

Soldiers Club House Suggested.

As a suggestion for a memorial that will be at once useful as well as valuable, and can be put in shape for a moderate sum of money, would be the purchase of one of the old dwellings in the town, centrally located, and make of it a soldier's club house and meeting place for all patriotic organizations. In connection therewith a suitable building could be erected as a historical museum and library in which to house relics of the great world war and as a place to preserve anything of historical value in connection with former wars or the history of Centre county. Many such interesting relics are now owned by private individuals in the county, who would no doubt willingly give them to some such museum as above suggested.

In connection with the museum should be started a county library, and as such it is probable that contributions towards its support could be obtained from the county and borough. Under the present laws state and county appropriations are available for expenses for county historical societies and as the Centre county organization could then have its headquarters in the museum and such moneys as could be thus obtained could be used for its support. The present Legislature has passed an act permitting counties to contribute to the support of soldier's club houses, and Centre county authorities would doubtless assist any such project started here. It would undoubtedly be a commendable move, be of material benefit and grow more valuable with each passing year.

There are many citizens in the county who would without doubt gladly contribute relics and books of value on Centre county history and a fine collection ought to be easily and quickly gathered. It is also reasonable to suppose that the public generally would be more willing to contribute money for the purchase and fitting up of such a place than for the erection of a mere monument of granite. Now is the time to make a start on some such project and it is to be hoped that the patriotic citizens of Centre county will give the matter the careful consideration it deserves. Prompt action is always the best and any suggestions along this line should be welcomed by everybody.

A Citizen Who is Interested.

On Wednesday two airplanes bearing two pilots each left New York at noon for Bellefonte. One reached here but the other one was compelled to come down in the neighborhood of Hollidaysburg owing to running out of oil and gas. The pilot came down in a wheat field and after filling up with gas and oil he attempted to start and broke a propeller. Mechanics were sent up yesterday to repair the plane and bring it to Bellefonte. The pilots that reached Bellefonte went out to Cleveland by train and will bring two machines east to Bellefonte today.

Frank Auman, John and Brode Steiger, Russell Auman, Frank Dinges and Calvin Confer, six residents of Penn township, have been arrested on warrants sworn out by George H. Wert, chief fire warden of Pennsylvania, charging them with refusal to respond to a summons of L. M. Deitz, state forester at Coburn, to help fight a forest fire in that section on April 19th. The men have given bail for their appearance for trial at court and as this is the first such case known in the State it will no doubt be followed with considerable interest.

McCalmont & Co. have moved their offices from their old location near the glass works meadow to the depot building of the old Central Railroad of Pennsylvania on north Water street, which they purchased some time ago. While they haven't as yet got everything ship-shape they are gradually putting things in order and in the course of a few weeks will have one of the best and most convenient suites of offices in Bellefonte.

America vs. a Mandatory.

From the New York World.
The possibility that by the treaty of peace the United States, a Nation highly interested in peace, may be called upon to act as a mandatory for some backward or at present helpless people is filling many honest men with alarm. It is to be frankly admitted that the European envies and intrigues at the Peace Conference have naturally tended to transform what would have been a happy mission into a disturbing but unshirkable duty. We must not forget that it was the wrongs inflicted upon backward or incapable peoples that brought on the world war, which finally compelled this country to put millions of men under arms and to spend billions of dollars in behalf of peace.

Such mandates as are now proposed are in place of the old imperialistic practice of annexations, and so are exactly in line with the enlightened American idea that weak nations should be assisted rather than enslaved and exploited. A conqueror regardless of his conquests is a trustee serving on honor, without expectation of profit except as humanity in general shall be promoted by benevolent supervision of his wards.

So far as the United States is concerned, the novelty in what is now proposed is that we may be asked to assume responsibilities in the other hemisphere, where the blood of tens of thousands of our soldiers has sealed our devotion to a greater cause. We have been the mandatory of the Dominican Republic since 1907. With our armed forces we have been the mandatory of Nicaragua since 1911. By solemn treaty engagements we guarantee the independence of Cuba and Panama, not by name exactly as a mandatory, although it amounts to that. In pursuance of our own pledges and acts, we shall presently become the mandatory of the Philippines. The more distasteful to us a mandate in the other hemisphere may be, the more honor there may be in accepting it.

We fought in this war for peace. There will be no peace so long as weak peoples are left to the savagery of their own rival desperadoes or betrayed by them into the hands of militarists and empire-builders. Few nations are so well fitted as the United States to accept the role of mandatory. Our motives are not questioned anywhere, and a duty is not to be avoided merely because it seems disagreeable.
