WOLF'S STORE.

Conscription will solve the fall suit question for many a young man. Bars and stripes might well be recommended for food manipulators. Some men would object to getting wet or losing a day's work for a million dollar rain. L. M. Bowersox and family spent Saturday and Sunday with Mr. Bowersox's parents, near Woodward.

Ammon Showers and family, from Greenburr, spent the week-end with George H. Showers, of this place. George Showers and family took a pleasure vacation on Sunday, by autoing to Boalsburg and State College. Clyde Waite left for Erie, Pa., where he has secured employment in swinging the hammer and pulling the

C. E. Beyer and wife and E. E. Hibler and wife were entertained on Sun-day by Mrs. Harry Hanselman, in a very hospitable manner.

Several of our rising generation performed deeds of heroism in gaining control of a forest fire perpetrated in their trodden paths, recently. H. Cyrus Ziegler, whose left arm was partially severed by a circular saw on Memorial day, is getting along nicely, considering his advanced age. The grass is growing, the wheat appears normal, the oats looks fine, potatoes are promising, cherries and apples will be scarce, and prices are

Registration for the army draft passed off quietly. Although some boasted of not being compelled to register, when Tuesday, June 5th, appeared on the calendar of time, they, like the Arabs, folded their tents and quietly stole to the polls. -A curious development of the war situation appears in the report that for the first time, as far as is definitely known, orders have been placed from a foreign country for the products of modern Chinese factories. The war had naturally given a great impetus to the domestic trade in native manufactures of all kinds, but now it is stated that several large orders have been placed from Russia for various items.

The big insurance companies are ready to undertake the task of insuring the lives of all American soldiers for the war premium charged to the individual entering the army or navy, $100

Province of Alsace-Lorraine dates, of course, from the treaty of Frankfort, which was constructed by the German Imperial Province of Alsace-Lorraine dates, of course, from the treaty of Frankfort, on each $1,000 of insurance, according and Prussio after the Franco-Prusto E. E. Rittenhouse, commissioner of sian war, in the May of 1871. By conservation for a large life assurtation that treaty the whole of Alsace, and that the companies could give the sol- known as German Lorraine, were government could do no better than that.

Insurance men in New York were deeply interested in a dispatch from Washington telling that the government was considering insuring the life of each soldier and sailor sent abroad. The plan of the government was said to be to call heads of insurance comcarry the insurance itself. The insurance men were deeply interested because of the controversy now on over the question of war premiums. In April a conference of insurance commissioners and insurance men suggested that $37.50 be fixed as the war premium on each $1,000 of insurance, but most of the New York companies, inthe regular premiums by every man insuring and subsequently going abroad to fight. Of course old policies without a war clause stand if the insured is drafted or volunteers.

To Distribute All Surplus. Mr. Rittenhouse said that it was arranged to put the $100 war premiums into a separate fund and after the war to distribute among the insured what was left, if any, after the losses were between twenty and thirty years would run from $25 to $30 a thousand and that if the companies had any of the $100,000,000 for the first year, plus

They have charged in ever, to have determined to come to for the war rate premium, and some of French language came to be the prethe Canadian companies have charged dominating tongue; whilst in sentiment, outlook, and attachments the as high as $150 for each $1,000. We have decided that $100 is a fair premium, and there is no chance for profit by the companies because what is left after paying the policies of those killed if the government insured its soldiers had been formally handed over to that money, if any, would go back to Germany, some 160,000 inhabitants of that money, if any, would go back to the soldiers. But, of course, I do not know what the government is planning French, in spite of all that the deciknow what the government is planning to do.

"There would be one important item to be considered, and that is that if the government went ahead and entered the insurance business the bureau doing the work would probably not have to maintain the reserves that the insurance companies are forced by law to carry, and this might mean a slightly better rate. It would also mean that the taxpayers of the country would be subject to the risk of paying the losses which insurance companies have to pay out of their reserves." Mr. Rittenhouse also pointed out that under the plan the mutual companies pay dividends or premium repayments on policies, so the government would be in line to get back most of any profit that would accrue from the payment of the regular premiums on policies taken out for soldiers or sailors.

Power of Suggestion Triumphs. Municipal Judge N. J. Monahan of Green Bay, Wis., who has been in the habit of retiring at 11 each night, tried with no success to get to bed and to sleep by 10 until the other day, when the clocks of Green Bay were set ahead an hour for daylight saving. The judge did not remember that his clock had also been advanced, and when he saw that it was near 11 he decided that he could stay up no longer, so went to bed. Then he realized that power of suggestion had triumphed where will power had failed.

KIPLING ON THE FUTURE.

When earth's last picture is painted, and the tubes are twisted and dried, When the oldest colors have faded, and the youngest critic has died,

We shall rest, and, faith, we shall need i -lie down for an aeon or two, 'Till the Master of all Good Workmen shall set us to work anew!

And those that were good shall be happy they shall sit in a golden chair; They shall splash at a ten-league canvas with brushes of comets' hair;

They shall find real saints to draw from Magdalene, Peter and Paul; They shall work for an age at a sitting and never be tired at all!

And only the Master shall praise us, and only the Master shall blame; And no one shall work for money, and one shall work for fame:

each, in his separate star, Shall draw the Thing as he sees it for the God of Things as They Are! -Rudyard Kipling.

Alsace-Lorraine.

The history of the German Imperial ance society. Mr. Rittenhouse said that part of the Province of Lorraine diers insurance at cost and that the ceded to Germany, and incorporated in one territory known to the Germans as Elsass-Lothringen, or simply as Reichland. The separate histovalue, for the alleviation and cure of far back into the beginnings of things in Europe. The whole region, espe cially Alsace, was always disputed territory, and, in ancient times, often formed the battle ground in the contentions of rival races. No trace, therepanies into consultation to find what fore, of the history of the two provplan they could offer to be considered inces through all the mazes of mediewith a proposal for the government to val European history would call for much more space than is now available. Suffice it to say that they both belonged to that loose confederation of States known as the Empire, and, from the Tenth Century onwards, were governed by various sovereigns, dukes, or princes, under Germanic suzerainty, chiefly that of the house of Hapsburg.

The modern history of Alsace-Lorcluding three of the largest in the business, have fixed on an annual premium of $100 on each $1,000 of insurance to be paid in addition to that treaty a large part of Alsace was ceded to France; but Louis XIV had set his heart on securing much more of it. In those days, when territory changed hands rapidly, it was never difficult for a country to set up plausible claims to adjoining lands, and Louis XIV, shortly after the Peace of Westphalia, turned his attention to Alsace to see what could be done in this respect. It did not take him long, as might be supposed, to discover, much to his "righteous indignation," that large tracts of surpaid. He pointed out that if the gov- rounding territory had been, in years ernment wished to insure its soldiers it gone by, "torn from Alsace," or to could pay to the companies $100 for decide that they should most certaineach $1,000 for each man in addition to ly be restored to that country by the the regular premiums, which for men various German princes who were in possession. ### Women Give Out

Housework is hard enough when healthy. Every Bellefonte woman who is having backache, blue and nervous spells, dizzy headaches and kidney or bladder troubles, should be glad to heed this Bellefonte woman's experience: Mrs. J. F. Thal, 23 W. Thomas St., says: "I suffered from backache and severe pains across my loins. I also had headaches and dizzy spells when I got up in the morning. Bladder disorders caused me a lot of annoyance. My attention was called to Doan's Kidney Pills and I began taking them, getting my supply at Green's Pharmacy Co. One box removed the backache and relieved me of the other trouble from my kidneys. Doan's Kidney Pills helped me a lot and I always have a good word for them."
