—The County Commissioners have been busy this week distributing the ballots and election supplies for next Tuesday's primaries.

—Mrs. Margaret Lloyd-Robinson, who makes her home with her niece, Mrs. H. S. Taylor, in Bellefonte, was awarded the $25.00 prize for suggesting the name, "The Philips," as the most appropriate for Philipsburg's new hotel.

—Next week will be a busy one in Bellefonte. It will not only be the week for the May term of court, and which promises to be of more than usual interest, but that also of the general primaries, which will be held on Tuesday.

—Andrew Boggs, a native of Milesburg, but who has made his home in Philipsburg the past several years, has been selected as managing secretary of the Chamber of Commerce of that town. The young man is a graduate of the High school and will no doubt be a leading factor in booming Philipsburg in the future.

—Bishop street from Allegheny to Spring has been closed to traffic and contractor Frank T. Murphy is pushing the work of rebuilding that thoroughfare into a state highway. That section of his contract will be completed so that the street can be opened up for business before work is started on Spring and Pine streets.

—The concrete is now being poured for the walls and bins of the new Wagner mill along the state road south of Bellefonte. The bins will have a capacity when completed of from 28,000 to 30,000 bushels of grain, which is equal to almost fifty car loads. As the entire mill will be of reinforced concrete it will be as nearly fireproof as it is possible to build it.

—J. L. Murphy, the aviator who was so seriously injured a few weeks ago when his plane fell to the ground on the Humes farm, has practically recovered though it was found necessary this week to amputate portions of the first and second fingers on his left hand owing to the fact that the tendons had been so badly burned that the first joints of the fingers were useless.

—A respite was granted in Harrisburg on Saturday to Samuel Coles and John Morrison, two Philadelphia convicted murderers, until the week of June 6th to enable their cases to be carried before the board of pardons. The two men are now at the death house at Rockview and were to have been electrocuted on Monday. This is the second respite that has been granted them.

—Reports from eastern and northern counties of the State say that potatoes have not only reached the top notch for this season but have started on the toboggan and very much lower prices may be expected within the next week or so. If local reports are correct there are a good many potatoes yet on hand in Centre county, but so far no decline in the price has been noticed here.

—Dr. H. P. Armsby, director of the institute of animal nutrition at State College, was recently honored by being elected to membership in the National Academy of Science. Membership in this organization is restricted to those who have distinguished themselves in scientific research and Dr. Armsby was honored because of his experiments with the respiration calorimeter in determining what use an animal makes of the food it eats.

—Many of the important happenings of the world today are memorialized in moving pictures and are thus brought to the attention of the general public as they are thrown on the screen in moving picture shows all over the country. In Bellefonte these pictures of current events are shown at the scenic twice a week and while they are always greatly appreciated they are only a small part of the very good programs shown at this popular place of amusement week after week.

—Employees of the Atlantic Refining company were agreeably surprised the past week to receive notices from the company that they had taken insurance for all their employees in sums ranging from $250 for an employee who has been in the service of the company six months to $1000 for any one who has been with the company eight years or longer, the employee to name his own beneficiary and the insurance to date from January 1st, 1920. Lunger Wian, the general and efficient manager of the company in Bellefonte, will come under the one thousand dollar class, as he has been with the company almost twenty years.

Joseph Morrison Killed in Automobile Accident.

Joseph Morrison, a former Bellefonte young man, was almost instantly killed in an auto accident near Uniontown on Sunday evening. During the past six months or more he had been located at Brownsville where he had a good job as an auto mechanic in a large garage. On Sunday afternoon he was one of three young men who left Brownsville in a large touring car for a trip to Uniontown. A young man named John Smith, was the driver of the car. In driving over the mountain near Uniontown he in some way lost control of the steering wheel and the big car went over the edge of the road and rolled down the side of the mountain until it lodged against a large tree. Morrison was crushed so badly that he died shortly after the accident, while both the other young men were quite seriously injured.

Joseph Morrison was a son of Robert and Sarah Morrison and was born at Axe Mann twenty-five years ago. His parents moved to Bellefonte when he was a boy and here he grew to manhood. He was called for service in the world war in May, 1918, and sent to Columbus, Ohio, for training. In less than a month he was sent overseas where he was assigned to the auto mechanics division. He returned home the latter part of May, 1919, and after spending a month or two at home went to Brownsville where he had since been employed. He is survived by his parents and one brother, John Morrison, of Bellefonte.

The remains were brought to Bellefonte on the 1:27 p. m. train on Tuesday and taken to his parent's home on east High street. Funeral services were held in St. John's Catholic church at ten o'clock on Wednesday morning by Rev. Father Downes, after which burial was made in the Catholic cemetery.

Our Amateurs in Minstrelsy.

The performances given by the revived Bellefonte Amateur Operatic minstrels, at Garmans, Tuesday and Wednesday nights, quite fulfilled the expectations of those familiar with the pleasing programs presented by this company of local entertainers in years gone by.

They played to splendid houses both nights and while the action was much better and everything went smoother Wednesday evening than it did for the opener the audience was not nearly as responsive as were the first nights.

The really artistic part of the show was the music and the chorus was probably the best balanced and blended combination of male voices that has ever sung to a Bellefonte audience. The soloists, every one of them, sang themselves into favor and were encored repeatedly.

In the olio a finished dancing act, contributed by Oeffinger and Wolf, two favorite Altoona amateurs, caught the fancy of the audience and was recalled time and again. We use the word finished as descriptive of their act advisedly for it was costumed and executed with a grace and charm that professionalism might be proud to claim and the surprise occasioned by their finale when Wolf removed his coiffure revealing the fact that he was a man was fine acknowledgment of his art in female delineation.

The after-piece, "The Rum Hounds in the Chase," proved the vehicle through which William Ryan was carried on for some clever juggling and dancing, Herbert Beezer for some fancy steps, little Irvin Martin for several songs that took the audience by storm and a fight in which Mike Hazel starred by seeing stars in a very realistic way.

The comedy was contributed by such well known old black-face fun makers as Hard Harris, Louie Daggett, Russell Blair, Dan Clemons and Robert Hunter and they were ably assisted by Leo Toner, Herbert Beezer, Milan Walker, Melvin Cherry, Mike Hazel, Cecil Walker, R. W. Funk, James Seig, Charles Schaeffer, Clair Lyon, Millard Hartswick, Dale Musser and other new-comers into the realm of helpful and harmonious, and to Miss Miriam Smith, probably more than any other, is the company giving credit for the music, for it was her untiring devotion as pianist, both in rehearsal and in the orchestra that brought the perfection.

The orchestra was a feature of the show. It was a feature in its music alone but the support it gave the soloists and choruses was wonderfully helpful and harmonious.

The shows were given for the benefit of the Odd Fellows band and will net that worthy organization something over $600.00.

Belated Movings.

J. O. Heverley has rented the one side of the B. F. Deitrick house on east Bishop street and will move his family there from the apartment he has been occupying over his auto supply store, while J. C. Young, the new wire chief for the Bell Telephone company, will move his family here from Galeton and take the apartment vacated by the Heverleys.

J. E. LeBarre has leased the Cooke house on Willowbank street recently vacated by W. W. Keichline, and expects to move there some time this month.

The Academy minstrels next week will be the last of the series of amateur productions Bellefonters have been enjoying this spring. The Academy boys are the youngsters with the "touch and go" and their show has been the promise of youthful pep from rise to fall of the curtain.

Modern Health Crusaders are Finally Dubbed "Knights."

Last week Rev. DePue Maynard, in the Bishop street school building, and this week Rev. Wilson P. Ard, in the High school building, gave the pupils a fifteen-minute address on core ten of Health Crusaders rules, "I have tried today to be clean-minded and helpful to others." It was the occasion of conferring the degree and button of "Knight" on all crusaders who had satisfactorily performed the health chores for a period of ten weeks, and both speakers gave most inspiring talks on Crusaders and Knights of old, suggesting as an ideal to these youthful modern crusaders that beautiful sentiment of Sir Galahad's in Tennyson:

"My good blade carves the casks of men
My tough lance trusteth sure
My strength is as the strength of ten
Because my heart is pure."

Pupils in grades four, five, six, seven and eight enrolled January 11, as crusaders and the following have qualified as knights and received the knights button:

—If you want to help along a little with the Troop L fund and if you want to provide yourself with a nice handy place to go skating next winter turn out to the Academy minstrels next week. They will be given as a benefit on a fifty-fifty basis, for both of these projects and every person has a personal interest in at least one of them.

—During a thunder storm which passed over lower Pennsvalley on Saturday afternoon the National hotel, at Millheim, owned and occupied by Dr. J. R. G. Allison, was struck by lightning which set the roof on fire. The Millheim fire company responded promptly and extinguished the flames before they gained great headway. But while the fire did not do a great amount of damage the interior of the hotel was pretty well soaked with water.

—One hundred and twenty sample packages of Kolynos dental cream were received by Elizabeth B. Meek this week for free distribution to pupils in the public schools. This generous contribution from the Kolynos company of New Haven, Connecticut, is much appreciated by those interested in our oral hygiene campaign as, in a recent scientific comparison of many widely advertised dental creams, Kolynos was found to be least injurious to the teeth, and we are glad to have our children learn what is best in dental creams as well as in everything else.

—A certain Bellefonte woman went to the First National bank on Saturday morning and got a five dollar check cashed, receiving a five dollar bill. She went to the P. R. R. depot to purchase a railroad ticket but happened to discover that the signature of the Secretary of the Treasury on the five dollar bill was in blue ink and she refused to pass the bill for fear it was counterfeit. In fact, she gave up her trip rather than spend the bill, as she maintained it was not a good one and she wouldn't be a party to passing counterfeit money. The bill was all right, however.

—Superior court judge William H. Keller, of Lancaster, has accepted an invitation to deliver the commencement address to the graduating class of the Bellefonte High school this year. Judge Keller, it might be mentioned, was a member of the first class graduated at the Bellefonte High school and his selection to deliver the commencement address this year and his acceptance is a compliment to the school. Judge Keller is not only an able speaker but is classed as a brilliant orator and the High school graduates have a treat in store for them in his commencement address.

—Charles M. McCurdy, cashier of the First National bank of Bellefonte, on Monday closed a deal for the purchase from Hon. A. G. Morris of the large brick residence on the south side of east Linn street, originally known as the Frank C. Montgomery residence. The house was occupied by Mr. Morris and family for a number of years past but they have moved across the street to their old home on the north side of Linn street. The price paid was $10,000, and Mr. McCurdy and sisters expect to move there from the Schadt property as soon as arrangements can be completed.

Mrs. Burket's House Burned.

The home of Mrs. Kate Reese Burket, on the old Reese homestead on the mountain two miles west of Fillmore, was burned to the ground at noon on Thursday of last week. Some of her household goods and six dollars in money were also burned. Mrs. Reese, who is eighty-seven years old, badly crippled with rheumatism and handicapped with failing eyesight, lived by herself in a small house on the old homestead farm. As luck would have it her brother, Aaron W. Reese, just happened to be there on a visit at the time the fire occurred. The flames were first discovered by A. H. Hoover and son George, who promptly ran to the house and with the aid of Mr. Reese succeeded in saving most of the contents of the house. Now that her little home has been destroyed Mrs. Reese for the present, at least, will live with her sister, Mrs. A. H. Hoover, on the old homestead.

Sixteen Dead Deer Found in Seven Mountains.

Officers of the Pennsylvania Department of Forestry in Centre county have found sixteen dead deer this spring on the Seven mountains. In each instance they were old does and yearling fawns, showing that the weaker animals in the herds could not survive the severe winter.

Another interesting fact is that they were all found in mountain streams or within a few feet of them. This may be due to the fact that protection is greater and food is more plentiful along streams when a deep snow covers the mountains.

A telephone line has been constructed between the Bear Meadows state forest and the Greenwood state forest, making it possible to talk from Boalsburg through the Seven mountains to Greenwood Furnace, or to the home of Ranger Reitz, above Charter Oak, in Huntingdon county. The line is twenty-seven miles long, connects the homes of all foresters and rangers on the two forests, the Little Flat tower and a number of state and private cabins. The primary use of the telephone line is for forest fire protection, but it also saves much time and expense in the administration of those two forests.

Trees Planted in Centre County.

More than 116,000 young forest trees have been planted on private lands in Centre county this spring, according to a report issued by Gifford Pinchot, chief forester of the Pennsylvania Department of Forestry. Trees were supplied without cost to twenty-six planters by the State Forestry Department.

The plantings were made as follows: White pine, 71,150; jack pine, 5,600; Norway spruce, 33,350; and 6803 others.

Went to Pittsburgh to Celebrate Golden Wedding.

Chaplain T. W. Young, of the western penitentiary, with Mrs. Young, went out to Pittsburgh on Thursday of last week to celebrate their golden wedding. Their anniversary fell on Sunday, the ninth, but the celebration was held on Saturday at the home of their daughter, Mrs. W. B. Epley, who was assisted in the arrangements for the event by their other daughter, Miss Isabel, who is also making her home in Pittsburgh, where she has a very good position. Inasmuch as their children were in that city they induced their father and mother to go out there in the belief that it would be a pleasant change for them. In addition to the immediate members of the family a few intimate friends were also present at the gathering which proved most delightful to all. The only absent member of the family was Chaplain and Mrs. Young's son Dr. Thomas W. Young, a practicing physician in California, who lives too far away from home to attend the gathering.

The "Watchman," of course, begs to extend congratulations to Chaplain and Mrs. Young. They came to Bellefonte just about four years ago, or on April 7th, 1916, when Rev. Young was appointed chaplain of the western penitentiary and in the few years they have lived here they have made many warm friends. They are not only consistent christian people but are good citizens in every way. While they are both getting along in years, a fact that is only natural considering that they have been married fifty years, the "Watchman" hopes they may both be spared to celebrate many more anniversaries.
