PLEASANT GAP ITEMS.

Mr. Herron, one of the principal officials of the Penitentiary, has moved into the Thos. Jodon residence at this place.

Wm. Baumgardner, who recently underwent a serious operation in a Philadelphia hospital, has sufficiently recovered to be able to resume his daily trips to the postoffice.

The residence of Mrs. John Herman experienced a slight blaze on Friday morning last, the roof catching fire supposedly from a spark from the furnace.

Mr. Dunzig, of Switzerland, has opened a new grocery store, so that we now have three stores on a frontage of 300 feet, which is uncomfortably close to insure harmony.

Butcher John Eckel is evidently not a quitter. He housed forty-two loads of ice in his ice house at his slaughter plant.

Pleasant Gap, for the size of its population from youth to old age, can I think boast of having as many fishermen as any village in the State.

Pleasant Gap schools are in a deplorable predicament, hence the air is becoming sulphurous from the unavailably efforts of our citizens in securing sufficient school room to house their children comfortably.

Says He Has Cure for Pneumonia.

Pneumonia is congestion affecting the body by obstruction of every emunctory organ, and the unerring method of relief to the congestion, so frequently proving fatal, generally considered as wholly in the lungs, depends upon relief to each of the other three eliminative processes, the bowels, the kidneys, the sweat-glands, as well as and as soon as the lungs.

The exact procedure is, if the stomach is full of undigested food, an emetic of onion syrup, ipecac, or mustard and warm water. If no food has been recently taken, three to five tablespoonfuls of castor oil for anyone above three years of age, should be administered, and immediately followed with the application of a compress made by folding a large linen tablecloth to cover the throat, apex of the lungs, and chest well down on the sides and on the base of the lungs.

Then place five or seven glass quart bottles or fruit jars, filled with boiling water, along each side and at the feet of the patient, who, of course, must be in bed. Each bottle should be wrapped so it cannot burn the patient. Several extra quilts or blankets must be placed over the patient and brought up close about the neck.

Saturate the tablecloth with cold water as it comes from the hydrant, allowing it to retain as much water as possible. Fit the wet compress more on the surface, as above explained. Give the patient all the hot lemonade, without sugar, that he can drink. Turn out all heat from the room and open the windows, lowering the temperature to 35 or 40 degrees if possible, but see that no draft reaches the patient and that the patient does not get even a hand out from under the covers.

All this should not require more than ten minutes. In less than another ten minutes the patient will begin to feel relief. From this time there is little necessity for uneasiness on the part of the attendant, and none for haste, for gradual relief, following this procedure, has never failed.

Now have a bed-pan warming and ready for use, and, being careful not to expose the patient, reach under the covers now and then and massage and agitate the whole abdomen, to assist the oil in its passage through the bowels and to hasten the bowel action, which will not only relieve the anxious watchers, for the feverish condition will decrease rapidly.

The patient should begin to sweat as soon as the hot drink and the compress are applied. Sweating should continue for two and one-half hours, then remove enough of the covers to allow comfort and no more sweating. Store rapid recovery will be given for 24 hours, then lemon, orange or pineapple juice, a wine-glassful in an equal quantity of water with no sugar, four hours between feedings.

The second day the juice of an orange in the morning, but nothing else; at noon, a small saucer of stewed onions, with very little salt in the cooking water and no dressing except a bit of butter. For 6 o'clock dinner a teaspoonful of finely-grated carrot upon five or six nice large lettuce leaves, both uncooked, dressed with a little olive oil. Avoid tea, coffee and all other beverages up to this time.

Except as here directed, until the third day, then gradually resume the regular diet. May drink two or three swallows of cool water as often as desired.

NOTE: This "Anuric" is adapted especially for kidney complaints and diseases arising from disorders of the kidneys and bladder, such as backache, weak back, rheumatism, dropsy, congestion of the kidneys, inflammation of the bladder, scalding urine and urinary troubles. The physicians and specialists at Dr. Pierce's great Institution, at Buffalo, N. Y., have thoroughly tested this prescription and have been with one accord successful in eradicating these troubles, and in most cases absolutely curing the diseased kidneys.

Patients having once used "Anuric" at Dr. Pierce's Invalids' Hotel, have repeatedly begged for more. Such a demand has been created that Dr. Pierce has decided to put "Anuric" in the drug stores of this country, in a ready-to-use form. If not obtainable send one dime by mail to Dr. Pierce for trial package or 50 cents for full treatment.

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery is a blood cleanser and alterative that starts the liver and stomach into vigorous action. It thus assists the body to make rich, red blood, which feeds the heart, nerves, brain and organs of the body. You feel clean, strong and strenuous.

sired, but must not drink large draughts at one time.

There are many who were saved who will testify to the efficacy of this treatment, but none can testify to the knowledge of a failure whether in cases of children from the age of two months that had been given up with double lobar pneumonia, or up to the age of 74 years with alcoholic pneumonia. The names and addresses of many of Pittsburgh's best will be given if desired. Many of those who are otherwise doomed can be saved. If they can live an hour without aid, there is nothing to it, barring extreme old age, but recovery.—By B. H. Jones, in "The Pittsburgh Dispatch."

Sour Milk For Laying Hens.

While the production of eggs during the fall and winter when high prices prevail is the result of proper breeding, hatching, rearing and care, proper winter feeding will always tend to stimulate egg production at that season.

One reason why hens lay well in spring and summer is that they are able to obtain animal protein in the form of bugs and worms. During fall and winter, therefore, the poultry feeder should attempt to imitate summer feed conditions. The commercial poultryman supplies animal protein by feeding beef scraps, but the farmer often fails to provide this feed.

Skimmed milk, preferably sour, is a most excellent substitute for beef scrap and will give good returns when fed to laying hens. Numerous experiments have shown that laying hens fed skimmed milk will double in egg production of similar hens fed no form of animal protein.

Had Terrible Pains in Kidneys and Back.

Dear Mr. Editor—I want to write you about "Anuric." I was very sick, could hardly be up; I was in bed most of the time. I had terrible pains in my kidneys and back, so much so that I had to scream sometimes when I was sitting down and wanted to get up, the pain was so great. I had tried a well-known kidney medicine but it didn't help me. I heard of Dr. Pierce's Anuric Tablets so I thought I would try them. I took only one box of the Tablets, and my back is now free from pain and I can work and take care of my family. I feel I cannot say enough for this medicine. Sincerely, Mrs. Wm. Keller.

the exact value of sour milk as a source of protein, is difficult to state. Numerous feeding trials, however, place its value at 50 cents to $2.00 per 100 pounds.

Skimmed milk lowers the cost of producing a dozen eggs. On the farm it may mean the difference between profit and loss in connection with the farm flock. Sour milk has a medicinal effect also. It keeps hens in good health and helps prevent disease.

Hood's Sarsaparilla.

Severe Rheumatic Pains Disappear

Rheumatism depends upon an acid which flows in the blood, affecting the muscles and joints, producing inflammation, stiffness and pain. This acid gets into the blood through some defect in the digestive processes, and remains there because the liver, kidneys and skin are too torpid to carry it off.

Hood's Sarsaparilla, the old-time blood tonic, is very successful in the treatment of rheumatism. It acts directly, with purifying effect, on the blood, and through the blood on the liver, kidneys and skin, which it stimulates, and at the same time it improves the digestion.
