THINGS ABOUT TOWN AND COUNTY.

Frank Crosthwaite is again critically ill at his home at State College.

Seventy-two dollars was realized by the women at the dance given in the Armory Friday night of last week.

Henry Montgomery went to Tyrone on Monday where he accepted a position as fireman on the Bald Eagle Valley railroad.

D. Wagner Geiss has decided to go out of the livery business and will make public sale of his horses and equipment on February 28th.

"How to Prevent Colds in the Head from Becoming Dangerous Diseases," the tenth article in this series will be found on page 2, column 4.

W. H. Hindle, landlord of the Central hotel, Philipsburg, is under five hundred dollars bail for trial at court on the charge of selling liquor to a fifteen year old girl.

Wm. B. Rankin and his daughter, Miss Lillian, have both been quite ill with grip this week. They have had the epidemic in a very severe form and were confined to bed several days.

Wednesday of next week will be St. Valentine day, and owing to the increased cost of paper this year all kinds of valentines will cost about twenty-five per cent more than in former years.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl C. Musser are rejoicing over their first-born, a little daughter, which arrived on Wednesday. The same morning a little son was born to Mr. and Mrs. Edward Garbrick, at the Bellefonte hospital.

Lee H. Walker, son of ex-Sheriff and Mrs. W. Miles Walker, who has been a civil engineer in the department of public works at San Domingo the past three years, was recently made director general of public utilities of the island.

The Pennsylvania Division of Woman's Preparedness desires a large attendance at their next meeting to be held in the court house on Wednesday of next week. A representative from the state headquarters will make an address.

On Tuesday evening when John Cunningham, Nevin Wetzel and some other High school boys were at the wireless to get the press dispatches floating through the air, they caught a wireless telephone message, but were not able to tell just where it was from.

Joseph Herman has tendered his resignation as steward of the Nitrate Country club to take effect April first and the same has been accepted. Joe intends going back to his farm not far from the club house. In the meantime the house committee of the club has another party in view to take Mr. Herman's place.

A fast game of basket ball will take place this (Friday) evening in the Y. M. C. A. gymnasium between the Bethlehem Prep team of Bethlehem, one of the best teams in the State, and the strong Bellefonte Academy five. Admission, 25 cents. Game will be called at 8:30 and a big crowd should be there to witness it.

In the neighborhood of four hundred people attended the annual banquet of the Bellefonte Lodge of Moose on Tuesday evening, in their rooms in the McClain block. Addresses were made by Hon. James Schofield, Col. H. S. Taylor and others. The Bellefonte Lodge is in a flourishing condition financially and one of the largest in the State outside of the cities.

Not enough of borough councilmen could be gotten together at one time on Monday evening to constitute a quorum, consequently there was no meeting. Payment of the labor bills was arranged for and other bills were held over until the next meeting night. In fact, there was no pressing business up for council's attention, anyway.

The biggest part of the winter is behind us but the Scenic is always something to look forward to. It is open every evening during the week except Sunday and every night's program is worth seeing. You don't need stay at home because of the cold weather as the Scenic is always comfortable. No other motion picture show in Central Pennsylvania is just like it.

Joseph Carpeneto has closed out his cigar store and shoe shining parlor in the corner room of the Crider stone building, and John Nighthart has finally rented the room and will establish his barber shop there, expecting to get moved within a week. Jacob Gross, the tailor, will take the rooms to be vacated by Mr. Nighthart, and move there from the basement room in the Aiken building.

NECK BROKEN IN FALL

D. W. Corman Falls to Death When Board Breaks in Loft Over Barn Floor.

D. W. Corman, who lived on the Frank Fisher farm near Penn Hall, met a sudden death on Tuesday morning when a board broke in the loft over the barn floor precipitating him to the floor below breaking his neck and crushing his skull.

Mr. Corman went to the barn about eleven o'clock to feed the stock and do the noontime chores. Not returning at his usual time his wife went out to look for him and found him lying on the barn floor as she believed unconscious. Help was at once summoned and a physician sent for, but the latter found Mr. Corman dead. An examination showed his neck broken and his skull crushed and the physician gave it as his opinion that his neck was broken by his head striking a cross beam in the loft and his skull was crushed in the fall.

Daniel Wilson Corman was a son of Mr. and Mrs. James Corman, of Miles township, where he was born about fifty years ago. He has been engaged in farming practically all his life and was a good and useful citizen in every way. He was united in marriage to Miss Sarah McClintick who survives with the following children: Mrs. Oscar Long, of Spring Mills; Mrs. J. Gross Shook, of Penn Hall; John, at Franklin and Marshall College, Lancaster; E. Roy, at the Lancaster Seminary, and Guy at home. He also leaves his aged parents living at Rebersburg and the following brothers and sisters: Geo. Corman, of Rebersburg; Mrs. Warren Stover, of Spring Mills; Mrs. Rose Diehl, of Clyde, Ohio, and Mrs. A. E. Strayer, of Jersey Shore.

Brief funeral services will be held at his late home at 9:30 o'clock tomorrow morning by his pastor, Rev. R. Raymond Jones, and final services will be held at 10:30 in the Salem Reformed church, of which he was a member. Burial will be made in the cemetery adjoining the church.

Typhoid Epidemic Under Control. The typhoid fever epidemic in the vicinity of Osceola Mills is believed to be under control by the State Board of Health and local physicians and nurses. As soon as the people of Osceola Mills and Philipsburg awoke to the gravity of the situation they went to work manfully and started a fight on the disease which is bound to win in the end.

Not only was every possible thing done to give those who are afflicted proper attention but both Osceola and Philipsburg raised a fund of one thousand dollars each to defray the expense of caring for the sick and also looking after any families who may have been left dependent by reason of the father's illness.

So far there has been but one death, that of a Poleander, whose wife and little daughter are also in the hospital ill with the disease. All told there are about ninety cases of the fever, but the number of new cases is growing less each day. Of course, it is hardly to be expected that no more new cases will develop, but the aim of the physicians now in charge is to keep the number as small as possible and to get rid of the source of the infection.

The Ground Hog Saw His Shadow.

There is no denying the fact that the groundhog saw his shadow last Friday; in fact he could not help but see it well defined upon the ice and snow if he had the temerity to forsake his winter bed and come forth to see what the weather was like. But whether he visited the outer world or not makes very little difference, as Old Boreas kept right on the job. The cold of Friday continued through Saturday and on Sunday it warmed up enough to give us the deepest fall of snow of the winter, about nine inches of it.

Then it began to blow and the snow drifted and the weather grew colder and by Monday morning it was the most wintry weather we have had this season. The passenger train on the Lewisburg and Tyrone railroad was two hours late and all other trains were from fifteen to thirty minutes late. Public roads were also drifted deep in many places, interfering more or less with traffic.

No school was held in the new High school building on Monday owing to the wind from the west being so high it was impossible to heat the building properly.

Grant Cars to Advance in Price. The price of Grant automobiles will be advanced $75.00 March 1st. The Grant agent, Wilfred I. Miller, wishes to state to prospective purchasers of Grant cars that all orders placed with him for cars before March 1st will be placed at the old price $825; delivery to be made any time before June 1st, as the purchaser desires.

See Mrs. Vernon Castle, America's best known woman, in "Patria," the serial photoplay supreme today at the Scenic; matinee and night. This is the first episode. Be sure to see it. Matinee, 2:45 p. m.

The strong Camden basket ball team of the Eastern League put up a good game against the Bellefonte Academy five last Saturday evening on the Y. M. C. A. floor, but finally went down to defeat by the score of 65 to 47. The Academy five this year is one of the strongest in the history of that institution and the aggregation that defeats them will have to play faster ball than any team that has appeared here this season.

Dr. H. C. Helfrich, who has been closing out his store on the corner of Allegheny and Bishop streets, will leave Bellefonte today to enter the Orthopedic Institute in Philadelphia, where he will take a special course on the treatment of an injured knee. Dr. Helfrich will return to Bellefonte some time in July to resume his work here and at State College and to continue his business interests in both places.

The possibility of a war with Germany has made a rush for naturalization by foreigners all over the country and while Centre county does not have the number of unannaturalized residents that some other places do, yet the same inclination is dominant among the foreigners here. On Tuesday two men took out their first papers and they were a German and a Hungarian, representatives of the two powers that would be allied against the United States in case of war.

Preparatory to launching a campaign to raise $1,500 to finance the Y. W. C. A. in Centre county the coming year, ministers of all the churches in the county will speak in behalf of the good work on Sunday. Next week a thorough canvass of the entire county will be made and everybody will be asked to contribute to the good work. Other communities have been materially benefited by the establishment of a Y. W. C. A. and there is no reason why Centre county should not do so.

Rev. Morris E. Swartz, of York; Rev. Horace Lincoln Jacobs, of Williamsport; Rev. A. Lawrence Miller, of Bloomsburg; Rev. Wilford P. Shriner, of Altoona, and Rev. George S. Woomer, of Huntingdon, five prominent ministers in the Central Pennsylvania M. E. conference, have petitioned the Dauphin county court for a charter for a Methodist orphanage to be known as the "Christ Home." Details of the plans for the home have already been worked out but the site has not yet been selected.

The "Watchman" is in receipt of the fourteenth biennial report of T. B. Patton, general superintendent of the Huntingdon reformatory. It is a book of sixty pages, printed and bound in heavy paper by the inmates of the institution and reflects credit upon the man in charge of the printing department. The report shows that during the year 1915 Centre county had nine inmates in the reformatory for a total of 2274 days at a cost of $818.64, and during the year 1916 the county had nine inmates for a total of 1004 days at a cost of $401.60.

Headmaster James R. Hughes gave a banquet at the Bellefonte Academy last Friday evening in honor of his students who have had successful careers as athletes. The banquet was attended by the entire student body and a number of invited guests. Among those who made addresses were Col. H. S. Taylor, Ex-Judge Ellis L. Orvis, Rev. James R. Hughes, Rev. W. K. McKinney and Rev. I. Hodgson, of Snow Shoe. Letters were awarded a dozen or more of the Academy athletes. The occasion proved a very pleasant one for all present.

"Freckles," the dramatized version of one of the best books, by Gene Stratton-Porter, will be seen here for the first time at Garman's, Thursday evening, February 15th. "Freckles" as a play has gained force in transportation from the leaves of a book to a setting behind the footlights. Any person who has read the book will surely want to see the play, which is great in its simplicity and deals with situations right in the heart of nature. The play will be presented by a strong cast of players and singers. Prices, 25, 35, 50 and 75 cents.

Having reached that age where the Pennsylvania railroad company deems a man worthy of a protracted rest David Barlett Sr., will be placed on the retired list on March first. Knowing this fact the members of his bible class and other friends to the number of fifty or more gave him a real surprise party at his home on Thomas street last Saturday evening. His bible class presented him with a large and comfortable chair in which he can take it easy while passing the time away, while he also received quite a list of other remembrances from his many friends. Choice refreshments were a feature of the evening's gathering and Mr. Barlett was very much affected by the thoughtfulness of his many friends.

WORLD'S FAMOUS CHEF HERE.

Interesting Demonstrations Given Daily at the Potter-Hoy Hardware Store.

The Potter-Hoy hardware store has been the mecca for Bellefonte housekeepers this week. Prof. Becker, who bears the title of the world's famous chef, is there demonstrating the great Majestic range and at the same time giving lessons in baking and cooking, and every afternoon from one hundred and fifty to two hundred women are there to see his work. The professor is seventy-six years old and claims to have had sixty-three years experience in the culinary art. He began his demonstrations here on Tuesday when he baked jelly rolls, cookies and drop cakes, which were served to about fifty people. That afternoon was designated as children's day and about two hundred of the younger generation were entertained and each one given a little souvenir. The Majestic prize was awarded to Miss Helen Elizabeth Smith.

On Wednesday the professor devoted himself entirely to cakes, making a white cake without eggs, a honey cake without either eggs or honey, devil's food cake, Rocky mountain cake and layer cake, all of which were served to the ladies. Four pound cakes were given as prizes.

Yesterday was bread day. Starting at two o'clock the professor made and baked bread in three hours, getting through at five o'clock. He also made Parker house rolls, English cross buns, cinnamon rolls, pocketbook rolls and a German coffee cake.

Today (Friday) will be pastry day. The professor will serve cream puffs, chocolate eclairs and victoria rolls, while four lemon pies will be given as prizes.

Tomorrow (Saturday) the professor will prepare a dinner for fifteen people in just one hour. The dinner will include an eight pound roast of beef, Irish potatoes, sweet potatoes, parsnips, honey comb dressing, and three dozen of baking powder biscuits. The start will be made at two o'clock and the dinner will be ready to serve at three. The Potter-Hoy company has arranged seats for one hundred and fifty people but in order to get a good one you should go early.

The Majestic Range company has a standing offer of $1000 to any man who, with the same amount of work and the same amount of fuel, and in the same time equals the professor's record.

Bellefonte's Spring Closed to Public.

Bellefonte's big spring, that beautiful fountain of pure, sparkling water which supplies the town and which has been open and free to the public from the foundation of the world down to Wednesday morning, has been closed tight by a preematory order received on Tuesday from the State Commissioner of Health, Dr. Samuel G. Dixon. A big padlock and chain now hold the gate secure against all comers and a fence is to be thrown across the northwest corner to prevent entrance that way.

Bellefonte has never been the seat of an epidemic that could be ascribed to its drinking water. In fact the town has always been renowned for the purity of the water that flows from the big spring. And it is doubtless to keep it pure that Dr. Dixon has given his order under the great, big, golden seal of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania. And the only consolation residents of Bellefonte have is the fact that the order has been general all over the State, on account of the imminent danger of war. It is in effect that all sources of Water supply must be put under lock and key to insure perfect sanitation. And we just wonder if every farmer who has a spring from which he gets his water will be compelled to fence it in and put a padlock on the gate.

Wreck on the Bald Eagle.

Two trains going in opposite directions came together in a head-on collision near Port Matilda, last Thursday evening, wrecking both engines, five cars and blocking the track for six hours. A freight train of forty-nine loaded cars east bound and a train of three loaded cars and forty-seven empties west bound, were the two that figured in the collision. Both firemen jumped but the engineers stuck to their throttle, and strange to say the only man injured was one of the firemen who suffered a contused and bruised leg when he fell on the stones and cinder along the track. It took six hours to clear away the wreck and get the road open for traffic. Just who is to blame for the collision has not yet been determined.

For National Preparedness.

The Pennsylvania Women's Division for National Preparedness will hold a mass meeting in the court house on Wednesday, February 14th, at 4 o'clock. Everyone interested in Preparedness is urged to attend, as we wish to have our organization in perfect working order at this critical time of our country's history.

NEWS PURELY PERSONAL.

Miss Ada Powers has gone to Atlantic City, where she will be for an indefinite time.

Vincent J. Bauer, of Pennsville, N. J., spent Sunday with his friends in Bellefonte.

Charles Kellerman, of Hyde City, spent the week-end in Bellefonte with Mrs. Kellerman.

Mr. and Mrs. Harland Saylor had as guests for the week-end their son Harry, of Pittsburgh.

Oliver Witmer, of Altoona, was a week-end guest of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Witmer.

Miss Margaret Roosenhoover went to Philadelphia a week ago expecting to be in the city for an indefinite time.

Mr. and Mrs. William Sproul, of Mingo, drove to Bellefonte Wednesday in their sled, devoting the day to shopping.

Miss Hester McGinley was one of a number of the younger set who attended the week-end party at State College.

Adam Crossmyer, of Cleveland, Ohio, was a guest of Samuel Bryan while visiting in Bellefonte for several days this week.

Mrs. H. P. Kelley, of Snow Shoe, spent a day the after part of last week in the shops of Bellefonte and visiting with friends.

Miss Helen J. Dreese, of Lemont, is spending ten days with friends in New York State, going from here to Buffalo Saturday.

Mrs. John A. Woodcock will go to Scranton next week to be a guest for a month or more of friends, and of her son, Dr. Lee B. Woodcock.

Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Griffith, of Axe Mann, who have been spending the winter in Camden, N. J., will return to Bellefonte Thursday of next week.

Mrs. Leggett, superintendent of the Bellefonte hospital returned from Urbichsville, Ohio, Wednesday, where she had been for a short visit with her family.

Mrs. Eva Rich Venerable, who had been with her parents at Unionville, since Christmas, returned to her home at Wilmington, Delaware, Friday of last week.

Mr. and Mrs. William Love, of Altoona, with their two daughters, Marian and Lucretia, visited with Mr. and Mrs. John Love, of Reynolds avenue, for the week-end.

Mrs. M. L. Valentine went to Philadelphia Monday to spend a short time in the city before going to Florida. Mrs. Valentine's leaving was postponed on account of illness.

John Campbell, of Tyrone, stopped in Bellefonte for a short time Saturday, on his way home from Penns Cave, where he has been looking after some business interests.

Miss Mary Graden went to Centre Hall Wednesday, to spend some time with her sister, Mrs. Henry White, with whom she makes her home. Miss Graden had been living in Bellefonte for a year.

Miss Ruth H. Bertram expects to leave the beginning of the week for Seattle, Washington, where she will spend the spring and summer with her uncles, W. J. and Lewis Beizer and their families.

After spending ten days in Bellefonte looking after business interests Dr. J. M. Broekhoff left yesterday for his winter home in Atlantic City, intending to stop in Harrisburg and Philadelphia en route.

Mrs. C. A. Williams and daughter, Mrs. Mabel Gardner, of Eagleville, were in Bellefonte Wednesday looking after the legal matters consequent upon the death of Mr. Williams, who died several weeks ago.

Mrs. L. T. Munson is living at the Bush house, having come to Bellefonte a week ago from New Haven, Conn., where she had been since the first of October with her son, John Gephart Munson and family.

Miss Alice Dorworth has been in Tyrone and Altoona this week visiting and inspecting the schools of both places, to learn of the methods used by the school boards of those cities. Every teacher of the Bellefonte schools will be given this opportunity.

Dr. Bertha Caldwell, of Johnstown, was a guest of Miss Mary H. Linn during her stay in Bellefonte the early part of the week. Dr. Caldwell came here to talk over her life in India, before the Woman's Foreign Missionary society, of the Presbyterian church, at their meeting held in the chapel Tuesday evening.

Miss Grace Marvin returned recently from a six weeks visit to her home at Binghamton, N. Y., and is now arranging to make extensive improvements to the front of her millinery store on High street.

At the completion of the work Miss Marvin will go to New York city to buy her spring stock, expecting it to be larger and more attractive than she has ever carried.

Mr. F. P. Garrett, of State College, was a business visitor in Bellefonte on Wednesday and incidentally called at this office and ordered the "Watchman" sent to his home because, he averred, he thought it the best paper published in the county. Naturally we appreciate Mr. Garrett's opinion and we shall always be our aim to keep it a front-rank county newspaper.

Dr. Thomas C. VanTries left Bellefonte yesterday for Parkersburg, Chester county, where he will spend a few days with his son, Rev. William Potter VanTries and family. From there he will go south by easy stages until he reaches Miami, Florida. He is also considering a trip to Havana, Cuba, but that will depend very much on the conditions of things generally. He expects to be away a month or six weeks.

Capt. George P. Runkle arrived in Bellefonte last week for a three weeks' visit among his various relatives, the first time he has been here in over two years. Capt. Runkle now has charge of a big ship plying the coastwise trade between Boston and Rio Janeiro, Brazil and is thoroughly under the Stars and Stripes. On his last trip north, while sailing off the Brazilian coast one bright moonlight night his lookout reported a vessel some two miles distant. The vessel carried no lights and was sailing head on for Capt. Runkle's ship. When the strange craft got near enough it was discovered that she was bristling with guns and suddenly a searchlight was thrown on Runkle's ship. This evidently veered to the east and soon disappeared.

When Capt. Runkle arrived in the Philadelphia port he learned for the first time of the German raider, and he has been wondering ever since if that might have been it.

Paul L. Wetzel went to Erie Tuesday, where he has accepted a position with the Lake Shore R. R. company.

Col. Emanuel Noll and his daughter, Miss Rebekah Noll, have been entertaining Miss Charlotte Chamberlain, of Warriors-mark.

Mrs. James R. Hughes and her sister, Miss Emma Green, returned to Bellefonte Tuesday, from a two week's visit in Williamsport.

Miss Adaline Robb, of Wilkensburg, who came to Bellefonte Saturday, will be a guest of her sister, Mrs. Harry Murtoff, during her stay.

Dr. McKinney went to Newark, N. J., yesterday and from there will go to join William P. Humes in Philadelphia, where he will be Mr. Humes' guest at the banquet of the Scotch Irish association at the Bellevue Stratford to-night.

Mr. and Mrs. Allen S. Garman, of Tyrone, are planning to join a party of friends in Washington Sunday, for a trip to Florida, expecting to return north the first of March, that they may be in Washington for the inauguration on the 5th.

Robert Clark, of Olean, N. Y., who has been in Bellefonte since the death of his father two weeks ago, will go to Philadelphia upon leaving here to enter the Wills Eye hospital for treatment for his left eye, from which it is feared the sight is gone.

Mrs. D. W. Hurlinger, of Philadelphia, was a guest at the Bush house while in Bellefonte for a visit the past part of last week. In consequence of this being Mrs. Hurlinger's home town, much of her time was spent with her friends, who live in and near the town.

Samuel Rumberger was one of the opera house enthusiasts who drove to Bellefonte Tuesday night to see "The Millionaire's Son and the Shop Girl." Since leaving Bellefonte Mr. Rumberger has devoted his time to his chicken farm at Pleasant Gap and has now one of the largest and most successful in the county.

The Bellefonte gas and steam heating plant is again up for sale, but this time it is merely a matter of form, to get rid of the first mortgage bonds and clear the title. The sale will take place during the February term of court.

Now that grippe is so prevalent a lesson in prevention is quite to the point. Read "How to Prevent Colds in the Head from Becoming Dangerous Diseases," in this issue of the paper.

One of the big sales in Pennsylvania this spring will be that of George Yarnell on the old Kimpport farm on February 28th.
