against the violence and the wiles of the enemy.

"But the civilized world knows that they imply, in all necessity, and in the first instance, the restoration of Belgium, of Serbia, and of Montenegro and the indemnities which are due them; the evacuation of the invaded territories of France, of Russia and of Rumania, with just reparation; the reorganization of Europe, guaranteed by a stable government, based alike upon the principle of nationalities, or the right which all peoples, whether small or great, have to the enjoyment of full security and free economic development, and also upon territorial agreements and international arrangements so framed as to guarantee land and sea frontiers against unjust attacks; the restitution of provinces or territories wrested in the past from the allies by force or against the will of their populations; the liberation of Italians, of Slavs, of Rumanians and of Techo Slovaks from foreign domination; the enfranchisement of populations subject to the bloody tyranny of the Turks; the expulsion from Europe of the Ottoman empire, which has proved itself so radically alien to western civilization.

"The intentions of his majesty the emperor of Russia regarding Poland have been clearly indicated in the proclamation which he has just addressed to his armies. It goes without saying that if the allies wish to liberate Europe from the brutal covetousness of Prussian militarism it never has been their design, as has been alleged, to encompass the extermination of the German peoples and their political disappearance. That which they desire above all is to insure a peace upon the principles of liberty and justice, upon the inviolable fidelity to international obligation with which the government of the United States has never ceased to be inspired."

Buffalo Bill Is Dead.

Colonel William Frederick Cody (Buffalo Bill), soldier, hunter and scout, died at the home of his sister in Denver. He was seventy years old. With Colonel Cody when he died were his wife and daughter, who had hurried from Cody, Wyoming, the family home last week to be at his bedside, and his sister, Mrs. L. E. Decker of Denver.

Buffalo Bill, the idol of juvenile America, fought death as he often had opposed it on the plains on the days when the west was young.

"You can't kill the old scout," he would tell his physician whenever his condition would show improvement. When the doctor told him his life was ebbing the colonel accepted his fate like a stoic.

"Let the Elks and Masons take charge of the funeral," he said to his sister. Then he turned to his business affairs, making suggestions for their continuance.

"Let us have a game of 'high five,'" he said after he had talked with his family. Everyone joined, the colonel laughing and joking because he was winning.

Since January 5, when he was hurried back to his sister's home in Denver, Colonel Cody had surprised all who knew his real condition by great powers of resistance and recuperation. One day his physician would see the end "within thirty-six hours," and then the patient would rally. On January 8, his system broke down entirely, and from then on it was a question merely of time.

May Blind Woman.
Mrs. George Rine, of Milford Del., was seriously burned about the face, and it is feared will lose the sight of both eyes, by the explosion of a can of tomatoes which she was heating in a pot of boiling water.

The can had been placed in the water still sealed and was heated when Mrs. Rine went to take it out of the brew. As she picked it up, the top blew off, filling her face and eyes with the scalding vegetables.

Blizzard Carries Off Girl.
Philema, seven-year-old daughter of Joseph Musil, of Beach N. D., is lost in a terrible blizzard. A hundred men and the sheriff searched throughout the night and continued during the day. Emerging from the schoolhouse, a strong wind swept her dinner pail from her hand. She ran after it and has not been seen since.

Bill for Old Age Pensions.
Every American citizen over sixty-five years of age who is incapable of manual labor and whose annual income is less than $200 would get a pension of $12 a week under a bill before the house pension committee. Representative Sherwood, of Ohio, is author of the bill.

Comes to Grief Blasting Grave.
Thomas Adams, of Summit Hill, Pa., is in a serious condition as the result of using dynamite to help him dig a grave. Putting in a double charge, he jumped into the excavation after the first blast, receiving the full force of the second.

3 HELD AS COUNTERFEITERS
Accused of Making and Passing Federal Reserve Bank Notes.

Joseph D. Ferry, owner of a garage in Harrisburg, Pa., and Alvin M. Hornberger, of Mohnton, Pa., were arrested and held under $10,000 bail on the charge of making and passing counterfeit federal reserve bank notes.

Federal officers accuse Ferry of financing the scheme, securing the headquarters and having the counterfeiting plates in his possession. It is alleged that Hornberger printed the money and helped put it into circulation. According to the secret service agents $15,000 worth of bogus notes were made and $1200 of the notes put into circulation. Calvin Balmer, of Reading, Pa., was arrested at Ridley Park, Pa., in connection with the case, federal officers said.

The counterfeiting was done, secret service men say, in Harrisburg, in an old structure much resembling an artist's studio in its equipment. The notes bore the denomination of $10 and $50 and appeared in circulation in New York city, Reading and Philadelphia. The secret service men intimate a woman is involved in the case.

FIRE DAMAGES GOLDSBORO

Town Near York Saved by Companies From Other Places.

A fire which threatened the destruction of Goldsboro, a Susquehanna river town, fifteen miles north of York, Pa., was brought under control by fire companies from York, York Haven and Manchester after six frame dwellings had been destroyed. The loss will be about $10,000.

Wells, the only source of water supply close enough for use, were soon pumped dry, but chemicals from the fire apparatus proved effective. The flames were checked when close to the town hall. Several of the fire fighters were slightly injured.

DEWEY DEAD AT AGE OF 79

Admiral of Navy Victim of General Breakdown.

HE WAS ILL ONLY SIX DAYS

Hero of Manila Bay Was the Third to Hold the Post of Admiral in This Country.

Admiral Dewey, the nation's Spanish war hero and by priority of grade the ranking naval officer of the world died at his home in Washington, in his eightieth year.

He had not been conscious since Monday, when he lapsed into coma, still believing that in a few days he would be back at his desk in the navy department.

A general breakdown, accompanied by arterio sclerosis incident to old age, was the cause of death. The disease had been gradually spreading its hold upon the powerful body for a year and a half, but the admiral, proud of his physical vigor, had fought it off and even kept its existence a secret from most of his intimate friends.

Mrs. Dewey and the admiral's only son, George, were at the bedside. They had known there was no hope.

President Wilson and Secretary Daniels were notified at once, and the news was flashed by wireless to American naval vessels and stations all over the world. The message carries orders that all flags be half masted.

George Dewey was born in a New England farmhouse, near Montpelier Vt., December 26, 1837. He began his boyhood days by attending the district school, where his disposition proved adventurous.

His career at no time during his student life showed any marked ability for study. He was good in mathematics, poor in history and geography and always stood near the foot of his class. He was graduated from Annapolis on June 18, 1858, being one of the fifteen who finished out of a class of sixty.

After graduation Dewey was assigned to duty on the Wabash, a steam frigate, for two years' experience in practical cruising, required by the academy's curriculum, before students received their commission. He passed through the grades of midshipman and master and was raised to the rank of lieutenant, in April. After his final examination he was advanced to number three in his class, and was a full fledged and commissioned naval officer.

In September, 1864, Dewey was raised to the rank of captain, and was made a commodore on February 9, 1866.

At the outbreak of the Spanish American war, in 1898, Dewey assumed command of the Asiatic squadron. The fleet lay in the harbor of Hong Kong on the nineteenth of April, when it received an order to prepare for battle.

On April 25 war was declared between the United States and Spain and at the request of the governor of Hong Kong, the American fleet steamed away. On April 26, Dewey received orders to begin operations at once particularly against the Spanish fleet then cruising about the Philippine Islands.

The squadron sailed to Manila bay and engaged the Spaniards. After a fight of several hours the entire fleet of the enemy was destroyed. When the fighting stopped, commanders of the various vessels came aboard the Olympia to report to Dewey.

It was learned that not a ship was disabled, not a cannon out of order nor a man killed or injured.

Immediately upon the receipt of news at Washington, Dewey was promoted to rear admiral, and thanked by resolution of congress. In 1899 Dewey was made a member of the United States Philippine commission and on March 2 of the same year was appointed admiral of the navy, the highest rank in the service.

The next important event in Admiral Dewey's life was the magnificent reception accorded him in New York on his return from the far east. The nation literally turned out to welcome him. There were land and water parades, banquets and balls, and it is doubtful if any hero ever was so honored in this country.

ARMORY BURNS

Explosion of Ammunition Was Dangerous Feature of Troy Fire.

By a fire of unknown origin the armory of the second regiment, New York national guard of Troy, N. Y., was destroyed. The armory was valued at $200,000, and the equivalent of various military organizations brings the total loss to nearly half a million dollars.

The explosion of some two hundred thousand rounds of small arms ammunition was a dangerous feature of the fire.

Suffrage Wins in North Dakota.

The house of representatives in Bismarck, N. D., passed the women suffrage measures already passed by the senate, one of which would grant the vote to women on all offices, but those provided by the constitutional amendment, giving full suffrage. The former goes at once to Governor Frazier for his signature and if approved by him, becomes effective July 1.
