

THINGS ABOUT TOWN AND COUNTY

Our quota in the roll call is the population of our city; we can't go over the top without YOU.

The Patriotic League will hold a costume party in the Logan Fire company hall, Friday evening, December 13th. Every member of the League is urged to attend.

The "Watchman" office still has a few of its very attractive line of Christmas cards. We print any inscription desired on them and will furnish twenty-five, with enclosing envelopes to match, for $2.50.

The Lyric is offering some wonderful attractions in motion pictures next week. Ethel Clayton and Norma Talmadge in special Paramount Artcraft productions, with Private Harold Peat in his own picture "Private Peat." See advertisement elsewhere.

The Renovo High school basketball team will be the High school's opponents on the Y. M. C. A. gymnasium floor this (Friday) evening at eight o'clock. The Bellefonte High has a good team this season and a large crowd should be present to witness the contest.

Good Christian homes are desired for a few dependent children, (not incorrigible), girls and boys with ages ranging from twelve to two years of age. Persons interested will please communicate with the Rev. M. Def. Maynard, juvenile court officer of Centre county.

Lazar Zec, of Beaver county, was electrocuted at the Rockview penitentiary on Monday morning. Luther Knox, of Armstrong county, who was to have been electrocuted at the same time, was granted a respite to enable his case to be heard by the board of pardons.

The Paramount Art-craft pictures are now recognized as among the best motion pictures made and the Lyric makes a specialty of these. In fact the programs at the Lyric are high-class in every particular, and if you want an evening of good entertainment that is a place where you can get it.

The Bellefonte Chapter of the Red Cross would like to have donations of new material suitable for making platted rugs. New material is desired and strips should be not less than a foot in length. The Chapter has been asked to furnish a number of these rugs and all material donated will be thankfully received.

Don't overlook the fact that the scenic is now offering some of the best attractions in motion pictures ever shown there. They include everything worthwhile seeing. Big serials, current pictorial news events, and enough of the comedy to make the programs amusing as well as interesting. You can't go wrong any evening, as the pictures are all good.

The Red Cross work rooms will be opened on the afternoon of Monday, December 16th. Units have been formed in the various churches which will be responsible for the work on the different days of the week. There is plenty of work for all, whether attached to any particular church or not. Go any afternoon or evening upon which work is done, you will be welcome and work will be given you to do.

Announcement has been made of the marriage on Thanksgiving day of Miss Sarah E. Shively, formerly of Bellefonte, and F. C. Trithart, of Beloit, Ohio. Miss Shively, who was a daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Shively, left here several years ago to make her home with her sister, Mrs. Samuel Knox, at Alliance, Ohio, where the wedding took place. Mr. and Mrs. Trithart will be at home at Beloit, Ohio, having gone to their furnished home there immediately after the ceremony.

Word was received here recently of the marriage of Miss Della V. Goodfellow and Robert V. Jellingsford, of Los Angeles, California, on October 2nd. Miss Goodfellow, who went west from Howard several years ago, is a member of the Bellefonte High school alumni, being a member of the class of 1895, and having lived in Bellefonte at that time. Shortly afterwards she and her mother moved to Philadelphia, and from there to Howard. Mr. and Mrs. Jellingsford will make their home in Los Angeles.

From Miss Rebecca Rhoads comes an appeal for reading matter, which should stimulate every one to greater action in sending overseas magazines, books, scrap books, or anything along that line, that would be of interest to the boys. The war is over, but there will be a million and a quarter of our soldiers left in Europe, and their need of good reading matter is even greater than for those in action. All packages will reach Miss Rhoads at her canteen, if sent in care of Y. M. C. A. Secretary, 12 Rue d'Aguesseau, Paris, France, via New York.

About eleven o'clock last Friday night as Mr. and Mrs. John McCoy were motoring down towards Milesburg and Dr. W. U. Irwin was on his way to Bellefonte they attempted to pass each other near the Red Roost. But for some reason or other they failed to get far enough apart and their cars sideswiped. Mr. McCoy's steering gear was bent with the result that he could not control his car and it ran over the bank almost into the old canal. Fortunately nobody was hurt but both cars were pretty badly wrecked and had to be towed in for repairs.

AERO MAIL NEXT WEDNESDAY. Service to be Inaugurated December 18th for Sure.

Postmaster P. H. Gherity received a telegram from the second assistant postmaster general on Wednesday announcing the fact that the aero mail service on the Wilson air route between New York and Chicago will be inaugurated for sure on Wednesday of next week, December 18th.

The "Watchman" last week announced that a big Handley-Page machine would fly over the course on Friday but the trip unfortunately was cancelled and the machine did not come. The service was to have been inaugurated on Sunday, the 15th, but unforeseen circumstances caused a delay of three days, but the department announces that the first trip will be made next Wednesday sure, one machine going west and another east. The exact time that they will land in Bellefonte is not definitely known but the first ought to be here between ten and eleven o'clock, and the other one about the middle of the afternoon.

The landing field and hangar at the Bellefonte station will be in shape by next Wednesday and everything be in readiness for the big event. The postage rate by aero mail will be six cents an ounce or fraction thereof, with sixteen cents for special delivery. The Bellefonte postoffice this week received a consignment of aero mail stamps and already quite a number have been purchased by persons who will take occasion of the inauguration of the service to send a message to a friend in Chicago or New York. The six cent stamp is orange color and the sixteen cent green, each bearing as a central engraving an aeroplane.

The New York-Chicago route has been laid out in three legs, the first from New York to Bellefonte, a distance of 125 miles, with an emergency station and machine midway at Lehighton; the second from Bellefonte to Cleveland, Ohio, a distance of 215 miles, with an emergency station at Clarion, Pa., eighty-five miles from Bellefonte; the third from Cleveland to Chicago, a distance of 323 miles, with an emergency station at Bryan, Ohio.

The plan of operation during the unfavorable winter months contemplates the airplanes leaving Chicago and New York at six o'clock in the morning, with a capacity of 20,000 letters, and making the trip, including all stops, within a period of ten hours.

Unfortunately the route will be inaugurated at the worst possible season of the year, but as important mail routes must run daily no matter what the weather conditions the Postoffice Department saw no good reason for a delay until spring. The change in the original route from Lock Haven to Bellefonte was made to overcome adverse air currents caused by the high range of hills in the vicinity of Mauch Chunk, the slight detour to the south avoiding these treacherous currents.

Red Cross Membership Drive Will Start On Monday.

The Red Cross membership drive will begin next Monday morning and continue one week. At this time it ought not to be necessary to say anything in connection with this fact outside the simple announcement. If there was ever a time when the Red Cross proved its worth as an organization it has been during the past four years. The work its representatives have done on the field of battle alone entitles it to every consideration asked at the hands of the public. But the service was not confined to the battlefield but in every camp and cantonment, at home and abroad, the Red Cross was present to minister material as well as spiritual comfort. The campaign next week will be for membership only. The membership fee is but one dollar and Bellefonte should meet the call one hundred per cent. strong. Even though the war is ended the Red Cross will have work to do during the next five years and needs the support of every man, woman and child in the country.

Still Digging for Oil.

In a letter received by the "Watchman" from Chauncey (Bill) Stuart we learn that that gentleman is still digging for oil. He is now located at Dallas, Texas, and his work is in what is known as the new north central Texas oil field. He is building a rig on section 70, block 13 of the Texas and Pacific railway company survey in Shackelford county, where a number of good wells have already been struck. Mr. Stuart says the work is very expensive, as it costs from forty to sixty thousand dollars to drill a well, if a man has fair luck; and if he hasn't the luck we presume the cost will be very much more. And then if it should happen to be a dry well, that wouldn't be very lucky, either, and yet Chauncey is working on block 13. A man with such confidence deserves success and the "Watchman" hopes that Mr. Stuart will strike a well that will gush oil fast enough to put him right up at the top of Easy street and may it never run dry.

The "Watchman" omitted to mention the fact last week that Van Jodon had given up his position with the Lehigh Valley Railroad company and returned to Bellefonte to accept his old position with the Bellefonte Central railroad. He started work on Monday morning of last week but was taken sick with the grip and has been confined to his home ever since.

Pine Grove Mills friends received word yesterday that George McWilliams, the youngest son of the late G. W. McWilliams, of Ferguson township, is at the point of death with influenza. He is at his home in Harrisburg.

Read "Lost Island."

The boys and girls—and grown-ups, too—will take special delight in reading "Lost Island," beginning next Sunday in "The Philadelphia Record." It is a thrilling story of adventure, with the lure of sunken treasure and the twang of the sea, recalling the fascination of "Treasure Island."

The fiction now being published in the special magazine section of "The Record" is some of the best that has ever been published by a newspaper.

State Road Work Stopped for the Winter.

On Saturday the State Highway Department notified contractor R. B. Taylor to stop work on the state road on Willowbank street at once, as it was deemed inexpedient to continue the work during the winter. But this will not mean a tie-up of the above street during the winter months. Mr. Taylor has all the brick down out to the bridge near the Phoenix mill and a short stretch down from the borough line east.

This week he has been busy grading and filling in alongside of the paved portion of the street, and cleaning up generally, and as soon as the bricked street has lain long enough for the top dressing of concrete to set properly the entire stretch will be opened for traffic during the winter. The road will be completed next spring when the weather settles.

Make the response to the call unanimous; 100 million Red Cross members in America.

Ladies' gun metal shoes, lace, high tops and low heels, $3.50 at Yeager's.

Bellefonte's Red Cross Campaign.

The big event in town and throughout the nation next week, December 16th to 23rd, will undoubtedly be the Red Cross Christmas roll call. The membership of the American Red Cross should be precisely the number of men, women and children in America. Let us make our Bellefonte Chapter's response to the roll call unanimous. Let every one of all ages and conditions wear the button which will be given for enrollment and let every house on every street display the Red Cross service flag, and with as many small crosses on it as there are members in the family.

Renewals of membership and new memberships may be taken out any time during the week, but the great effort in Bellefonte will be made on Wednesday afternoon, December 18th, from 2 until 5 o'clock. At two o'clock the church bells of town will ring the signal that the oil-over-town campaign has started. Be at home, in your store, office, school or factory; a Red Cross worker will visit you and before you know it you will have said "yes" to your name, have paid your dollar and will be enrolled as an integral part of this wonderful nationwide, world-wide organization of mercy and humanity.

Harry Smith's Big Barn Burned.

The big barn on the Harry Smith farm, formerly the W. C. Smeltzer farm near Nigh bank, was burned to the ground on Tuesday morning with all its contents. The latter included 200 bushels of wheat, 500 bushels of oats, $300 worth of cow feed, all his hay and fodder and most of his farm implements, as well as five pigs and quite a good flock of chickens. His entire loss is estimated at from $8,000 to $10,000. He had $1,400 insurance on the barn and some insurance on his grain and implements but the exact amount could not be learned. It is stated that the fire originated from an explosion of gasoline as he was filling the tank of his automobile in a small building a short distance from the barn.

About 5 o'clock Mr. Smith and his son went to the barn to do the chores. After getting through Mr. Smith decided to put gasoline in the tank of his Ford touring car which stood in the wagon shed, near the barn. It being early in the morning and still dark, a lantern was used in the work. In pouring the gasoline from the can into the tank some of it was spilled and the fumes ignited with the flame of the lantern and in less time than it takes to tell it there was a tremendous blaze. Fortunately Mr. Smith escaped injury. He gave the alarm and the family at once set to work to liberate the four horses, nine cows and young cattle that were in the barn. In a few minutes the barn proper was a seething mass of flames, and although the neighbors responded it was too late to save any of the farming implements. The barn, implement shed, straw shed and chicken coop all went up in smoke. The barn was 50x 102 feet with several additions.

Doings in December Court.

The December term of court convened on Monday with Judge Henry C. Quigley presiding. Following the presentation of various motions and petitions and taking the returns of the constables the roll of the jurors was called and any absentees noted. In his instructions to the grand jury Judge Quigley told them that they would be called on to pass upon a petition for the setting aside of sufficient funds from the county treasury for the purpose of compiling and publishing a record of the part Centre county took in the great world war. He explained that the purpose of the movement was the publication of a history which would sell for a nominal sum and which would be as accurate in detail as it is possible to make it.

The first case taken up was an action in divorce brought by Windom C. Gramley against his wife, May Gramley, in which a verdict was rendered in favor of the plaintiff. In the case of J. S. Condo vs. D. H. Shively, an action to recover damages for a threshing engine that had blown up while being used by Mr. Shively, the claim was built around the contention that the engine was not set level, thus exposing the crown sheet and causing the explosion. Verdict for the plaintiff in the sum of $554.00.

Paul M. Wert was the defendant in a Commonwealth charge brought against him by Estella J. Baney and following a trial of the case the jury returned a verdict of not guilty but put two-thirds of the cost on the defendant and one-third on the plaintiff. Another Commonwealth charge was brought against Mr. Wert by Cora Weaver and on this the jury also returned a verdict of not guilty and divided the costs evenly between the plaintiff and defendant.

The case of the Commonwealth vs. Sephen Fiffick, charged with shooting and causing the death of Stanley Estrusky, of Osceola Mills, did not go to trial, the defendant pleading guilty to involuntary manslaughter. He was sentenced by Judge Quigley to not less than three nor more than four years in the western penitentiary.

Commonwealth vs. Julia Grove and Hannah Grove, indicted for resisting an officer serving process; prosecutor, O. M. Heaton. This case is from Milesburg and the prosecutor had been given a warrant to serve on the first named defendant, which he served on the 3rd day of July last, and alleges that when he wished her to go along to the office of the justice of the peace, she resisted, in which she was joined by her mother. The defendants denied any resistance and that they had resisted the officer, but that the officer was rude and used bad language, and that the officer had refused to take bail for their appearance and had insisted that they would take them to jail. The jury retired Wednesday afternoon and on Thursday morning returned a verdict of guilty.

The grand jury completed their work on Tuesday afternoon and filed their report in which they said that they had passed upon seventeen bills of indictment, found fourteen true bills and ignored three. They visited and inspected the public buildings and found them in good condition except that the floor in the jail should be repaired and the walls and ceilings white-washed. They also recommended the building of a fireproof garage for the sheriff's use, no less than twenty feet square, and suggested that a new lock be put on the front door of the court house.

In conclusion they stated: "We further report that the grand jury unanimously voted that the petition as presented for the setting aside of a sufficient amount of money out of the county treasury for the preserving, gathering and making of a reliable and accurate history of the part that Centre county and her citizens have taken in the great world war be approved and recommended." It might also be added that every member of the grand jury also signed a petition endorsing the project.

The case against Irvin Gray and his sons, George and Clyde, was taken up yesterday, too late to report this week.

Be ready on Wednesday, the 18th, and say "yes" to your name.

State Meeting of D. A. R.

The postponed meeting of the twenty-second annual State conference of the D. A. R. will be held at Harrisburg, January 28th, 29th and 30th, 1919. It is expected that the president general, Mrs. George Thacher Guernsey, will attend the conference.

The new Penn-Harris hotel will be official headquarters; it is also large enough to accommodate all who wish to secure reservations. A patriotic meeting will be held Monday evening, January 27th, under the auspices of the Harrisburg Chapter.

Tell the boys overseas that we are 100 per cent. behind them in the Red Cross.

Spending Sunday in the city with Mr. Barnes' sister, Mrs. Henderson, they went on to their new home in Virginia, where Mr. Barnes has accepted a position and began work this week.

Accurate Reports of Deer Killed Wanted by the "Watchman."

The deer hunting season will close tomorrow (Saturday) and from all reports hunters have met with better luck this season than for some years past. Owing to the fact that many hunters are still in the mountains it has been impossible to get anything near an accurate count of the number of deer killed but the "Watchman" would like to have a report from every hunting party for next week's paper. To this end we specially request readers of this paper living in different parts of the county to send us reports of all the deer killed they know of with the name of the hunting party. In this way we will be able to compile a fairly accurate list.

Many of the parties mentioned in last week's paper have secured additional deer but the Woodward rod and gun club probably got the biggest one, a buck with fourteen prongs. This deer has been seen repeatedly in that neighborhood in past years but seemed to bear a charmed life, but this year it was finally brought to earth. It weighed a little over two hundred pounds.

Clarence T. Lemon, of Monessen, Pa., but a native of Gatesburg, this county, and who always comes back for an annual hunt, killed a nine pronged buck last Friday while hunting alone on Tussey mountain which weighed 200 pounds. This is the record deer killed in that section this year.

On Monday while hunters were swarming all over Tussey mountain two fine bucks came down out of the woods and literally played in Samuel Young's back yard in Ferguson township. Young George took a shot at one of them but all it did was give him the flag and scamper away to the woods. The same day a big buck came off of the mountain and pastured in one of W. E. McWilliams' fields close to the buildings. Becoming frightened it started for the mountains but got caught in a wire fence and broke its neck. It was found in J. E. Reed's lane and the carcass was prepared and sent to the Bellefonte hospital. Squire Frank Carson, of Potkers Mills, on Tuesday found the carcass of a doe in the woods near that place, and from all indications the deer had only recently been killed. It was dressed and sent to the Bellefonte hospital, which makes three deer that institution has gotten this season.

Another doe shot by mistake was found on Tussey mountain early in the week, but the hunter forgot to tag it with his name and address and it is not known who killed it. The Hess-Homan crowd gave up their camp in the Shingleton Gap last Monday because they had gotten the limit: six fine bucks.

The Kepler crows is still in Sholl's gap near Pennsylvania Furnace and have two bucks.

The Modoc party of Ferguson township, has three deer and a bear. One of the deer has thirteen points and was shot by Samuel Mc Hess, while the bear, one of the largest ever seen on Tussey mountain was shot by Harry Miller.
