Crissman, of Company A, 110th military police, had been killed in France while in the discharge of his military duty, and that he was a brave and gallant soldier.

—Last week the "Watchman" took from the Altoona Tribune an announcement of the "recent" marriage of Clyde L. Brady, of that city, and Miss Vida Davis, of Bellefonte. This week the young lady called at this office and objected to the word "recent" in the notice because, she averred, they had been married two years or more ago, and we gladly make this explanation.

—Col. Emanuel Noll, who only recently returned from a month's trip to Detroit, Mich., to visit his daughter, Mrs. Chaney F. York, suffered quite a serious attack of acute indigestion on the street last Friday morning and had to be taken home in a taxi. He was quite sick for some hours but was much better on Saturday and by the beginning of the week was able to be around as usual.

—Two score or more laborers arrived in Bellefonte on Monday to work on the state road between Bellefonte and Pleasant Gap, and the Gaylord International Engineering and Construction company, who are building the road, have asked the employment bureau in Altoona to furnish them fifty more laborers. The main entrance will be through large double doors, one to swing in and the other outwards.

—Last Friday noon George Ross Parker, son of conductor and Mrs. G. Ross Parker, was taking his father's dinner to him at the scales office at Coleville just at the time when Dr. John Sebring was on his way to Bellefonte from visiting a patient. Just as they were in the act of passing each other something happened to the steering gear of the doctor's car and it turned off the roadway and ran up the bank to where the boy was walking, bumping him quite hard on the right leg. Though considerably bruised no bones were broken. The injury kept the lad in bed a day or two, however.

—Deemer Pearce, of State College, sealer of weights and measures for Centre county, was in town last Friday and going to the green grocery store of Guy Bonfatio, in the Bush Arcade, purchased a peck of potatoes. Going from there to another store he weighed the package and it tipped the scales at just 13 1/2 pounds, which was short of the required weight. He made information against Bonfatio before Squire Woodring and the produce dealer paid the fine of ten dollars and costs amounting to about six dollars, at the same time maintaining that whatever mistake there was in the sale made to Mr. Pearce was an error through oversight, and not done intentionally as he makes it a point to keep his scales correct and give good weight.

TAKEN TO PENITENTIARY.
Refused Right of Appeal to Supreme Court the Grays Must Serve Sentence.

Irvin G. Gray and two sons, Clyde and George were taken to the western penitentiary on Monday morning and one of the last things Mr. Gray Sr. did before leaving Bellefonte was send a note to the "Watchman" requesting the paper sent him in Pittsburgh and also a copy sent his aged father. He also maintained innocence of the crime of which he and his two sons had been convicted and expressed the hope that the truth would become known some day.

The Grays were arrested in September, 1918, for the alleged theft and butchering of cattle belonging to other parties, the latter part of July. Three separate indictments were brought against them and they were tried at the December term of court on the three cases, each resulting in a conviction. They immediately applied for new trials but in due time the applications were refused and the court sentenced Irvin G. Gray to serve not less than two years nor more than two years and six months in the western penitentiary on each case, or a total of from six to seven and a half years; while Clyde and George were sentenced to serve not less than two years and six months nor more than three years on each case in the penitentiary, a total of from seven and a half to nine years.

An appeal was promptly taken to the Superior court and the case was argued at Pittsburgh on May 6th. After a careful consideration of the testimony in the case the Superior court refused to order new trials. Last week an appeal was made for permission to carry the cases to the Supreme court but on Friday the papers were received in which the appeal was denied in the cases of Clyde and George Gray and also in case No. 108 against Irvin G. Gray while in cases Nos. 104 and 106 remittiturs were returned granting Irvin G. Gray the right of appeal on the first assignment of error only, which was that in charging the jury "the court below erred in stating that Irvin G. Gray could be convicted as an accessory after the fact."

Following close upon the denial of the right of appeal to the Superior court commitments to the penitentiary were issued by the clerk of the court of Centre county in the three cases against Clyde and George Gray and in case No. 108 against Irvin G. Gray and the same placed in the hands of Sheriff George H. Yarnell, and on Monday morning that official, accompanied by Milton Kern and Orin Kline, took the three men to Pittsburgh. Whether the attorneys for Irvin G. Gray will exercise the right granted the defendant by the Superior court to appeal cases No. 104 and 106 to the Supreme court has not yet been determined.

IRVIN GRAY'S FAREWELL STATEMENT.

While waiting for the arrival of the train to take them to Pittsburgh Irvin G. Gray prepared the following statement which he sent to the "Watchman" office with the request that it be published:

"We are now ready to take our trip to Pittsburgh. We have been judged guilty by the court here, but there is a much higher court, the great Supreme Being, God Almighty, who knows all things and knows we are innocent which is a wonderful consolation to us at this time.

We have been robbed of our homes on earth but they cannot take away from us our hope of homes in Heaven. This world holds out inducements for a little while, but they are not lasting like the love of God and a home with Him will be everlasting.

I feel sure that our enemies would not like to have been tried as we were. We have been silent up to this time and the brutal treatment we have received no one but God and ourselves know. I never had a fair trial. I was given no time to prepare a defense for a suit like ours. They went to Clyde Gray's home, where there was no one but his wife and three small children, not even clothed with a warrant, and with base lies shook their fists under her nose, time after time, and with threats that they would take her to jail, compelled her to sign the paper they wrote which they later claimed was Clyde Gray's confession. Why did they never publish her dying confession? They had good reasons. They may escape the courts of this world, but God says "Vengeance is Mine," so it is comforting to know that He will render the final decision in all of our cases.

Signed, IRVIN G. GRAY.

Committed to Glen Mills School.

John Emel, the fourteen year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Augustus Emel, of Beaver street, was taken to the Glen Mills school on Wednesday by sheriff George M. Yarnell and wife on a charge of robbing the Variety shop, and while no man or woman can condone his offenses, and there were a number of them, there is no question but what the family is entitled to some sympathy.

Young Emel is only fourteen years old but he has been guilty of stealing money on various occasions. Some time ago he broke into the Variety shop and stole a sum of money. He was caught shortly afterwards and after a hearing in juvenile court was paroled in the custody of his father on his promise to do better in the future. Last Friday he did some work at the home of John Bullock who gave him a half dollar. In the evening he rode down town on his bicycle, went to the Kelley bakery and ordered a quart of ice cream, paying for it in advance. The lady clerk put the money in the cash register then went back into the kitchen to get the cream.

When she put the money into the register the boy evidently noticed that there was no bell on the register and while she was out of the room he opened the register and took therefrom $25.00. When he was given his ice cream he left the store and his theft was not discovered for some minutes thereafter. The matter was promptly reported to the police and Saturday morning officer Dukeman tracked the robbery to young Emel and succeeded in recovering all but one dollar of the money. The boy was arrested and later committed to Glen Mills on the charge on which he had previously been paroled.

The persistency with which the boy has indulged his passion for stealing leads to the belief that he is a kleptomaniac. He had a comfortable home; was always well clothed and had plenty to eat. Ignorance cannot be assigned as the reason, as he had completed the work in the grade schools and would have entered the Bellefonte High school at the opening of the session next month. He sang in a church choir and was a member of a boy's band, while he was also quite adept on the violin. But with all his ability he could not resist the temptation to steal and it is to be hoped that the two or three years he will spend at the Glen Mills school will eradicate this disease from his mind and give him a stability of character that will enable him to grow into a good citizen.

—The "Watchman" has received a personal letter from Harry Davis, the big theatrical man of Pittsburgh, disclaiming the fact that he or anyone authorized by him even contemplated leasing theatres in Bellefonte and other towns in central Pennsylvania; a fact which was revealed in these columns several weeks ago when it was discovered that the Harry L. Davis who created such a stir in theatrical circles here a month or more ago was a very different Davis from the Harry Davis of Pittsburgh.

—The girls of the Patriotic League are planning for a big community sing and festival to be held on the grounds in front of the new High school building on Saturday evening, August 23rd. The sing is not to be confined to members of the league but everybody in Bellefonte and surrounding community who can sing and want to sing are invited to participate. And in order that the big affair can be made an unqualified success practice sings will be held on the grounds tomorrow (Saturday) evening and on Monday evening. Everybody is urged to attend these practice sings and make the welkin ring with happy, heavenly music.

—At the present time, when the President, members of the cabinet and Congress are wrestling with the question of how to reduce the high cost of living, some people in Bellefonte evidently believe in getting theirs while the getting is good. Diners at one or more of the eating houses were increased in price five cents recently, and last week all the shoe repair shops put up prices on all kinds of work, and the jump they made is enough to make the public gasp in astonishment. Work that used to be done for 20 cents is now 35. Rubber heels on ladies' shoes will now cost 65 cents instead of 50, and the price for halfsoles and healing men's shoes has been made an even $2.00. All other work will be charged for according to above rates, from which it is very evident that the men who cobble intend to gobble as well.

—According to published court reports of Lycoming county there is a woman at Jersey Shore who brought action for desertion and non-support against her husband after he had remained away from home for four weeks. The woman has four children and at the court hearing it developed that when the husband left home he gave his wife $53.00. She also had access to $75 in Liberty bonds, $63 in thrift stamps, $40 in bank, $120 in a Christmas fund, $24 she received from the railroad brotherhood and two pigs, and when she was asked for an accounting of the money she emptied her pocketbook and disclosed $10.23, which she claimed was "all the money she had in the world." Unfortunately the proceedings didn't reveal the fact as to whether she still had the pig, but if she got away with the total moneys above specified, $384.00, all told, less $10.23, in four weeks the husband got off cheap with the fifty dollars per month he was ordered to pay his wife for the support of herself and children.

—Considerable excitement occurred in Centre Hall on Tuesday evening when the motor truck of a lighting rod agent from Reedsview, caught fire while taking on a supply of gas at the Boozer garage. Noticing his supply of gas was running low the man drove up to the garage to have it replenished and as he was somewhat in a hurry did not stop his motor. In replenishing the tank some of the gasoline was spilled and it almost immediately burst into flames by coming in contact with the hot motor. The burning gas and car caused quite a fire for a few moments but it was finally extinguished by Mr. Boozer with chemical extinguishers. The top and seat of the truck were pretty badly burned and the windshield broken, but the motor, body of the car and contents, and an extra tire escaped damage. Considerable uneasiness was felt for a few minutes by the men over the possibility of the gas in the tank igniting and exploding, which would have meant an entirely different story, but fortunately this did not occur.

TOOK POISON AND DIED
R. E. Reynolds Victim of Bichloride of Mercury Tablets.

A man named R. E. Reynolds, who hailed from Foxburg, Pa., and various other places, took a big dose of bichloride of mercury tablets at State College last Thursday evening and died at the Bellefonte hospital about two o'clock on Monday morning.

It was shortly after six o'clock in the evening when the hospital received a hurry call to send the ambulance to State College for a man who had taken bichloride of mercury. The ambulance was sent and returned about 8:30 o'clock with the man who gave Reynolds as his name as the patient. Strenuous methods to counteract the effect of the poison were at once resorted to but they were of no avail and he passed away at the hour above stated.

According to information from State College Reynolds made his first appearance there about two weeks ago when he went to the College on the pretense of seeing his wife, who was taking the summer course for teachers. As the two have not been living together for some time she refused to have anything to do with him and he left the College. Last Wednesday he showed up again. On Thursday evening he gained access to his wife's room in McAllister hall and when the latter appealed to Burgess Holmes for protection an officer was sent to round up the intruder. Before he could get him, however, the man succeeded in taking one or more tablets of bichloride of mercury and very soon afterwards fell unconscious. It was then that word was sent to the Bellefonte hospital for the ambulance.

Very little is known of the man, although he gave his age as thirty-seven years and the place of his birth Canada. The girl he claimed as his wife, and she is only a girl at that, knows very little of the early history of the man, prior to the time she met him about a year ago. They were married about seven months ago and she claimed she refused to live with him because he would not work and support her.

A man who claimed to be a detective visited Bellefonte and asserted that the man had been mixed up in some questionable undertakings but whether he was the right man or not will never be known. As soon as he learned of the seriousness of his condition his wife came to Bellefonte from State College and remained at the hospital until he passed away. She also made arrangements for his burial with funeral directors Hard P. Harris, who took the remains to his morgue on Monday morning. Tuesday morning brief services were held at the morgue by Rev. W. E. Shultz, of Centre Hall, after which private burial was made in the Union cemetery.

Reducing the High Cost of Living.

The "Watchman" last week told of the many people who went to the mountains on Sundays to gather huckleberries for family use, and endorsed the method as a proper one to beat the food profiteers and reduce the high cost of living. At the time we did not have concrete facts in our possession as to the relative cost of going to the mountains for the huckleberries or purchasing them at home, but since then we have obtained figures which we very gladly publish to show how three Bellefonte men went a long way on Monday in reducing their high cost of living.

The three men were butcher L. H. Gettig, Dr. M. A. Kirk and son, Harold Kirk. They left Bellefonte at nine o'clock in the morning and motored in Mr. Gettig's automobile to the vicinity of Benner run, in the Allegheny mountains, where they picked huckleberries all day and got home at eight o'clock in the evening. In addition to the wear and tear on their car their expenses were as follows:

1 Honeyloope	8.50
18 Sandwiches at 50c	9.00
3 Spiced Chickens, Fried	3.75
2 Doz. Sugar Cookies, at 15c doz.30
1 Dozen Hard Baked Eggs65
Pickles, Cheese, etc.60
4 Gals. Gasoline, at 25c per gal.	1.00
3 Men 10 hours at 35c per hour	10.50
Total Expense	$18.35
By 68 Quarts Huckleberries at 15c per quart	$10.20

Major Boal Erecting Monument to Fallen Comrades.

Major Theodore Davis Boal is erecting a monument at the entrance to the old camp on his home estate at Boalsburg as a memorial to those members of the old Boal machine gun troop who gave their lives during the recent war. The monument will be composed of a cross from one of the battlefields of France set in the breach of a captured 77 German cannon, and mounted on a limestone pedestal. A Boche machine gun will also be given a place at the base of the monument. The names of the soldiers of the former Boal troop who were either killed or died in service will be inscribed on the monument.

Saturday afternoon, August 30th, has been set as the date for the dedication of the monument and all members of the troop are urged to be present, while other Centre county soldiers and the public generally are invited to attend the ceremonies.

—Mrs. H. S. Cooper on Wednesday received a telegram announcing the arrival in New York on Tuesday of Major H. R. Cooper, from service in France. Major Cooper was with the engineers and saw considerable hard service during the war but fortunately came through it all unscathed. He has been ordered to report at Washington but if he can do so will visit Bellefonte before returning to his home in Texas.

Card of Thanks.

On behalf of the surviving sister and brothers I wish to extend through the columns of the "Watchman" our very sincere thanks to the people of Bellefonte for their many kindnesses to the late Lieut. Charles W. Lamborn, and also for their heartfelt sympathy and respect shown at the time of his unfortunate death. The one consoling thought in our great loss is that his work and his home had been among friends and not strangers.
