THINGS ABOUT TOWN AND COUNTY

-Mrs. George B. Thompson, of Alto, who is a surgical patient in the Altoona hospital, is rapidly recovering from an operation performed a week

-At a meeting of the board of directors of the Moshannon National bank, of Philipsburg, held on Monday morning, D. Ross Wynn was elected president to succeed the late J. N. Schoonover, deceased. Mr. Wynn has been vice president of the bank the past eight years and has also been prominently connected with the General Refractories company, with headquarters in Philipsburg.

-The immense amount of tonnage handled on the Bald Eagle Valley railroad resulted in another wreck vesterday morning just above Snow Shoe Intersection. A freight train following another ran into the rear end, throwing the caboose on top of a coal car. Fortunately no one was injured and the tracks were not blockaded, although the train from Tyrone east was held up about an hour.

-A marriage license was issued Miss Mary Sherlock, both of Bellefonte, and although the wedding has afternoon for Clearfield where he has accepted the position of manager of the Nickel-Alloys Co., the new industry which Dr. Hennig and others have established in that place. Mr. Davis until he finds a desirable house. They are now visiting at their former home in Philadelphia.

-Lieutenant Herbert Gray Foster, one of the recently commissioned officers of Fort Niagara, is now stationed at Camp Admiral, Md. At the camp are 1000 officers and after the 19th of September 40,000 men will be in training there, Lieut. Foster expecting to accompany them when they sail in a short time for France. Mr. Foster is well known in Centre county, having frequently visited here with friends and with his grandfather, George S. Gray, of Halfmoon valley.

-Centre county was covered with a mantle of white on Tuesday morning in the shape of an unusually heavy frost. In fact it was in reality a freeze as the thermometer was down to 32 degrees above zero and ice formed in some parts of the county. Late vegetables, corn, etc., were frozen throughout the county, causing considerable loss. Another frost occurred on Wednesday morning but it was not so severe and since then the weather has been more seasonable.

-Long evenings and cool nights Scenic. There you can sit at ease and watch the latest and best in motion pictures depicted upon the screen, illustrated weeklies of all the importserials of absorbing interest. A visit that was left behind were memories. to the Scenic will convince you that it is one of the best motion picture shows in Central Pennsylvania.

-Last Thursday evening Isaac Underwood drove into town from his office and started up High street in his Ford car just as Dr. Seibert came down the street. As the latter made the turn to go out south Water street Mr. Underwood collided with the latter's car. Neither one was driving fast so that neither the doctor nor Mr. Underwood was hurt, but both cars were somewhat damaged, the Ford getting the worst of the encounter. Bystanders pulled the cars apart and both men were able to proceed on their way but Mr. Underwood's car was somewhat wobbly as the result of a

-Prof. Jonas E. Wagner's typewriter, which was stolen on the night room in the High school building, was found late Thursday afternoon in the vestibule of St. John's Episcopal church, which is just across the street from the school building. Just how or when the typewriter was placed in the church vestibule is a question as yet unanswered. Certain it is that it was not put there the night it was stolen, because both morning and evening service was held in the church on Sunday, September 2nd, and the typewriter was not there then. The only explanation thus far possible is that the thief became conscience stricken after he had had the machine five days and decided to return it, but when he undertook to do so either found the school building secure against midnight raiders, or else was afraid of being detected and deposited the typewriter in the church vestibule, a fact easy of accomplishment as the church doors are never locked. When found the machine was completely wrapped in paper and no part of it was injured in any way.

First Pennsylvania cavalry. The above in brief marked the de parture of the young men who have by Register Frank Sausserman on been mobilized in this place since July Wednesday to William W. Waddle and 15th awaiting the summons to their southern training camp at Fort Hancock, Augusta, Ga., but it is only a not yet taken place, so far as the pitifully meagre part of the story. Every man, woman and child in the vast multitude was too intent on fixing in his or her mind the last glimpse will not move his family to Clearfield of some loved one, and their hearts were too full to cheer. And that last glimpse will linger orever in the minds of all because it showed the true American, most of the boys smiling and waving their hands in farewell, be it for only a few months, a year, two years or forever. As the train was pulling out a little band of the soldiers started to sing but their hearts were too full and the song died out in the second line while their voices trailed off into a final 'good bye to everybody." One soldier was heard to say "Good bye, Old Bellefonte." Another touching scene was witnessed at the mess car when the father of one of the young soldiers stepped from the crowd and grasped his son's hand in a final good bye, and while doing so dropped change into his hand. This so affected the soldier boy that he had to turn away to hide his tears.

There were no frills connected with their departure. In fact the officers and men did not want any. All the cars except the coaches were brought in on Monday and were loaded in an orderly and systematic manner. On Monday evening a squad of men were detailed to see to the loading of the will soon be here and everybody who horses on Tuesday morning and the has been spending the pleasant even- others were ordered to report at the ings out of doors will seek a more armory at six o'clock. It was just 8:32 o'clock when the order was given and the march was made south on Spring street to High and down High to the depot. In ten ant happenings of the day, with big minutes the train had gone and all

> And sad as these were there is yet the comfort of knowing that every man who went out on that train had proved himself a gentleman during the eight weeks the Troop was mobilized here. This fact has been so widely commented upon by the citizens of Bellefonte that it is not necessary to emphasize it here. And for that reason we feel confident that wherever Troop L is ordered they will go and whatever command is given it will be carried out; that the colors they bore away with them will never be trailed in the dust nor lowered in dishonor and the universal hope is that every man may return full of a sense of just pride for having answered his country's call when it was given and serving it to the best of his ability. The "Watchman" has already told of the sweaters supplied to every member of the Troop and hospital of August 31st from the director's corps through a movement that started with the D. A. R., but the soldiers were still further remembered. This same organization gave the soldiers utility bags to hang up in their tents, with pockets for washrag, soap, comb and brush, shoes, etc. Each bag was made to accommodate two soldiers. The Bellefonte W. C. T. U. gave each soldier a Comfy Kit, containing needles and thread, buttons, safety pins and a copy of the testament, and the Woman's Guild two towels for each soldier. The Woman's club was instrumental in soliciting and collecting 375 lunch boxes filled with home-made lunches, a box of lemons, 25 pounds of sugar and a quantity of peaches. In this the Bellefonte women were very ably assisted by the women of Coleville and other places.

Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Montgomery furnished a supply of matches and bananas and Miss Rebecca N. Rhoads gave one hundred and fifty cakes of sweet chocolate.

Conference of Civic Clubs. A tri-county conference of civic clubs from Centre, Clinton and Lycoming counties will be held in Bellefonte on Tuesday, October 2nd. Though no definite program has as yet been arranged one of the questions that will be seriously considered at the conference will be the registration of women for war service. Mrs. Martin, of Philadelphia, one of Pennsylvania's best known authorities on civic matters, will be one of the speakers at the Bellefonte conference and the very fact that she will be present should be the incentive for a large attendance. yesterday. A box luncheon will be served at the noon hour.

Attention! The forty-fourth annual reunion of the Centre county veteran club will be held at Pine Grove Mills on Saturday, September 22nd, all day, to which all the gray and grizzled veterans are cordially invited. Attend and mingle with comrades and friends and renew the ties of comradeship that have been unbroken for more than half a century. The comrades and friends of Pine Grove Mills are arranging for a very pleasant gathering. Strive to be at roll call promptly at 10:30 a.m. JOHN HAMILTON, President. W. H. FRY, Secretary.
