SERVICE FLAG DEDICATED.

Big Demonstration at Bellefonte Academy in Honor of Enlisted Students.

A service flag with one hundred and thirty stars representing students of the Bellefonte Academy who have enlisted for service in the present war, was dedicated at that institution on Sunday afternoon with elaborate ceremony.

The affair took place at three o'clock. The Academy students went to the High school building where they met Our Girls band of Milesburg and carrying a large American flag marched in Allegheny street, west on High to Spring and south on Spring to the Academy. There the students swung to the breeze the Stars and Stripes and underneath them the flags of our allies while the band played "The Star Spangled Banner." The service flag was suspended from the ceiling of the big stone portico.

Headmaster James R. Hughes addressed the large crowd assembled in front of the building and told the purpose of the meeting after which he introduced as the first speaker Lieut. Might, the Canadian officer who spoke in Bellefonte on Friday evening. In his speech the lieutenant stated that one of the best things that Congress did was to pass the selective service act. He stated that up in Canada when the call came for men the students at the higher educations of learning enlisted in a body and the result was that many of the colleges were compelled to close. From the public school in Toronto, of which he was the superintendent, 130 of his oldest boys enlisted and some of them served in the same unit with him on the battlefields of France. Under our selective service act, he said, only a certain number were called at a time, and this prevents the total disruption of our educational institutions.

Col. J. L. Spangler followed Lieut. Might in one of his characteristically good talks after which Col. H. S. Taylor was introduced. The latter spoke only about five minutes but in that time told his hearers that this country must send men to France just as fast as it is possible to do so and then more men. That failure to do this would mean that not a man over there now would come home alive. And not only men but money must be given to keep these men properly supplied with food and munitions and that is the reason why everybody should subscribe to the Liberty loan.

The last speaker of the day was Dr. W. K. McKinney and although he took up but a few minutes of time his talk was worth hearing. He urged everybody to put their faith in God and go after the Huns for all they are worth, be it men or money. The ceremonies closed with the benediction by Rev. Maynard.

New Members Added to State College Faculty.

Seven additions to the teaching staff of The Pennsylvania State College have been announced. They include Miss Lucretia Van Tuyl Simmons as dean of the women's department in place of Miss Sarah Lovejoy, who has been granted an indefinite leave of absence and expects to leave the College in the near future accompanied by her secretary, Miss Bower. Miss Simmons was for a number of years an instructor in German at the College but spent last winter at Mills College, California.

Miss Edith P. Chase, of Columbia University, will become director of home economics; S. W. Frost, of the United States bureau of entomology, was appointed instructor in entomological research; W. S. Hagar, T. F. Nolan, and R. S. Clark, of the 1918 graduating class, were appointed agricultural extension representatives, and L. S. Cressman was made a teaching fellow in military science.

Attention!

Miss Mary Miles Blanchard, head of the Bellefonte Red Cross work-room, wishes to extend to the women of the town a very cordial invitation to offer their services in the army work, which is open Monday afternoon, May 6th, at 2 p. m., in the new headquarters on the second floor of the Masonic building. Since the U. S. government has given the Red Cross a definite monthly output, the work has more than doubled, and workers are greatly needed. We ask a hearty response to this imperative call.

Mothers' Assistance Fund.

Miss Marie F. Bogue, acting state supervisor, mothers' assistance fund, of Harrisburg, was in Bellefonte Friday, April 26th, instructing the Centre county Board of Trustees as to their duties in the distribution of the mothers' assistance fund. The Centre county Board is composed of the following members:

Mrs. G. G. Pond, president, State College.

Mrs. John S. Walker, secretary and treasurer, Bellefonte.

Miss Mary Hunter Linn, Bellefonte; Mrs. G. S. Frank, Millheim, and Mrs. L. W. Nuttall, Philipsburg.

The Mothers' Assistance act requires the following information from those applying for mothers' assistance:

Women whose husbands are dead, or permanently confined in institutions for the insane; and who are dependent upon their own efforts for support of their families.

The applicant must have resided in the county for three years. The recipient must have proved her character and ability to care for her family.

School reports must be secured, stating the standing of the child, or children in school, provided they are of proper age.

The payments of this aid are made monthly, direct to the recipient, and may not exceed $12.00 per month for one child, $20.00 for two children, $26.00 for three children, with $5.00 per month for each additional child. While the act does not forbid assistance to a woman with but one child, the appropriation, up to the present, has been so inadequate that the majority of counties have waived such applications in favor of the more heavily burdened mother.

A county's share of the state appropriation is governed by its population. The year's budget for Centre county amounts to $1951.21, drawn from the State and county funds. Of this sum 10 per cent. may be used for office expenses, if the Board of Trustees so desire. Applications should be made to the Board of Trustees, which has been appointed by the Governor. These trustees are required to make a thorough investigation before recommending applicants, and are also required to keep careful supervision of the progress of the assisted families, especially as to health and school attendance of the children.

The purpose of the law is to prevent the breaking up of families for poverty alone and to insure to the future citizens of the State a mother's care, a home environment, and the opportunity to receive an education.

German Language Eliminated from Bellefonte Schools.

The following preamble and resolutions were unanimously adopted by the Bellefonte School Board at a meeting held by the Board on the 24th day of April, 1918.

Whereas, For a number of years we have been led to believe that the study of the German language in our public schools has been necessary for the culture and language drill that it gives to the students as well as its commercial value; and Whereas, The horrible war that is now devastating the world has opened our eyes to a good many things; among them the cruel mind and heart of the German nation. We believe that if German "Kultur" has turned that nation into a nation of blood-thirsty savages, the less we have to do with that form of culture the better American citizens we will be, and the better patriots our boys and girls will become; and

Whereas, A careful inquiry among business and professional men has revealed the fact that the study of the German language has been of no real commercial value to them; while some of them have declared that it was just that much valuable time wasted; and

Whereas, An examination of German text books shows that many of them sound the praises of the Kaiser and the superior character of the German nation; all of which reveals a well planned scheme for Germanizing our American schools and a means of giving comfort to our common enemy.

Therefore, be it resolved, First, That, as a patriotic duty, we, the Bellefonte School Board, hereby decide and order that the study of German be at once eliminated from the curriculum of the Bellefonte High school; Second, That, beginning with the date of the adoption of these resolutions, the German language be discontinued, forbidden and prohibited as a study in the Bellefonte High school; nor shall it be included in any course of study offered to the pupils in any of the schools under the direction and control of our Board.

ACROSS THE BRINY DEEP.

A Vivid Description of the Voyage and What is Happening Over in France.

"Watchman" readers are always interested in news from the boys at the front and because of that fact we know they will appreciate the following from the pen of Basil F. Mott, of this place, who is now in France and has been assigned to the sanitary corps, Depot division, 1st corps. The letter, written to his mother, follows:

Dear Mother:—

It was very fortunate that I wrote you from New York because we were not allowed to post any letters after being placed under sailing orders. Would like to relate my experiences since leaving Camp Merritt but the censors remove everything that might be valuable information to the enemy; in fact, it is a court martial offense to divulge anything definite concerning the movement of our forces. Therefore, it is impossible to let you know the port of embarkation, how long we were on the water or where we landed in France.

We experienced delightful weather on the way over. One day was stormy but for the most part the ocean was very calm. I enjoyed the voyage very much, all of us did. Few were seasick, although it was the first trip for all but two or three. The ocean air is a wonderful atmosphere to inhale and gives one an appetite the like of which I never experienced before. No wonder physicians frequently prescribe an ocean voyage for their patients. Just the same every one of us was glad when land was sighted and we approached the French harbor.

Within the harbor a fussy little tug took hold of our transport grilling us like an undersized but very powerful bulldog. Slowly and carefully we drew toward our dock. Many people ran out of the narrow streets converging toward the dock. Among them were a few glittering uniforms, but most were worn and faded and tattered, men home from the trenches on leave. The tone of the crowd was black—widow's veils and crepe, arm bands and garb of mourning. Here and there were French sentries with bayonets three feet higher than themselves, guarding groups of German prisoners busily at work. The captured foemen barely glanced at our transport, bearing new enemies.

There were no great outbursts of enthusiasm from the French, although they must have a deep feeling of gratitude for our presence. The difference between the surface and depths. Suddenly the voices of our men were freed and a ringing cheer arose from the ship, such heartiness as must have sounded good to the French. We disembarked as quickly as possible and then our men moved along the streets in rhythmic, swinging columns, to a camp beyond the city. For the first time since leaving home I am sleeping in a tent. It is great to be out in the open, and truly the army life becomes more attractive every day.

It is generally understood that the issue rests in our hands, and let me tell you the U. S. soldiers expect to win. Our boys are fresh, enthusiastic and rapidly becoming well trained. When these forces in sufficient numbers are thrown into the field battering along the German lines something is bound to happen.

A great battle is being waged now, as you must know. It will be the turning point to my mind, because Germany is not accomplishing anything, although making her greatest effort of the war.

At present I am in what is known as a casual company. In a few days we will be assigned to definite commands and then I will give you my address.

A second letter under date of April 11th is as follows: Dear Mother:—

About a week ago I wrote you but the letter was returned, the envelope being improperly addressed. You will find it enclosed with this, which is an appendage.

Since writing that letter we were moved to a classification camp where Howard Rowland and myself were separated. He was retained in the infantry and I have been transferred to the medical corps. It was very unpleasant to be drawn apart because "Pansy" and myself had been close friends, constant companions ever since we were introduced that day in Bellefonte. I realize, however, that my proper place is in this department, that I will be better able to serve my country in this capacity.

As yet I don't know what is expected of me but imagine it will be something along the pharmaceutical or chemical lines.

This is only a rest camp and the period of time that one remains here is very indefinite but mail will be forwarded if sent to the address given.

Your devoted son, BASIL. State College Will Send Alumni to Training Camps. Forty-five graduates of The Pennsylvania State College, who have had at least one year of military training at the institution, will be sent to the government officers' training camps this summer, according to information received from the War Department by Major James Baylies, commandant of cadets. The fourth series of training camps will open May 15th, and no applications were accepted after May 1st. Major Baylies will select Penn State's quota and will direct the men to report to the various camps to which they may be assigned.

"My Soldier Girl" is a Show of Novelties.

The season's new musical play "My Soldier Girl" described a musical spectacle—with a military atmosphere—coming to Garman's opera house Wednesday night, May 8th, contains more than a score of big novelties of which Flirtation Walk is probably the most popular. During the first two acts the big "pony" ballet present four tuneful numbers out on the "walk" and each receive their share of encores. Gorgeous costumes are one of the features of Flirtation Walk worn by bewitching beauties who are good to look upon.

The big feature in the second act is an aerial flight. Dixie Harrison sails away in a modern airplane, coming as a big surprise right at the finale of the act after the clever ballet have performed a novel drill in aviation costume.

The last act presents a bewildering effect; the curtain rises on a perfectly dark stage, as the lights bring out the scene a war torn battlefield "Somewhere in France" is the picture. The action is swift, cannons booming in the distance, bugles, drums, soldiers, and then silence. This scene dissolves to the Goddess of Liberty and the Stars and Stripes are seen flying. The curtain descends to "Liberty Forever" and no more impressive tableau could one imagine for a fitting finale for this tuneful musical spectacle.

Among the Soldier Boys.

Roger T. Willard, Gilbert Nolan and Earl E. Teaman came home from Camp Upton on a very brief furlough on Sunday. They left the camp at noon on Saturday and reached Lock Haven between four and five o'clock on Sunday morning. There being no train up they hired a car and landed in Bellefonte at six o'clock. They had only a half day to spend at home and were compelled to leave on the 1:30 p. m. train in order to reach camp by nine o'clock on Monday morning, the time of the expiration of their furloughs.

John (Pappy) Steele, who came home from Camp Hancock last week without having secured a furlough left on Monday for Augusta, Ga., to join his company, which was due to leave Camp Hancock yesterday for a northern port of embarkation. Inasmuch as he returned voluntarily it is uncertain what punishment, if any, will be given him for leaving camp without a furlough.

Word has been received in Bellefonte that Fred Noll, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles T. Noll, has landed safely in France. He is in service in the navy.

Sparks Bros. circus is scheduled to show in Bellefonte on Thursday, May 23rd. While it is not as big as Barnum & Bailey's or the Ringling Bros., it is likely the band can make just as much noise.

A daughter, who has been named Janet May, was born to Mr. and Mrs. Guy Lyon, Wednesday. Mrs. Lyon is living with her mother, Mrs. Della Miller, on Phoenix avenue, during Mr. Lyon's absence in service.

Pennsylvania State's baseball team has elected Blair Mingle Jr., of Tyrone, captain of the Blue and White team for next season. He is a second baseman. Illness kept the captain-elect from the bench during the Carnegie Tech. game, which was State's only diamond contest this year. Mingle is a Senior in the school of engineering, and is president of Penn State's athletic association.

Roy H. Grove, an old Troop L man, has been appointed second lieutenant in the machine gun detachment of the cavalry squadron of the Pennsylvania reserve militia. In connection with first lieutenant Wilbur E. Saxion, recruiting was carried on at the army one night and fifteen recruits were enlisted. More are wanted and men between the ages of 18 and 21 and 31 and 45 will be accepted.

Sergt. Anthony Betz, of the U. S. army recruiting station, requests the "Watchman" to state that a resolution has now passed both houses of Congress which, when it becomes a law, as it undoubtedly will, will put all men who have reached the age of 21 since June 5th, 1917, in the draft. He further advises all men at that age to enlist now and pick the branch of the army they desire, as all branches are now open.

A benefit concert for the Belgian sufferers will be given by the Harmonic club in the High school auditorium, Monday, May 20th. The first of a series of entertainments to be given under the direction of the entertainment committee of the Patriotic League, the proceeds of which will be used in the League work of providing clothes for Belgium orphans. The admission to the concert will be but twenty-five cents, so that every one can do their "bit" in this most worthy cause.

Monday evening, May 13th, the Bellefonte Chapter of the D. A. R. will present "Robina in Search of a Husband," a comedy in four acts, by Jerome K. Jerome. The proceeds will go for the war relief work. The cast comprises many talented young people who have appeared before in High school plays. Among them are Misses Mary Taylor, Anne Shaughnessy, Eleanor Bower and Eleanor McSuley, and Messrs. Gregg Sheldon, Frederick Dagggett, Richard Noll, Cecil Walker, Robert Woodring and Herbert Beezer. The play is clever and spirited, with all the parts well acted.

For high class job work come to the "Watchman" office.

In the Interest of War Savings Stamps.

The report for the week ending April 20th, 1918, shows that Centre county had a per capita of twenty-two cents in the war savings campaign, and that from December 1st, 1917, to April 20th, our per capita is $3.16. Centre county is now ninth in the list of counties for the eastern district of Pennsylvania.

I had the pleasure of attending the meeting of the county chairmen in Philadelphia last Thursday, at which time addresses were made by ex-President William Howard Taft; national war savings committee chairman Frank B. Vanderlip; state director, Mr. Robert K. Cassatt; Mr. Ward M. Burgess, state director for Nebraska, and a number of other men from Washington, D. C., who are especially interested in the national problem.

Arrangements have been perfected whereby on Tuesday, May 7th, at two o'clock in the afternoon, at the court house, Bellefonte, Pa., a meeting will be held at which time and place we will have with us the state director, Mr. Robert K. Cassatt; the assistant state director, Mr. Lincoln L. Eyrer; and the director for counties, Mr. Edward C. Bendere. These men have active charge of the national war savings committee for the eastern district of Pennsylvania. They will outline fully and discuss at length what is known as the "Nebraska Plan," and also of "Pledge Week," which will commence on May 13th and end on May 18th.

Your chairman will expect a goodly number of the district chairmen, Liberty loan committee and solicitors of war savings societies, authorized agents, postmasters, ministers, school superintendents, and in fact any person who is interested in the boys at the front.

W. HARRISON WALKER, Chairman War Savings Committee for Centre County.

W. C. T. U. Board Passed Resolutions.

The executive board of the Centre county W. C. T. U. held a meeting in the Bellefonte Y. M. C. A. building Wednesday morning, April 17th. After an inspiring and enthusiastic meeting luncheon was served.

The gathering was honored with the presence of two women who have been very prominent in W. C. T. U. work for many years—Mrs. Rebecca B. Chambers, formerly a state president of Mifflin county. The one sad note of the occasion, felt most keenly by all, was the resignation tendered by Miss Rebecca N. Rhoads, who, for several years has been the beloved president of the county W. C. T. U. Miss Rhoads was most faithful in performing the many duties connected with this office and gave the most of her time and energy to this work, which is dear to her heart.

The executive board did not accept her resignation but granted her a leave of absence. Miss Rhoads expects to sail shortly for France where she will be engaged in christian work, having volunteered for Y. M. C. A. canteen service.

Resolutions were also passed endorsing Ives L. Harvey's candidacy for the Legislature.

On Saturday afternoon Burgess W. Harrison Walker Esq., took Lieut. Might, Dr. E. H. Yocum, Dr. W. K. McKinney and sheriff George H. Yarnell on a trip to the Rockview penitentiary to show the Canadian officer the kind of a penal institution the State of Pennsylvania has. From there he drove him to the top of Nityan mountain and gave him a glimpse of the view over Pennsylvania, which he freely admitted equalled anything he had ever seen in Switzerland. At four o'clock he and twenty-eight Bellefonte gentlemen were guests of Col. Spangler at a dinner at the Country club. In the evening Col. Spangler and the lieutenant attended a meeting in Millheim, and after talking at the flag dedication at the Academy on Sunday afternoon the Canadian officer spoke in the Methodist church in the evening. He left Bellefonte on Monday morning for Wellsboro, more than pleased with the treatment he received while here.
