

To the Voters of Centre County.

I am a candidate for the Legislature in Centre county and ask your kindly consideration and support on election day.
I stand on my past record as a citizen, a soldier and as your Representative from 1905 to 1908.
When at Harrisburg before I performed my duty to the best interest of every citizen and institution of Centre county depending upon me for the faithful performance of my trust.
If elected, I will in the future, as in the past, remain at my post and devote my time whole heartedly and solely in representing my constituency. I believe that a public office is a public trust and that a public officer is a public servant and having been born on a Centre county farm and having resided in the county all my life I believe that I am thoroughly acquainted with the needs of our county in matters of legislation and have had experience in Harrisburg which would prove very valuable in promoting such legislation as would be to the advantage of the county.
I therefore earnestly hope that you will give me your influence, support, and your vote on election day and I will ever remain faithful to the trust you repose in me.

JOHN NOLL.

Major William Hay to Command Pennsylvania Division.

Unofficial announcement was made on Tuesday that Major General William H. Hay was to be put in command of the Pennsylvania division in France to succeed Major General Charles H. Muir, who will be assigned elsewhere. General Hay is no stranger in Centre county as he was stationed at State College three years as commandant of the cadet battalion. He is an ideal soldier and will make the division an able commander.

Va., were electrocuted at the Rockview penitentiary on Monday morning for the murder of Frank Wilson, in the Duquesne railroad yards at Pittsburgh in October, 1917. The two men robbed Wilson, cut his throat with a butcher knife then placed the body under a box car on the railroad in the hope of thus obliterating their crime.
