Do not fail to read the opening chapters of "K," our big new serial which will be found on page six of this issue. If you start the story we know you will want to finish it, as it is intensely interesting from the beginning until the final paragraph.

Miss Morgan has planned to continue her shop and treatment, while Mr. and Mrs. Seanor will take possession of their new flat in the Aikens building the first of February.

The Bellefonte High school girls basketball team was no match for the High school girls from Lock Haven, the latter defeating them on the Y. M. C. A. floor last Saturday afternoon by the score of 28 to 3. Notwithstanding its oneness the game was very interesting because of the spectacular playing of the visitors.

Augustus Wian, a brakeman on the Bellefonte Central railroad, sustained a broken leg on Tuesday evening. The crew was shifting cars at Alto and Wian climbed on a freight car to loosen the hand-brake. The brake wheel flew around and knocked him off the car, fracturing his leg. On Monday John Davis, a fireman on the train, had one foot hurt when a big lump of coal fell on it.

"Watchman" readers who delight in our customary Pine Grove Mills letter will suffer disappointment this week at not finding it. Our versatile correspondent, Capt. W. H. Fry, is in Harrisburg this week attending the thirty-fourth annual meeting of the Pennsylvania State Veterinary Medical association, which is being held in conjunction with the big corn show. He was elected vice president of the association, an honor he richly deserved.

On Sunday morning the Hon. John Noll and Geo. R. Meek started to Philipsburg, in the latter's motor, in order to attend the funeral of the late Sol Schmidt. They had been assured that the roads were open and proceeded as far as Port Matilda before they discovered that the roads from there over the mountain were really only open for sleds. However they continued going and by bucking snowdrift after snowdrift finally reached the top of the mountain, three miles beyond Flat Rock. There their driver slid into a ditch and it was all over. For the wheels would do nothing but spin and the big car wouldn't move either forward or backward. After working about an hour to get out they gave up in despair and sent Edmund Thompson, the driver, back down into the valley for a team. They had a three hour wait before it arrived and the blizzard that was raging all the time had almost snowed them in completely.

Citizens' Committee Will Operate Plant During Entire Season, Unless Sold.

The steam heat question has been finally settled and the plant will be operated up until June first by the Citizens' committee unless it is sold in the meantime to some responsible party who will also agree to operate it. It took three meetings of the committee within a week to finally reach the above decision. Meetings were held last Thursday and Friday evenings, and again on Monday evening. At the latter meeting Edward F. Richard, chairman of the committee to secure pledges of increased payment for the months of February and March, reported that out of one hundred and thirty-six letters and pledges sent out one hundred and four had been returned, signed. That the receipts from this number would be $4,353.59. Thirty-two of the present users, representing almost $1,000, had either refused or not yet declared what they would do, although it was the belief of the committee that some of them will continue the heat.

Col. W. Fred Reynolds stated that during the month of January the committee had purchased coal to the amount of $2,547; the freight paid was $923; hauling, $165, and labor, $681.33, a total for the month of $4,316.33. The committee still has on hand, however, about two hundred tons of coal which they think will be sufficient to run the plant this month. But against the above expense the committee has received from steam heat consumers $2,123; bills to the amount of $500 still unpaid, and voluntary contributions and pledges to bring the amount up to $3,798, or almost $600 short of the expense of operating the plant for the month. Col. Reynolds further stated that in the above expense was included the high price the committee had to pay for the first seven cars of coal purchased, which was two dollars a ton more than they are paying now, but the increased revenue for February and March ought to be sufficient to carry them through. He further stated that a fund of from $500 to $1,000 ought to be solicited in pledges as a guarantee against any shortage the committee might find at the close of the season, said fund not to be collected until needed, and if not needed not collected. On motion the chairman was empowered to appoint a committee to solicit the fund.

Mr. Richard, chairman of the committee on pledges, stated that it was his understanding of the matter that all users who refused to pay their assessments for February and March will be cut off of the service on February first, and asked if that was the decision of the committee. He was informed that it was but all such users can get back on the line any time by paying their assessment. A motion was then passed authorizing the operating committee to go ahead and run the plant until the end of the season and they will be given the united support of the Citizens' committee of fifteen.

F. E. Naginey was present and made inquiry regarding the gas, as he claimed he has been living off of chafing dishes the past six months. Col. Reynolds stated that the committee spent about two hundred dollars trying to make gas but found a plant entirely inadequate to the town, so was compelled to abandon it. And that until the plant is sold, if it is sold at all, he can give no assurance of gas.

The business of the meeting being concluded the committee adjourned.

Sent to the Reformatory.

Ray C. Dugan and Harry Hugg, the two young men of Philipsburg who, on Monday night of last week broke into Louis Finberg's store in that place and carried off several hundred dollars worth of goods, pleaded guilty to the charge of larceny and at a special session of court on Friday morning were sentenced to the Huntingdon reformatory by Judge Quigley, being taken to that institution on Saturday.

When the young men were called for sentence Judge Quigley, after admonishing them on the evil of their ways sentenced them to not less than one nor more than two years in the penitentiary. District Attorney James C. Furst then called the court's attention to the fact that Dugan was only nineteen years old and Hugg twenty-four and in the former's case, especially, it being his first offense, it was a question if the law didn't specify a reformatory sentence. On looking up the law it was found that the sentence was at the discretion of the court but in order not to be unduly hard on the young men the Judge asked them where they would prefer going, to the western penitentiary or Huntingdon reformatory and they both chose the latter place, and the court then changed the sentence. He also told the young men that if their conduct at that institution warranted it he would ask for a parole for them in six months.

A friend of the "Watchman" writes that now is the time of year for fruit growers to prepare for a good crop next year. Mulch your fruit trees with manure, sawdust or earth, piling it about a foot deep in a circle around the tree, but keeping a foot away from the tree. This will keep the ground frozen under the mulch and prevent the sap from flowing and buds starting until all danger of freezing is past. If you have never tried this do so this spring.

The forty-ninth annual meeting of the Central Pennsylvania conference of the M. E. church will be held at Lewistown beginning March 21st. Miller is pastor of the Lewistown church and he and his committee of arrangements are already hard at work getting affairs in shape for the entertainment of the conference.

Charles Bachelor, game protector of Philipsburg, was in Bellefonte on Tuesday and issued probates for 85 weasels, 44 foxes, 9 minks and 1 wild cat. At least three men brought in five fox pelts each for probate. One of the men told the writer that a nice red fox pelt is now worth from $8.50 to $9.50. It requires four of them to make a fur set, which would make it rather costly by the time the furs are placed on the market. At Millheim on Wednesday Bachelor issued probates for 44 weasels, 12 foxes and 3 minks, the total value of the probates for the two days being $257.00.

On Monday Harry Weaver, of Nittany, started for Lock Haven with a load of hay. Between Mill Hall and Flemington he got caught in a high wind which upset the load of hay into the ditch. Weaver left the hay and returned home intending to go down Tuesday and reload it. Before going home, however, he put a lantern at each end of the load as danger signals. About 10.30 o'clock that night the hay caught fire and burned to ashes. Whether it caught fire from the lanterns or was maliciously set on fire is not known, but Mr. Weaver is out the value of the hay.

The large photoplay, "Civilization," is to be shown at Pastime theatre, State College, Monday, February 5th. This is one of the first showings of this wonderful production in the State outside of Philadelphia and Pittsburgh, and the management of the theatre has informed us that it will be shown with full orchestration and music as specially written for it, and as now being shown in Philadelphia. The orchestra is under the leadership of Miss Mabel Smith, who renders the peace song in the production. They advise early reservation of seats which are now on sale at Sim, The Clothiers, Bellefonte. The production is a wonderful masterpiece and well worth going much farther to witness.

From present indications the number of public sales this spring will be quite large. L. Frank Mayes, the well known auctioneer of Lemont, has been booked for thirty four sales up to Tuesday evening of last week, every day being taken for March and the latter part of February. Every one of the thirty-four sales are big farm stock and implement sales and will take most of the day to sell. On the basis of what stock is now bringing at sales Mr. Mayes estimates that the sales for which he is booked ought to total close to one hundred thousand dollars. Last spring his sales amounted to between eighty and eighty-five thousand. Taking the above figures as a criterion the public sales in Centre county this spring will probably total a quarter million dollars or over.

The eastern mail is routed via Harrisburg and the P. & E. to Lock Haven and was always brought to Bellefonte on the train reaching here at 9.15. Two weeks ago an order went into effect prohibiting the hauling of mail on any train that is not an authorized mail train, consequently the mail was not brought to Bellefonte but held in Lock Haven until Monday morning. The Sunday papers came to Bellefonte by way of Tyrone and if the eastern mail were routed that way on Sunday it would also reach here, as the train from Tyrone is an authorized mail train. Perhaps the change will be made some time in the near future.

TROOP L MUSTERED OUT.

Soldier Boys Changed to National Guardsmen With Little Pomp and Ceremony.

After being in the service of the United States for almost seven months the members of Troop L were mustered out of the federal service on Tuesday and are now plain National Guardsmen, but a far better looking, better drilled and better disciplined body of soldiers than they ever were before.

There was little pomp and ceremony connected with their mustering out. Every man was examined physically and a complete record of his condition made for the War Department. This work was done by Capt. Turnbull, medical examiner. The mustering out officer was Major E. L. Glasgow, and he was very thorough in the transaction of his part of the work. At that he complimented Capt. Curtin on the fine appearance and gentlemanly conduct of the members of his troop, saying it was one of the best organizations he had yet come across.

Capt. Legg officiated as paymaster and it required just about $2,500 to pay the men and settle accounts up to Tuesday. When the men had all been examined physically, the property all checked up, pay roll signed and their money handed over to them the work was ended. There was no formal ceremony of mustering out. The men were simply told that they were no longer in the federal service but were now National Guardsmen of the State. Just as fast as the men were mustered out all those who live away from Bellefonte took the first train they could for their home. Those who reside in Bellefonte went home and changed into civilian clothes as quickly as possible.

The thirty-two horses of the troop will naturally have to be given proper care and attention and to do this work the following men have been selected: Sergt. Harry Schreffler, John Shank, Glen Weaver and Stewart Hampton. They will each receive good pay and subsistence, so that they will not suffer any hardship.

The horses of Troop L have been moved from the fair grounds to the Haag hotel stables, where they will be kept until a permanent barn can be secured for them.

The condition of Miss Susan Dolan, who is ill with pneumonia at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Anderson, of Quaker Hill, is critical.
