Academy Recovered Lost Football Blanket.

Three years ago last fall the Bellefonte Academy football team played the St. Francis college eleven at Loreto and upon their return home Mr. Hughes discovered that one of his football blankets was missing. The blankets were a present to the Academy by a good patron of the school and for this reason were prized far beyond the actual monetary value of the blankets.

There were fifteen of them all told and the manager of the football team at that time was positive the full number had been taken along but when the team returned only four-teen could be found. Naturally every effort was made to find the missing blanket but all without avail.

Three years passed and recently P. Lochrie, an Academy student, was passing through Johnstown when he met a friend. The latter asked him if the Academy had lost one of its football blankets and being answered in the affirmative the young man told him the blanket could be found in a certain student's room at St. Francis college.

Last week when Charles Hughes left on a trip to Cleveland, Ohio, he stopped at Loreto and going to St. Francis college told Rev. Father Flynn the object of his mission. It being vacation week college rooms and dormitories were all locked but after considerable trouble Father Flynn and Mr. Hughes managed to reach the room in question and sure enough, there upon the wall hung the missing blanket, the student using it as a wall decoration. The blanket was promptly handed over to Mr. Hughes, who sent it back to the Academy. Just what happened to the student when he returned to St. Francis college and discovered the blanket gone, and probably confronted by Father Flynn later, we'll leave to the reader to conjecture.

To Overcome Car Hoarding.

Shippers are being blamed to a large extent for the congestion of freight traffic owing to their delay in unloading cars and their inclination to hoard loaded cars on sidings for days before giving a release. To overcome this Director General McAdoo announces that an increased schedule of demurrage charges will be put into effect on January 21st, such charges increasing with each day's detention until they amount to ten dollars. The Director General has also issued an appeal to shippers and the public generally to observe the week of January 14th to 21st inclusive, as "freight moving week," when a supreme effort should be made to clean up congestion generally and open the yards and railroads so that freight traffic can flow smoothly along. While there are few cases of flagrant detention of cars in Bellefonte and vicinity every effort should be put forth here to release all cars as quickly as possible, as it will thus give them for service elsewhere.

Mrs. J. Thomas Mitchell Robbed.

A few days ago Mrs. J. Thomas Mitchell missed some of her jewelry and decided to make an investigation. Taking an inventory of her personal belongings she discovered missing a five dollar gold piece, an opal ring, a cloth purse, two pink enameled clasp pins, a black velvet hat, two georgette crepe waists, a lavender striped waist and a pair of gold pins. The matter was reported to the police with the result that some of the missing articles were found in the possession of Mrs. Ambrose Pierce, a mulatto woman who had been a maid in the Mitchell household since they moved into their own home on Allegheny street. The opal pin, black velvet hat, two georgette crepe waists and five dollars in money for the gold piece were recovered. Owing to the fact that Mrs. Mitchell refused to make information against the woman she was not arrested, though dismissed from any further service in the Mitchell home.

Charles Keichline Took Over Store.

The "Watchman" omitted to mention the fact last week that on the first of the year Charles Keichline had taken over the cigar and green grocery store heretofore conducted by his father, Peter F. Keichline, near the Pennsylvania railroad. The new proprietor has been associated with his father in conducting the store ever since he left school and is well qualified to serve the demands of the public in a capable and efficient manner. May he have the success he so well deserves.

Announcement was made from Philadelphia on Tuesday that the arrival of several cargoes of Cuban sugar had caused a drop in the wholesale price to 7 1/2 cents a pound. This will be good news to Bellefonte housewives, as the chances are it will release a lot of sugar that is now being hoarded and also bring down the price generally. So that there is a good chance of the sugar famine in Bellefonte being relieved in the near future.

The State-Centre Electric company has made arrangements whereby they will be able to furnish power for the new plant of the Titan Metal company at the old Nittany furnace site. This will now enable the Titan people to get their plant in operation much sooner than they would have been able to do had they been compelled to equip the plant with their own power. Most of the plant's equipment is now in place and as soon as the power is connected up they will be able to test out their heating furnaces and machinery and if all goes well ought to be able to begin operations some time next month.

A Good Wild Cat Story.

A good wild cat story comes from Snow Shoe and is told as an actual fact. Last Thursday morning, when the thermometer was the lowest it has been this winter, the shifting crew were on their way to the mines when they discovered an animal struggling on the roadbed some distance ahead. Never thinking that the animal was fast they ran ahead and it was not until they were too close to stop that they discovered that the cat could not get its head away from the rail.

The engineer threw on the brakes but the ponderous engine slid on until it reached the wild cat which was on the outside of the rail and striking it, knocked it to one side, and with a gurgling cry of intense pain the animal made off in the woods.

Curious to know what held the cat fast the engineer stopped the train and going back discovered the tongue and larynx of the cat still clinging to the rail, having been torn from the animal's throat when the engine hit it.

Further investigation showed that the cat had been to a spring close by to get a drink and had evidently stepped in the water. Then when it attempted to cross the railroad it inadvertently stepped on the rail and its foot being wet immediately froze fast. Then in an attempt to lick its foot loose the cat's tongue froze fast and it was while in this condition that the train came along and struck it.

The trainmen followed the trail of the wild cat several hundred feet expecting to find it dead but saw nothing of it. Since that morning men have looked for the cat when they passed through that locality but have not found its dead body, and the wonderment now is, is the cat still alive and will it live without its tongue and larynx, as the train crew claim to have these important parts of it as proof of their unusual experience.

The same morning the farmer on the Burnside farm, on top of Purdue mountain, saw a rabbit sitting in the snow at the corner of his spring house. When he walked toward it bunny did not move, so he approached closer and closer until he discovered that the rabbit was frozen solid.

News of the Soldiers.

An item in Wednesday's papers announced the transfer of Capt. (Dr.) David Dale from the officers' training camp at Fort Oglethorpe to Camp Greenleaf, which is the national army training camp located at Fort Oglethorpe, Ga.

Major General Charles H. Muir on Monday announced the appointment of Capt. Theodore Davis Boal as an aide on his staff.

On Monday John Orvis Keller, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Keller, who has been an instructor in the ordnance courses at The Pennsylvania State College, was notified of his appointment as lieutenant of ordnance. Edward M. Grove, eldest son of County Commissioner Daniel Grove, went to Pittsburgh last week and enlisted in the government motor service. Having passed a successful examination he was sent to Camp Thomas, Kentucky. On Saturday he made his test trip and his manipulation of the motor attracted the attention of the commanding officer and he was at once assigned as a motor truck inspector and informed that he stood a good chance of being transferred to an officers' training camp for six weeks.

Corporals Henry Keller, Fred Yeager and Jerrold Robinson, old Troop L boys of Camp Hancock, have been selected to attend the officers' training camp opened there this week.

Notwithstanding the fact that he has not been accepted for service here J. Mac Heine is determined to do his part in the great war for democracy if it is at all possible to get in and on Sunday left for Hamilton, Canada, to offer his service as a mechanic and an aviator in the Canadian aero service. Up to the time of the "Watchman" going to press word has not been received as to whether he has been successful or not.

Capt. H. Laird Curtin, who since the dismemberment of the First Pennsylvania cavalry has been with the 103rd engineers (unassigned) at Camp Hancock, arrived home on Monday evening on a twenty days' furlough.

Others who are home on a furlough are Paul Eberhart, Calvin Rice and Samuel Rhinesmith, from Camp Hancock, and John A. Waite, from Camp Meade.

Marshall Cook, son of Charles F. Cook, who is a member of Company A, 303 field signal battalion at Camp Dix, N. J., has been promoted to a corporal.

Early Spring Movings.

Mrs. J. W. Boal has arranged to leave her farm up Buffalo Run and will move to Bellefonte, occupying the James C. Wian property.

Both Mrs. J. A. Aikens' flats are rented for the coming year; one by Harry L. Hockman, who with his family will move here from Syracuse, N. Y., Mr. Hockman being in business with his father, N. J. Hockman. The second by Edward McDonald and Mrs. Denius' house during the winter. Mr. McDonald is the baker in the City Bakery.

Dr. Coburn Rogers closed his home on High street last week and with his family will move to the home of his mother, Mrs. Evelyn Rogers, where they will spend the winter and thus do their part in conserving the consumption of coal in Bellefonte.

They are all good enough, but the "Watchman" is always the best.

Cattle Still Out On the Mountains.

A number of farmers in lower Bald Eagle valley still have young cattle out on the Allegheny mountains, but how many of them are alive today is the question. Learning where three of the cattle were four farmers last Thursday morning volunteered to go after them, notwithstanding the extreme cold weather. They took along some feed and stayed all night at a log hunting cabin.

Friday morning they started out again and found the cattle at or near the place where they were reported to have been seen. The three of them were huddled together in a clump of bushes, and so emaciated and weak they could hardly stand. The tracks in the snow indicated that they had lived within a circle of one hundred feet ever since the first fall of snow on the 8th of December. Numerous deer tracks in the vicinity led the men to believe that several deer had been herding with the cattle, but none were in sight.

The cattle were fed and then started on the tedious drive of ten miles to the nearest barn, and although it was a slow and tiresome trip they were finally landed at the barn of George Peters, where they will be cared for until able to be taken to the home of their owners. Twenty-seven head of cattle are still missing.

Firemen's Relief Association Elected New Officers.

The annual meeting of the Firemen's Relief Association was held in the public building on Howard street on Tuesday evening and the following officers elected for the ensuing year:

- President—J. Mac Heine. Vice President—Benton Tate. Secretary—Harry J. Jackson. Treasurer—John McSuley.

Following the business meeting the members of the association and a few specially invited friends partook of their annual banquet which this year was on the order of a Dutch lunch, but there was such a variety of edibles and the supply so liberal that it resembled a feast more than a lunch. At the conclusion of the repast there were speeches by some of the invited guests and various members of the association, all of them eulogistic of the efficiency and good work of the Bellefonte volunteer fire department, which is always ready and quick to respond in any emergency.

Another Appropriation for State College Postoffice.

Although most of the postoffice construction work authorized by act of Congress and already planned by the U. S. Among the number are the following towns with the amount of the appropriation recommended for the completion of the building:

Table with 2 columns: Town and Amount. State College, $10,000; Lock Haven, $52,000; Lewistown, $46,000; Hollidaysburg, $43,000. Among the towns which will have to wait until the close of the war and the amount asked for are Tyrone, $80,000; Philipsburg, $60,000; Lewisburg, $16,000, and Williamsport, $80,000.

Last of the Questionnaires Sent Out.

The local exemption board sent out the last lot of questionnaires to the registered men of Centre county on Wednesday morning and as the recipients have seven days in which to make out and return same all of them should be returned by next Wednesday, or Thursday by the latest.

The local board has been keeping right up with their work and the men classified and promptly notified as to where they have been placed, so that every registered man in Centre county will know by about the 25th of the month in which class he has been put and his liability to be called for service.
