Ordnance Men Move to Camp Hancock.

The last Ordnance unit to be drilled at State College left there Saturday morning for Camp Hancock, Augusta, Ga., where they will complete their training. There were ninety-seven men in the unit and every man carried his equipment in the regulation barracks bag, while some of them took extra equipment in suit cases and trunks. Some of the men were married and took their wives with them to the southern training camp. Major Orvis Keller came to Belle-
