Second Lieut. Harry W. Shreffler arrived home from Bronwsville, Tex., last Friday, having received his dismade application, however, for a commission in the regular army and has hopes of getting same in the near future. Lieut. Shreffler went into the service as top sergeant of Troop L and went with that organization to Camp Hancock. When the cavalry was disbanded Sergt. Shreffler was sent to Brownsville, Tex., where he was assigned to training cavalry units. It was while in service there that he won his commission, but as his period of enlistment was provisional on the duration of the war he was recently given his discharge. But he likes army life and at once made application for a commission in the regular army. While waiting for that commission, or a decision regarding it, he will not remain idle, but will leave next Monday for Oklahoma where he will work at a large oil refinery. He will take with him his son Earl, the rest of his family anticipating joining him a little later.

Jim Lawler, Alias Showalter, Electrocuted in Kentucky.

Pennsylvania railroad police have received information that Jim Lawler, the lone bandit who several years ago held up a Pennsylvania railroad train in the Lewistown Narrows and robbed the express car of $63 in new Lincoln pennies, had been electrocuted in Kentucky for a murder committed at Covington, in that State.

Lawler, who was born in Clayton county, Mo., and who frequently made it his boast that as a boy he carried messages for the James brothers, first came into notoriety in this section when he led a gang of postoffice robbers through Centre county about the year 1907 and after robbing the postoffice at Linden Hall took refuge in the old Foust barn on the Seven mountains. There they were surrounded by a posse in charge of Col. H. S. Taylor, then sheriff of Centre county, and in an exchange of shots Lawler, or Showalter as he gave his name, was shot through the neck by one of the sheriff's crowd. The crowd was captured and brought to Bellefonte, Showalter spending some time in the Bellefonte hospital.

Later they were all taken to Scranton for trial in the United States district court and being convicted Showalter was sent to the federal prison at Atlanta for a period of six years. He had been out of the prison only a brief period when he single-handed held up the train in the Lewistown Narrows. He never was caught and naturally escaped punishment for that act. If the report is correct that he has been electrocuted in Kentucky it will simply be a case of a man getting his just deserts.

Dunlap-Rhone.-Word has been received in Centre county of the marriage at 10:30 o'clock on Tuesday, at Newport, Ky., of Rev. W. C. Dunlap, pastor of the First Lutheran church at Louisville, Ky., and Miss May V. Rhone, eldest daughter of the late Hon. Leonard Rhone, of Centre Hall. and this was the first intimation many of the Centre county friends of both Rev. Dunlap and Miss Rhone had that they even contemplated matrimony. Both are natives of Centre county, Rev. Dunlap having been born and raised in Ferguson township and Miss Rhone in Potter township.

During the past fifteen years Miss Rhone has held the position of a clerk in the Dairy and Food Bureau at Harrisburg. Last week she tendered her resignation to Hon. James Foust. dairy and food commissioner, and before she took her departure on Friday that gentleman presented her with a handsome silver sugar bowl and cream pitcher.

Hume - Ramsey. - Lieut. John Hume, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Hume, of Orviston, and Miss Lulu Ramsey, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ramsey, of Falconer, N. Y., were married in St. Luke's Episcopal church at Jamestown, N. Y., last Saturday afternoon by the pastor, Rev. Wilcox. The bride is considered one of the prettiest and most popular girls in her home town and the bridegroom is to be congratulated upon his good fortune.

Lieut. Hume is well and favorably known in the northern section of Centre and Clinton counties. He was the second man to enlist for service in Centre county after the United States entered the war and served his country faithfully and well. He was recently discharged from the provisional service but his name has been retained on the officers' reserve roll, which leaves him subject to call in an emergency at any time within five stay with Mrs. Hume's parents at Falconer until their own home at that place is ready for occupancy. However, they contemplate making a visit to Mr. Hume's parents at Orviston in the near future.
