

HUBLERSBURG.

Mrs. J. D. Miller spent Monday in Bellefonte and Milesburg.

Rev. C. H. Faust attended the convention that was held in Harrisburg last week.

Mrs. Deitrich was called to Axe Mann again, to help care for her brother, Mr. White.

Edwin McAuley, Max Markle and William Faust spent over Sunday with their parents in this place.

On Friday evening the Juniors of the Hublersburg High school tender their reception to the Seniors at the home of Cyrus Hoy, at Zion.

Who says that Mr. Groundhog has not been demonstrating as monarch of all he surveys? Let us hope old King Sol will soon shatter his influence.

The entertainment held on Friday evening at Centre school, by Miss Helen Hoy and her pupils was well attended and every one performed his and her part well.

In last week's paper we noticed that the editor made special mention of the aged people in Bellefonte, "Three Octogenarians." Well, our little burg is not in the rear in that line by any means. We have in our midst one old lady, Mrs. Solt, who makes her home with her daughter, Mrs. Gentzel, and who has passed her 90th milestone, and two other ladies who have passed their 80th; also two who are almost 79 years old.

Personal Efficiency Score.

A High school teacher in New Hampshire, Miss Florence R. Kelly, has worked out a "High School Students' Efficiency Score." The tests and questions are worth while, and constitute a self-examination which will prove stimulating. They were published in the Journal of Education. We pass them on to our young people:

According to your age and height, is your weight up to the standard? Do you take part in out-door sports or otherwise usually spend two hours a day out of doors?

Do you play some musical instrument or draw? Or have you a hobby which will be of lasting benefit to you?

Do you use carpenter's tools or garden tools; needle and thread or cooking utensils?

Have you daily work to do for your father or mother?

Do you examine regularly three magazines?

Are you well acquainted with the lives of the four men or women you admire most?

Do you read at least one standard book a month?

Do you make and keep friends?

Is your best confidential friend one of your parents?

Do you give careful attention to your personal appearance?

Is your language always clean?

Do you keep an expense account? A bank account?

Do you try to be prompt, dependable, accurate, courteous, thoughtful?

Do you make eighty-five per cent. in four regular studies?

Are you thinking seriously of your life work and how you will prepare for it?

Do you take active part in some organization for social betterment?

Wines, Cognac, Champagne, Bland Nectar Without End.

Who said the lot of a Bolshevik is not a merry one? List to a tempting tale from their realm:

"In the mountains behind Novo Russik we found what appeared to be a Russian tavern, but was really the late Czar's wine cellar. We descended in elevators into a network of tunnels beneath the vineyards that garnish the hills of that section, and there found a veritable labyrinth of wine. Casks and bottles lined the walls as far as the eye could reach, and newly made nectar rushed from the presses into containers. Red wine, cognac and champagne were being made faster than the Bolsheviks, who had taken the place over, could drink it."

Thus L. S. Larson, engineer of the Charles T. McGee Co's steamship Kirkapoo, which just has returned from a voyage to Russia, and he has only salty and deep-sea words for our own arid land after such an experience. The engineer, in company with the captain of the vessel and several United States officers, risked their lives in penetrating the Bolshevik country to make the delectable visitation.

"How would you like to walk through seven miles of variegated wines, where champagne bottles glisten in the dim light and the odor of musty nectars pervade your nostrils?" he asked by way of further baiting his hearers. Verily, the philosophy of Omar did not die with the passage of the prohibition amendment.

Ho! for the life of a Bolshevik—a bomb, a bottle and a bun!

Her Last Place.

Mrs. Hiram Daily—In your last place six months! Good! How much did you get in that place?

Gladys, the Cook—Just my room and board, ma'am. I was in jail for beating up my husband.—Houston Post.

Stung!

A would-be wag entered a men's furnishing store and said: "Do you keep all kinds of ties here?"

"Yes sir," replied the clerk. "Then let me have a pigsty," said the witty one.

"Certainly, sir," answered the ready salesman. "Just bend down your head and I'll take your measure."
