ORVISTON.

Mrs. Maines Bowers has been somewhat under the weather but is improving and is able to be out once more.

Hensyl Young added to his stock a fine cow, and now with his hunting dogs and cows he can make some showing.

Mr. and Mrs. Garland Patterson and daughter, Monta have returned from a visit to Mr. Patterson's parents at Philipsburg.

Mrs. William Heverly, of Romola, visited old friends and former neighbors last Tuesday. All were glad to see her and hope she will come again.

George Page, of Blanchard, is visiting his son, C. B. Page, of this place, and incidentally calling on his Orviston friends, who are all glad to see him again.

Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Watson, of the lower works, have moved to Holt's Hollow. Their Orviston friends were sorry to lose them, but wish them all sorts of good luck in their new home.

William A. Walker paid a visit to his farm at Port Matilda. He reports everything o. k. and anticipates a good year. He certainly deserves success as he has worked very hard to get a nice home for his interesting little family.

Mrs. Ward Keller and children, Harry and Helen, are staying until after Easter with Mrs. Keller's mother, Mrs. William Heverly, at Romola. The change, it is to be hoped, will do her good, as she has been failing in health steadily ever since she had influenza last fall.

Mr. and Mrs. Merrill Weaver and children, Earl and Louetta, took a trip in their Saxon car, leaving Orviston Saturday afternoon and spending Sunday among their relatives in different places, returning home Tuesday morning. During their absence they purchased a fine young cow and calf.

Gilbert L. Gillespie had the misfortune to lose a fine cow recently. It seemed the poor creature contracted a heavy cold, and in spite of kind care and medical treatment she died. As Gilbert has a family of little ones the loss of his cow was no small thing. He has purchased another, and we all wish him better luck with it.

Hugh Engel has returned from a visit to his former home, Williamsport, and among his wife's relatives in West Virginia. Report says he contemplates moving to Philadelphia, where he has obtained a new situation. His brother, Jack W. Engel, came home with him. Jack is home on a furlough from the U. S. navy.

Mrs. Etta Nelson and little nephew, Andrew D. Shearer, are visiting friends and relatives in Orviston. Mrs. Nelson has been very despondent since the death of her husband, Archie Nelson, and her friends thought it best that she should take a rest and try and recover from her long siege of nursing during her husband's last illness.

John Rhodes and Miss Rena Emenhizer, of the lower works, were married Friday evening by Rev. Walter Merrick. The bridegroom is a popular young man, of good habits and a steady, industrious worker. The bride is one of Orviston's nice little girls, popular and with a very pleasing personality. Both young people are well known to the writer, who is very fond of them, and wishes them all the happiness this life affords, and that their lives may have just enough shadow to soften the glow of the sunshine.

J. T. Potter, David Rearick, Mrs. George Goodhart and Miss Sarah Goodhart attended the meetings of Huntingdon Presbytery, in Bellefonte, this week.

Miss Carrie Sweetwood left on Monday for Philadelphia, after a week's visit at her home in this place. Miss Sweetwood, who is a trained nurse, had been on a private case for ten weeks, at Wellsboro, Pa.

On Monday afternoon the barn of William Meyer, at the foot of the mountain, was destroyed by fire. The fire was started by his small grandchild, who was playing with matches. The household goods of his son, John Meyer, which were stored in the barn at the time, were also destroyed.

Mrs. D. S. Kurtz had the misfortune to fall down stairs on Monday afternoon, fracturing and dislocating her shoulder. As her husband, Rev. D. S. Kurtz, was at Lancaster at the time of the accident, Dr. Longwell took her to the Bellefonte hospital where she will be for an indefinite time.

Trapping Live Deer.

Deer will be trapped by State game protectors in Clearfield and other central counties to be placed in preserves in various other sections of the State. This work is now under way under direction of Field Superintendent Kelly, who has been looking up the number of animals. The State bought a number of deer for the Dauphin preserve from North Carolina and is after some in Michigan. It is the intention to trap others in this State and distribute them to the preserves this winter.

Work on new preserves, especially in the western part of the State, will go forward in the spring when it is hoped to have legislative authority to buy land outright. Tracts of from 2500 to 4000 acres are desirable, says the officials.

Thus far fully 8000 pheasants have been distributed throughout the State, some having been liberated weeks ago, and they are reported doing well.

State officials have hopes of obtaining quail from Mexico early and they will be ordered in when conditions are right. Places where they will be liberated are being discussed.

A Wise Child.

Little Annie had been having trouble with her lessons, and had turned for assistance to her big brother. He did the sums for her, handed her the paper and resumed his reading. She was soon back at his side, however, and he inquired:

"What's the matter; aren't they all right?"

"Oh, yes, indeed. They are ever so nice; but won't you please put a few mistakes in, so that teacher will think I did it?"—Philadelphia Inquirer.

STRIP DIVISION INSIGNIA FROM CASUAL'S SHOULDER.

Thousands of returning heroes at Camp Dix are lamenting a war Department order which, by stripping them of their division insignia, robs them of their identity with the organization in service with which a large percentage, now in the base hospital, convalescent centre, or casual companies, gave all but life itself. The order is causing widespread resentment among the New Jersey, Pennsylvania and New York veterans affected as it forbids the use of the insignia to all overseas officers and men, except those returning with their original units, thereby divorcing from proud associations the men detached because of wounds and now returning in casual outfits.

No explanation of military value of the unpopular order has been offered by the War Department and many officers believe that if military chiefs were aware of the sentiment of the returning armies there would be an immediate recall as far as the soldiers listed for early discharge are concerned. The portion of the order that requires officers and enlisted men overseas who are assigned to permanent camp organization from wearing an insignia that would be out of place in their new positions is understood as a reasonable regulation, but no reason has been offered for depriving the patients in the base hospital of their insignia.

Keystone Division veterans, of whom there are many now at Camp Dix, are especially dissatisfied with the regulation, which requires them to drop the red keystone worn on the shoulder. The men still with the division are allowed to retain the insignia, however, and to wear it until they are discharged. The casuals feel that the order is particularly unjust in that it operates only against the men who were wounded so badly that they could not go back to their division. For months, as officers point out, the army made a man's love and loyalty for his division a big factor in creating morale and they fear something of the opposite effect from an order that takes from a veteran the privilege of displaying before the world the badge of the division in which he displayed his even to the shedding of his blood.

The Government will purchase outright, instead of continuing the present leases, the land occupied by the reservation, in converting Camp Dix into a permanent army post, orders received at headquarters from the War Department, directing General Scott to appoint a board, composed of himself, as commander, and two officers, to recommend the areas that will be needed. The land desired will later be assessed by an impartial board and purchased from the owners.

The land on which the camp is located was in the centre of a rich farming and dairy belt when taken over by the Government for military uses. By purchasing the land outright the Government will avoid heavy damage claims in addition to future leasing costs. Approximately 35 big farms made up the present camp area, and putting this land back into condition for agriculture, even had the War Department decided to abandon the camp, would have been a costly undertaking. Most of the former owners are tenants and have long given up the idea of ever returning to their old farms, and many have purchased and are operating farms in other parts of the State.

Truth Triumphs
BELLEFONTE CITIZENS TESTIFY FOR THE PUBLIC BENEFIT.

A truthful statement of a Bellefonte citizen, given in his own words, should convince the most skeptical of the merits of Doan's Kidney Pills. If you suffer from backache, nervousness, sleeplessness, urinary disorders or any form of kidney ills, use a tested kidney medicine.

A Bellefonte citizen tells of Doan's Kidney Pills.

Could you demand more convincing proof of merit?

M. H. Daley, railroad man, 213 E. Lamb St., Bellefonte, says: "My back and kidneys were in a very serious condition, when I began taking Doan's Kidney Pills. They gave me great benefit and I was more than pleased with the results. I recommend Doan's Kidney Pills whenever I have an opportunity."

The Next Census.

The taking of the 1920 federal census will occupy the attention of the census bureau for some time to come and, already, the machinery has been started that will count Uncle Sam's sons and daughters early next year. The task will not be a small one for the reason that Uncle Sam wants to know more than the mere number of people in his realm.

In order to accomplish the task, a supervisor for each congressional district will be named and he will have a corps of assistants which means that thousands of men and women will be needed for several months to accomplish the task. This army of enumerators will likely be selected through the Civil Service commission. A list of twenty-one questions has been prepared which must be answered by the people of the country. When finally completed, the answers will furnish some interesting information and will doubtless show a remarkable growth during the past ten years.

Profit from One Pig, $587.

Ample proof that pig clubs pay is contained in reports being received continually by the United States Department of agriculture from club leaders. One report recently received tells of a Tennessee boy who, in May, 1918, invested $50 in a pure-bred gilt, and now figures his profits at $587.35. She farrowed seven pigs part of which he sold for $133. With this money he purchased a boar of excellent breeding which he exhibited at the East Tennessee Division Fair, winning the grand championship of the breed over all exhibitors. He won $87 in prizes, $45 of it in competition with experienced farmers. His animals are now valued at $625. This, with the money from sales and prize winnings, amounts to $745, from which he deducts $157.65 for feed and care, leaving a profit of $587.35.

INTERESTING STORY OF HIS RECOVERY.

"L. G. Johnson is my name and I live at Brookfield, Pa., R. F. D. Yes, I am a farmer, the most independent occupation on earth, but it takes good health back of it. I am going to tell you about some of my health problems, that is the ones I had. A year ago I had stomach, heart, kidney and liver trouble. I had been troubled for six long years and I had doctor after doctor. None, not even the best I could find, could help me, although they helped others. I took medicine after medicine, still I did not improve. My wife would have to rub my back before I could get out of bed mornings. With no appetite and falling away in weight I was miserable. It is now a year since I took Goldine; my wife no longer has to aid me to get up mornings. I eat good, and I sleep fine, in fact I feel just great. To top it all off I gained eighteen pounds. If any one wants Goldine is just let them tell me Goldine is no good."

Goldine is for sale by Green's Pharmacy.

Jane Addams, of Hull House, said at a mothers' meeting:

"How quaint the minds of children are! One New Year's day I gave a little girl a present of a diary.

"This is a diary," I explained to her. "Every day you must write in it a record of your life, a record of how you live."

"The little girl turned the blank pages of the book and said: "But why isn't it called a diary instead of a diary, ma'am?"—Pittsburgh Chronicle-Telegraph.
