Reorganization of the Pennsylvania National Guard.

Army orders were issued on Sunday for the reorganization of the Pennsylvania National Guard now in training at Fort Hancock, Augusta, Ga., along lines similar to the composition of the European armies. In doing this four old National Guard units. lose their identity, the eight regiments being consolidated into four regiments to be known as the 109th, 110th, 111th and 112th infantry, the two former to compose the 55th brigade and the two latter the 56th.

The different machine gun troops have also been merged into two batallions to be known as the 107th and 108th, the latter to be connected with the 55th brigade. Centre countians are especially interested in the latter because the batallion will be made up of the Boal mounted machine gun troop, 96 men; 96 men from Company E, of the old Sixth infantry; 97 men from Company F, of the Sixth; 96 men from Company G; 96 men from Company H: 74 men from the machine gun company of the Eighth regiment and 10 men from the sanitary detachment of the Fourth infantry, making a total of 565 men. The officers to command the batallion were transferred from the Boal troop, as Auto Speeders Discharged by Justice of the Peace.

Borough officials of Howard recently decided to go after automobilists who persisted in running through that town at a speed exceeding fifteen miles an hour and accordingly set a trap and employed two plain clothes men to get the victims. How well they did the work assigned them was shown in the fact that last week just seventy-four owners of automobiles throughout the country, and some of whom live in Bellefonte, received notice that they were indebted to the borough of Howard to the extent of $12.50, being the legal fine and costs for breaking the speed limit while passing through that borough, and they were notified to please remit the same at once to 'Squire A. A. Pletch-

But the victims didn't remit. They banded together and declared they would contest the case and engaged attorney S. D. Gettig, of this place, to do the contesting. Mr. Gettig made a trip to Howard to look over the ground and his astute vision promptly espied the fact that the caution signs put up by the borough were not as required by law, hence had no legal status. The law requires a sign with five inch letters whereas the signs at Howard have only four inch letters, and as soon as attorney Gettig discovered that fact he quit investigating and prepared for the contest.

The hearing before 'Squire Pletcher was set for two o'clock Monday afternoon and when the hour arrived the 'Squire's office would not have been big enough to hold the crowd of automobilists and others who gathered for the contest. But there was no contest and very little fun for the crowd. 'Squire Pletcher merely appeared on the front porch and announced that acting upon the advice of the borough's attorney, N. B. Spangler, inasmuch as the letters on the sign were not of the size prescribed by law, all
