

The Wizard of Wiseland.
There is an attraction coming to Garman's on Friday evening, September 21st, that every man, woman and child will be tickled to see. It is the new brilliant musical comedy, "The Wizard of Wiseland." The fun of this production is uproarious and unremitting, never pausing for a moment save when the songs and dances are introduced by the capable company of comedians and pretty girls. There are college-girls and society-girls and all sorts of girls. There are fairies and devils and magic. And there is also a big active lion who will demonstrate how the king of beasts behaves when he makes a meal of a man. The "Wizard of Wiseland" has been deservedly playing to crowded houses with great success everywhere. Prices, 35, 50, 75 cents and $1.00. Children, 25 cents.

Aikey-Dukeman.—A pretty wedding took place at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Kline, of Curtin, on Wednesday of last week, when Clark Aikey, of Tyrone, and Miss Berenice Dukeman, of Curtin, were united in marriage by Rev. M. C. Piper. The young couple will make their home in Tyrone where Mr. Aikey holds a good position with the Pennsylvania railroad company.

Yorks-Houser.—Burns Yorks, of Dover, N. J., and Miss Maude L. Houser, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Houser, of Rockview, were married in the Elm Park church, Scranton, on September first. They have taken up their residence at Dover, N. J.

BOALSBURG.

Miss Louella Ross went to Altoona on Saturday for a short visit among friends.

Misses Nelle and Anna Holter, of Howard, are spending a few days in this vicinity.

A. J. Hazel and family and Grant Charles and family are among the campers at Grange park.

Cyril Zimmerman expects to leave this week for Selingsgrove to enter the Susquehanna University.

Mr. and Mrs. William Fisher and family, of Sunbury, spent several days with Mrs. A. E. Fisher.

Miss Florence Hazel returned to Allentown on Tuesday to enter the Senior class at Allentown College.

Mr. and Mrs. Benton Heberling, of State College, were guests at the home of Dr. and Mrs. Kidder on Monday evening.

Mrs. M. A. B. Boal entertained a number of friends from Sunbury the past week, among the number being Mrs. Clement and Mrs. Ball.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Fisher and son, Charles Jr., returned to their home in Danville, after spending several months at the home of Mrs. A. E. Fisher.

Mrs. Reuben Stuart and daughter Elizabeth, of Ingram, arrived in town on Tuesday for a visit with friends. Mr. Stuart expects to join them on Saturday.

Mrs. M. A. B. Boal, Mrs. William Goheen, Miss Anna Dale and Miss Cathryn Dale attended the W. C. T. U. convention at Unionville last week. The trip was made in the Boal car.

Lawrence Woomer, of State College, a member of the Boal machine gun troop, and Miss Beryl Brouse were united in marriage on Monday evening, at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Brouse.

The schools in Harris township opened on Monday. The teachers of the town schools are Miss Goheen, High; Miss Ruth Smith, of Centre Hall; Miss Rosalie McCormick, of Hubersburg, and Miss Margaret Bingaman, of Beaver Springs.

Our town is very quiet this week, the machine gun troop leaving on Tuesday morning and quite a number of people in attendance at the Grange encampment at Centre Hall. There were a great many visitors at Camp Boal on Sunday and Monday evenings and a number of the women of the town packed lunch boxes for the boys, but there was no public leave-taking.

Spread Salt on Streets to Lessen Dust Evil.

Common coarse salt, when properly applied to dirt roads, quite successfully allays the dust during the dry months of summer. The scheme has been tried in many places, and among them the little village of Belleville, Pa., where it obviates the need of street sprinkling. At this particular town the salt is scattered over the road surface with the aid of a lime spreader. The natural affinity of calcium chloride, which is present in salt, for moisture keeps the village thoroughfares fairly free from dust even during very dry periods. The material is applied at intervals of about six weeks at a comparatively low cost. To obtain good results, however, it is necessary that the salt should have an opportunity to become thoroughly mixed with the dirt before encountering a heavy rain.—From the June Popular Mechanics Magazine.

—Many pigs die from becoming overheated in the cars while in transit. This is being taken care of by a western railroad company by providing a shower bath attachment in the cars for cooling the pigs off at regular intervals.

Death of Adjutant General Thomas J. Stewart.

Harrisburg, September 11.—Adjutant General Thomas J. Stewart, for twenty-two years the administrative head of the National Guard of Pennsylvania, former national commander in chief of the G. A. R. and former Secretary of Internal Affairs of the Keystone State, died suddenly at his residence in this city today from heart trouble.

General Stewart died on his birthday, having been born near Belfast, Ireland, September 11, 69 years ago.

General Stewart, who had not been in good health for the last year or more, had handled all the details throughout the mobilization of the National Guard and its transfer to federal service and literally died on duty. He was taken ill at a late hour last night and his condition became alarming. A second attack of heart trouble occurred about 10 o'clock and he died soon after.

Only two hours before he died, General Stewart sent for Chief Clerk Benjamin W. Demming and discussed some departmental matters, appearing to be comfortable.

Adjutant General Stewart was one of the most widely known men in Pennsylvania, as he had been in the State's military establishment from the Civil war, in which he served as a volunteer and had campaigned as a Republican in every county, being noted as an orator and after-dinner speaker.

He was brought to this country when less than a year old and grew up in Norristown. When 16 years of age, he enlisted as a private in the 138th volunteers and after the war engaged in glass manufacture, in which he remained until 1882.

He was elected to the House of Representatives in 1884 and served for two years.

The military record of General Stewart was a long one. He was appointed Adjutant General by Governor Hastings in 1895 and was re-appointed by every Governor since, filling the office longer than any man in the history of the State.

General Stewart refused to take vacations and handled all the details of the military arm himself. He was engaged in working out plans for formation of the Pennsylvania reserve militia under the act of 1917, to take the place of the troops now in federal service the day before he died. Although urged by friends not to undertake this work so soon after the strain of attending to the mobilization of the guard for war, he refused to abandon it, promising to take a rest when the task was ended.

General Stewart attended every encampment of the National Guard, division and brigade, for more than 45 years. He served as a member of the militia board of the War Department for several years and was president of the National Guard association of the United States.

For a generation he was active in the G. A. R. and in 1862, when General J. P. S. Gobin was chosen national commander, General Stewart was made Adjutant General, being re-appointed twice and in 1902 was elected national commander-in-chief.

When the State established the soldiers and sailors home at Erie he was one of the commission which located it and has since served as a member of the board of trustees.

He was elected Secretary of Internal Affairs in 1886 and re-elected in 1890.

General Stewart is survived by two sisters, who made their home with him, and two brothers. Mrs. Stewart died two years ago.

The funeral services will be held at his residence in this city Friday evening and will be conducted by Rev. Dr. George Edward Hawes, pastor of the Market Square Presbyterian church, this city.

The body will be taken to Norristown Saturday morning and services held at that place at 2 o'clock.

The G. A. R. and the Masonic bodies will take part in the funeral, he having been a 33d degree Mason.
