Centre county had its first real snowfall on Saturday, but it didn't amount to very much. There was about an inch of snow in Bellefonte and then it turned to rain and sleet. The result was the pavements and streets were quite icy Sunday morning, but the weather moderated and by Sunday afternoon very little snow could be seen anywhere.

On Wednesday John P. Harris decided he had been treasurer of the chapter and commandery of Bellefonte Masons long enough so he tendered his resignation. Ordinarily such an incident would be of little general interest, but the records show that Mr. Harris held the position continuously for forty-seven years and that is so remarkable as to make it a real item of news.

The spawning season is about over and the big trout which have been such an attraction in Spring creek, opposite the "Watchman" office, are leaving the spawning beds for the deeper waters down stream, but the few that yet remain are viewed by every stranger who comes to town, all of which shows that the fame of the Bellefonte trout is known all over the State.

Edward Garbrick a clerk in Hazels grocery store, has secured possession of the old ice dam at Coleville and will put it in shape to harvest a good crop of ice this winter when the weather gets cold enough to freeze it. Most everybody in Bellefonte will wish him success in his new venture, as ice has been a limited commodity in this town every summer during the past few years.

James Clark went down to Beech Creek on Saturday evening to join a hunting party for a week in the Alleghenies and when he arrived there he discovered the fact that although he had his gun and plenty of ammunition with him he had gone away and left his hunting license at home. The license was sent down to him on the Sunday morning train, so that he wasn't held up long on his hunting expedition.

Ellis Hines and John Woods, employees at the aviation field, were victims of a peculiar accident on Sunday. They were driving down High street in the big Commerce truck in use at the field when a terrific wind lifted the hood off of the car and right across their faces. Hines sustained a cut on his nose and another over his right eye, while one side of Woods' face was badly cut and bruised. Fortunately neither one was injured sufficiently to lay him off.

The new prothonotary expects to move his family to Bellefonte as soon after he takes charge of the office as he can secure a suitable house.

A WHALE OF A DEER STORY.

Snow Shoe Man Holds Deer by Tail Until Given a Gun Then Shoots It.

The woods were made for the hunter of dreams. The brook—for the fishers of songs; To the hunters who hunt for the gunless game The streams and the woods belong. From "The Bloodless Hunter."

One of the best deer stories heard in recent years comes from Snow Shoe, and the best part of it is, that it's all true. At least the "Watchman's" informant was willing to vouch for it, and that ought to be enough for any man. The parties directly concerned are members of the Chambers hunting party, of which county treasurer David Chambers is the official head, and who are this year encamped at what is known as Box Lick.

The party went out one morning recently to make a drive and were unusually successful as they drove out a herd of deer in which were five bucks. One of the bucks was shot by a member of the party whose name could not be learned; another was brought down by Edward Chambers and Will Davis shot another that dropped within a few feet of the one killed by Chambers. The two men were close together so going to where the deer dropped they laid their guns on the ground and proceeded to cut the throat of the Chambers buck. They then walked over to the buck that had been shot by Davis but as they did so the deer staggered to its feet and with no gun in hand to shoot it again Davis grabbed it by the tail and yelled to Chambers to get a gun. The deer, which was a three pronged buck, jumped and plunged, dragging Mr. Davis through the scrubby underbrush but the latter had a death grip on the deer's tail and stuck to it. Thus impeded the deer could make no headway and it was only a matter of a minute or two until Chambers arrived on the scene with his gun. He fired one shot without doing any harm to the buck and then probably realizing that he had already killed one deer he refused to shoot the animal but told Davis he would have to kill his own deer.

While just here the exact details are missing, yet we conclude that Chambers even refused to hold the deer while Davis shot it, but he did hand him the gun, all ready to shoot and releasing his tail hold when the deer was least suspecting it Davis grabbed the gun and shot the buck through the neck before he could get away. The two men then cut the animal's throat and thus ended its career. An examination of the deer disclosed the fact that Davis' first shot had hit the animal square in the forehead, but the cartridge must have been defective as the ball did not penetrate the skull. The deer was knocked down and stunned and lay in that condition just long enough for the two men to get to him. The above incident took place on what is known as the corduroy road and it is now the big story of the Chambers camp. The Chambers party, by the way, had five deer up to the time this article was written.

The Spruce Run Gun club, composed mostly of Philadelphians, have two deer. The Gilliland party at the head of Beech Creek, one. The McCloskey crowd one. The McCartney crowd one deer and two bobcats, one of which weighed fifty pounds with the insides removed. The big bob had evidently feasted on a deer shortly before it was shot, as its stomach was well filled with undigested venison.

Forester Charles R. Meek, of Coburn, has sent the "Watchman" a revised list of the deer killed in the eastern end of the county up to Tuesday evening, as follows: Rote-Wingard party at Paddy mountain, 2 deer. Altoona party at Panther Run, 2 deer. Shaeffer party at Paddy mountain, 1 deer. Lykens party at Paddy mountain, 2 deer. Baker party at Ingleby, 2 deer. Millersburg party at Ingleby, 1 deer. Greenbriar party at Pine swamp, 5 deer. Snyder party in High valley, 4 deer and 1 bear. Woodward Rod and Gun club, 6 deer. Kern party on Spruce run, 1 deer. Henry Lingle party, 2 deer. Catawissa party at the Junction, 2 deer. Lancaster party in High valley, 1 deer. Coburn party, 4 deer. Johnson party on Cherry run, 2 deer. Millheim party, 2 deer. Poe valley party at Lingles, 4 deer. Up in the western end of the county the Sunday-Rossman crowd came in last Friday with their limit of 6 deer.

The Gearhart party have 3 deer, a fine, seven-pronged buck having been shot by Harry Gearhart, a youth of seventeen years. The youngest nimrod, however, to bring down his stag, is Ellsworth Wertz, thirteen year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Will Wertz, who shot a fine buck on Friday near Graysville. The Roosevelt club of Gatesburg, 1 deer. The Gen. Pershing squad, 4 deer. The Dreiblebis party, 1 deer weighing 200 pounds. The Peterson brothers, 1 deer. The Spruce Creek gang, 3 deer. The Tyrone party, 3 deer.

Goss and Fisher crowd, 1 deer.

Among the lucky hunters was a railroader from Tyrone who hopped off the morning train at Dunganvin station in the Barrens, shot a big buck and had it at the station to take the train home two hours later.

Another lucky man was Frank Mattern, the hustling Warriorsmark merchant, who motored to Old Tussey last Thursday, killed a big buck and was back home in five hours. He accomplished the same feat last year. But while many bucks have been killed a number of doe have also fallen before the true aim of hunters who have not been as careful as they should be.

Last Friday a fine, big doe was found on the mountain near Pine Grove Mills with both hind legs shot off. It was killed by game warden Pat Ritz and the carcass sent to the Bellefonte hospital.

On Saturday a large doe in crossing the valley through Ferguson township became trapped in a wire fence and broke its neck. It was also sent to the Bellefonte hospital. Another doe and a buck without visible horns were found during the week on Tussey mountain.

The Tigers, of State College, hunting in Hubler's gap, have 3 deer and got a bear on Wednesday.

Colyer crowd, 6 deer.

Bradford's Centre Hall, 6 deer.

Potters Mills day hunters, 8 deer.

Sneys of Bellefonte, 4 deer.

In addition to the above list many other deer have been killed by parties not listed above. In fact forester Keiler, of Boalsburg, reports that 67 deer have been killed within his range of territory, and the total in the entire Seven mountain district is over one hundred and fifty.

Five nice deer were shipped through Bellefonte yesterday, four of them being consigned to Youngwood, Pa., and one to Tyrone. They came in on the Lewisburg and Tyrone train.

Shopping for Christmas is always a perplexing question, but it can be made easier by not allowing it to take up all your time or thoughts. Take the evenings off and go to the scenic and see the moving pictures. You will thus forget any worries you may have and will be in shape to start the next day fresh and free from anxiety. The scenic is not like "pink pills for pale people," but the pictures shown there are so exciting that they will entertain you and rest your mind from any cares and worries of the day's work.

Conductor Edward Zerbe is rounding out his many years of faithful service with the Pennsylvania railroad. He will be seventy years old this month and will be placed on the retired list on January first. The reason that Yeager's shoe store has reduced some new fall shoes for women from $13.00 to $9.00 is that, no matter how much you try, you will some time make a mistake. These shoes in question are made of the very best Russian calf leather, long vamps, military heels, one of the very latest style shoes, but the color, while it is the very latest shade, is just a little too light for the average woman's taste. But what is a little difference in color when you can save $4.00 on a pair of shoes? Do not overlook this bargain, as it is a bargain. At Yeager's shoe store. 49-It

Billy DeRue ably demonstrates the fallibility of the old saw: "There is nothing new under the sun." His droll jests and merry quips all bear the hall mark of originality. It has been truly said that Billy DeRue and Lew Dockstader solely evolve the roaring absurdities which constitute the stock in trade of the vast army of imitators on the American stage. This season he has a new line of talk for his monologue and a budget of side-splitting parodies of his own writing, which is a sufficient guarantee that they will please. He will be seen at Garman's on Thursday evening, December 18th, with DeRue Bros.' ideal minstrels.

December Term of Court.

The regular session of December term of court convened on Monday morning with Judge Quigley on the bench. The reports of the constables were taken and various motions and petitions heard and disposed of. The list of jurors was called off and any absentees noted. The grand jury was called forward, C. M. Harter, of Marion township, appointed foreman and after being duly sworn and instructed by the court retired to consider the bills presented to them by the district attorney. They completed their work early in the afternoon and were discharged with the thanks of the court for their prompt and efficient service.

In their report the grand jury stated that they had passed on twelve bills of indictment, all of which had been returned as true bills. They also examined the public buildings and found the court house in good shape. They recommended, however, that new spouting be put on the front of the jail building and new linoleum in the hall. They also recommended that a door be cut into the south side of the jail wall leading into the dungeon as a means of releasing prisoners into the jail yard in case of fire in the west portion of the jail. They further recommended that a fire-proof garage be erected on the site of the present stable with a capacity for housing two cars. This latter recommendation has been made by several successive grand juries but so far the County Commissioners have failed to take action thereon.

The first case taken up on Monday was that of the Carey Safe company vs. F. P. Blair & Son, an action to recover payment for a safe sold the Bellefonte firm some years ago, payment for which was refused on the grounds that the safe was not made according to specifications.

The above case was on trial until Tuesday morning when the jury returned a verdict in favor of the plaintiff for $123.25.

A TEST CASE ON VACCINATION LOST.

The next case taken up was that of the Commonwealth vs. Burdine Butler, prosecutors the Howard township school board. The case was in reality an action to test the legality of the vaccination law. Mr. Butler attempted to send his two boys, Fortney and Daniel, to school without being vaccinated and the teacher would not permit them to attend. Then, as the boys come under the compulsory education law, action was brought against Mr. Butler to compel him to accede thereto. Mr. Butler's case was conducted by attorneys S. D. Gettig, of Bellefonte, and Sol. E. Long, of Erie, but formerly of Texas, and who represents the anti-vaccination society. N. B. Spangler Esq., assisted district attorney James C. Furst in the prosecution. The jury returned a verdict of guilty. The case will now be appealed to a higher court in order to test the constitutionality of the vaccination law.

On Wednesday the case of S. B. Stine vs. the Pennsylvania Railroad company, was taken up. This is an action to recover damages for property destroyed by fire, alleged to have been caused by a spark from a locomotive. No decision has yet been reached.

The Stine case is a very important one as it involves damages of over $100,000. The plaintiff had gotten on to the point of showing a property loss of about $113,000 when court adjourned at noon yesterday. The Pennsylvania company has about forty witnesses called in defense so that the case is likely to take up the rest of the week. John Blanchard is defending the case and the plaintiff is represented by quite an array of counsel among whom is M. Ward Fleming, Judge Reed and Harry Boulton. The property in question is the Stine foundry and machine shop at Osceola Mills.

It is hoped that a good audience will greet Dr. Hillis in Bellefonte.

Experience.

Many of us know so little of our own town that often we have to be told about things that we pass every day and take little or no notice of. It happened a few nights ago that a lady and gentleman arrived in Bellefonte by motor at a rather late hour. They had had their supper, but the suggestion of a little lunch appealed to both, but where could they go for it; to get just a bite that would be daintily served and appetizing.

The gentleman suggested that they cross the street to the Bon Mot. At first the lady demurred but then concluded that it looked so nice and bright that she would try it. To say that she was surprised is putting it mildly. The very air in the Bon Mot was pure and pleasing. And the sandwiches and hot chocolate with whipped cream that were served the pair were just right. Excellently prepared and daintily served.

Take our advice. Drop in some evening and see how nice the Bon Mot really is. For out-of-town ladies here for a few hours it seems to us it offers an special attraction in its light lunches.
