

Democrat Watchman

Bellefonte Pa., April 11, 1919.

NEWS ABOUT TOWN AND COUNTY.

The Pennsylvania Legislature on Monday night made short work of Representative Powell's one dollar fish license bill, defeating it by a vote of 103 to 85.

The person who left a small pocketbook containing a small sum of money lay on the counter in Weaver Bros. store, Saturday night, can get same by calling for it.

George Lentz, of west High street, has joined the automobile enthusiasts of Bellefonte, and is now driving a new Oakland, it being Mr. Lentz's second car within a year.

Begin at once to clean up about your home, put everything in order and help make Bellefonte more attractive. Work until the week of the 5th of May, and that week work harder.

A recruiting station has been opened at Williamsport where any young man desirous of joining the army can do so. Married men and those under eighteen years of age will not be accepted.

The annual Easter sale of aprons, in connection with homemade bread, cakes and pies, will be held by the Aid society of the Reformed church, in Petrikin hall, all day Saturday, April 19th.

Mr. William McClellan suffered a bad attack of acute indigestion at his home on east Lamb street the latter part of last week and for a day or two his condition was quite serious, but he is now recovering quite rapidly and will soon be himself again.

G. Edward Haupt has practically closed a deal for the purchase of "Mapleshade," the old Shoemaker property along the state road, from Mr. J. M. Michaels. While the purchase price has not been definitely made public it is rumored to be $13,000. Mr. Haupt, it is stated, contemplates moving into the property and will likely move his store down there.

The old bakery in the Bush Arcade conducted several years ago by William Doll is being put in first-class shape for George Kelley, of Snow Shoe, who will open up there just as soon as he can get everything overhauled. The store room is being freshly painted and papered and the bakery in the basement will be put in a thoroughly sanitary condition. While the exact date of the opening of the bakery has not been announced it will probably be about the first of May.

Katherine Green, wife of Emanuel Green, and who has been head cook at the Bush house a number of years, was stricken with paralysis at the Bush house on Sunday afternoon. Her entire right side was paralyzed and at the time she lost all power of articulation. Since that time she has recovered her speech to that extent that she can make herself understood but the doctors give little hope of her permanent recovery. She is now undergoing treatment at the Bellefonte hospital.

The Bellefonte Cemetery association has secured the services of J. Edward Beck as superintendent of the Bellefonte Union cemetery, in place of W. D. Port, recently resigned. Mr. Beck is an industrious and energetic citizen and has had experience in farming and other lines of work in which he always proved a success and there is every reason to believe that he will make a most capable superintendent of the cemetery. In this connection it might be a wise plan for lot owners who desire Mr. Beck to take care of their lots to get in communication with him at once in order to give him time to get all lots in shape by Memorial day.

Contractor R. B. Taylor on Monday morning started work on the Willowbank portion of the state highway that he was compelled to quit work on last fall with the approach of cold weather. Considering the fact that all the heavy grading has been done and most of the brick on the ground the completion of the road should not take more than a month or six weeks. Of course the erection of a new bridge over Logan's branch will also take additional time. And while the street is being put in such excellent shape a new foot bridge over the race is an improvement also badly needed in that section. In fact the old one is now in a rather dangerous condition.

Quite a number of Bellefonte gardeners are complaining about the depredations of the night crawlers on their onion beds. Onions planted during the day will be found shovelled out of the ground the next morning and one enthusiastic gardener even asserts that the night crawlers pile his onions on a little heap. And they have persisted in doing it night after night. According to all information reaching this office the night crawlers are unusually plentiful and vigorous this spring. Whether the open winter in wormology has not been determined, but the big black-headed night crawlers are not only plentiful but exceptionally large. One Bellefonte gardener who was troubled with night crawlers several years ago used a mixture of salt and lime with very satisfactory results, but care will have to be exercised not to use the mixture strong enough to damage the onions. It is only when onions are newly planted that night crawlers interfere with them. Once they begin to take root they will not be disturbed.

HONOR THE SOLDIER BOYS.

Planning a Big Welcome for Centre County Soldiers.

In response to the call of sheriff George H. Yarnell about fifty representative citizens from Bellefonte, State College, Lemont and Milesburg met in the grand jury room at the court house on Tuesday evening and effected an organization for the purpose of arranging for a big public welcome home to Centre county's soldier boys. The officers elected are as follows:

President—Judge Henry C. Quigley.

Vice Presidents—W. Harrison Walker, of Bellefonte; J. L. Holmes, of State College; John W. Beals, of Philipsburg, and sheriff George H. Yarnell, of Bellefonte.

Secretary—W. T. Kelly.

Treasurer—J. Will Conley.

The president was empowered to appoint five men who, with the above seven officers, will constitute the executive committee, and this will compose the actual working staff of the organization. The executive committee was authorized to appoint all sub-committees, such as speakers, advertising, transportation, invitation, amusements, finance, etc. The executive committee will meet next Monday night and appoint the committees and arrange some of the details of the kind of a welcome to be given the soldiers.

Probably the most perplexing question to decide at this time in connection with the big welcome home is the date on which it will be given. And right here the "Watchman" wants to emphasize the fact that the big time is not to be for any one set or organization of soldiers that went out from Centre county, but for every man of them. Every soldier and sailor who went from Centre county will be invited and will stand on an equal footing, whether he was a member of old Troop L, Boal machine gun troop, the hospital corps, national army or volunteers in the regular army or navy.

The Twenty-eighth division is scheduled to arrive home in May sometime, and with it will come the members of old Troop L and Boal machine gun troop. The Seventy-ninth division is scheduled to return the first week in June, and with it are a large number of national army men from Centre county who trained at Camp Meade. Of course Centre county soldier boys are scattered through other organizations and it may be a year before some of them get home. And of course, the welcome home cannot be postponed until that time. The object now is to hold it as soon as possible after the big bulk of them have arrived and the only question is when that will be. And the naming of the time cannot be too long delayed, as the date is one of the prime factors.

The "Watchman" last week suggested the Fourth of July as a most opportune time, and in making the suggestion we merely had in mind the fact that quite a number of soldiers have already returned home, and with those in the Twenty-eighth and Seventy-ninth divisions scheduled to arrive home before that time it would probably mean that the biggest percent of the Centre county boys will be here. And then the Fourth of July has always been a date for celebrating in the hearts of all American people and this year we will all have greater cause to celebrate and what day more appropriate than the glorious Fourth. But the time as well as the nature of the welcome is now up to the people who will have it in charge and there is no doubt at all but that they will exercise the best judgment possible in selecting the date as well as arranging the program.

Another Aeroplane Sent Over Wilson Mail Route.

Entirely unheralded S. C. Ebersole, driving a modified DeHaviland Four aeroplane reached Bellefonte from New York on Tuesday afternoon about 2:30 o'clock. He landed on the aviation field and remained here two hours or more when he left for Cleveland, Ohio. While in Bellefonte Mr. Ebersole was unusually reticent as to the nature of his trip. In fact postmaster P. H. Gherity had not been notified of his coming and did not see him while here, so he has no information to give out.

Recently rumors have been in circulation that the United States post-office department would probably abandon for the present the inauguration of an aerial mail service between New York and Chicago, but such rumors lacked authentic confirmation. But the fact that there was no evidence of preparation at the Bellefonte field led to suspicion on the part of many Bellefonte people that there might be some foundation for the report in circulation.

But the trip through here on Tuesday of Mr. Ebersole has again revived a certain amount of interest and curiosity as to whether the service will be inaugurated or not. While the machine Mr. Ebersole was driving was a DeHaviland Four, it has been rebuilt and modified as to speed in alighting and starting and while that gentleman admitted that he was trying it out on the New York to Chicago route he had nothing to say as to the ultimate purpose of his trip. It is known, however, that he was timing his flight as both his arrival here and leaving time were forwarded to Washington promptly.

Dr. Charles Bush, of Philadelphia, is critically ill with pneumonia, at the Walters' sanitarium on Green street. Dr. Bush is well known in Centre county, having been born and raised in Patton township.

The beautiful and greatest emotional actress, Nazimova, in a 3-star picture, "Out of the Fog," Scenic, Monday and Tuesday. 15-1t

Professor Roscoe Huff, of Williamsport, has been engaged to direct The Pennsylvania State College glee club for the remainder of the collegiate year. Under his supervision the Penn State singers are preparing for a number of concerts to be given in May and June in several cities of this State. Arrangements have been made for concerts at Altoona, Lewistown, Sunbury and East Liberty, with additional dates under consideration.

Don't fail to see Nazimova in "Out of the Fog," at the Scenic theatre next Monday and Tuesday nights. The clever acting of this remarkable woman is worth coming miles to see. "Out of the Fog" is one of her best pictures and it will be shown two nights in order to give everybody an opportunity to see it. And this wonderful picture will be but the beginning of a week's big program, therefore you should not miss an evening if you don't want to miss good pictures.

About eleven o'clock on Saturday night a head-on collision occurred on the Nittany valley road about two hundred feet below Peck's store between a car driven by a young man named Keller, of Centre Hall, who was on his way to Lock Haven, and the big Emerick motor bus westward. The bus, carrying seven passengers, was turned clear over. Leslie Gordon, of Hecla Park, and Peter Lyon, an oversea soldier, of Bellefonte, were badly bruised but no bones broken. J. Linn Harris was on the bus but escaped injury as did the other passengers. So far as known no one in the Keller car was seriously injured.

There is considerable talk about the organization of a brass band in this community. More skilled musicians are now located here than for years and it would seem that the time for getting them together in a musical organization is most propitious. The Old Fellows, the Red Men and the Moose have bands in the making within their own organizations, but a big community band would in no wise interfere with them. It would be a consolidation of the best musicians of each with others who are not identified with any of these orders and is just what Bellefonte needs to fill the void that has been so noticeable since the disintegration of the Coleville band several years ago.

In his message to borough council on Monday evening burgess W. Harrison Walker called attention to the fact that there are already indications that tramps will be quite numerous this summer and he has instructed the police to see that Bellefonte does not become a safe abiding place for any of them. To this end he asks all residents of the town to promptly notify the police whenever a hobo makes his appearance and the ejection machinery will promptly be set in motion. In this connection councilman Richards stated that a hobo paid the town a visit the latter part of last week and visited several of the churches, which are invariably open to the public, but whether he took anything of value or not he could not say. But he did know that the same hobo was still in town on Monday afternoon, and he was in sympathy with any action that will keep those ne'er-do-wells out of Bellefonte; and so say all of us.

Last Thursday night was a bad night for wild geese. In fact wild geese were in the air, not only over Bellefonte but many of the surrounding towns in this and adjoining counties. Hundreds and thousands of the birds were enroute from their winter home in the south to their nesting places in the Thousand Islands, Maine and Canada. The night was not only cloudy but quite foggy and the geese evidently lost their bearing and when they saw the lights of Bellefonte became bewildered. At any rate they circled over the town all night long and their incessant honk-honk caused many a Bellefonter to pass a sleepless night. Along about 5:30 o'clock on Friday morning, when it had grown light enough for the geese to see, they rallied to the call of their leader and flying in a V-shape formation they swiftly away toward the north, their intermittent honk-honks at that time being more a note of satisfaction than a cry of alarm.

While in Bellefonte on a business trip on Monday Squire W. J. Carlin, of Rebersburg, made a brief call at the "Watchman" office. The Squire, by the way, has retired from the store business in that pretty Brush valley town, having sold his store in January to Mr. S. A. Bierly, though he assisted Mr. Bierly in conducting the store until the first of April. Squire Carlin was in the mercantile business in Rebersburg for a period of twenty-six years, the longest of any merchant in the history of the town. Before the big clothing store was opened in Millheim he handled men's clothing as well as a general line of goods and in those years did a big business for that locality. And here is a pointer for other business men. Mr. Carlin from the day he started in business until he sold out always discounted his bills and during the years he had the clothing trade of that locality his discounts would net him between three and four hundred dollars yearly. Now that he has retired from the store business Mr. Carlin will have a little more leisure to himself, although his work connected with the office of justice of the peace and other business interests will occupy most of his time.

Interesting Conference of Women's Clubs Held Here.

The county conference of Women's clubs held its annual meeting in the High school building on Saturday, April 5th. About sixty guests registered, and reports from the various clubs represented occupied the morning session. Miss Elizabeth Meek also gave an account of the work she is doing in the public schools in short talks to the children on "Health and Hygiene."

The box luncheon served at noon is always an agreeable feature of these meetings since it promotes the social side of the conference, and the coffee was provided in the domestic science rooms by the Bellefonte club, assisted by Miss Allison and some of her class in the High school.

Among the speakers were Miss Simmons, dean of women at State College; Miss Stratton, of the farm bureau; Dr. D. A. Anderson, head of education at Penn State; Prof. H. G. Parkinson, connected with the rural life department, and L. H. Denius, of the agricultural educational department at Harrisburg.

The central thought of the day's program was constructive along the lines of true Americanization, showing that the educational work must begin in the school, and giving a strong plea for better conditions and instruction in the "little red school house."

Representatives from various out of town clubs were in attendance as follows:

Unionville.—Mrs. James R. Holt, Mrs. George W. Holt, Mrs. S. W. Holt, Miss Ruth Parsons, Mrs. Jacob Fox, Mrs. Thomas McClellan, Mrs. Thomas Eckenroth, Mrs. Lizzie C. Hogan, Mrs. D. Buck, Mrs. H. P. Holzworth, Nannie Williams and Mrs. Owen Reed Fox.

Child Burned to Death in Fire Which Destroyed Barn.

Anna Vasaline, the three year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Mike Vasaline, who live on what is known as Rabbit Hill near the American Lime & Stone company plant, was burned to death in a fire which destroyed the small barn or stable on their premises about three o'clock on Wednesday afternoon. The little girl with her brother, about two years older than she, went into the barn to hunt for eggs. From the story told by the boy the girl had some matches with her and set fire to some straw in the barn. The flames spread rapidly and while the boy was able to get out he could not save his sister and her clothing caught fire and she was burned to death in the holocaust which destroyed the barn.

The Vasalines have been residents in that vicinity for about a year, Mr. Vasaline working for the American Lime & Stone company. In addition to the parents a number of brothers and sisters survive. Burial of the child's remains will be made in the Catholic cemetery this morning.

And just here the "Watchman" wants to add a word of caution to parents as to keeping matches within reach of children. Last week we published an account of a barn being burned at Lyontown, the result of a child playing with matches. In our Child Hall correspondence this week is an item regarding another barn being burned for the same reason, and now this fire in which the result was not only equally disastrous in the destruction of the barn but included the additional tragedy of the burning of the child. Therefore, keep the matches away from children.

Court Decree of Interest to Miles Township.

Judge Quigley handed down a decree last Saturday in the case of the poor overseers of Miles township vs. the poor overseers of Lamar township, Clinton county, a citation requiring the defendants to show cause why Adam Bethlehem, wife and three children, paupers, should not be supported by Lamar township, in which he dismissed the citation and entered a decree in favor of the defendants.

The case attracted considerable interest among Miles township residents. The Bethlehems at one time lived at Livonia, in Miles township, but about the year 1902 moved to Lamar township and made their home with relatives. They lived there until the death of one of the relatives when they were adjudged paupers and sent back to Miles township. Action was then brought by the Miles township overseers to legally locate the residence of the Bethlehems and in his decree the court stated that there was nothing in the evidence to show that the Bethlehems had gained a legal residence in Lamar township; that while they had lived there off and on during several years with relatives the records showed that Mr. Bethlehem had never paid any taxes in that township.

The graduating exercises of the nurses of the Bellefonte hospital will be held in the court house, Friday, April 25th, at 8:15 p. m. Mr. H. A. Davis, of Altoona, will deliver the commencement address. The public is cordially invited to attend the exercises.

On Sunday evening Miss Jean Brandman was out walking with a friend on the Nittany valley road. Just at the point in the road where the two young people happened to be two cars attempted to pass, Fred Craft coming toward Bellefonte and a car driven by Mr. Claster going toward Lock Haven. Mr. Claster turned out too far and whether his car skidded or not has not been divulged, but at any rate it hit Miss Brandman, tearing her clothing badly, running over one foot and knocking her down, badly bruising her on the face and body. As soon as Mr. Claster realized what had happened he stopped his car, turned around and conveyed Miss Brandman home. While no bones are broken she is unable to walk around the house without assistance and will be confined to the house for some days.

Optimism is the Secret of Success. With Some It's a Gift. Others Have to Cultivate It.

Of course you know that a pessimist can only see the hole in a doughnut and the optimist sees the ring around the hole. It is claimed by scientists who have examined many subjects that eighty-seven per cent. of all pessimists suffer from hyperopia, myopia or astigmatism. You may have eyestrain and not know it. Better consult CASEBEER (registered optometrist) at his store in the Brockerhoff House block. He will help you to see the whole doughnut. 64-15
