Lenox, Mass., Aug. 11.-Andrew Carnegie, eighty-three years old, the steel magnate and philanthropist, died at his Lenox summer home, "Shadowbrook," at 7:10 this morning, after an illness of less than three days with bronchial pneumonia. So sudden was his death that his daughter, Mrs. Roswell Miller, was unable to get to has given away over three hundred her father's bedside before he died. million dollars he died possessed of His wife and private secretary were with him at the end.

Mr. Carnegie had spent most of the summer in Lenox, coming here late in May and up to a few weeks ago enjoyed himself in almost daily fishing trips on Lake Mahkeenac, which borders his big Shadowbrook estate, and in riding about his grounds. He was taken ill Friday night and grew steadily worse. His advanced age and lessened powers of resistance hastened the end

Mr. Carnegie leaves his wife, who was Miss Louise Whitefield, of New York, and his daughter Margaret, who married last April Ensign Roswell Miller, of New York.

Although Mr. Carnegie had been an invalid since 1917, when he suffered an attack of grippe, the news of his death was a shock to old friends and former business associates here. Since his previous serious illness he had been under the care of two nurses.

Identified so long with the international peace movement, Mr. Carnegie was said to have been more severely affected by the world war than most men. It came as a hard blow to him and the cause which he had so close at heart.

Owing to his ill health Mr. Carnegie for some time had led a secluded life, and his withdrawal from all public activities gave rise to frequent statements concerning his health. After his retirement he was compelled to limit the number of his daily visitors, and until his last illness he met and spoke to only a few of his oldest and closest friends. His physician decided he frequently overtaxed his strength by seeing all callers at his Fifth avenue home here.

Two years ago Mr. Carnegie found a refuge at "Shadowbrook," his new summer home at Lenox, which he purchased from the estate of Anson Phelps Stokes. Previously he had spent his vacations at Skibo Castle, at Dumfermline in Scotland. When he purchased the property it was announced that neither he nor any member of his family probably would ever again visit Skibo because of changes, physical and sentimental, caused the war. Mrs. Miller was at her home in Milbank, N. Y., when word came of her father's approaching death. She hurried to Lenox but did not arrive until a few minutes after her father died.

Although Mr. Carnegie was taken ill Friday, it was not until early today that his condition took a critical turn. On Saturday it was said that he was suffering from a severe cold, but it was no different, apparently, from other attacks he had endured, and so no fear was entertained that it would prove fatal. It was announced that he was remaining indoors under the care of the nurses who had been in attendance on him most of the time since he came to Shadowbrook.

The marriage of Mr. Carnegie's only daughter, Margaret, on April 23, to Ensign Roswell Miller, U. S. N., was the last social affair the aged was the last social affair the aged philanthropist and peace advocate attended. The bridegroom, son of a former president of the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul railroad, who died in 1913, had not completed his college course when war was declared. In 1916 he left Stevens institute ed. In 1916 he left Stevens institute in Hoboken, where he was taking a course in civil engineering to drive an ambulance in France, and when the United States became involved he en-

United States became involved he entered the navy as an ensign.

It was said at the time of the wedding that after the honeymoon Mr. Miller and his bride would go to Princeton, N. J., where he would complete his studies before entering upon a professional career. The former Miss Carnegie, heiress to her father's millions is twenty-two years old. Her millions, is twenty-two years old. Her husband is two years her senior.

Mr. Carnegie at the time of his death was the holder of numerous honors and decorations bestowed on him by rulers and people all over the world. He received as a result of his benefactions abroad the freedom of fifty-four cities in Great Britain and Ireland. Altogether he endowed 3,000 municipal libraries in the United States, in addition to his other numerous philanthropic enterprises.

During his life Mr. Carnegie gave away over $300,000,000 in diversified beneficences that are now proving and will continue to prove until the end of

A Good Friend

A good friend stands by you when in need. Bellefonte people tell how Doan's Kidney Pills have stood the test. Mrs. J. C. Johnson, of 3563 Bishop St., endorsed Doan's eleven years ago and again confirms the story. Could you ask for more convincing testimony?

"I can't say too much for Doan's Kidney Pills," says Mrs. Johnson. "They are the best remedy I have ever used for backache and weak kidneys. I was a great sufferer, I could hardly I was a great sufferer, I could hardly straighten up or get around the house. I had dizzy spells and would nearly fall over. My kidneys acted very irregularly. A member of my family had used Doan's Kidney Pills and on his advice, I got a box from the Green Pharmacy Co. They did more good than anything I ever me more good than anything I ever used. The backaches and pains soon left, my kidneys became normal and now I am enjoying good health. Doan's certainly cured me and I highly recommend them to anyone having backache or kidney trouble."

Mrs. Johnson gave the above statement October 21, 1907, and on October 18, 1918, she added: "I am very glad to confirm my former endorse-ment of Doan's Kidney Pills. No one knows better than I what a wonderful benefit they have been to me, for they cured me of a serious kidney trouble."

Why Corn Has "Silks."

A potato Hill man, who is sixty-one years old, never knew until this summer that for every grain on an ear of corn there is a silk running out to the end, to light and moisture. These silks run back under the husk; one is attached to each grain on the cob, and nourishes it. Everything in nature is more wonderful than any invented story.—Atchison Globe.
