PINE GROVE MENTION.

John C. Homan is laid up with an attack of the grip. Ed S. Moore is recovering from an attack of pleurisy. Mrs. H. A. Elder is housed up with an attack of sciatica. W. H. Roush, C. H. Martz, C. C. Goss and F. B. Tate were all home to vote. With 129 stay-at-home voters Tuesday's election brought some surprises. Mrs. Samuel Grove was entertained at the Mrs. Sue Peters home on Friday. George Behrer motored over from Eden Hill and spent Saturday with friends here. Farmer W. H. Stewart and daughter Elizabeth were Bellefonte visitors on Friday. Two hundred and fifty rabbits were brought to town as the result of the first day's hunt. Mrs. J. R. Smith left on Tuesday for a week's visit with relatives in the Mountain city. Mr. and Mrs. Earl Kline, of State College, were Sunday visitors at the W. H. Roush home. The venerable Fred Decker, of State College is suffering with a stroke of paralysis. Mr. and Mrs. John Dreiblebis are receiving congratulations over the arrival of a little girl. Mrs. W. G. O'Bryan is spending a few weeks at the Percival O'Bryan home at State College. Mr. and Mrs. W. Grant Gardner spent the Sabbath at the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Williams, near town. Mr. and Mrs. A. F. Fry moved here from Lewisburg to go to farming on Mr. Fry's father's farm just west of town. Next Wednesday A. L. Wieland, of the W. H. Fry farm, will offer at public sale all his stock and farm implements. Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Bowersox, with their two interesting little daughters, were Sunday visitors at the John Dreiblebis home. The winter Chautauqua of three joyous days, 9th, 10th and 12th, with a free session Sunday afternoon. Season tickets, $1.25. 'Squire Dale and wife, and Hugh and Edith Dale motored to Bellefonte on Sunday to see Miss Lillian Dale at the Bellefonte hospital. A. C. Kepler and wife, with A. C. Jr., motored to Fleming where Mrs. Kepler visited her mother while her husband hunted small game. Mr. and Mrs. James E. Hoover returned home on Saturday from a ten day's trip to Morgantown, W. Va., where their daughter Mary remained to attend high school. Pine Grove Mills and State College were well represented at the big demonstration in Bellefonte on Saturday evening to the young men about to leave for an army training camp. Last Saturday evening about one hundred friends and neighbors invaded the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. Johnson, at Pine Hall, to assist in celebrating Mr. Johnson's fifty-fourth birthday anniversary. Choice refreshments were served and a general good time was had.

WOLF'S STORE.

Cold feet won't save you. They must be flat. Civilization will never accept a God made in Germany. Election passed off quietly, no fat plums being handed down. Mother Auman is still holding her own. We wish her a speedy recovery. H. Shovers is busily engaged in autoing milk to the Spring Mills condensary. Ray Stover and family and E. R. Wolfe and family spent Sunday in Aaronsburg. Coupons attached to a Liberty Bond will be fine things to pull when they are ripe. Corn husking is well under way. Many of our large farmers have the same all housed. Many of our citizens are looking forward to the Rebersburg Chautauqua on November 10, 12 and 13. What are we coming to, when "rotten eggs" are disposed of by the crate? God in heaven only knows. The timid bunny must take it again. They seem plenty, some parties bagging the limit of ten the opening day of the season. Adam Winters and family autored to Williamsport on Sunday to pay his brother George, who is under the physician's care, a visit. Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Smull, with their daughters, Neta and Grace, from Smulton, spent Sunday with their daughter, Mrs. H. C. Ziegler, at this place. At this time there seems to be a lively contest in progress between German advocates and performers of cruelty and some of their American sympathizers as to which is entitled to the hottest corner of hell, the hottest corner being too hot for either side. F. E. Bressler, who quired recently met with what was considered a very serious accident while assisting J. H. Shovers in threshing, is apparently well again and going about his daily routine of work. We are certainly glad for such an immediate recovery, Floyd being one of those who never gives up as long as a calorie of energy is obtainable. —For high class Job Work come to the "Watchman" Office.

PLEASANT GAP ITEMS.

Miss Ella Baumgardner spent a few days last week at Howard. Anna Rimmey spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Kanarr, in Bellefonte. Mrs. Harry McClincy and daughter Mary spent the week-end at State College. Miss Margaret Yeager attended the High school dance in Bellefonte on Friday night. Misses Margaret Swartz and Helen Gettig were week-end visitors with friends at Madisonburg. Mr. and Mrs. Paul Keller and little daughter, of Altoona, spent the week-end with relatives in this place. Mrs. Rachel Miller left Thursday last for Corry, where she will spend an indefinite time with her daughter, Mrs. Gettig. All Pleasant Gap schools were closed last week on account of the prevalence of scarlet fever in our community. Happily the afflicted are doing nicely now and the quarantine on the three afflicted homes will be lifted in a few days. The schools were again opened Monday. The Hallowe'en masked party at our neighbors, Mr. John T. Noll's on Wednesday evening, proved a decided success. Twenty-two invited guests participated, and the happy occasion will long be remembered. All entered the Noll habitation masked. It was difficult to the observers to tell who was who, as women were dressed as men and men as women. A most hilarious time was indulged in up to the hour of 8 p. m., when the order was given to unmask. All were then recognizable. From 8 to 10 o'clock piano renditions, singing and popular games were the order of the evening. At 10 o'clock sharp all were ushered into the dining room where a most elaborate lunch awaited them. All present agreed that "Ma" was at her best when she, assisted by Miss Jean, prepared such an up-to-date lay out. It is needless to say that all present did justice to the occasion. Another hour of merriment was then engaged in but when the twelve o'clock whistle blew, the happy participants retired to their homes delighted with their 1917 Hallowe'en experience at Jack Noll's.

AARONSBURG.

Mr. Frank Miller, of Lewisburg, spent Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. L. J. Bartlett. That busy bird, the Stork, visited the home of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Weaver and left them a bright little son. Mr. and Mrs. Eben Bower, of Bellefonte, spent Sunday under the parental roof, having come down for the rededication. Mr. and Mrs. Swann and two children, of Millheim, took supper Sunday evening with Mrs. Swann's aunt, Mrs. J. J. Fiedler. Mr. and Mrs. Custard and Mrs. S. F. Bartlett, of State College, were guests for the day last Thursday, at the Bartlett home. Mrs. Charles Herman, of State College, spent Sunday with her brother, 'Squire A. S. Stover. Mrs. Herman came down Saturday to be present at the rededication of the Lutheran church on Sunday.

Sunday, November 4th, 1917, was a great day for the Lutheran congregation of this town when they rededicated their church. The church has been greatly beautified by having it newly painted and frescoed, new pews, choir chairs and pulpit furniture. The members showed their appreciation of the same by responding to the call for funds to liquidate their indebtedness, which was about $3,400. The amount was raised in subscriptions during the two services. They had with them for the occasion, Dr. Hartman, of Baltimore, Md., and Rev. Gotwalt, of York, who is editor of the Lutheran Observer. Rev. Gotwalt delivered a splendid sermon in the morning on the "Reformation." Rev. Gotwalt was born in this town during the pastorate of his grand-father, which is some years ago. He is the youngest son of Luther Gotwalt, who has passed to his eternal home; his mother, however, is still living in Springfield, Illinois.

LEMONT.

Martin A. Williams and Maurice Klingler came home from Orviston to vote. The Oak Hall Lime and Stone company is getting things in shape to ship stone. The hunters are bagging a good many rabbits, but very few pheasants and squirrels. Mrs. Samuel Johnston, of Balseno, has been visiting at the home of her son, here in town. The farmers are slowly winding up their corn husking and the crop will be better than they expected. Adam Rhoads moved from the Barrens to the Mrs. Cornelius Dale house, and is working in the stone quarries. The Stork was very kind to William Coble and wife, as he left them a big boy and girl to brighten their home. This has been the coldest fall thus far that we have had for many years. The mercury stood at 19 degrees on Monday morning. John R. Williams and wife spent Thursday of last week visiting in Bellefonte at the home of Mrs. W. L. Steele, who has been quite ill.

CENTRE HALL.

Miss Grace Smith is visiting with friends in Williamsport. Mrs. W. F. Bradford spent a few days with friends in Berwick. Mrs. F. O. Bairfoot and W. J. Smith spent Saturday in Philipsburg. Miss Katie McCool spent a few days at the home of her parents, in Spring Mills. Miss Phoebe Potter, of Linden Hall, spent Friday at the home of Mrs. L. M. Jacobs. Miss Blanche Rowe, of Boalsburg, spent Sunday at the home of J. S. Rowe and family. Mrs. Annie Furey and daughter, Miss Margaret, of Bellefonte, spent Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John King.

John D. Meyer, of Altoona, spent a few days at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. David J. Meyer. Mrs. Thomas Keefer and daughter Agnes, of Greensburg, are spending a week at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Cyrus Brungard. Mrs. Charles Geary, who has been visiting at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. Whiteman, returned to her home in Newport, Pa., on Tuesday.

BOALSBURG.

Mrs. R. B. Harrison and daughter, Miss Rhoda, are visiting at State College. Messrs. Henry Reitz and Cyrus Barr spent Sunday at Pine Grove Mills. Newton Yarnell went to Troxler-ville on Monday where he has secured employment. Miss Esther Sparr, of Williamsburg, has accepted a position at the Dover House, on the Boal estate. Miss Rachel Rothrock, of Port Matilda, was a recent visitor at the home of her sister, Mrs. Harold Coxey. Mr. and Mrs. Lee Brooks, of Pleasant Gap, were guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Meyer on Sunday. Mrs. John Troxler and son and Miss Dorothy Lonebarger spent the week-end at the home of Israel Reitz, at Zion. Mrs. John Klinger and Mrs. William Klinger and daughter Charlotte, spent Thursday among friends in town. Mrs. A. J. Lytle and Mrs. J. W. Miller, of State College, spent Sunday with Misses Mary Reish and Nora Miller. Quite a number of patrons of the State College creamery attended the "Get Together," at the creamery on Friday evening. Mrs. J. R. Harter and son Robert returned to their home at State College on Friday, after a month's stay at the home of Mr. and Mrs. James M. Ross. Mrs. William Stover, who had been a patient in the Bellefonte hospital for several weeks, returned to Boalsburg on Saturday and will spend some time at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Grant Charles.

OAK HALL.

Mr. and Mrs. Ira Korman spent Sunday with relatives at State College. John Korman and Miss Ira Weaver, of Pine Grove Mills, spent Sunday with their parents. Mrs. Shuey, of Pittsburgh, visited with her sister-in-law, Mrs. Clayton Eiters, on Thursday. Mr. and Mrs. Harry Benner, of Lemont, spent Sunday afternoon at the home of Grant Houser. Mrs. Romie Shuey, of Pleasant Gap, spent Wednesday and Thursday with her brother, Frank Reish. Mrs. Earl Houtz and daughter, of State College, visited at the N. J. Rishel home on Thursday. Mrs. Ella Gingerich and daughter, of Boalsburg, spent Thursday with her sister, Mrs. William Folk. Mrs. George Houser and children, of State College, visited at the home of Grant Houser on Thursday. Mr. and Mrs. Ross Louder and children, Dorothy, Ross and Daniel, spent Saturday evening in Bellefonte. Mrs. Harry Markle spent from Tuesday until Thursday at the home of Samuel Krape, at Buffalo Run. Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Peters and children attended the banquet of the creamery at State College, on Friday. Mrs. John Durner, of Boalsburg, visited at the home of her father-in-law, Mr. Maurice Durner, Wednesday and Thursday. Mr. and Mrs. Charles Whitehill and family spent Saturday evening at Bellefonte attending the jubilee, their son Claude being among those who left on Monday.

RUNVILLE.

E. S. Bennett made a trip to Howard last Monday. Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Watson and little son visited over Sunday at Clearfield. Miss Hazel House, of Port Trevent, is visiting her sister, Mrs. Orville, at this place. Mrs. Martin Brewer has gone to Philipsburg to see her mother, who is very ill at that place. Miss Elsie Walker, of Bellefonte, spent last Tuesday with her uncle, Harry Fetzer, at this place. Mrs. William Arnold was admitted to the Bellefonte hospital for treatment during the past week. Mr. and Mrs. Fred Waite and daughter, of Trafford City, are visiting at the home of Martin Brower. Mrs. George Wilson and three children, of Tyrone, are spending some time with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. James Watson. Miss Madge Poorman has returned to her home at this place after spending two weeks with her brother, Carl Poorman, at Johnstown. The people of this place are highly delighted with the completion of the repairs to our village church, which consisted of repapering, new lights, new shades, flues and pulpit chairs. Great credit is awarded the Ladies Aid for all these improvements and we hope the good work will continue and inspire many more of our good ladies to join the little band of busy women, and also have a part in this good work. —For high class job work come to the "Watchman" office.

ed, so crossly that Carmen fluttered like a frightened bird. How should she dare to tell the truth, she so small and white, and papirito so big and black? "I was thinking how mamita will be missing you," she faltered. Don Antonio puffed three more cigarettes in sulky silence. His invalid wife's latest letter, in his waistcoat pocket, pressed against his heart like a conviction of guilt. At length he clapped his hands to call a waiter, demanded his bill, ordered a carriage, and bade Carmen make ready her trunk. It was such a little trunk, even though it held all those wonderful new possessions, that the coachman easily stowed it away under his feet, and after Don Antonio's portmanteau had been left at the station in charge of a porter, it looked, for all the world, simply as if an Andalusian gentleman and his small daughter were out for a sunny drive. Carmen had slipped her hand into her father's, whose squeeze grew tighter and tighter as the city cab clumsily wobbled up those rough hill roads. "Miracle!" exclaimed the Mother Superior, peering from her upper window. The horses had stopped, very willingly, before the convent door. Don Antonio had alighted and lifted down his little girl, whose arms, as he gathered her to him in a farewell embrace, clung close about his neck. Who were these starved sisters that they should steal his treasure? Every day since that anguished morning when, at last, the nurse had brought to him a wailing white bundle pink at one end, this his only child had been the jewel of his home, all the more precious because she had cost so dear. The mother had never risen from her bed since that well-nigh fatal childbirth, but the invalid chamber had come to be the cheeriest room in the house. There in the heart of its sweetness played and prattled and stitched and sang little Carmen, most winsome of children, her every syllable, her every movement, her every dimple, a joy beyond joys to those cherishing parents. For exactly four thousand and thirty-six days, computed Don Antonio—who had a turn for mathematics—he had fondled and sported with his nina as regularly as he ate and smoked. How monstrous it was to expect him to give her up now to those dry-hearted nuns who called her "daughter" in exactly the same colorless tone that they had used and would use for hundreds of others—mere marionettes, as Louis and Luise, not his incomparable Carmen! "Don't touch that trunk!" thundered Don Antonio to the convent porter. "Turn your horses coachman. Quick, man, quick! Down to the station for the noon train!" And in one bewildering moment he had thrust the new puppi back into the carriage, jumped in beside her, ignoring the Reverend Mother, who stood with upraised hands at her window, a statue of astonishment, but lifting his hat to Sister Silence, who, just within the doorway, shot him one irrepressible twinkle out of her gray Irish eyes.

At mid-afternoon when Don Antonio sat by his wife's bedside, telling his story. The thin face on the pillow was turned toward him with a listening look, but the deep eyes, wise with suffering, were searching the aspect of a rather pale and pensive little girl, who was stepping softly about the room, watering the plants. "And so," blundered the auditor, "and so, my love, I decided—yes, I decided that it would really be best, on the whole, everything considered, to wait another year." "Child! murmured a half-laughing, half-pitying voice from the pillow. "Oh, child!" And Carmen, turning to see why mamita called her, noticed that papirito, his big legs twisted into an uncomfortable knot, was blushing red as a pomegranate.—By Katharine Lee Bates, in Harper's Monthly Magazine.

Misunderstood It.

Nora had been guilty of what was considered an indiscretion, so the mistress of the house had her on the carpet. "If such a thing occurs again, Nora," said the lady, "I shall have to get another servant." Whereupon Nora, with a grin, responded: "I wish you would, mum—there's easily enough work for two of us!" —After 14 years preliminary work, costing over $2,000,000, coal-mining operations are to begin on a deposit of coal at Keresley, England. The output is expected to reach a million tons a year and to last 80 years. Four seams have been located. Their depth is about 2,100 feet and thickness about 23 feet. —Put your ad. in the "Watchman."

That Bad Back

Do you have a dull, steady ache in the small of the back—sharp, stabbing twinges when stooping or lifting things and bladder disorders. For bad back and weakened kidneys Bellefonte residents recommend Doan's Kidney Pills. Read this Bellefonte woman's statement. Mrs. Mattie Evey, R. F. D. No. 1, says: "Off and on for years I suffered from kidney trouble. My back was stiff and sore and I had a dull pain across my loins. There was a dull, heavy feeling in my head and black spots often floated before my eyes. Dizzy spells were common and I usually felt languid. Doan's Kidney Pills were the only remedy I ever took that did me any good. Others of the family have taken them and have had as quick relief as I. We keep Doan's Kidney Pills on hand and recommend them whenever we can." Price 60 cents at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mrs. Evey had. Meat Prices in England.

What should be the range of meat prices in the shop under the new order? asks the London Chronicle. The retailer's profits are limited to 5 cents per pound or 20 per cent., whichever is less, this to cover the business expenses and include personal remuneration, and broadly prices over the counter should work out something like this: Legs and shoulders of mutton, 37 cents to 39 cents a pound. Beef, sirloin, 39 cents to 41 cents. Rump steak, 20 cents. Pork, legs, 43 cents to 45 cents. Breast and neck end of mutton, 20 cents. Boiling beef, 18 cents to 29 cents, according to the cut. Breast and neck of pork, 20 cents. This estimate is based on expert opinion at the ministry of food, with the reminder that different classes of shops will have varying scales, the West End commanding the most for higher grade joints and accepting less than normal amounts for lower quality cuts, while the reverse holds good in the East End. Never were there more cattle in the country than now, says a high authority at the food control office. In normal times at least 40 per cent. of the meat sold is foreign, but now market supplies are down to 10 per cent, home produce making up the remaining 90, which has been an important factor in the recent rise in prices. "Might not supplies be held up?" inquired a Daily Chronicle representative. "The farmer might withhold his cattle, but it is not impossible to deal with that situation should it arise," was the reply. "Then it would not pay to put meat into cold storage on a descending market. Moreover, the food controller is taking control of all cold storage accommodation in the country."

Hood's Sarsaparilla.

The Old Reliable Blood Builder

Still retains its supremacy. People still take Hood's Sarsaparilla because it is an old family friend, has proved its merit to three generations—in purified blood, expelled humors, restored appetite, relieved rheumatism, banished tired feelings. It long ago became recognized as the standard blood purifier and general tonic. It originated in a Boston physician's successful prescription, and comprises medicinal roots, herbs, bark and berries such as are often prescribed for ailments of the blood, stomach, liver and kidneys. Buy it in the same style package your mother bought it in,—same fine appearance, same pleasant taste, same certainty of good results. 62-42
