

ORVISTON.

Orviston is having a tough time just now. So many persons are ill.

Mrs. Oscar Packer has been very ill the past week but latest reports say she is getting better.

Charles Powell and Bren Nelson are both suffering with Spanish influenza. Mr. Nelson came home from a business trip quite ill.

Roger B. Poorman is very ill with influenza and quinsy. He has been called for military duty, but it will be some time before he is fit.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Bartlow spent Sunday with friends in Williamsport, and found quite a number of friends and relatives ill with influenza.

Miss Jennie Walker, who had an attack of appendicitis, is able to be about but is still far from well and hearty, and is obliged to be very careful.

Mr. and Mrs. William Jones are home from Wilkes-Barre. Baby Bill is the only one who looks better for the trip. He has improved wonderfully.

Robert B. Hume has been very ill with a heavy cold on his lungs and is being kept pretty quiet, as he is far from strong and the doctor fears any complications might prove serious indeed.

The wisest of our citizens are very busily engaged in fumigating their houses, boiling antiseptics and cresolines to kill the "flu" germs.

Scarlet fever has appeared in our midst. The first to take it was Gretau Condo, little daughter of Ira Condo. She is improving. Linda Kathryn Singer, a little daughter of Harry Singer, is also seriously ill with the fever in its worst form.

Word has been sent the family of Gust Lomison that his son, Paul Lomison, now stationed at Camp Greenleaf, is very seriously ill of influenza. Some one started the report that "Zizzy," as Paul is called, had died, but we are all glad to learn he is getting better instead.

LEMONT.

A few of the children near Dale's Summit have the chickenpox.

There are a few cases of Spanish influenza near town, but none of them serious.

Pearl Evey, of Bellefonte, spent a few days in town, at the home of her grand-parents.

The schools of College township were opened again this week, after being closed for a week.

Charles Thompson is moving his family from West Virginia to the old homestead here in town.

The chestnut crop is the largest that we have had in many years, and they readily sell at a good price.

James Johnston came in from his home at Belasno to visit at the home of his brother Ernest, for a few days.

The fine weather this fall has been in favor of the farmers and already some of them are through husking corn.

Ernest Johnston went to work in Lemont station last week, when they put two sets of men on to work on eight hour turns.

Mrs. Willard Dale and daughter Luella are able to come home again, having about recovered from an attack of the Spanish influenza.

The school board of College township has changed Marian Dreese from the Lemont primary to the Lemont grammar; Lavan Ferree from Centre Furnace to Lemont primary; Stella Bathgate from Pleasant View to Centre Furnace, and so far have partly decided to close Pleasant View school and have the pupils hauled to the Centre Furnace school.

PLEASANT GAP ITEMS.

Ed. Wolfe has moved his family to Bellefonte.

William Hile, of Ohio, spent the week-end with relatives here.

Abraham V. Miller, of Philadelphia, is visiting among friends here.

Mr. and Mrs. T. E. Jodon left last week on a two week's visit to Pittsburgh.

Paul Heisey, who is employed at Harrisburg, spent several days with his family here.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Twitmyer, of Pitscairn, visited over Sunday with the former's mother.

H. S. Russo, one of our former state police, now stationed at Greensburg, visited here last week.

Gilbert Noll, who had been seriously ill with Spanish influenza, is much improved at this writing.

Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Ramsey and children, of Harrisburg, are visiting at the home of William H. Noll.

Mr. and Mrs. Milton Kunes and daughter Jean, of Blanchard, were Sunday visitors at the home of H. U. Hile.

THE DAWN OF PEACE.

Are we men or are we beasts? That we fight like blood crazed brutes. Not the lowly, nor the least, But the best men are recruits.

Will the fighting never cease, While men live to fire and slay? Yes. For comes the dawn of peace, Ushering in a better day.

What Becomes of Mass of Discarded Papers?

What becomes of the thousands upon thousands of newspapers that are discarded by readers on street cars, railroads and in the homes? The question must naturally obtrude itself on the minds of many in the hurrying throngs to and from business who note the disorderly litter that collects at terminal stations.

Waste newspapers are used almost exclusively in the manufacture of the cardboard or pasteboard which goes to form the paperboard box in which dressmakers, shoemakers and department stores generally, deliver dresses, suits, shoes, etc., and one of the largest factories in the United States for the manufacture of this kind of cardboard is located just outside of Philadelphia on the Schuylkill river, at Manayunk.

Long trains of cars may be seen at Manayunk any day, loaded with bales of waste newspapers, the collection of many cities, which have been assembled there for conversion into the clean sheets of cardboard that will be used later for fashioning a box fit to hold my lady's gown of daintiest chiffon or tulle.

The preliminary operation of unpacking the bales of material which have been put together by waste paper dealers is not an agreeable operation to witness. As the mixed newspapers refuse to hold together, waste paper dealers are not over careful in the sorting of the material, and tin cans and other heavy materials may be surreptitiously introduced at some stage of the process of packing the small bundles which are turned in by individual collectors of the material.

If one can stand the choking dust that arises as bales are opened and sorted by the busy workers in the paperboard factory, and he watches the operation of unpacking, he will note the truly miscellaneous character of the contents of these newspapers of morning and afternoon editions, with all their embellishments of scare-heads in black and red, in company with a miscellaneous assortment of paper material like carnival streamers, harlequin caps, confetti, empty fire cracker and all the other discarded paper waste of homes, stores and streets.

Very Foolish Husband.

Mr. Babcock had just been telling his wife of an old friend.

"And he said he knew me when I was a little girl?" interrogated the wife.

"No," said Babcock, "he didn't say anything of the sort."

"But you just said he did," said Mrs. Babcock.

"No," said the man, "I didn't."

"Why, Charles!" exclaimed the wife. "What did he say then?"

"I said," replied the brute, "that he said he knew you when he was a little boy."

A Helpful Mistake.

"What do you suppose has come over my husband this morning, Sophia," exclaimed a conscientious little bride to the new servant. "I never saw him start down-town so happy. He's whistling like a bird!"

"I'm afraid I'm to blame, mum. I got the packages mixed this morning and give him birdseed instead of his regular breakfast-food, mum."

U. S. to Abolish Leather Legging.

Leather leggings for army officers are going to be forbidden in all overseas service in the immediate future, and eventually abolished as a part of the officer's uniform throughout the United States army, if the suggestions of experienced officers are adopted.

These officers point to the government warnings against shortage of leather and the waste of it for purpose of elegance. But the big reason for banning the fancy brogans is told by the Army and Navy Journal like this:

"The leather legging is extremely conspicuous, and makes it easy for the enemy to distinguish between offcer and enlisted man. Naturally the enemy makes special efforts to pick off the officers. The ordinary percentage of casualties among lieutenants is figured as one in fifty, on the basis of there being five lieutenants killed among the lieutenants is much higher than this, and officers in the United States are inclined to believe that the conspicuous legging is one cause."

An officer of experience is quoted as saying that chevrons of non-commissioned officers seem to be making corporals and sergeants distinctive targets. Though improvements have been made in rendering the non-com's chevrons less conspicuous there is known to be "an unusually high percentage of casualties among the non-coms."

So the call is on for leather leggings to be shut off altogether and chevrons made more blurry.—Ex.

Advertisement for Swift & Company featuring a large wheel with spokes. Text: "Spokes" and the Swift "Wheel". What would you consumers think of a wheel without spokes? What would you think of a man who would take any or all of the spokes out of a wheel to make it run better? Swift & Company's business of getting fresh meat to you is a wheel, of which the packing plant is only the hub. Retail dealers are the rim—and Swift & Company Branch Houses are the spokes. The hub wouldn't do the wheel much good and you wouldn't have much use for hub or rim if it weren't for the spokes that fit them all together to make a wheel of it. Swift & Company Branch Houses are placed, after thorough investigation, in centers where they can be successfully operated and do the most good for the most people at the least possible cost. Each "spoke" is in charge of a man who knows that he is there to keep you supplied at all times with meat, sweet and fresh; and who knows that if he doesn't do it, his competitor will. How much good would the hub and the rim of the Swift "wheel" do you if the spokes were done away with? Keep Your Pledge Make Good for Our Fighting Men BUY WAR-SAVINGS STAMPS Swift & Company, U. S.
