Our old friend Joe Heberling, the veteran railroader of Tyrone, was one of the helpers at the Ed. Mayes butchering on Tuesday. Very few heavy weight hogs have been killed so far, the heaviest being 306 pounds, butchered by J. E. Reed.

After a month's trip to Washington, D. C., Philadelphia and New York, J. Emmett Brett returned here last week and spent several days before leaving for Pittsburgh where he will spend a short time visiting his two sisters prior to departing for his home in Seattle, Wash.

A large service flag containing thirteen stars was unfurled in the Graysville church last Sunday, emblematic of the six young members of the church already in service and the seven others likely to be soon. The six already in service are Paul Ward, George Irvin, Roy Gates, Warren Ward, Thomas Frank and Wallace Arthey.

The Fairbrook Country club closed for the season last Saturday evening with a gathering of the younger set. About seventy-five people were present and all spent a very pleasant evening. Mrs. Sarah McWilliams and Mrs. Catherman were in charge and the success of the gathering was largely due to their management. Mr. and Mrs. Deitrick, who have had charge of the club, will move to Williamsport for the winter.

Last Saturday evening a class of twenty-two new members were admitted to membership in Washington Grange No. 157. This is one of the live wire Granges in the county, over two hundred new members having been admitted within the year. Officers were elected for the ensuing year and a splendid supper served. The officers chosen are as follows:

- Master—J. Foster Musser. Overseer—J. D. Neidigh. Lecturer—G. B. Mc. Fry. Steward—Fred Corl. Assistant Steward—Albert Corl. Chaplain—Mrs. Wolford. Treasurer—Mrs. Belle Neidigh. LINDEN HALL.

Mrs. J. W. Keller and sons motored to Woodward, Sunday, to visit Mrs. Keller's sister, Mrs. R. M. Wolfe, who has been seriously ill for some time.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank McFarlane, Mr. and Mrs. John Keller and Misses Mary Glenn and Edith Moore spent Saturday evening at the Wieland home.

A little girl at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Alvie Johnstonbaugh has been stricken with scarlet fever, and the Walnut Grove school has been closed for a time.

Wilfred Nedson Keller returned from Camp Oglethorpe, Ga., on Thanksgiving. He was commissioned first lieutenant in the U. S. R. and will leave here Friday, after spending a few days in Tyrone, Lancaster and Allentown. He will report at Camp Jackson, South Carolina, for duty, on the 15th.

Mr. and Mrs. Alpheus Wolf and children, after a two week's visit with Mrs. Wolf's parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Noll, left for their home in Greensburg last Monday.

BOALSBURG.

Miss Nellie Gettig, of Altoona, is spending some time with relatives. Mrs. George Houtz and daughter Elsie are visiting friends in Williamsport.

Mrs. Samuel Roberts is entertaining her friend, Mrs. Hunter, of Pittcairn. The Red Cross workers are busy making caps for the machine gun troop.

Mr. and Mrs. James Fortney, of Illinois, are visiting friends in this vicinity. Miss Edith MacMalin, of Scranton, was a guest at the home of A. J. Hazel for several days.

Cyrus Wagner, who is employed in a store in Altoona, spent Thanksgiving with his parents. Capt. Theodore Davis Boal spent several days with his mother, Mrs. M. A. B. Boal, last week.

Samuel Moyer, of Palmyra, spent a short time in town last week, having come to Centre Hall to attend the funeral of P. H. Meyer.

The Lutheran and Reformed Sunday schools are arranging for Christmas entertainments, but will omit the regular treat of candy and oranges.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Harter and Robert Jr., of State College, have stored their furniture and will spend the winter with Mrs. Harter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. James M. Ross.

PLEASANT GAP ITEMS.

Frank Reish, wife and two children, of Oak Hall, spent Thanksgiving among friends at the Gap. Merrill Williams and wife, of Niagara Falls, are visiting with the former's sister, Mrs. C. H. Stitzer.

Jacob Artz, manager of the knitting mill, spent the week-end with his wife and family at Sinking Springs. Mrs. Wilson and children, of Osceola Mills, are visiting Mrs. Wilson's brother, Frank Millward, at this place.

ROMOLA.

Leonard Wensel was a visitor in our section on Sunday. David Sayers was a business visitor at Beech Creek last Friday.

Services will be held in the Reformed church Sunday at 2 p. m. Mrs. Hazel Bechdel and children, of Snow Shoe, are visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas McCloskey.

Miss Sadie Weaver, who is employed at Lock Haven, spent Sunday with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Weaver.

George Weaver and party left for their camp on the mountain on Friday. They expect to spend the next two weeks hunting and no doubt will return with plenty of game.

Miss Blanche McCloskey and Delbert Corman were united in marriage on Wednesday, November 28th, at the Disciple parsonage in Mill Hall by Rev. M. C. Erick. We wish them much happiness.

Many in this section have already done their butchering, among them being John Packer, Willis Boone, James Confer, "Dock" McCloskey, Thomas McCloskey, Newton Cameron and Lewis Boone.

RUNVILLE.

Mrs. James McClincy spent Monday in Bellefonte. W. J. Kunes spent Sunday among friends at Mill Hall.

Miss Madge Poorman is spending a week with her sister at Snow Shoe. Mrs. Mack Hall, of Bellefonte, visited Mrs. Sallie Friel last Saturday.

Mrs. Annie Witherite, of Tyrone, spent Saturday and Sunday at the home of Joseph Rodgers. Mrs. James Smoyer and Mrs. Della Rine, of Bellefonte, attended the Chas. Smoyer butchering at this place last Tuesday.

E. R. Lucas and wife, John Hite and wife and Miss Della Lucas, of Altoona, spent last Thursday at the home of L. J. Heaton.

Mrs. Minnie Warner and children and Mrs. William Spicer, of Moshannon, attended the E. S. Bennett butchering last Wednesday.

Married Life.

Few girls who give a fellow a carefully manicured hand expect the same to go into the dishwasher so soon.—Kansas City Journal.

OASTORIA.

Bears the signature of Chas. H. Fletcher. In use for over thirty years, and The Kind You Have Always Bought.

AARONSBURG.

Mrs. Lu Hain, of Sunbury, is paying her father, H. E. Crouse, a visit. Miss Lydia Walters spent Tuesday in our burg with her brother-in-law, A. D. Kunes.

Miss Lydia Harter left on Monday morning for State College for an indefinite time. Miss Nellie Burd has gone to Rebersburg, where she will spend a week among friends.

Thomas Hull, who had been employed in Winburne, came home on Thanksgiving day to spend the winter with his family. The Witt brothers, of Franklin, came to our town last Thursday for the hunting season. They were guests at the W. A. Guisewitz home.

Mrs. Harvey Bond, of Nescopeck, visited among relatives and friends for a few days. While in town she was the guest of her niece, Mrs. J. W. Beaver.

Miss George Stricker, of Syracuse, N. Y., is visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Stricker. Miss Lulu Stricker, of Bellefonte, was also home on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Irvin Barner, of Mill Hall, Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Winkles, going to Centre Hall in the afternoon to visit Mrs. Barner's brother, John Detwiler.

Monroe Kreamer, who is employed by the Standard Scale works in Beaver Falls, spent a few days with his daughter, Mrs. Walter Rupp, and his brother, H. D. Kreamer and sister, Mrs. Samuel Boyer.

W. R. Mayes, of New York city, came to see his mother, Mrs. Caroline Mayes, and also to go into camp for the hunting season. Up to the present we have not learned that they have been successful.

Sunday afternoon there was a special service in the United Evangelical church, conducted by Mr. John L. Paudel, a layman of said church, from Lewistown. Mr. Paudel is employed in the Standard Steel works, of Lewistown, but apparently that is not his only employment, as he is a man who has the good of his church at heart.

At the last conference he was appointed one of the men to go among the various churches in his district and speak to the members relative to their obligations to their pastors. Mr. Paudel is a member of the Ministerial Aid society of this church, which is hoping for great things. Central Pennsylvania Conference desires to raise one-half million dollars to be held in trust for the wornout ministers of this church, so they will not need charity. It is a splendid object to help along. May success attend their efforts.

LEMONT.

Mrs. John R. Williams has been on the sick list the past week. Lloyd Tate's child, who has been ill with diphtheria, is slowly improving. Milford Spotts, of Unionville, spent a few days here helping C. A. Houtz to thresh.

Clarence A. Houtz and wife spent two weeks near town, looking after some fall work. Rev. Womeldorf preached a very interesting sermon to the United Evangelical congregation on Sunday forenoon.

Joseph Weaver, William Grove, Phila Bradford and Carl Bradford, are all spending a few days in a hunting camp. Milton Carver, who has been quite ill with the fever, is slowly improving and it is hoped he will soon be out again.

Daniel Kustaborder and wife, of Warriorsmark, came down and spent a few days among friends here, returning home on Sunday.

Cats and Game.

The cat because of its destruction of game birds and small game is beginning to figure in the statutes. Massachusetts in 1917 passed a law prohibiting possession of cats on Meskegat Island or the bringing of any cats to the island and Michigan declared cats the morning. Bladder diseases and decreed that the owner who permits them to run at large after notice from the game commissioner shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor.

Impolite.

"I heard him call you 'Duckie,'" announced the small brother. "Well, what of it?" demanded his sister. "Oh, nothing much," answered the small brother. "I was only thinking matters because of the way you walk, but it ain't very nice of him."—Tit-Bits.

There is some comfort in the fact that Russia is incapable of doing much harm even if unwilling to do good.

Medical.

Housework is hard enough when healthy. Every Bellefonte woman who is having backache, blue and nervous spells, dizzy headaches and orders caused me a lot of annoyance. My attention was called to Doan's Kidney Pills and I began taking them, getting my supply at Green's Pharmacy Co. One box removed the backache and relieved me of the other trouble from my kidneys. Doan's Kidney Pills helped me a lot and I always have a good word for them.

Price 60 cents at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mrs. Thal had. Foster-Milburn Co., Mfrs., Buffalo, N. Y.

STRAIGHT FROM HEADQUARTERS.

"Yes sir," said the valet, hiding a sneer. "She's been at home since nine o'clock, sir. She's with Miss Eleanor."

"What's matter with Miss Eleanor—hey?" "It's croup, I think, sir."

"Damn outrage, 's what I call it!" indignantly stated the master of the big stone house. "Way from home all day—con-founded war relief. . . saves money for poor s—soldiers . . . ridin' subway cars, all sorts rot . . . think I hadn't got money 'nough, wouldn't you? Answer me that—wouldn't you?"

"Yes, sir." He tugged Mr. Vryling up the stairway. "S'pose she's savin' more money for poor damn soldiers, hey? Savin' on doctors' fees! Eleanor's got croup, hey? Tell her mother go get some doctors! Way from home all day, wasn't she?"

"Yes, Mr. Vryling." "Rid-ridic'ous," said the portly gentleman, hiccoughing. "Why'n she let soldiers do his own work! Never did have to . . . daughter Old Man Putnam, wife Jim Vryling work? 'S a joke, that's what—'s a joke! Send 'em a check. That's what I say. Am I right? Answer me that, Bosco. Am I right?"

"Yes, sir," said the valet wearily. "Quite right, sir." He brought Mr. Vryling in safety to the head of the stairs.

They were cruising crankily along the upper hallway, when a young woman appeared at the far end of the corridor, a young woman palpably tired, but immeasurably serene; as she approached them, the valet redened and sunk his fingers a trifle more deeply into Mr. Vryling's biceps.

"Lo, Frances!" said Mr. Vryling, affecting an anticipatory shield to accusation, an air of judicial sternness. "What's matter with you, anyway? How's Eleanor? Where's doctor?"

She looked at him without speaking, but the utter tranquility of her and the calm radiance of her expression disturbed him greatly, because he couldn't divine the cause of it. Even in his present condition he was momentarily awed and apologetic. "Eleanor better?" he stammered.

"She's asleep," said Frances, attempting to pass him. "It wasn't serious."

He shook himself free from the valet and barred the way. Something in her manner frightened him; he could have endured any indictment, or any degree of contempt; but this new attitude of hers was appalling by its very gentleness and quiet.

"What's matter with you, Frances? Mad? Not mad, are you? Just 'cause I happened to meet some old friends? Can't a man have a little fun once in a while?"

She was smiling faintly, not at him but infinitely beyond him. Her demeanor perplexed and irritated and worried him; he couldn't understand why his conduct wasn't worth at least a casual mention. Why, she seemed dull to know that he existed! His dull eyes widened in resentment and uncertainty.

"Why—never mind all that, Jim," she said. "It's really immaterial."

And, with that same mysterious, unfathomable smile still resting on her lips, she brushed past him and left him gaping in sodden wonder after her.—By Holworthy Hall, in December American Magazine.

Not Taking Chances.

Boy—Look here, guv'nor, 'arf of them winkles I bought of you last week 'adn't nothing in 'em. Merchant—Well, wot d'yer expect for a penny. Think I'm going to get inside of 'em all and 'ave a look round fore I sells 'em.—Tit-Bits.

Hood's Sarsaparilla.

Cleans the Blood Tones the Nerves

The gratifying results attending the faithful use of the new medicinal combination, Hood's Sarsaparilla before eating and Peptin after eating, are seen in purer blood, stronger nerves, improved condition of the whole system.

They are results that make this course of treatment the most economical for sufferers from impure, impoverished blood, weak, unsteady nerves—no other accomplishes so much for each cent expended.

Hood's Sarsaparilla and Peptin aid each other, and to take both is to derive a four-fold benefit. If a laxative is needed in connection with them, the gentle and thorough Hood's Pills should be used.
