

NEWS ABOUT TOWN AND COUNTY.

If every member was just like me, what sort of a church would my church be?

The condition of Mrs. S. A. Bell and Dominic Judge, both of whom have been seriously ill within the week, is but slightly improved.

The University of Pennsylvania wrestling team will meet the Penn State wrestlers on the mat in the armory at State College tomorrow evening.

The special musical numbers at the Methodist church, Bellefonte, on Sunday evenings, are highly appreciated. You will enjoy these services. Go early for a good seat.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert S. Walker are receiving congratulations on the birth of a son. The child, who has been named Robert Shortridge Walker Jr., was born Monday, February 23rd.

The regular meeting of the W. C. T. U. will be held in Petrikin hall, Friday, February 27th, at 3 p. m. As this will be an important business meeting all the members are urged to attend.

The ladies of the Lutheran church will hold a sauer kraut and baked bean supper Tuesday evening, March 2nd, beginning at five o'clock. Price of supper 65 cents, including dessert.

Next Sunday you can do what you can't do again for forty years. The shortest month of the year has five Sundays this year. Let February 29th be a "Go to Church" Sunday for you.

The Crabtree company, of Tyrone, have purchased the C. E. Shuey jewelry store at State College and expect to remodel it into an up-to-date jewelry establishment. Louis Riddles will be the manager in charge.

The option taken on the Thomas property as a site for the proposed new milk station has not yet been exercised, as the parties interested are still figuring on an advantageous way to get a railroad siding into the property.

The Senate has confirmed the appointment of William E. Tobias as postmaster of Clearfield and that gentleman has resigned his position as superintendent of public schools for Sandy township, Clearfield county, expecting to enter upon his new appointment March 1st, if his commission arrives.

The Gross Bros., of Spring street, have purchased the building on Spring street occupied by their grocery store, the Bellefonte club and James Schofield's harness store from Thomas and E. W. Pierpoint, of Philadelphia, the sale having been made through the Robert F. Hunter real estate agency. The sale of the property will mean no change in tenants at the present time.

Pennsylvania has been re-arranged into three accounting districts by the Postoffice Department, namely, eastern, middle and western district. Williamsport has been selected as the accounting postoffice for the middle district, effective March 15th. Heretofore Bellefonte and other offices in Centre county accounted to the Harrisburg postoffice but on and after the above date returns will be made to Williamsport.

The new interior decorations and furnishings of the Schlow Quality Shop and their great and exclusive stock of spring goods, have placed it among the leading woman's furnishing stores of Pennsylvania. With the recent improvements there has been added a fitting room, which will be in charge of Mrs. Schlow, whose experience will justify the very favorable reputation she has already made for herself among people of this locality.

Bellefonte amusement lovers will no doubt look forward to the appearance at Garman's opera house on Monday, March 8th, of "Polly-Anna," that gladtime play which radiates sunshine and good cheer and creates an atmosphere of sublime contentment in all who see it. The producing company this year includes Miss Lolitta Westman in the title role and a full cast of celebrities well known on the stage today. Don't fail to see this attraction.

Bellefonte friends of Capt. E. R. Taylor, who now holds a position in the U. S. Department of Justice, might be interested in knowing that at present he is located at Valentine, Neb., where he expects to be for six weeks at least. The night he landed there the mercury went down to forty degrees below zero, but it is not known for sure that his arrival had anything to do with it, but the fact that his mission has something to do with guarding liquor it might have sent a chill down the spine of some of the old regulars.

The withdrawal of Edward R. Owens, Harry M. Murtorf and Mark W. Williams from the Potter-Hoy Hardware company to go into business for themselves naturally will necessitate some changes in this well known old firm. As now planned George Austin, former shipping clerk for the Potter-Hoy company, will succeed Mr. Owens as purchasing agent. Mr. Austin's place to be taken by his assistant, Lester Mills. William Osman will go from the warehouse to assistant shipping clerk and Harry Gehret will succeed Mr. Osman. Ralph Eyer will take Mark Williams' place and Gilbert Nolan has been promoted to retail clerk.

JOHN H. HOUTZ KILLED.

Struck by Engine in Bellefonte Central Railroad Yards Monday Morning.

John Henry Houtz, an employee of the Bellefonte Central Railroad company, was struck by an engine on Monday morning while walking through the yards at Coleville on his way to work and instantly killed. Mr. Houtz, who was quite hard of hearing, had been off duty some days on account of illness and returned for work on Monday. He was walking down the tracks from the scales office to the shops when the engine backed down the track. Fireman James Nolan was watching the track and saw Mr. Houtz step from the main track onto the side track and naturally supposed he had gotten out of the way. When he looked again Houtz was nowhere in sight and he naturally supposed he had gone some other way. The first knowledge the crew had that a man had been killed was when some of the men on the pilot of the engine saw the body after the engine had passed over it. They immediately signaled the engineer, who stopped the engine, and going to the body found it was that of Mr. Houtz.

After he had been seen stepping off of the main track by fireman Nolan he had evidently stepped back on again and in such a position that he could not be seen by the men in the cab. When struck by the tender of the engine he was knocked down, falling between the rails and was crushed beneath the engine and the ice and snow filled roadway. The remains were taken by undertaker Hard P. Harris to his late home in Brown Row where they were prepared for burial.

The unfortunate man was a son of John and Julia Houtz and was born at Juniata on March 9th, 1846, hence was almost seventy-four years old. In 1877 he was united in marriage to Miss Phoebe Cox and prior to coming to Bellefonte thirty-five years ago the family lived in Stormstown.

Mr. Houtz had worked for the Bellefonte Central railroad at various times for a number of years. He was a good workman, a quiet, inoffensive citizen, and his tragic death was a distinct shock to his relatives and friends.

His wife died some time ago but surviving him are three children, namely: Mrs. William Keeler and Mrs. William Peters, of Bellefonte, and John S. Houtz, of Philadelphia.

He also leaves the following brothers and sisters: Mrs. Howard Gummo, of Loveville; Edward Houtz, of Benore; William, of Centre Furnace; Mrs. Mary Weaver, of State College, and Austin Houtz, of Tyrone.

Funeral services were held at his late home at 10:30 o'clock yesterday morning after which burial was made in the Union cemetery.

Irvin G. Gray Re-convicted on One Case, Acquitted on the Other.

Irvin G. Gray, who was granted retrials by decree of the Supreme court on two cases in which he had been convicted at previous trials, was given another trial in court this week and re-convicted on one case (No. 5) and acquitted on the other (No. 9). The case went on trial Tuesday morning and was given to the jury early Wednesday afternoon. The twelve "good and lawful men" had some time reaching a verdict, as they did not reach a decision until after midnight Wednesday night.

When the verdict was presented to the court yesterday morning it created considerable surprise, as it was the general opinion of most of those who heard the testimony in the case that the verdict would carry conviction in both cases. And no one was more surprised at the nature of the verdict than the court, who stated that he failed to understand how the jury reached its decision. The court promptly sentenced Mr. Gray to pay a fine of one dollar, costs of prosecution and undergo imprisonment in the western penitentiary for a period of not less than 2 years, 11 months and 20 days, and not more than three years, the sentence to begin at the expiration of the sentence he is now serving on case No. 8.

Following the sentence of the court Mr. Gray, through his counsel, asked permission of the court to visit his father before being returned to the penitentiary but Judge Quigley stated that he was unable to grant the request and he was remanded into the custody of the sheriff.

The Gray case has been so completely covered in the newspapers during the past eighteen months that the "Watchman" feels it a waste of space to go into details at this time. When the cases were called for retrial this week it was agreed by both the Commonwealth and defense to try them together. This was done and the evidence submitted was practically the same as that submitted at the former trials. The charge of the court was generally considered a fair and impartial summing up of the evidence in the case.

The Inter-Church Federation is calling for a re-consecration of all church members. Will you respond and go to church next Sunday?

The Bell Telephone company of Pennsylvania has inaugurated an advertising campaign to convince the public that a raise in rates is absolutely imperative in order to keep their service up to its present high standard. W. S. Mallalieu, of Williamsport, was in Bellefonte on Monday arranging for advertising space in the Bellefonte papers and the first of the series of advertisements will be found on the 6th page of today's "Watchman." Read it, as well as others to follow, then you will be able to judge as to the attitude of the company.

The country roads and lanes may be snow-blocked to a standstill but the pathway to the scenic is always open. The scenic got its start in years gone by when the fierce wild west and ludicrous comies were in vogue, but it has gained its reputation for giving the best motion pictures extant under the management of T. Clayton Brown. In fact it is confidence in the present management that gives it the large patronage it now enjoys. Seeing is paramount to believing, and when you see the crowd flock to the scenic it is evidence there's something there worth seeing.

In remitting for her subscription to the "Watchman" Miss Ella Jones, one of the matrons at the I. O. O. F. orphanage at Sunbury enclosed a copy of the "Orphanage Bugle Notes," the little paper published by the inmates of the institution. The paper contains the biennial report of the president, John W. Stroh and in speaking of conditions in the Annex he says: "I cannot tell why but I have made more visits up there than in former terms, and have become closely attached to those helpless little ones under the direction of Mrs. Chubbuck, Mrs. Ulmer and Miss Jones, who have charge of the children and are doing a wonderful work. More than fifty children, ranging from three to eight years of age, are lovingly cared for."

Aside from it being a holiday for the various banks and postoffice no general observance of Washington's birthday was made in Bellefonte on Monday. Years ago Gregg Post, No. 95 G. A. R., always featured the day by serving a big oyster dinner to the general public and as the writer recalls some of those dinners it occurs to us that most times the weather was warm and sunny. What snow was left on the ground was fast disappearing in little rivulets of water that flowed down the gutters of High street into Spring creek. But the weather was vastly different on Monday. In fact, so different that instead of the snow going away in rivulets it came down in chunks almost as big as hen eggs, and we verily believe that could the Father of his Country look down upon us now he would vividly recall the winter he spent at Valley Forge.

Four More Octogenarians.

Last week the "Watchman" carried a little story about three of Bellefonte's octogenarians, the oldest of whom is eighty-four years. Since then we have learned of four others who will go the eldest of the former three one better.

On last Saturday Mrs. Patsy Stewart, of west Linn street, celebrated her 85th anniversary and tomorrow Mr. Hezekiah Hoy, of Willowbank street, will celebrate his 85th anniversary and on May 20th Mrs. Hoy will also be 85 years old. These three octogenarians are all enjoying very good health, considering their remarkable age.

But exceeding the three mentioned above is Mrs. R. V. Pugh, of west Curtin street, who, on February 12th celebrated her 88th anniversary. Mrs. Pugh is a woman who can be regarded as having been blessed with two distinctions. She was born on the anniversary of President Lincoln and was the wife of the first president of The Pennsylvania State College when it was originally started as a farm school and known as The Farm School.

Union Pacific Train Robber Not Known Here.

Press telegrams on Tuesday conveyed the information that Earl Lauer, aged thirty years, was under arrest at Salt Lake City, Utah, on the charge of being implicated in the hold-up robbery of an overland Union Pacific mail train at Fremont, Neb., on the night of January 30th, when upwards of $200,000 was secured by the robbers.

The press telegram further stated that the man gave Centre county as his native home and stated that at one time he had lived on Cemetery road, Bellefonte. All efforts of the "Watchman" reporters to trace the life or the family of the alleged robber so far as connecting him with Centre county have proven futile. The name is similar to families that have lived in Centre county in years gone by, but no trace of this special man can be found. It is claimed that several years ago he lived in Newberry, Lycoming county, and when he left there took with him the railroad service record of a roommate.

Centre county has sent out men who have made big successes in various businesses and walks of life, and while we are not at all anxious to claim this alleged notorious train robber we must admit that if he got away with $200,000 he is no pikar.

NEAR EAST RELIEF WORK.

A Former Bellefonte Woman Tells of the Great Work Being Done.

A letter from Mrs. Elinor Cook McDowell tells of her interesting work in the Erivan region, where she is director of education and responsible for over 4000 children.

Her letter dated December 21st, speaks of the ground as white with snow and she says further: "Now that cold weather is here, many more refugees are coming in. They could get along while the weather was warmer, but are simply helpless now and all orphanages, refugee camps and shelter houses are full to overflowing and still more keep coming. Of course it's nothing like it was in April, and hope it won't be, else all our work will be in vain. You can imagine the congestion when I tell you that under normal conditions, Erivan was a city of 30,000 and that its population is now increased by refugees to over 80,000."

Elinor's latest adventure was the reorganization of an orphanage at Kanaku, the worst orphanage in the Erivan district and which, she writes, "some job." "Imagine me poking about looking for dirt and bosing a gang of children making roads, cleaning yards, etc. I love this orphanage now and have the dearest kiddies there. I have about arranged for the 1000 of them to go to school. When I went there they were dirty and ragged and did no work. Now I have the barracks they live in cleaned up every morning and the yard swept. The boys have dug ditches for the water to flow down and are filling up all low places about the barracks. They also help with the bookkeeping. The girls do washing and mending every day, so their clothing is clean and their rags mended and I am promised new clothing soon."

"Do you remember my writing at first of the listlessness of the children? That is passing. The boys spin tops and play a native game similar to marbles, only using knuckle bones instead of marbles. The girls jump rope, knit, make lace, and next week if I can find time to make them, they are to play with dolls."

"The Armenian Christmas is January 6th. They have various things for Christmas dinner, including raisins, apples and fish, and we are going to try to give that in the orphanage. For ourselves, we shall try to have a real American Christmas, December 25th."

Have you given all you can to help in this work to which a Centre county girl has given herself?

Help the Near East Relief.

Regarding the situation in the Near East the "Living Church" has this to say:

"The Armenians are universally recognized in normal times as the most thrifty, industrious and prosperous people of the Near East. But after four years of exile and unpeppable suffering, they are hopeless, destitute and utterly forlorn. The present problem is to help them to begin life anew. Only 41,000 of the 60,000 homeless, wandering, helpless little children have been gathered in and still they come, for there are 250,000 orphaned children in Armenia today."

"In the orphanages the girls are trained to do housework, taught to sew, knit, weave and make the lace for which their country is famous, while the boys, whenever possible, are being taught the trades of their fathers."

This is a small part of the work of the Near East relief in a country from which word comes that the situation is the worst in the world.

Have you given what you can to the Centre county committee for Near East relief? Send money to Charles M. McCurdy, treasurer, Bellefonte.

Some Movings.

A. G. Morris and his daughter, Miss Eliza Egbert Morris, are contemplating returning to their home directly across the street from where they are living at present. Mr. Morris purchased the old Jackson property when coming to Bellefonte and lived there for a number of years before going to his present home.

Mr. and Mrs. George Hazel are preparing to move to their new home adjoining the Hazel & Co. dry goods store, the latter part of March. Mrs. Holz and her son Harry leaving there to go to their new home on Spring street.

Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Krader are leaving the Wallace house on Curtin street to go to the Louis Hill property on east Bishop street.

Rifle Club Organized.

A number of Bellefonte gentlemen who are regarded as good shots and some who aspire to be got together last Friday evening and organized the Bellefonte Rifle club with the following officers:

President, Dr. E. S. Malloy; vice president, J. O. Heverley; secretary and treasurer, Joseph Wagner; executive officer, Roy H. Grove. The other members of the club are W. Harry Kissler, James C. Furst, Al Grove, Harold Corman, Ben Gordon, Arthur Dale, Walter Harpster, Toner Aikey, Thomas Mensch, H. D. Weaver, Donald Snyder, Charles Saxton, L. E. Taylor, Theodore Linquist, Charles J. Wagner and Harry Thompson.

Another property sold through the McVey office was that of the McGinley property on east Lamb street, to J. H. Hazel, who now occupies the property. The consideration was $1200.

NEWS PURELY PERSONAL.

Boyd Carner, of Hubbersburg, was a business visitor in Bellefonte on Monday.

Mrs. Georgianna Dale, of Lemont, was in Bellefonte on a shopping expedition on Monday.

Miss Anna Howe, of Morrisdale, was an over Sunday guest of her friend, Miss Lois Kirk.

Malcolm McSuley is visiting with his father, John H. McSuley, having come here from Philadelphia, Saturday.

Mrs. John Van Pelt returned to Johnstown Tuesday, her plans for going earlier having been interfered with by sickness.

Mr. and Mrs. John S. Walker spent the greater part of last week in Philadelphia, going down Wednesday on a business trip.

Mrs. Edmund Blanchard left Tuesday for Fort Worth, Texas, to join Mr. Blanchard, who has been in the oil region of Texas since fall.

Mr. and Mrs. Ray Brandman and their family have made definite arrangements to leave Bellefonte the latter part of April, for their new home in Philadelphia.

W. Wilson Gephart, of New York city, was in Bellefonte over Sunday for a short visit with his mother, Mrs. J. Wesley Gephart, who is thought to be critically ill at her home on Linn street.

Mrs. M. I. Gardner, of Clearfield, was in Bellefonte this week on her way to Johnstown, where she will join Mr. Gardner and their son Harold, expecting to visit with them until the middle of March.

Arthur H. Sloop, supervising principal of the Bellefonte schools, has been in Cleveland this week, going out Sunday to attend the National convention of superintendents of schools in session in that city.

Misses Grace Miller, Thelma Fleck and Anna Miles composed a trio of Tyrone young ladies who spent a few hours in Bellefonte on Monday, coming down on the morning train and returning home in the afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. George E. Lentz, and Miss Mildred Lentz, of Harrisburg, were in Bellefonte between trains Sunday, coming here to see Miss Hazel Lentz, who had been ill for ten days, at the home of Dr. and Mrs. M. A. Kirk.

Rev. George E. Smith, pastor of the United Brethren church, was called to Blair county early in the week, owing to the death of his sister, Mrs. Edith Barr, of McKees. Burial was made at Roaring Springs early Monday morning.

Mrs. Jerry Glenn, of Curtin, and Paul Parker, of Jersey Shore, spent Wednesday in Bellefonte as guests of their mother, Mrs. Alice Parker, coming here for a short visit with Mr. and Mrs. George Hille, before they left for their new home in New Orleans.

Mrs. John Hellwell left Friday night to return to Atlantic City, where she has been registered as a professional nurse for several years. Mrs. Hellwell had been visiting in Bellefonte with her father, William B. Rankin, and the family, since the latter part of November.

Mr. and Mrs. George H. Hille spent Wednesday night in Bellefonte, leaving Thursday for New Orleans, La., where Mr. Hille will be located for a year, being employed with the Emergency Fleet Corporation. Mr. and Mrs. Hille have been making their home in Philadelphia.

Mrs. T. A. Hartagan, who had been visiting for two weeks with her mother, Mrs. Sara Thomas, at State College, passed through Bellefonte Friday on her way home to New York to spend a week with Mr. Hartagan and their eight year old son. On account of Mrs. Thomas' illness, Mrs. Hartagan will return to State College tomorrow to remain with her mother until she is better. Mrs. Hartagan is well known in Bellefonte as Miss Mary Thomas, having lived here all her earlier life.

W. H. Stover, of Boalsburg, was a Bellefonte visitor on Saturday and while in town placed his name on the "Watchman" list of subscribers. Mr. Stover stated that there is at present considerable sickness in and around Boalsburg, mostly grip and flu cases, and their greatest need there at the present time is a physician. There is no resident physician in the town, State College being the nearest location, and the physicians there are not only over-worked at present but the snow-blocked roads make it very difficult for them to respond to calls from Boalsburg.

Mrs. Charles Moerschbacher and her daughter, Mrs. Richard Brouse, left Tuesday for Freehold, to attend the funeral of Mrs. Moerschbacher's eldest brother, Joseph Wadlinger. Mr. Wadlinger had been in Bellefonte two weeks ago for the funeral of his brother-in-law, Charles Moerschbacher, leaving here Sunday to go to Freehold and from there directly to Philadelphia to attend the funeral of his step-mother, who had died the morning of Mr. Moerschbacher's funeral. Mr. Wadlinger is survived by four children. By his death three members of Mrs. Moerschbacher's family have passed out within two weeks.

Mr. H. C. Bloom, of Warriorsmark, was a business visitor in Bellefonte on Friday and he certainly had some experience in getting here. He was afraid to risk driving to the most convenient railroad station owing to the snow-blocked roads, so walked to State College, a distance of nine miles through the deep snow. Before leaving home he made arrangements with his son to drive to the College in the afternoon in the sled and meet him but after walking part of the way he found the snow so deep and roads so bad that when he reached the home of another of his sons he sent him to Warriorsmark to tell the other son not to attempt the trip in the sled, as he could walk it easier than the horses could get through.

Farmer W. W. McCormick, of Potters Mills, was in Bellefonte on Tuesday on a business trip and like everybody who comes in from the country districts these days talks snow as the main topic. Mr. McCormick, by the way, is arranging to move onto the old Allison homestead farm next month and while it will be a change of location it will not be such a great change in system, as he has lived on one of the Allison farms for sixty-one years. On other words it will be sixty-one years on March 23rd that his father moved his family from Hubbersburg to the Allison farm at Potters Mills. When he passed the farm and has operated it ever since. Since the death of Edward the heirs to the estate have induced Mr. McCormick to take the old homestead and he has decided to do so. He will move there on March 23rd, the anniversary of his going to Potters Mills from Hubbersburg.

Miss Mary Gray Meek will go to Pittsburg today, to spend a few days with Mr. and Mrs. T. K. Morris.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Cohen have had as guests this week, Miss Julia Toser, of Huntingdon, and Lewis H. Smith, of Altoona.

Andrew T. Sorensen, of New York city, who spent a part of last week here with Miss Louise Carpeneto, was a guest at the Brant house during his stay in Bellefonte.

Mrs. W. K. McKinney left Tuesday for her former home in Newark, N. J., going down to spend several weeks with her parents, Dr. and Mrs. Graham. Dr. Graham is facing an operation while Mrs. Graham has been an invalid for some time.

Harry D. Rumberger visited Wednesday with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. George W. Rumberger, at Unionville, on his way from Phillipsburg to his new home in Scranton, where he will be in charge of the Atlantic Refining company's station in that city.

Francis Thal is back in Bellefonte, having accepted his former position as extra man in the baggage room at the P. R. R. station. Francis has been with the company at Osceola and in returning here takes the place made vacant by M. H. Lyons, who has been made relief man on the P. R. R.

W. M. Grove, a lifelong resident of Gregg township, but who is now dividing his time between his old stamping ground at Spring Mills and his farm at Berwick, was in Bellefonte several days this week on business, having stopped off here on his way home from Greensburg, where he attended the funeral of his brother, the late Hiram Grove.

Mrs. Willis Weaver and her sister, Mrs. Schaub, stopped in Bellefonte Monday for a short visit, after spending the week-end at State College, with their sister, Mrs. Erley. Mrs. Weaver was returning to her home at Windber, while Mrs. Schaub was leaving for her ranch near Reno, Nevada, not having been west since going into service two years ago.

Dr. M. J. Locke has given up his contemplated trip to Rochester, Minn., to attend the clinics and lectures at the Mayo sanatorium on account of the protracted cold in the northwest, as he has gotten about all that kind of weather he cares for at the present right here in Bellefonte. Instead he contemplates spending a week or ten days in Philadelphia in the near future.

Mrs. Grace L. Garman, from Bellefonte, was a visitor on February 20th at the big exhibit of Southern California products maintained free to the public in the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce. She also attended the lectures and moving pictures that are a part of the daily program. The exhibit is the largest of any in the country maintained by a commercial organization. Before returning home, Mrs. Garman expects to visit several of the many other places of interest in the Southland.

James H. Straub, who since his graduation at State College has been with the Glidden Varnish Co., at Cleveland, Ohio, is now at his home in this place taking a little vacation and assisting his father, Elmer C. Straub, in the settlement of his grandfather's estate which includes the sale of the old Alexander farm above Sunnyside, providing a purchaser can be secured. Mr. Straub has made so good in his position that he has been elevated to a vice presidency in the Cleveland company and when he leaves Bellefonte will go to Toronto, Canada, to take charge of the branch store in that place.

Arthur Thomas to Operate Coal Yard.

Arthur Thomas, who two weeks ago purchased the R. B. Taylor coal yard on Thomas street, intends going into the retail coal business in Bellefonte and will operate the yard himself. But before stocking up he will entirely reconstruct the yard. His present plans include the installation of hopper style bins or tanks so as to do away with the labor of loading the coal by hand. To install these will mean raising the railroad siding on trestle work or concrete piers and he estimates that the cost of putting the yard in the shape he has now planned will approximate ten thousand dollars, but he hopes to have the work all done during the coming summer.

Anna M. Keichline vs. John P. Kelley Case Settled for $3,800.

The case of architect Anna M. Keichline vs. John P. Kelley was settled this week without going to trial in court, the defendant agreeing to pay Miss Keichline the sum of $3,800. Miss Keichline was the architect for the big Kelley and Wion garage built on the corner of Bishop and Allegheny streets and when the building was completed Mr. Kelley disputed the account. The result was an action was brought to compel payment and the case was settled out of court.
