

NEWS ABOUT TOWN AND COUNTY.

While in Bellefonte on Saturday Mrs. William Emenhizer, of Rockview, lost her bank book of $100 Liberty bond, supposedly on the street between Montgomery & Co's and Weaver's grocery.

The T. M. Gramley farm in Brush valley was recently sold to Irvin Wance for $12,775. The farm contains 226 acres, 114 acres of which are under cultivation. Mr. Wance will take charge next spring.

The students of the Bellefonte Academy journeyed to State College on Saturday for their annual game with the State Freshmen, and while they didn't win they held the Freshies to one touchdown, or a 2 to 0 score.

Adjusters for the workmen's compensation bureau were in Bellefonte last week adjusting the claim of Mr. and Mrs. Nicholas DeLallo for the death of their son Samuel, who was killed several weeks ago in the furnace quarry of the American Lime & Stone company, allowing the parents four dollars a week for a period of three hundred weeks, or a total of $1,200.

Centre county soldier boys should be thankful they are not in France now, as according to cablegrams on Monday winter has already set in in earnest over there, with snow a foot deep in Paris, three feet deep in some of the mountainous sections and intensely cold. The boys who were in the thick of the campaign over there a year ago can speculate upon what fighting would be like under above conditions.

Pennsylvania day exercises at State College will be held tomorrow and with fair weather a record-breaking crowd is expected. The day's exercises will include a regimental review of the college cadets at 9:30 in the morning and the State-Lehigh football game in the afternoon. Having defeated Penn last Saturday by the score of 10 to 0 the State team ought to be a winner tomorrow, and there will doubtless be a big crowd present to see the game.

After almost a year's absence owing to a nervous breakdown Dr. Edwin Erle Sparks, president of The Pennsylvania State College, returned to the College Monday, having motored up from Philadelphia, and was given a rousing reception by members of the faculty and student body. All classes were suspended at 4:30 in order to allow all the students to participate. Dr. Sparks has almost entirely recovered from his breakdown though he will not assume active charge at the College before February 1st.

Some farmers in the vicinity of Bellefonte claim they have been missing some of the corn in their fields, one farmer estimating that in the neighborhood of forty bushels have been taken from his field so far. Of course this estimate may be a little high, but half the above amount is a good bit to lose, with corn bringing $1.60 a bushel. A few farmers whose fields have been visited are keeping watch with a shot gun and if they get sight of the gentleman on one of his midnight trips they will do their best to mark him, at least.

George Emel, powder man at the Armor Gap quarries of the American Lime & Stone company, had his leg broken on Wednesday of last week by a fall of stone and earth. Mr. Emel was up on the side of the quarry filling some holes with powder preparatory to putting off the customary battery of blasts when a quantity of stone and earth loosened by the frequent rains fell into the quarry. A large stone fell on Mr. Emel's leg breaking it above the ankle. He was taken to the Bellefonte hospital where he is getting along as well as can be expected.

Mrs. Robert M. Beach, chairman of the Suffrage organization of Centre county; Mrs. David Dale and Miss M. Eloise Schuyler will be among those to represent the county at the suffrage convention in Philadelphia, in session November 9th, 10th and 11th. As in all other States following the ratification of the federal suffrage amendment, Pennsylvania women at this meeting will form a League of Women Citizens, an educational and non-partisan organization, which will work along the line of political instructions for prospective voters. This meeting promises to be one of the largest and most important the women of the State have ever held, so that a good representation from Centre county is hoped for.

For the annual conference of the Daughters of the American Revolution of Pennsylvania, to be held in Pittsburgh next week, the Bellefonte Chapter has elected as regular delegates, Mrs. John I. The conference is of especial interest to the people of this locality, as Mrs. Sparks, wife of President Sparks, of State College, has been induced to go before this meeting as a candidate for the office of State Regent.

FATHER AND SON BOTH DEAD.

The Result of Accident on Railroad at Centre Lime Co. Quarries.

James E. Lutz, of Buffalo Run, and his seven year old son Sherald are both dead and buried as the result of an accident on the narrow gauge railroad at the quarries of the Centre County Lime company in Buffalo Run valley, last Thursday evening, and the tragedy is the climax of a series of hard luck happenings which seemed to have hung like a pall over the man's life. He had more than the usual amount of sickness in his family during the earlier years of his married life, then a little over five years ago his home turned to the ground with practically everything he owned. A few weeks later his wife sickened and died, leaving him with four small children. He had since struggled along the best he could in an endeavor to keep a home for his children, but with only his thirteen year old daughter to look after the house it was impossible for her to give the care and exercise the proper authority over her little brother Sherald. The result was the lad would go from his home to the stone quarries where the father ran the dinkey engine, whenever he could slip away, and this was the case last Thursday evening.

The boy had been sent home from school because of not feeling very well, but instead of going home had gone to the lime quarries. The company had only recently purchased a new dinkey engine and the lad longed for a ride on it. His father tried to induce him to go home but the boy pleaded so pathetically for just one ride that the father couldn't resist and took him on his last trip into the quarries. The quarries at the Centre Lime company plant are higher than the kilns so that the loaded cars run down by gravity and the empties are hauled up to the quarries by the dinkey. Mr. Lutz took a string of empties up to the quarry then switched onto the back end of a draft of loaded cars and started to trail them down to the kilns. Another draft of loaded cars was started down on another track but in some way got beyond control and ran in onto the same track that Mr. Lutz was on. He had almost reached the kilns and was almost at a standstill when he saw the runaway cars bearing down upon him at breakneck speed. Realizing that they could not be stopped he first jumped from the dinkey then thinking of his boy he ran to get him just when the draft of cars struck the dinkey with terrific force. The father was caught underneath the runaway cars and had his left foot cut off above the shoe top almost as clean as if done with an axe. The impact of the loaded cars crushed the boiler of the little engine and the boy was terribly scalded by escaping steam.

A physician was hastily summoned and as soon as possible both father and son were brought to the Bellefonte hospital. The boy died within an hour after reaching that institution while the father passed away at 7:30 o'clock on Saturday evening.

James C. Lutz was a son of Mr. and Mrs. William M. Lutz and was born in Buffalo Run valley on January 1st, 1873, hence was not quite forty-seven years old. His entire life was spent in the vicinity of his birth. He leaves three young children, Russell and Edward, living with their grandparents on the farm, and Mary, at home. He is also survived by his parents, also living in Buffalo Run valley, one brother and two sisters, namely: Charles E. Lutz, of Buffalo Run; Mrs. William Fye, of Hollidaysburg, and Mrs. Malcolm Spicher, of Buffalo Run.

A double funeral was held at 2:30 o'clock on Monday afternoon. Revs. H. F. Babcock and C. C. Shuey officiated and burial was made in the Meyer's cemetery.

Hallowe'en Happenings.

The young people of Bellefonte are to be congratulated upon the fact that while they had their fun on Hallowe'en they refrained from that roughness that so frequently characterizes Hallowe'en sports, and not a single instance of the destruction of property was reported at this office. A large crowd of boys and girls, young men and women and some that were not so young paraded the streets early in the evening until the rain chased all but the most venturesome indoors, and the thought was suggested that how much nicer it would be if some concerted effort was made to foster the Hallowe'en spirit by having a big parade and offering prizes for "bests" in various costumes. Bellefonte has never exerted itself toward anything of this kind but why not consider the suggestion and carry it out next year.

In addition to the merry-makers on the streets a big masquerade party was held by the P. O. S. of A. in the G. A. R. hall. In addition to refreshments, music and a good social time generally various prizes were given. Mrs. Elmer Williams taking first prize for the best costume, which represented a prim old maid. A cake walk was also held, a lady from Howebrook winning the first cake and Mrs. John Garthoff the second. Two hundred or more people were in attendance at the party.

A big dance was also given by the young people of the town in Dutch Arcadia hall, and a delightful time was had by all present until the wee sma' hours of the morning.

Morton Smith on Tuesday received his official appointment as assistant postmaster of Bellefonte from the Postoffice Department in Washington. Mr. Smith has been acting assistant the past year but was only officially appointed this week.

State College Creamery Makes a Record.

During the month of September the State College creamery handled 19,642.8 pounds of butterfat for which it paid its patrons the sum of $15,213.34. This amount was distributed among 253 dairymen and farmers, and was the banner month in the history of the college creamery. The creamery price paid for butter fat is $3.60 per hundred, and seventeen patrons drew checks in excess of one hundred dollars. The sales of butter, cheese, ice cream and other dairy products of the creamery last year amounted to $126,842.81.

High School Star Course.

The first number of the High school star course will be held on Saturday evening in the High school auditorium.

Pauline Corella, soprano, Riccardo Bonelli, baritone, and assisting artists, Ruth Collingbourne, violinist, and Marion Hyde, pianist, presents an array of talent which calls forth the most enthusiastic press notices wherever they go.

This company was very hard to book for Bellefonte, but the management of the star course, after considerable effort, was able to arrange a Saturday evening date. The booking of this company is in line with the policy of the management, namely to provide a strictly first-class series of entertainments for Bellefonte during the coming winter.

The sale of season tickets lags on account of lack of interest, and past experience with star courses in Bellefonte, but the management gives assurance that the course is strictly as represented and first-class in every respect.

Coming numbers are Newell Dwight Hillis, a lecturer and author of entertainment fame; Crawford Adams and his company; this company will be remembered by many Bellefonte people when on the Chautauqua circuit. The Breed entertainers and the Suwanee River Quartette, a quartette of negroes which is designated by press notice as the best negro quartette in America.

County superintendent David O. Etters has arranged a good program which includes the following instructors:

Dr. Oscar T. Corson, of Columbus, Ohio; Dr. Charles T. Ellis, of Huntington; Prof. Charles Lose, of Hunt Haven; Prof. J. W. Yoder, of Southampton, musical director, and Miss Emma A. Wagner, of Rebersburg, as pianist. While his name does not appear on the regular program W. Monday evening's entertainment will be a lecture on "Russia's Death and Resurrection," by Dr. George Lawrence Parker, of Boston.

Tuesday evening there will be a concert by the Light Opera Revue. On Wednesday evening Frank Dixon, of Brooklyn, will lecture on "The Indispensable Tools of Democracy."

Thursday evening there will be a concert by the American Grand Quartette.

Brouse, of Bellefonte, is president, will hold its annual meeting on Wednesday, and in addition to the transaction of any business brought before it and election of officers for the ensuing year, will hear addresses by Prof. Yoder and Prof. Lesse.

Three Young Men in Auto Accident.

Last Friday evening Orvis Sholl, George Austin and Gilbert Haupt left Bellefonte in Sholl's Ford car to make a run to Milesburg and back. Although it was almost nine o'clock it so happened that the shifter was in the siding shifting a draft of cars to the Armor Gap quarries. The engine stopped at the Red Roost with the tender halfway across the road and Sholl, who was driving the car, failed to see it until he was too close to stop. He swung sharply to the left in order to get around the tender but the rear end of the machine struck the tender and was thrown around and overturned into the old canal.

Fortunately none of the young men were caught beneath the car although Sholl and Austin were rendered unconscious. Sholl was the first to recover and when he got up and came to rightly he found that he was very little injured and got on the bus which happened to pass about that time and went on down to Milesburg. Dr. Sebring brought the other two young men to Bellefonte intending to take them to the hospital but an examination showed that their injuries were only superficial and they were taken to their respective homes. The car was pretty badly wrecked.

Evangelistic Campaign Planned.

The pastor and congregation of the Bellefonte Methodist church have arranged for a series of evangelistic meetings, to begin Sunday, November 16th. Extensive preparations have been made for an intensive campaign. The pastor has made an up-to-date record of the entire membership and all constituents, and for the past several weeks has been preaching sermons preparatory to the campaign.

The Epworth League, Sunday school and official board will co-operate. A large chorus choir will lead the singing. Under the auspices of the Epworth League an "Old Folks" service will be held at 10:45 a. m. November 16th. Autos will take the aged and shut-ins to this service.

Bre'r Rabbit Now in Season.

Rabbit shooting season opened on Saturday and every section of the county contributed its quota of hunters. As everybody knows who was out, the weather on Saturday was not the most auspicious for any kind of hunting, but notwithstanding that fact quite a number of rabbits were bagged. In fact they are unusually plentiful this year so that about all the hunters had to do was go into a rabbit country and they were sure to get one or more of the little animals. One hunter was seen in Bellefonte on Saturday with six squirrels and two pheasants, but he was not a Bellefonte man. He stated, however, that he had seen quite a number of birds but got only the two. All of which shows that there is quite a bit of small game in the country if the hunters are able to get it.

On the morning of election day John Curtin was out only a little while until he had bagged three pheasants. That afternoon Charles Moerschbacher and Joseph Thall, probably the best team of rabbit gunners in the town came in with eight cotton tails.
