Capt. Gillett Wants to go to the Republican National Convention.

In another column of this issue appears the announcement that Capt. Melville Gillett, of Smethport, McKean county, is a candidate for delegate to the Republican National convention from this district.

For the information of our Republican readers we publish a brief sketch of the gentleman who is seeking their support in his aspirations.

Mr. Gillett is extensively engaged in mining, banking and manufacturing. Although always active in the affairs of his party he has never been a candidate for any office in the district before.

In two national emergencies he has responded to the call. During the Spanish-American war he enlisted in Co. I, 3rd N. Y. Inf., winning the rank of Sergeant. When the United States entered the world war he put his business interests aside and entered the army, serving as a Captain in the Air service, Regular army A. E. F., September 1917 to November 1918.

He was Chief Purchasing officer U. S. Air service in France from October to December, 1917. Inspector and training officer Air service, New York city, from February to April, 1918. Aviation officer and member of examining board, Charleston, S. C., from April to June, 1918. In command of Aviation General Supply depot, Chicago, Ill., from June to November, 1918. For a time Capt. Gillett was a resident of the State of Ohio and during his residence there, in addition to being prominent in business pursuits he was conspicuously active in military affairs of the Buckeye State, holding a commission as Colonel in the Ohio National Guard.

Probably Emma Goldman is afraid that Soviet Russia will insist on calling her to the head of affairs and she prefers to be "agin the government."

The poisoned whiskey peddled about recently did more for prohibition in a fortnight than the anti-saloon league could accomplish in a year.

It is all right to shift responsibility but Senators are beginning to realize that blaming it on Lodge won't exculpate them.

ADDITIONAL LOCAL NEWS.

A Move to Plant Trees in Memory of Deceased Soldiers.

At the regular meeting of the Woman's club of Bellefonte last week a communication was presented from the Woman's club of Lock Haven submitting a proposition to plant trees along the state highway between Bellefonte and Lock Haven as memorials to those soldiers who gave their lives during the world war. The proposition as embodied in the communication is that the Lock Haven club plant the trees from Lock Haven toward Bellefonte and the Bellefonte club plant toward Lock Haven. While nothing definite enough has as yet been done to assure the project being carried to a successful issue the proposition has merit and is one worthy of most careful consideration.

There is no gainsaying the fact that shade trees on each side of the state highway between Bellefonte and Lock Haven would greatly beautify that thoroughfare and render the drive one of the most delightful in the whole State, but before any definite action can be taken State Highway authorities will have to be consulted. There is hardly any doubt but that permission will be readily granted but the Department may wish to confine the plantings to certain kinds of trees, and at one time did suggest the planting of nut trees along all highways. These would not only afford shade but would be valuable for the nuts they produced. In any event the ladies are deserving of the hearty co-operation of the public at large in anything they may undertake in this line.

Babe Smothered to Death.

Harold Ray McElwain, five months' old son of Mr. and Mrs. John McElwain, of Marengo, this county, was smothered to death on Wednesday night of last week while sleeping between its parents while on a visit to the home of Mrs. McElwain's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Guy Hillard, at Bellefonte. The child was all right at midnight when nursed by its mother and the parents supposed it was asleep until they awoke on Thursday morning when they made the horrifying discovery that in some way it had gotten under the bed clothing and turned over on its face, smothering to death. The remains were taken to Marengo where burial was made on Saturday in the Ross church cemetery.

Dangerous Prisoner Sentenced.

At a brief session of court on Monday morning Mike Zambellino, the Italian who on the night of November 29th sought out a fellow prisoner, Mike Roggerio, in the western penitentiary by counting beds to where he lay and then stabbed him several times, entered a plea of guilty to felonious assault and was sentenced to not less than four nor more than five years in the penitentiary, said sentence to begin at the expiration of his present sentence six years hence.

Zambellino, who is but twenty-one years old, was sent up from Ridgway, Elk county, in 1916, for not less than four nor more than ten years, after having stabbed a Polisher to death and been convicted of second degree murder. The excuse he gave for stabbing the fellow prisoner in the penitentiary was that the man had called him a bad name. In sentencing him Judge Quigley told him that he was too dangerous a man to run around and he would now be obliged to serve the maximum of his first sentence and at least four years of his new sentence, which will keep him penned up at least ten years.

In attempting to make his escape Brown shot to death policeman Charles LeRoy Edinger. He was first tried for killing the policeman and was convicted of murder in the second degree. He was then tried for the murder of young Elford and received a first degree verdict.

Brown was sent to the chair at 7:05 o'clock on Monday morning and after five contacts was pronounced dead by Dr. Felker at 7:14. His body was claimed by relatives and was shipped to Allegheny county for burial.

The management of the Bellefonte hospital wishes to thank the good people of Patton township for their very generous Christmas donation to the hospital, which included 92 jars of fruit and vegetables, 2 bushels of onions, 5 pounds of honey, 18 bushels of potatoes, 1 bushel of apples, 3 sacks of flour, 11 glasses of jelly 53 pounds of dried sweet corn, 5 pounds of dried apples, and a quantity of cabbage, beets, carrots, butter, eggs, lard, coffee, tea, cornmeal and nine dollars in cash. The United States sugar equalization board has undertaken an equitable distribution of sugar throughout the eastern section of the United States so that domestic users can get a limited supply, at least. Almost three weeks ago notice was received here that the first carload was on its way to Bellefonte to supply the trade here and throughout the county, but so far the only supply received, and Wednesday one car of 350 bags arrived and another is on the way. This sugar will be sold to retail at 19 cents.

Once upon a long time ago Bellefonte had an ordinance providing for the removal of all snow and ice from pavements within forty-eight hours of a snow fall, but there are still some pavements on the main streets in the business part of the town that have the snow and ice of the original snow fall a month or more ago.

If the census taker has kept up with his program he is now more than half through with his job and in a month or two we will probably know just how big a nation we are. Incidentally we will also know whether Centre county has gained or lost in population in the last ten years.

The children of the late John and Matilda Harrison, of Pleasant Gap, have presented to the Methodist church of that place an individual communion set in memory of their father and mother.

The remains of Mr. Eckels, who died in Clearfield on Monday, were brought to Bellefonte yesterday and taken to the Meyers cemetery for burial.

Sledded to Hublersburg for Chicken and Waffles.

Thirty-three young people of Bellefonte sledded to Hublersburg on Tuesday evening for one of the chicken and waffle suppers for which the hotel Hubler is so justly famous. The party was organized by the following employees of the Potter-Hoy Hardware company: George Austin, Francis Crawford, Clair Deitrich, Gilbert Nolan, Jeannette Miller, Rebecca Fleming and Orin Kline, the latter going along as a sort of chaperon, cicerone, or something of that sort, because he was the patriarch of the crowd. The other members of the party were Clair Lyons, James Morrison, Allen Cruse, Ralph Smith, John Smith, Ed. Bertram, Eugene Coxe, Ira Seward, Russell Rider, Robert Willard, Joseph Wagner, Joseph Beezer, Dick Beezer, Elizabeth Hartman, Sara Hartman, Alice Waite, Blanche Malone, Hazel Hurley, Mary Smith, Isabell Hassinger, Elizabeth Eckenroth, Martha Haines, Maude Rockey, Ruth Badger and Meriam Bower.

While the originators of the party secured a big sled it was crowded to capacity but every one got down and back without much difficulty and got their fill of chicken and waffles and the extra fixin's. Quite a merry evening was spent playing games, etc., and at midnight the party returned to Bellefonte.

Important Real Estate Transfers.

One of the most important real estate transfers recorded recently in Centre county was that of the Olewine farm, at Axe Mann.

This farm is one of the best in that locality, is situated about one-half mile off the new state highway leading from Bellefonte to Pleasant Gap. This deal has been closed through the Bellefonte office of the McVey Real Estate company, located in Crider's stone building, to Mr. Frank Donovan, of Axe Mann, the consideration being $10,000. Mr. Donovan is indeed fortunate in securing such a good farm, as the analysis of lime on this farm shows a very high percentage.

Another important real estate transfer recorded recently was that of the Samuel Frantz farm, at Port Matilda, containing approximately 132 acres. This farm has also been sold through the Bellefonte office of The McVey company, to Mr. A. L. Maurer, of Juniata, the consideration being $4,000. Mr. Maurer intends locating on the farm with his family within a few days, having recently sold his Juniata home.

A large number of real estate transfers have been made through the Bellefonte office of The McVey company since its opening on September 28th, 1919. This office is in charge of N. Clair Doyle, as manager, formerly with the home office at 1211, 8th avenue, Altoona, Pa.

1920.

The year 1920 is leap year, and with woman suffrage so pre-eminently imminent it is only fair to assume that the ladies will naturally take advantage of all privileges accorded them by law and custom, so beware, young men!

There will be five Sundays in February this year, the first time in many years.

Washington's birthday, Memorial day and the Fourth of July will all come on Sunday, and Christmas on Saturday.

Easter this year will fall on Sunday, April 4th, almost three weeks earlier than last year, which should indicate an early spring.

There will be four eclipses during the year, two of the sun and two of the moon. A total eclipse of the moon will occur on May 2nd, visible here; a partial eclipse of the sun May 17th, invisible here; a total eclipse of the moon October 27th, invisible here, and a partial eclipse of the sun on the morning of November 10th, visible here.

Daniel Boob's Cow Drops Triplets.

Daniel Boob, of Wingate, is the owner of a cow that claims no distinction as to pedigree. She has no blue ribbons as the prize winner at county fairs and the pedigreed stockman might pass her by with hardly a look, but she is some cow with all that. In proof of this fact on New Year's day she presented her owner with three heifer calves as nice looking and lively little calves as can be seen anywhere, and all of them are living and as lively as any week-old calf. While this feat of motherhood should be distinction enough for any cow she is praiseworthy in another line, and that is as a milker, as usually when fresh she gives from twelve to fifteen quarts of milk at a milking, and very few cows of pedigreed fame exceed that.

Child's Welfare Meeting.

A meeting in the interest of the child welfare work in Centre county will be held in the court house on Monday evening, January 19th, at eight o'clock for the purpose of fostering a greater interest in this very commendable work. A child welfare association was recently organized in Bellefonte but it is with the hope of widening its scope of activity to the entire county that this meeting will be held. The payment of one dollar entitles any person to membership in the association. Mrs. Thomas C. White, of Pittsburg, president of the Children's Aid society for the western district of Pennsylvania, and Miss Grace I. Flannery, of Lock Haven, will be the principal speakers at the meeting.

Crader—Gentzell.—A New Year's wedding at the Lutheran parsonage at Pine Grove Mills was that of Lewis A. Crader, of Spring Mills, and Miss Ruth H. Gentzell, of Elysburg, the ceremony, which took place at noon, being performed by the pastor, Rev. A. M. Lutton. The young couple were attended by Mr. and Mrs. Charles T. Homan. Immediately after the ceremony the young couple motored to State College where they were honor guests at a sumptuous wedding feast served at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Hoy. They expect to spend two weeks among relatives in Centre county.

The bridegroom is a soldier of the world war, having served in the 11th regiment. Boob—Barner.—An echo of the one time famous Etlinger tragedy is heard in the announcement of the marriage at the Evangelical parsonage in Lewisburg on December 24th, of Isiah Boob and Mrs. Rebecca Barner, both of Woodward, the ceremony being performed by Rev. John D. Shortess. The bride is the widow of constable Barner, who was killed by William Etlinger when the former went to arrest him. Etlinger, it will be recalled, barricaded himself and family in his home and held Sheriff Condo and a posse at bay most of a day and night until his house was fired and he and his family finally came out of the cellar door. As soon as he saw his wife and children were safe Etlinger shot himself dead in sight of a large crowd. The tragedy happened on March 5th, 1896, and Mrs. Barner remained a widow until her marriage two weeks ago. Her present husband, Mr. Boob, is a successful farmer of Haines township.

Gamble—Ceader.—A wedding that will be of interest to "Watchman" readers was that of G. McClure Gamble, son of Mr. and Mrs. George M. Gamble, and Miss Helen G. Ceader, a daughter of Mrs. Joseph Ceader, both well known young people of Bellefonte, the ceremony having taken place on Saturday in St. John's Catholic church, Philadelphia. Only a few intimate friends of the bridegroom were present as witnesses at the ceremony. Mr. and Mrs. Gamble arrived in Bellefonte on Sunday morning and are for the present staying at the Gamble home on west Linn street.

Miller—Kellar.—Henry Miller, of Bellefonte, and Miss Nellie G. Kellar, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Kellar, of Jersey Shore, were married in Williamsport on Monday by Rev. Elliott C. Armstrong. They will reside at Jersey Shore.

A Double Wedding.

A double wedding took place at the home of Rev. and Mrs. A. B. Sprague, of Milton, but formerly of Bellefonte, on Christmas day, when their youngest son, W. Howard Sprague, was united in marriage to Miss Harriet C. Hosterman, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Hosterman, of Akron, Ohio, but formerly of Woodward; and J. Frank Auman, of Millheim, was married to Miss Mignon E. Neitz, of Milton, Rev. Sprague performing both ceremonies. Both young couples will reside in Milton.

Miss Anna Cook, daughter of Charles F. Cook, slipped on the floor of their dining room and in the fall she sustained a broken wrist. Mr. Cook and his daughter have closed their home and gone to the hotel for the winter.

The rumor that the Aikens block has been sold could not be verified up to last evening. The realty company handling it knew nothing of a sale.

Wallace S. White, the enterprising miller of Axe Mann, his son Curtis and daughter Cleavy are all ill with influenza.

The county auditors are now hard at work auditing the various accounts of Centre county for the year 1919.
