BOROUGH COUNCIL MELANGE. Considerable Business Before Borough Fathers Monday.

Monday evening's meeting of borough council was well attended, only one absentee being noted. John M. Keichline, tax collector during the year 1916, appeared before council and demanded that some action be taken upon the list of taxes he had handed in for exoneration over a year ago. He made the demand because last year he was charged in the auditor's statement with over nine hundred dollars and unless the exonerations were granted there would be a charge of several hundred dollars against him in this year's statement, which he considered unfair. At the request of president Walker the borough auditors, who have completed their work held over their report for two weeks and in the meantime the Water comittee, borough solicitor, Mr. Keichline and the borough auditors are to get together and adjust the

Penn State to Graduate 250 Seniors Next Month.

When The Pennsylvania State College celebrates its wartime commencement, on April 24, a Senior class of approximately 250 will be graduated. This estimate was made by A. H. Espenshade, the college registrar. The graduating class will be considerably smaller than those of recent years, because of the great number of withdrawals from college for service with the flag. The school of engineering, which is Penn State's largest and fastest growing department, will send out ninetytwo graduates. The school of liberal arts will graduate twenty, the agricultural school eighty-one, the school of mines thirteen, and natural science eighteen. Twenty-six girls will graduate from the home economics depart-

In this connection it can be stated that R. H. Olmstead, agent of the County Farm Bureau, has tested to date about one hundred samples of seed corn submitted by farmers of Centre county. Several samples showed no fertility at all while one or two ran fairly high, but the average of the one hundred was 64 per cent. Penn Twp.: Coburn—J. E. Harter, A. L. Auman, J. M. Kerstetter, I. A. Of the one hundred was 64 per cent. of fertility. This is considered very poor. Mr. Olmstead, however, is prepared to give farmers information as to where they can obtain the best seed, and all he asks is that any one desiring the information apply to him immediately. There is a big demand for good seed corn and owing to this fact application should be made as soon as possible to insure securing an adequate supply.
