

For Relief in the Near East.

Pittsburgh, Pa., Oct. 10.—That the starving in the city of Igdar are eating the bodies of others who died of starvation was the assertion of Howard H. Heinz, recently returned from Armenia, in an address Oct. 9, in the Carnegie Music hall. Mr. Heinz, who was food administrator for Pennsylvania, went abroad for seven months, taking charge of Mr. Hoover's government food relief in the near East. In the first public statement in his home city, of his experiences, he told how American generosity had kept hundreds of thousands alive when the British had stabilized conditions. He emphasized the tragic fact that on October 15, the British troops, some of whom have been serving in Mesopotamia and Palestine for over four years without furlough, will be withdrawn from the Batoum region and that the Armenian people will face another massacre unless the League of Nations is speedily established and a mandatory over Armenia applied. "As sure as the sun shines, we Americans can not point the finger of shame at the Germans for refusing to stay the hand of the Turks, unless we, as a Christian nation, or the Big Five at Paris, halt the menacing hordes of Kurds and Georgians who are now ready to join the Turk in murdering these defenseless people. Armenia is a charge on the world's charity. Without fear of contradiction I can say, after visiting fourteen suffering and war ravaged countries, that the condition of the Armenians is the worst of any tribe or nation in the world today. Through the passing through the city of Tiflis with its population now swelled by refugees to 400,000, I went to the Russian Caucasus where some 800,000 people, nearly all destitute, are crowded into 100 square miles."

Mr. Heinz described the gratitude of the Armenian leaders when they discovered that his contract for foodstuffs valued at eight million dollars for them left the date of payment to the American government undetermined. With tears in their eyes they declared that this meant Mr. Hoover was actually trusting them in the first contract which their government had been permitted to make independently for over 800 years. At the banquet which the Catholics, the head of the Armenian church and nation, tendered to the American in his own home he asserted "When we become established, if we have to take the skins of the beasts of burden in our mountains to pay this obligation we will do it." The banquet was in keeping with the needs of the country. A trout which had fortunately been caught in the river, some dried onions and dried apples, a little tea and grass soup, almost impossible for the American to swallow, was the best that could be offered. That the Armenians are making the best of their opportunities was the assertion of the speaker, who cited the raising in the city of Tiflis among themselves of a relief fund of a million roubles. Outside clothing, undergarments, miscellaneous wool garments, and footwear are especially needed. Shoes should be tied together in pairs. Hats, with the exception of caps, are not needed. The best method of packing is in bales, and they should be sent by express prepaid to the Near East Relief Warehouse, 135 West 17th St., New York city. The Near East Relief committee prepaes shipments overseas.

Please send, any time between October 20th and 27th, all worn warm clothes you can spare, to the room in Crider's stone building, lately occupied by W. C. Cassidy, and generously loaned to the Armenian committee by the McVey Co.

Out from the far places he comes, bringing with him the matchless treasure of his long labor.

Up from the South with "The Birth of a Nation" the most popular dramatic entertainment ever created.

Then from Babylon and glorified Palestine with "Intolerance" the mightiest spectacle man ever has conceived.

Last from the Fields of Flanders with "HEARTS OF THE WORLD," the epic of the war—made for the French and British governments.

And now, from London and China, DAVID WARK GRIF-FITH brings for its showing to the world

"Broken Blossoms"

As startling an advancement in the cinema art as were the other triumphs of this world genius.

A drama of profound emotion, of exquisite delicacy, of terrific strength.

It is a worthy expression of Mr. Griffith's great talents in their rich maturity.
