FOR AND ABOUT WOMEN.

DAILY THOUGHT. "When Spring unlocks the flowers to paint the laughing soil."

We must not shut our hearts against it. -Adam Hull Shirk.

A woman who is really famous in her set for her clever and original parties gave a tin shower to a friend who had been married ten years last week, and it was such a successful affair that I want to pass it along through this department. It could be followed for a shower for the engaged girl just as well by changing the words in the invitation a bit and would make a particularly appropriate party.

The invitations were so cunning.
The hostess had cut from the ads in the back of magazines pictures of various articles of tin ware and pasted them onto heavy paper, with a fold at one side or on top so they opened, booklet fashion. Inside she had written in silver ink:

Since Mary has been wed ten years Her tinware's most worn out, my dears. So pleast for Friday lunch drop in And bring her a brand new piece of tin. Take a pan, a colander, or something like that.

And trim it up so it looks like a hat. Her name and address and the hour of the luncheon were written under the verse. No one would believe, unless she saw them with her own eyes, the creations that those ten young women turned out. It was marvelous. The hostess asked as many of them as could to send the "hats" around early, and she had one room in the house fixed up like a display room in a millinery shop.

When they arrived on the noon of the day there wasn't a sign of a show-er anywhere. The table was a work of art. In the center was a bouquet of old-fashioned flowers, made up into a stiff, round nosegay, with a paper lace frill stuck into a large tin funnel, with lengths of silver gauze ribbon extending to each cover, where they were attached to the same kind of bouquets, only much smaller, in tispoons, etc., tied to the ends. These were found at the five and ten cent store, put up in sets on a card at the toy table. The effect was really very artistic and made a tremendous hit.

When luncheon was over they all adjourned to the room in which the display was arranged. Each hat had been numbered and every one was given a chance to vote on the most stunning and up-to-date hat. As I have said, it was wonderful what had been done. The prize went to the girl who had taken an angel cake tin and fastened it to a large round tin cover, with strips of adhesive tape for the foundation. A red and white checked tea towel was draped around the crown, ty turban was made of a small tin ba-sin, two dish cloths and a wire pot tall pudding mold, red crepe paper and a fly swatter made another. The second prize went to the baby's bon-the closet shelf, and the second a very pretty silver hatpin. When the hats had been presented to the guest of honor they adjourned to the living room, where they played cards until it was time to leave.

Another way of presenting the things to the guest of honor would be MERCANTILE APPRAISEMENT OF for the hostess to invite her to lunch and not tell her that any one else was coming. She could arrive first, and when she had gotten into the living room the rest of the guests could come in, one after the other, wearing the hats. The votes could be on the most becoming ones, and when they had been cast each one could go to the honor guest and present her hat to her. This could be done at a tea if the one giving the shower didn't feel she could go to the expense of a lunch-

Cheese is commonly regarded as an appetizer and a seasoning for other foods, but it is also a very satisfactory substitute for meat. It is rich in protein and energy, and, contrary to a prevailing impression, it is easily digested. Extensive digestion experiments carried on by the Department of Agriculture have demonstrated that more than 95 per cent. of the protein of cheese is digestible and 90 per cent. of its energy is available.

Fried sweet potatoes and bacon will be a new dish on many tables. This is also a Virginia dish and when served with light corn bread forms a most toothsome combination. Peel and slice the potatoes into lengthwise strips. Fry breakfast bacon crisp, then lift it out of the fat and set where it will keep hot yet not fry out. Drop the potatoes into the hot fat and fry brown and tender. Heap the potatoes in the center of a serving platter and arrange the bacon around the edge.

Chocolate Fruit Cookies.—Cream thoroughly together one half of a cupful of butter and one cupful of sugar; mix together two tablespoonfuls of grated chocolate, one tablespoonful of sugar and two tablespoonfuls of water and cook for a moment or two over the fire, until smooth, then add to the butter and sugar. Add two well beat-en eggs, one cupful of seeded and chopped raisins, one pint of flour, in which is mixed one teaspoonful of baking powder; then add more flour, until just stiff enough to roll out quite thin. Bake in a moderate oven. The slip-on corset of heavy elastic webbing and quite devoid of boning is a novelty of the moment.

The little balloon sleeves of 1830 are in evidence again and are as picturesque as ever.

Paris has put the stamp of approval on chemise dresses once more,

which is welcome news to every woman who knows the comfort of this type

Blouses of plaid taffeta in combina-tions of bright colors are among the blouse novelties for spring.

Fight the Forest Fires.

Harrisburg, Pa.—Every timberland owner in Centre county, with holdings of 500 acres or more, has been sent a letter by Gifford Pinchot, the State's chief forester, requesting assistance in the prevention of forest fires. A copy of the Forest Fire Hazard Law of Pennsylvania, was mailed with these letters, together with a statement of Forest page 15. partment of Forestry regarding its enforcement. Commenting on the enforcement of the Act, Commissioner Pinchot said:

"My responsibility, under the law, is clear. I am very anxious, however, not to use harsh measures. I am convinced that the great majority of Pennsylvania timberland owners will be glad, as good citizens, to comply with the law when their attention is definitely directed to their responsibility under it. The others, if there be any, can be dealt with as the law

Forester Pinchot asked the owners whose properties adjoin the right of way of all railroads in Centre county to permit the clearing of safety strips, 100 feet wide, on both sides of the tracks. Representatives of the leading railroads have agreed to clear the safety strips providing the necessary permission can be procured from abutting owners.

He expressed the hope that the timber land owners would maintain, during the fire season, spring and fall, one forest fire patrolman upon each 5,000 acres. An agreement to that effect was recently made between owners of large tracts of timberland and the Pennsylvania Department of Forestry in a conference at Harris-

State Students to Cruise in Pacific with Middies.

State College.—Six Penn State undergraduates have answered a call from the U.S. Naval Reserve for practical service, and in a short time will embark on a training ship with quets had a "shower" of narrow silver ribbons, with little knives, forks, in Pacific waters during the coming summer. Some have already left their studies here and have gone home to prepare for the trip. One of them, J. C. Dolan, of Roxbury, Mass., was for two years private secretary to Senator Cummings, of Iowa, and has been assigned to duty as stenographer on one of the battleships that will accompany the training ship. Others who will take this opportunity to put in their training as Naval Reserves are R. M. Swift, Lancaster; A. H. Silverstein, Easton; George C. Reeser, Mt. Union; Paul L. Kellar and Samuel N. Thacher, of Philadelphia.

Traditional Hate.

A woman recently engaged a new ened together at one side. A very nif- maid with whose appearance and manner she was greatly pleased. een agreed up-When th scraper for a stick-up at the side. A tall pudding mold, red crepe paper "Now, my last maid was much too friendly with the policemen. I hope net, made of a round wire strainer, with two little strainers at the sides for rosettes, and long strings of blue ribbon fastened under them.

The first prize was a hatstand for the closet shelf, and the second a new round it. that I can trust you.'

> They are all good enough, but the "Watchman" is always the best.
