At their rummage sale on Saturday afternoon the Ladies Auxiliary of the Bellefonte hospital cleared about $290, and were sold out before supper.

Don't overlook the fact that this is the evening for the Academy dance in the Bush Arcade as a fitting windup for the two nights of minstrelsy entertainment. Good music is assured and the public is invited.

The Olive Branch chapel at Coleville will hold a poverty social on Tuesday evening, May 27th. A cordial invitation is extended to the public to attend. Eats and amusements provided.

The best baseball game of the season will take place on Hughes field tomorrow afternoon at three o'clock, between the Susquehanna University team and the Bellefonte Academy nine. Admission 25 cents. Don't miss this game, as it will be a hummer.

The Lyric theatre is offering a collection of especially good programs for every evening next week. To get the full benefit of the splendid pictures to be shown there you should see them all, as they are worth it. When the Lyric says they are big, they are big, and just as good as big.

John Derstine, a sailor on the Leviathan, who was arrested in Bellefonte early in April on the charge of desertion when he came home without leave to get married, and was later sentenced to imprisonment of four months in the guard house without pay was released last Thursday and allowed to return to duty on his ship.

The Abrams Engineering company is distributing very handsome little souvenirs of their patented straightening machines in the shape of a very substantial circular mirror. The "Watchman" is under obligations for one of them left at this office yesterday and now we will be able to view ourselves as others see us.

Landlord H. S. Ray, of the Brockerhoff house, who has not been in good health for some time past, was taken to a private sanatorium near Hollidaysburg on Monday for treatment. During his enforced absence M. A. Laundy and William Burnside will assist Mrs. Ray in looking after the welfare of the guests at the Brockerhoff house.

If you are a lover of motion pictures try the Scenic. The programs at this popular motion picture show are so large and varied that the most critical and exacting can see something of interest every evening. In fact the Scenic shows pictures that cannot be seen anywhere else in Bellefonte and that's the reason you should attend regularly.

Another meeting of the executive committee of the welcome home week association will be held in the grand jury room in the court house next Monday evening at 7:30 o'clock. Inasmuch as the celebration is only a little over a month away, and considerable hard work remains to be done to make it the success we all want to see, a full turnout of the committee should be on hand Monday evening.

Patsy Medo, alias Patsy Mita, an Italian of Fayette county, was electrocuted at the Rockview penitentiary on Monday morning for killing a fellow-countryman in a drunken brawl at Dawson less than a year ago. Medo was taken to the chair at 7:06 o'clock and after eight contacts was pronounced dead by Dr. W. Ficker at 7:14. The remains were unclaimed and were buried in the penitentiary cemetery.

Fifty dozen heads of lettuce were furnished Bellefonte produce dealers on Wednesday from the penitentiary farms, one dealer taking half of it. The above constituted the surplus over what the penitentiary could possibly use and the quantity shipped to Pittsburgh for use in the penitentiary there. But the lettuce crop on the penitentiary farms is nothing compared to what the onion crop should be, as considerably over one hundred bushels of onion sets were put in the ground.

Whether the Bolsheviks or the I. W. W. will exercise the greater power when the present labor problem is brought to a finale, has been aired by local lights at the Brant house within the past fortnight. If the contestants were really in sympathy with the two followings, there would have been a daily foot race after each discussion. The judges in the debate, gave as their unbiased opinion, that no argument was presented that could be tolerated, and that when the present chaotic labor situation was cleared away, every Bolshevik and I. W. W. would be doing duty with the ex-Kaiser on St. Helena.

Foster V. Jodon, of Spring township, was painfully injured one day last week when he was thrown from a wagon in which he was standing. Mr. Jodon had climbed on the wagon with several other men to go to work on the road. They were all standing up when the team of horses gave a sudden lurch forward, Mr. Jodon lost his balance and fell out of the rear end of the wagon, striking the rear end of the coupling pole on the left side of the small of his back. While no bones were broken and there are no indications of internal injuries, his back has been so painful since that he can hardly move.

THE WILLOWBANK ST. BRIDGE

Cause of Brief but Exciting Session of Borough Council.

Never before was Bellefonte borough council left in the predicament it suddenly and unexpectedly found itself on Monday evening. After waiting almost half an hour for the appearance of the fifth member of council in order to get a quorum the session broke up in a wordy wrangle when one member left the room and that left council without a quorum to transact any other business, approve the bills or even adjourn legally. The trouble was over the rebuilding of the Willowbank street bridge, an undertaking which has been hanging fire now for a year or more.

At various previous meetings of council when the question of rebuilding the bridge was brought up for discussion, the matter was invariably referred to the Street committee to get estimates of cost, etc. The bridge is to be built jointly by the borough and county and Hard P. Harris, chairman of the Street committee of borough council, has had frequent consultations with the County Commissioners regarding the character of the bridge to be built, and both the Commissioners and Mr. Harris have interviewed contractors with regard to the cost of the work, but as contractors these days are too wily to pin themselves down to definite figures it is impossible to determine just the nature of the covering to put on the bridge or the cost thereof.

There does seem to be, however, a unanimity of opinion that steel I beams should be used to hold up the surface of the bridge instead of wooden beams, which last at the best only a few years, and Horatio Moore gave exact figures at which he will furnish such beams, namely, $574. Harry Bilger, of Pleasant Gap, furnished figures on the cost of creosoted blocks for the covering, which will amount to about $975, not counting his commission of five per cent. and the cost of putting the blocks on the bridge. In addition to the above Mr. Harris stated that highway superintendent Stackpole had suggested a covering of oak 2x4's set on edge and spiked together as being very substantial and durable, but as yet he had been unable to get an estimate of the cost of such a covering.

Mr. Harris asked that some definite action be taken toward getting the work of rebuilding started if nothing more than to authorize the placing of the order for the steel I beams, as it will take some time to make them. President Walker advocated getting something more definite as to the total cost of rebuilding the bridge and was averse to giving any definite authorization at that time. In fact he referred the matter to the Special committee when Mr. Harris arose and stated that unless some definite action was taken at once he would have nothing more to do with the bridge building; that he was pestered day and night in regard to it, and he wanted to do something or quit. When president Walker attempted to persuade him to wait until the next meeting night to take definite action Mr. Harris took his hat, told council he was through and that they could build their old bridge to suit themselves then left the council chamber, which naturally left council without a quorum to transact any farther business, or as stated above, adjourn legally. In this dilemma president Walker instructed the secretary that inasmuch as he had referred the bridge matter to the Special committee when there was a quorum present that fact should be allowed to go on the minutes and the Special committee could get busy on the bridge; and inasmuch as that committee consists of five members of council any action it takes can be affirmed at the next regular meeting of council.

As council was then in a position in which they could not transact any further business or even adjourn, the members just "quilted" and went home. When council convened Edmund Blanchard, chairman of the Amusement committee for the welcome home celebration, appeared in regard to permission to have the Sam Spencer carnival here during that week, and also asked that all the revenues from concessions, etc., be given to the welcome home association. After some discussion on the question council passed a resolution granting Mr. Blanchard's committee the right to bring the carnival to Bellefonte and also the right to all moneys received from concessions, the placing of the shows, concessions, etc., to be under the supervision of the chief burgess, Street and Fire and Police committees.

Burgess Walker submitted a brief report to council calling attention to the fact that so far very few of the bad pavements that he had called attention to in previous reports have been repaired and it is a matter that should be promptly looked after. It was just at this juncture in the proceedings that the bridge question was brought up which ended as told above.

W. S. S. News.

Billie Rhodes at the Lyric Thursday in "Girl of My Dreams." 21-1t

Dryant Washburn, at the Lyric, Monday.

Nazimova, the distinguished Russian star, in her newest super-feature, "The Red Lantern," will be the attraction at the Pastime theatre, State College, on the 30th and 31st of May. In this play of startling and remarkable happenings all the mysticisms and gorgeousness of the vivid past are woven into a powerful and fascinating drama. The lure of the purple forbidden city, the customs and superstitions of oriental China, together with a touch of magic, bring romance to life. The attire worn by the star cost a fortune and add much to the fascination and extravagance of the production.

Don't miss "A Dress Rehearsal" a musical comedy to be given by the members of the Patriotic League on Thursday of next week, May 29th, in the High school auditorium. The curtain will go up promptly at 8:15 o'clock. The proceeds will go for the benefit of post war work for women. The girls need your support and therefore ask you to do your bit. Admission will be 35 cents. As all members taking part have been working hard to make the play a success they will appreciate a good turnout. A dance in the hall of the public building on Howard street will follow the play, to which the public generally is invited. A small admission of 25 cents will be charged to the dance.

You will be welcome every day of our Jello demonstration, all next week at Weaver Bros. 21-1t

Red Cross Baseball League.

The South and West ward teams of the Red Cross baseball league had a battle royal last Friday evening, the former finally winning by the score of 6 to 5. From the size of the crowd present it is evident that considerable interest has already been awakened in the series, and if Bellefonte wants to see a continuation of good, clean sport in this line, all that is necessary is to patronize the games with a liberality that will indicate to the players that you are with them.

But it does seem as if old Jupiter Pluvius is interfering a lot with the schedule when Milesburg is down for a game. Rain spoiled the official opening of the league and again interfered on Tuesday evening when the North ward and Milesburg were to have crossed bats, but perhaps the fans will have an opportunity tonight to size up the unknown quantity when the West ward and Milesburg meet in conflict. Go out and see the game as there is every reason to believe it will be worth watching.

Watch for "Mickey." 21-1t

Living in the North ward at the present time is a lady who is in her eightieth year and she feels confident that she learned something on Sunday that she never knew before, and we might also add that it is something that probably few if any persons know, and that is that birds observe Sunday. It seems that on Saturday the lady in question was much interested in watching two robins gather material for a nest, the birds working like beavers all day. On Sunday morning she happened to think of the robins and looked for them, but they could not be seen. The more she looked the more curious she became to know what had happened to them and she made it a point to watch for them at various times during the day, but all to no purpose for the robins didn't appear. In the evening she told her story to other members of the family and expressed her belief that the birds were observing the Sabbath day as the reason that they were not at work. Of course it sounded rather skeptical but the other members of the family agreed to wait until Monday morning and see if the birds would be at work again, and when that time came both the robins were not only seen by every member of the family but the nest, fast nearing completion, was also located. All of which looks as if birds know and observe Sunday, but how the deuce they keep track of it is a question we submit to birdologists.

That Special Policeman.

Bellefonte automobilists may not know it, but the day of reckoning is coming and some people will have to settle. That special policeman, imported solely as a traffic regulator, has been in Bellefonte and on the job for some days and it is intimated that already has turned in quite a list of numbers of license tags on cars that exceeded the speed limits in Bellefonte.

Various machine owners, drivers, etc., have tried hard to "spot" the traffic cop, but it is stated on reliable authority that so far he has been as elusive as the Irishman's flea. On the supposition that they had the right man several Bellefonters last week royally entertained a stranger at one of the clubs in Bellefonte and while he wouldn't admit that he was the cop he was careful not to deny it, either, and the result was he had an extremely pleasant evening, it is said, at the expense of the Bellefonters. It later developed that the real cop does not even know there is such a club in Bellefonte.

That the man is pretty safely camouflaged and is attending strictly to his business seems to be a fact, and just how long he will remain in Bellefonte is uncertain. But there don't seem to be any uncertainty about his doing his work well, and that is the reason there is liable to be a general awakening when the roll of offenders is called.

BIG MERGER OF BRICK CO'S.

Eastern Refractories Company Organized with Headquarters in Bellefonte.

Official announcement was made on Wednesday of the organization of the Eastern Refractories company by the merging of five big brick concerns under one management with headquarters in Bellefonte. The companies included in the merger are the Centre Brick and Clay company, of Orviston; the Snow Shoe Fire Brick company, Snow Shoe; the Superior Silica Brick company, Port Matilda; the McKean Fire Clay company, and the Big Level Land and Clay companies, of Mt. Jewett. The officers of the new refractories company are as follows:

President, James F. Stott, Philadelphia; vice president and chairman of board of directors, Ellis L. Orvis; secretary and treasurer, Ives L. Harvey; assistant secretary and treasurer, Jay E. LaBarre; general manager, J. Ellis Harvey, all of Bellefonte; assistant general manager, Ambrose M. Sloteman, Lock Haven; sales manager, J. E. Morgan, 458 Commercial trust building, Philadelphia; assistant sales managers, W. H. Kelly and J. W. Dowling, 1214 Bessemer building, Pittsburgh.

The first six of the above officers have been identified with the fire brick business for some time and are well known in this community. Mr. J. E. Morgan has been with the Harbison-Walker Refractories company for about sixteen years and has been their eastern sales manager for about eight years. Mr. W. H. Kelly was formerly in charge of fire brick with the Bethlehem Steel company but for the last eight years has been in the sales department of the Harbison-Walker Refractories company. He is an expert on refractories. Mr. J. W. Dowling has been connected with the Harbison-Walker Refractories company in the sales department for many years.

With this organization of experienced men, with the most up-to-date plants in the country and a practically inexhaustible supply of raw material this new company will no doubt soon be one of the leading companies in the fire brick industries. It is proposed to enlarge the plants the company now owns and also build one or two new plants very soon.

Work of Woman's Committee in Victory Loan Drive.

As published in last week's "Watchman" the recent Victory loan drive in Centre county went over the top by a margin of $35,650. The county's quota was $820,700, and the amount sold was $856,350. The Woman's committee had active workers in twenty-seven districts in the county. The quota for the twenty-seven districts was $745,700 and the Woman's committee was responsible for the sale of $310,200 worth of Victory loan bonds in that territory, according to the following statement from Mrs. Robert Mills Beaman, chairman:

Table with 5 columns: District, Bonds Sold, Sub., Amt., Quota. Rows include Bellefonte, Centre Hall, Howard, Millheim, Snow Shoe, State College, Unionville, Sny Lehigh, Bonner, Boggs, Snow Shoe, Curtin, Ferguson, Halves, Halfmoon, Harris, Sny Lehigh, Liberty, Miles, Penn, Spring, Union, Walker, Totals.

In Miles and Walker townships the districts were divided between the three voting precincts. The Woman's committee in these precincts raised their share of the quota as follows:

Table with 2 columns: Township, Amount. Rows include Miles Township (1150-9200) and Walker Township (5050-6225).

The Academy Minstrels.

Did you see the Academy minstrels last night? If not, get your seats reserved early for tonight. Chart open at Parrish's.

Don't miss the beautiful singing of Miss Ruth Hughes and Miss Beulah Harkness, of Mansfield. It is worth the price of admission to see Miss Harkness put on her charming Spanish dance.

John Flannigan, of State College, gives the most clever exhibition of fancy dancing ever presented on at Bellefonte stage.

The music and the jokes are right up to date.

The Academy orchestra furnishes delightful music.

Finally, the minstrels are given for the benefit of the Bellefonte hospital, and by patronizing them you will give that institution a boost in helping to pay for some much needed apparatus.

Aviation News.

On Monday pilot G. G. Budwig brought another machine to Bellefonte from New York. Did you see "Don't Change Your Husband?" Well, "For Better or for Worse," the latest Cecil B. DeMille production, is just twice as good. At the Lyric Wednesday, 21-1t

Centre County Assured of Permanent Highways.

While in Harrisburg last week a well known Bellefonte business man called at the State Highway Department and had quite a talk with Highway Commissioner Sadler and chief engineer Uhler regarding the present and proposed highways in Centre county. Commissioner Sadler told the gentleman that while there are probably stretches of highway in Centre county that should have been given attention before the road between Bellefonte and Pleasant Gap, as that is always in a pretty fair condition, the Department was compelled to do its work this year on surveys that had already been made and the plans and specifications for which were already on hand. Such was the case with the road from Bellefonte to Pleasant Gap, and if it hadn't been taken up in its regular order it would probably be three years before it would have been reached again.

Another piece of road that will be built this summer in Centre county and for which bids will soon be asked is a section near Gum Stump on the road to Snow Shoe. It is just possible the road from Centre Hall to Potters Mills will also be built this year. In the meantime surveys and plans will be made this year for the road over Nittany mountain from Pleasant Gap to Centre Hall, and over the Seven mountains from Potters Mills to Milroy, with a view of building them next year. A survey will also be made from Milesburg to Unionville and this stretch will also be built next year, with the future plan of completing the road through to Tyrone in 1921.

This is among the important work now contemplated for Centre county by the Highway Department, though of course, it may not be confined to the highway. In any event Commissioner Sadler gave assurance that within the next four years all of the important highways of Centre county which have been taken over by the State will be rebuilt into permanent roadways.

Salvation Army Drive Now On.

The Salvation Army drive to raise $13,000,000 is now almost over and what has Centre county done towards raising its $7,000 portion of it? Over in Philadelphia they raised $700 of their $3,000 allotment the first few hours of the campaign and they have given assurance of easily raising their full amount. The allotment for the Centre county district outside of Philadelphia is $4,000, and up to yesterday morning the committee in charge of the campaign were unable to give any figures as to what has been done in this district. They have been hard at work, however, and have every hope that the allotment will be fully met.

And just here the "Watchman" wants to add to the hope of the committee that everybody in Centre county will do their part. Nothing but good has been heard of the work of the Salvation Army in France. If a soldier boy was sick or needed attention in any way the Salvation Army gave it to him promptly without any inquiry as to his antecedents, finances, rank or standing in the army. If he was hungry for a smoke or something to eat, the Salvation Army supplied him, whether he had any money or not. Such is the organization that you are now asked to support and there should be no holding back.
