The German vote in 1920 is really what the Republican party leaders are anxious about.

When Hi Johnson finds out that China has joined the League of Nations he will no longer feel a fatherly interest in the Chinaman.

Probably Bolshevism may never get a secure foothold in the United States but the loafers who profess that philosophy are making it a dangerous menace.

Reduced to the last analysis it is not so much that the Republican Senators are opposed to the peace treaty as they are anxious to down President Wilson.

Senator Lodge might aspire to any office in the new German Republic. The German press is most generous in its praise of his efforts to defeat the peace treaty.

It is a curious mind that calculates that curtailing production will improve industrial conditions. Yet labor strikes cut off incomes and increase prices of commodities.

Soldiers, Have Your Discharge Paper Recorded.

The attention of the members of the county war history committees is called to the Act of June 2nd, 1919, which provides that duly enlisted and mustered men in the army, navy and marine corps of the United States may have their discharge papers recorded free of charge by the Recorder of Deeds of the respective counties. The Act provides that the Recorder shall be allowed a fee of fifty cents for each discharge paper, to be paid by the county.

The recording of these discharges will be of much value to local historians; the county war history committees are, therefore, asked to bring the matter to the attention of the mustered-out men within their counties.

Mrs. Ellen M. George, president of the State W. C. T. U., will lecture in the court house this evening as a fitting close of the jubilee convention of the county organization, and the public is invited to turn out and hear her. The Pennsylvania Bulletin says it "was one of the finest lectures ever delivered in Uniontown."

BROWNE.—Richard S. Browne passed away at the home of his father, Edward A. Browne, on Logan street, at three o'clock on Wednesday morning following an illness of more than a year with uræmic trouble and other complications. He was taken sick while working in Mexico a year or more ago and came north, going to New York later, but not improving any he went out to Ligonier. Five weeks ago he returned home and with the exception of an hour or two a day had been confined to bed ever since. But even as late as Tuesday he seemed no worse than usual. He ate heartily and was quite cheerful but about ten o'clock Tuesday night he was suddenly taken worse and died at the hour above stated.

Deceased was a son of Edward A. and Mary Browne and was born in Bellefonte, in June, 1892, hence was twenty-seven years old. He was educated at the public and parochial schools of Bellefonte and the first job he undertook after completing his education was as "devil" in the "Watchman" office. Although but a boy he was steady and industrious and evinced an interest in his work that pre-rogated success in anything he undertook to do. After working in this office for some months he secured a position as accountant with the J. Gilbert White Engineering Co., of New York city, and in that capacity covered a large part of the United States, and was sent to Nova Scotia and Mexico. It was while at work in the latter country that he was first taken ill. All told he worked for the above company ten years and stood high in the esteem of his superiors. He was a faithful member of the Catholic church and a fourth degree member of the Maryland council Knights of Columbus.

It is with more than passing regret that we view Richard's death. As a boy he was so genuinely good natured, so willing and courteous that it was a pleasure to have him with us at the "Watchman" office. As he developed into manhood those characteristics developed too so that he was ever cheerful and enthusiastic in both his leisure and working time.

His mother died on November 11th, 1918, but surviving him are his father and the following brothers and sisters: Kathryn, at home; Edward, of Boston, Mass.; Mayme, a professional nurse located at Baltimore but who has been at home since the illness of her brother, and Leo, a student at St. Joseph's college, Latrobe.

Funeral services will be held at the Catholic church at ten o'clock tomorrow (Saturday) morning by Father W. E. Downes, after which burial will be made in the Catholic cemetery.

McWILLIAMS.—Mrs. Sarah Margaret McWilliams, wife of Cyrus B. McWilliams, died at her home in Tyrone last Saturday morning following an illness of three months with a complication of diseases. She was a daughter of John and Mary Ann LaPorte and was born in Spruce Creek valley on April 14th, 1849, hence was 70 years, 5 months and 6 days old. She was the last of a family of ten children. Her father at one time was an associate judge in Centre county. On March 18th, 1880, Miss LaPorte was united in marriage to Cyrus McWilliams, by Rev. J. C. Kelly, of Graysville, and shortly thereafter they went to Tyrone to live. Ten years later they moved to Altoona where they lived until 1917 when they returned to Tyrone.

When a young girl Mrs. McWilliams became a member of the Presbyterian church and during her residence in Altoona was an active member of the Third Presbyterian church. She is survived by her husband and a number of nieces and nephews. Funeral services were held at her late home in Tyrone at 1:30 o'clock on Monday afternoon by Rev. C. R. Scafe, after which the remains were taken to Graysville for burial.

WALKER.—J. Clement Walker, a retired farmer and brother of W. Harrison Walker Esq., of Bellefonte, died at his home in Lock Haven about 11 o'clock on Tuesday morning, following an illness of five weeks, believed to be the result of a serious attack of the flu he had last fall.

He was a son of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel E. Walker and was born at Salona on October 18th, 1866, hence was almost 53 years old. He followed farming all his life until his retirement a few years ago. He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Lola M. Walker, and one daughter, Miss May. He also leaves three brothers, George D. and Charles E., of Lock Haven, and W. Harrison, of Bellefonte.

Her father a number of years ago served as commissioner of Centre county. On April 20th, 1916, she was united in marriage to LeRoy O. Moore, and most of their married life was spent in Camden. She was a member of the Lutheran church and a young woman who had many friends in Centre county who deeply deplore her death. The death of her soldier brother, Homer David Zimmerman, on October 5th, 1918, while on a transport en route to France and his burial at sea was a severe blow to Mrs. Moore and she felt the loss of him very keenly.

She is survived by her husband and the little son whose birth resulted in her death. He is survived by his wife and six children; also one brother and three sisters, two of whom, David Walker and Mrs. Alice Gill are residents of Centre county. Burial was made in the Fairview cemetery, Altoona, on Wednesday afternoon.

Fifteen Passengers Hurt in Train Wreck.

The afternoon passenger train on the Lewisburg branch of the Pennsylvania railroad did not reach Bellefonte until after seven o'clock last Thursday evening owing to a wreck near Lewisburg when the train ran through an open switch onto a siding at the plant of the Lewisburg chair company and crashed into a string of box cars on the siding. All of the passengers on the train at the time, about fifteen in number, were thrown forward against the back of the seats and sustained minor injuries. One of the passengers was Mrs. Clyde Boyer, of Lock Haven, who was on her way to Spring Mills to help take care of her sick mother, Mrs. Jacob Lee. She was quite seriously hurt and after receiving attention at the hands of a Lewisburg physician was taken to her parents' home at Spring Mills. All the other passengers were given first aid treatment and were able to continue their journey on the train.

The open switch which caused the accident had probably been left in that condition by a member of the freight crew that was doing some shifting in that vicinity at the time. Engineer Kiger, of Northumberland, was at the throttle of the engine hauling the passenger train and when he saw the open switch it was too late to avert crashing into the cars on the siding. But, fortunately, he had not gotten under full headway so that the crash was not as terrific as it might have been. At that front of the passenger engine was badly damaged, the baggage coach was derailed and three box cars were knocked off the siding, one coal car being broken in two.

When Engineer Kiger saw the open switch he immediately applied the emergency brakes and freman Aumiller, of Sunbury, stepped to the side of the engine to see what was wrong. As he did so the engine struck the box cars and Aumiller was thrown from the engine to the ground, sustaining severe bruises but no broken bones. It took two hours and a half to clear up the wreck and secure an extra engine and baggage car from Sunbury after which engineer Kiger brought his train through to Bellefonte.

Just six weeks ago today the Bellefonte postoffice advertised the sale of surplus army food and within a week had taken and forwarded orders aggregating over a thousand dollars. Yesterday the first consignment of the food arrived—about two wheelbarrow loads—and if it takes as long for the second drizzle to come as the first the winter will be over before the last of it gets here. In the meantime surrounding towns have been getting quantities of the food right along for a month past.

George Johnson Killed by Fall Into Stone Quarry.

George Johnson, who for a number of years past has made his home with Mrs. E. L. Knoff, at Sunnyside, was instantly killed at an early hour on Sunday morning when he unthinkingly walked into a new cutting at the American Lime & Stone company quarries on the pike. Johnson had spent a good part of the night with a party of friends on the hill east of the quarries. Between two and three o'clock in the morning he left for his home at Sunnyside, accompanied by "Big John," a Slavishman whose real name is John Mutani. "Big John" was in the lead and the two men traveled an old and familiar path that led from the houses on the hill about the "Brick Row" down to the mouth of the quarry. Recently a new cutting had been opened in the quarry which cut off the old path and the two men had evidently forgotten this fact for they both walked right into the opening.

"Big John" was the first to fall and Johnson was so close to him that he had not time to halt his steps before he, too, fell. A few feet from the top of the cutting was a small ledge and both men evidently hit this in their fall and from it tumbled into the quarry, a sheer depth of thirty feet. "Big John" struck a pile of loose clay in the quarry and aside from bruises and the shock of the fall was not seriously hurt. Johnson, however, fell with his head on a large rock, crushing his skull like an eggshell.

"Big John" was rendered unconscious by his fall but regained consciousness in a few minutes and as soon as he realized what had happened looked for Johnson. He found him dead. He at once made his way to the kilns and told the firemen there what had happened and one of the men employed there came to Bellefonte and routed out chief of police Harry Dukeman. After hearing the man's story of the accident he sent him to notify the coroner, Dr. John Sebring, who viewed the body but there was no evidence that the death was other than the result of an accident.

The unfortunate man was a son of William and Lucinda Johnson and was born at Milesburg on January 31st, 1871, hence was 48 years, 7 months and 21 days old. He spent most of his life in the vicinity of Milesburg and for a number of years had been employed by the American Lime & Stone company. He was the original snare drummer in Our Boys band, of Milesburg, and also played in Our Girls band. He was married to Miss Esther Grubb, who died seventeen years ago but surviving him are two children, Mrs. W. J. Patterson, of Tyrone, and William, who also makes his home with Mrs. Knoff. He also leaves three brothers and four sisters, namely: Frank and John Johnson, of Tyrone; William, of Altoona; Mrs. C. H. Zimmerman, of Altoona; Mrs. Anna Rightmire, of Pittsburgh; Miss Elizabeth Johnson, of Altoona, and Mrs. Charles Zimmerman, of Tyrone.

Rev. C. C. Shuey had charge of the funeral services which were held at the Knoff home at two o'clock on Tuesday afternoon, after which burial was made in the Advent cemetery.

Old Time Balloonist Dead in Reading.

A dispatch from Reading, Pa., announced the death there on Monday of Jacob R. Phillippi, one of the old-time balloonists, in the days when flying machines were unheard of and monster dirigibles were things unknown, but at that he saw the possibilities of aircraft in war times and during the Spanish-American war made a proffer to the War Department to make a balloon flight over Santiago, Cuba, and the Spanish fleet bottled in Santiago harbor and destroyed both by dropping bombs upon them. The War Department did not encourage Mr. Phillippi in his offer and yet in less than twenty years the whole world was startled by the knowledge of town after town being blown up by bombs dropped from air machines.

The death of balloonist Phillippi is of interest to readers of the "Watchman" owing to the fact that he spent five years of his life here, from 1879 to 1884, during which time he lived in a small house that stood on the exact spot where the Central Railroad of Pennsylvania turntable was located. He came here from Reading and made his headquarters here. He manufactured his own balloons and so far as known was the first man in America to undertake a flight in a balloon without a basket, his only means of support being a bar and trapeze on which he performed gymnastics for the entertainment of crowds at county fairs and other gatherings.

Mr. Phillippi was sixty-nine years old and became prominent as a balloonist when but nineteen years old. He naturally had many narrow escapes during his active days as a balloonist, one of which was when he fell into Lake Erie forty-five miles from shore and was almost drowned when rescued. He made big money in his flights, was frugal and saving and acquired numerous properties in and about Reading, and one of his peculiarities was to be the first man every year to pay his taxes. On the first day of tax receiving he would stand in line several hours in order to be the first man at the window at the tax receiver's office.

While living in Bellefonte Mr. Phillippi was married to Miss Susan Miller, a sister of Mrs. Michael Lamb, of this place, and she survives with two children, Lester, of Reading, and Mrs. J. C. Paxie, of South Amboy, N. J. Two sons died within the past year, one of whom was a famous steeplejack and chimney climber.

Many of the older residents of the county will remember the thrilling moment when the drag rope of Phillippi's balloon was cut just as the great gas bag was being towed into the upper end of the old fair grounds near Coleville. Phillippi was to make a trapeze ascension on the big Thursday and the entire hillside of the old grounds was jammed with horses and carriages. The balloon had been filled with gas at the Bellefonte gas works and was being towed out over Halfmoon hill to the fair ground by a lot of men. The balloonist was seated on his trapeze directing the movement and just when they had gotten to the high board fence at the northeast corner of the grounds some one in the crowd cut the rope and away shot the balloon. Phillippi was not prepared for this premature ascension. He had only tight on his over-clothes instead of being tied to the trapeze bar where he could get them after reaching the cold upper altitudes, were in the netting about the gas bag. However, he took the situation as it presented itself and began his acrobatics as soon as he discovered that he was going up. The balloon reached a great altitude before he could get the rope to the gas-release valve and he nearly perished from cold before he finally succeeded in making a landing on the mountain somewhere above Centre Hall. The reason given at the time for cutting the rope was that it was feared the balloon would cause a stampede among the horses tied on the ground.

Postmistress at Woodward Takes Own Life.

The village of Woodward, in the eastern end of Centre county, was considerably agitated on Monday morning when the fact became known that Miss Mabel Wolf, postmistress of the town and who had charge of the general store of the Ira Wolf estate, had taken her own life by hanging herself with a scarf on a clothes hook in a room at her own home. Just what prompted the woman to commit the deed will never be known, though there is an impression abroad that it was overwork and worry over the care of her invalid mother, Mrs. Susan Wolf.

Since the death of her father, Ira Wolf, a few years ago Miss Wolf had had sole charge of the store and also conducted the postoffice. But she did it all uncomplainingly, and even cheerfully, so far as the public knew. At an early hour on Monday morning she went to her mother's room to see how she was and that was the last time she was seen alive. When the maid called her for breakfast she did not respond and going to her room she was horrified to find her dead.

Miss Wolf was thirty-nine years old and is survived by two sisters, Mrs. C. D. Motz, of Woodward, and Mrs. Harris Stover, of Haines township. Private funeral services were held at the Wolf home at 1:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon by Rev. C. B. Snyder and burial was made in the Woodward cemetery.

Dr. L. L. Lykens, of Stormstown, has been appointed medical inspector for Halfmoon, Huston, Worth and Taylor townships.

Celebrated Their Fifty-first Wedding Anniversary.

On September 20th, 1868, Emanuel Kerstetter and Miss Catharine Shirk, of Penn township, were united in marriage and for fifty-one years they have been among the best known and most highly respected citizens of Penn township. Though both are past the three score and ten milestone in life they are still enjoying splendid health and it was only natural that they should elect to celebrate their wedding anniversary last Saturday.

The place selected for the gathering was at the Crystal Springs, about four miles east of Woodward in the Pennsylvanian Narrows, a spot that years ago was known as "Hairy John's place," and fully one hundred and fifty friends of this venerable couple were present for the big picnic dinner at noon, while many more made their appearance in the afternoon.

It was a sort of a dual meet, combining the Kerstetter wedding anniversary celebration and a picnic of the P. O. S. of A. camp of Woodward, and the latter drew an additional large crowd. During the afternoon there was music by an orchestra while splendid speeches were made by Rev. C. B. Snyder and S. D. Gettig, Esq.

Before the gathering broke up it was decided to make the wedding anniversary the means of an annual reunion of the Kerstetter family and officers were elected whose duty it will be to select the time and place and arrange for the gathering in 1920. The officers are L. L. Weaver, president; J. W. Kerstetter, vice president; N. F. Braucht, secretary, and W. W. Kerstetter, treasurer. For Mr. and Mrs. Emanuel Kerstetter it can be said that they raised a large family of children, all of whom are getting along comfortably, and all were present at Saturday's gathering.

The bride is one of the efficient clerks in Montgomery & Co's store and expects to continue her work there until next spring. Mr. Gehret is a painter and paper-hanger by occupation and works for A. Linn McGinley, being an industrious young man. Their many friends are now tendering congratulations.

Waite—Long.—Dr. J. Herbert Waite, of Lock Haven, and Miss Florence Long, of Flemington, were married at eleven o'clock last Saturday morning at the home of the bride's parents, by Rev. Emanuel Dornblaser. The bridegroom is a son of John S. Waite and is associated with the Rockefeller Foundation movement, with headquarters in Albany, N. Y. His boyhood days were spent in Bellefonte and he and his bride came here yesterday to visit his aunt, Mrs. John I. Olewine.

Larimer—Walker.—John Larimer and Miss Flora Walker, both of Bellefonte, were married at the Methodist parsonage on east Linn street, at 8:30 o'clock last Thursday evening, by the pastor, Rev. Important, if True.

From the DuBois Express. Announcement is made that the Postoffice Department and the Chamber of Commerce of the United States have agreed on a plan of co-operation to extend and improve mail facilities and eliminate delays. This is important, if true. It is the first intimation the public has had that our autocratic Postmaster General is willing to co-operate with anybody.
