Central Pennsylvania Methodist Conference Will Convene March 16th.

In less than two weeks, or on March 16th, the Central Pennsylvania conference of the Methodist church will convene in Harrisburg in its annual session. According to all reports the conference promises to be one of unusual importance because of the number of proposed changes and reforms which will be brought up for discussion. Among them will be the election of district superintendents by the conference instead of their appointment by the presiding bishop; election of official boards of the church instead of their appointment by the pastor; curtailment of the terms of office of bishop to eight years; the ratification of both church and ministerial conferences of the proposed amendment to the church constitution admitting laymen into the annual conference on an equality with ministers, with the exception of voting on theological questions, and the proposal to readjust conference boundaries in Pennsylvania. If the conference will take up all the above questions in addition to its regular business it will have to hustle to get through in the usual time.

Two Men Electrocuted

Bosea Draskovitch and Lazarus Bollin, both of Lawrence county, were electrocuted at the Rockview penitentiary on Monday morning. Draskovitch was sent to the chair at 7:07 and was pronounced dead at 7:14. Bollin followed at 7:19 and was pronounced dead at 7:24 by Dr. Robert J. Campbell. The bodies of both men were buried in the penitentiary cemetery. Draskovitch was one of a band of four men who held up paymaster A. D. Farrell, of the Johnson Limestone company near Hillsville over two years ago, shot and wounded Farrell, killed his companion, Louis Sacco, and got away with $17,500. One of the hold-up men was killed at the time, another was convicted as an accessory and sent to the penitentiary for twenty-eight years and the fourth man is under sentence of death. Bollin paid the penalty for killing William Cassler, a merchant at Wampum. He entered Cassler's store, made a purchase and when the latter was making change grabbed his money and ran. Cassler followed him to the street and Bollin turned and shot him dead in his tracks.

Sheriff Harry Dukeman took Irvin G. Gray back to the western penitentiary on Saturday, where he will complete his present sentence and unless the higher court intervenes will serve the sentence imposed by Judge Quigley last week.

Don't worry about the high price of jams, jellies and preserves. Serve Karo, the Great American Sweet. Buy it by the dozen cans. An important message. Read it!

AMONG the twenty odd million American Homes there is probably not a single one where Karo is not served in some manner—for breakfast, for dinner or for supper.

During these days of high prices, Karo has become another word for economy. Thousands of thoughtful housewives have learned that Blue Label Karo is not only a delicious spread for pancakes, but answers every purpose where a sweet is needed.

Instead of paying the present high prices for jams, jellies and preserves—serve Blue Label Karo on sliced bread, toast, pancakes or waffles.

Do as the wise cooks are now doing: Use Karo to stew dried fruit, prunes; use it for candied sweet potatoes, brown bread, muffins, coffee cake and puddings.

Karo Home-made Candy is the best for children. It is wholesome, easy to make, costs much less than store candy.

Mothers give children Blue Label Karo and sliced bread because it satisfies Nature's craving for sweets and takes the place of candy.

IMPORTANT

There never was such a demand for Blue Label Karo as today. Housewives everywhere are buying it by the dozen cans. Ask your grocer the price per dozen. For economy's sake buy it this way.
