From the Earth to the Moon.

The speed of a shell when leaving the muzzle of a gun of ordinary dimensions is more than half a mile a second. The muzzle velocity of the shells that the Germans fired into Paris is believed to have been about one mile a second.

According to an article in the Journal of the Royal Artillery, a shell with a muzzle velocity of five miles a second, if fired at the correct angle, would become an attendant satellite of the earth, and would go round it in a little less than one and a half hours. If the speed were increased to seven miles a second, the shell would go off into space altogether, and presumably could now be sent to the moon if correctly aimed.

Stamps Commemorating the War.

Our own country is considering a series of stamps commemorating the great war, to be issued when the League of Nations first meets at Washington. Also, there is talk of a series in 1920 to commemorate the tercentenary of the landing of the Pilgrims. Meanwhile the Postoffice Department continues its policy of economy. It was told recently how the remainders of stamps, which formarly were thrown and the state of the merly were thrown away, now, in or-
