Blackbirds.

Several darkeys were discussing the best branch of the service to enlist in, and one darkey suggested the aviation branch. This conversation ensued:

First Darkey—How come you don't jine dis yer flying squad? Ain't much chance to git kilt after you learn to ride one. You goes so high dat de guns can't reach you.

Second Darkey—Hold on dere, brudder! You ain't talkin' to me. I knows zactly how dat thing's gwine to be. You goes up 'bout three miles, an' the dog-gone contrapshun—hit stops. An' de white man what you is ridin' wit', he says: "Hey, nigger! Git out an' crank up!" No, suh; I don't need no flyin' in mine!

Washington hears that butter is selling in Berlin at $2.25 a pound, sugar at 56 cents a pound, ham and bacon at $2.11 a pound and ivory soap at five bars for $1.12.

EMPEY.

Empey, your grammar is bad—Empey, your manners are sad—But your spirit is right.

And your valor shines bright. And we like you because you can fight!

Empey, with jaw shot away—Empey, still happy and gay—With your ribs caved in

And a ball through your chin—And we like you because you can grin!

For, courage is smiling always—Endurance is one with gay days—And you've got 'em, young man.

And, say, Empey, you can take it from me, you're a man!

—John Luther Long, in Baltimore Evening Sun.

Your Greatest Blunder.

If you were asked: "What is the greatest blunder in your life," what would your answer be? In the Clerical Library, Chicago, reports the Christian Observer, there is a record, written by 500 men, who tell of the greatest blunder they made in their lives. A few of the most serious blunders contained in the list are as follows:

"Reading worthless books."

"Did not stick to anything."

"Did not take care of money."

"Beating some one out of money."

"Careless about my religious duties."

"When I left my church and mother."

"Not saving money when I was young."

"The greatest blunder of my life was gambling."

"Wasted away my time when I was at school."

"Thinking that my boss could not do without me."

"Would not listen to the advice of older people."

"My greatest blunder was when I first learned to smoke."

"The greatest blunder of my life was not accepting Christ, and thereby avoiding many sorrows caused by serving Satan."—Ex.

They are all good enough, but the "Watchman" is always the best.

Hood's Sarsaparilla.

A Spring Medicine

That Will Make You Feel Better, Look Better, Eat and Sleep Better.

In view of the fact that disease is ever the same, a medicine like Hood's Sarsaparilla, which has been successful for more than forty years in combating disease and preserving health, is a safe one to rely upon.

Hood's Sarsaparilla is known everywhere as the standard blood purifier, tonic and vitalizer. Its record is one of remarkable results. It has given entire satisfaction in the treatment of scrofula, eczema, humors, catarrh, rheumatism, loss of appetite, indigestion and general debility, and is taken as effectively at one time of year as another.

There is nothing better as a prompt, general tonic for weak and run-down men, women and children and old people, invalids and convalescents.

It is pleasant to take, aids digestion, and supplies the vital organs with the rich red blood essential to health.
