Lumbering activities in Green's valley have been stopped on order from the Forestry Department at State College and the men who have been employed there are now looking for new jobs. The Huyett-McNitt Lumber Co. and the Bilger Bros. are now engaged in transporting their lumber from the scene of their former operations to the Pleasant Gap station to be shipped to market.

Everybody in Bellefonte knows that it has been almost impossible this spring to get a man to dig garden or do any of the hundred or more odd jobs that somebody is always wanting done, and yet last Friday morning upwards of fifty able-bodied men were lined up on the bridge and pavement on north Water street watching Dr. J. J. Kilpatrick wading the stream and fishing for trout; and he wasn't catching any fish, either.

If you have that worried, tired feeling after a hard day's work don't resort to "pink pills for pale people," but go to the scenic and see the motion pictures. You will promptly forget your worries over the day's work, that tired feeling will leave you and you'll go home refreshed and ready for a good night's sleep. Only the best of pictures are shown at the scenic and every evening's program contains something that will interest and entertain you.

The subject of the next State health lesson will be adenoids. Some one has said: "Adenoids open the door to the insane asylum." This is perhaps exaggerated but the fact remains that the presence of adenoids is invariably accompanied by a stunted growth and dull mentality, often to a marked degree, and their removal is usually followed by rapid restoration to the normal. Four per cent. of all school children are afflicted with adenoids. The condition may be easily corrected. Therefore knowledge on this subject is worth while. Read the State health lesson in today's paper.

The people of Bellefonte generally, but visitors from out of town especially, who attended the High school commencement last week were much impressed with the work done by the boys of the manual training department, but how many of them knew that the very serviceable concrete walk which has been put down along the south side of the school grounds was also the work of the boys? Concrete work was a part of the practical training and instruction they were given during the school term, and in recognition of their work in this direction the Civic club, at the last meeting of the club voted to donate $25.00 to be appropriated to the purchase of equipment for the manual training department and it will be placed in the fund now being accumulated for the purpose of securing a band saw and lathe.

FABRICATING PLANT A GOOD PROSPECT.

Business Men's Association to Sell Fifty Thousand Dollars in Bonds.

During the past two or three months Dr. C. T. Hennig, of Bellefonte, who has a big financial interest in the Nickel-Alloys plant at Hyde City, has been working out plans to take over the old Titan Metal Co. plant at Milesburg and turn it into a fabricating plant for the manufacture of various kitchen and household utensils, milk cans and such like, using for this purpose the nickel-alloy metal produced at the Hyde City plant. Dr. Hennig's first move was to interest outside capital in his coveted enterprise sufficient to guarantee working capital and a good market for his manufactured product. His next step was to secure a lease of the Milesburg plant with an option on the purchase of same, then the project was put up to the Business Men's Association of Centre county with the request that they take or dispose of bonds in the new concern to the amount of fifty thousand dollars.

The matter was carefully considered at several meetings and on Tuesday evening Dr. Hennig and H. C. Taylor, of Bellows Falls, Vt., one of the men especially interested in seeing the plant located here, appeared before the association and explained in detail what their object was and what the plant would mean for Bellefonte and community. The result was the association voted to undertake the disposal of bonds to the amount above specified, and a committee was appointed to confer further with Dr. Hennig and Mr. Taylor and also to solicit subscriptions for bonds in the new concern. The committee, with Dr. Hennig and Mr. Taylor, held two hours' conference on Wednesday morning and arranged all the preliminaries and the movement to sell the bonds will be started at once.

This is rendered necessary from the fact that the new company desires to take over the old Titan Metal plant within a few days, or just as soon as the Titan company gets all their material removed therefrom. The plans now provide for the installation of machinery at once so that work can be started by July first. It is not the intention of the promoters to start in very big in the beginning. The idea is to open up with ten or twelve workmen and get them thoroughly acquainted with the work, and as time passes gradually increase the force as necessity demands. Of course the ultimate size of the plant will depend entirely on the future demand of the product manufactured, but the range of possibilities is so wide and varied that it would seem as if there is hardly any limit to it.

The various utensils that the new firm proposes to manufacture are now made by dozens of small firms scattered all over the country. Dr. Hennig's idea is to centralize the manufacture of all such utensils in the one big plant here and inasmuch as the interests back of the new firm will be able to handle all the product turned out it really looks like a good thing. And more especially because of the quality of the nickel-alloy metal which will be used in the manufacture of the utensils, and which is admittedly far superior to any of the metals now used in such utensils.

Aviator Robinson Flying Again.

Mail aviator Fred W. Robinson, who was so badly injured six weeks or more ago when his plane fell at Heller's field, Newark, has entirely recovered and on Saturday made his first flight since his accident bringing the mail to Bellefonte from New York. The rain in the east and low-hanging clouds made it a nasty day for flying and pilot Robinson was up five hours but he finally landed his cargo of mail safely on the Bellefonte field. On Sunday he flew back to New York, making the flight in the usual time.

On Sunday pilot Wesley L. Smith took the mail from Bellefonte to Cleveland and after landing safely there decided to accompany the pilot on the western end of the route from Cleveland to Chicago. The flight was to be made in a Martin bomber and in the machine were the regular pilot, his mechanic and Smith as passenger. The machine took to the air all right but had not gotten fully under way when one of the motors went bad, the machine went into a tail spin and fell to the ground. The mechanic was killed, the regular pilot was very badly injured while pilot W. L. Smith sustained cuts and bruises, but his condition is not considered serious.

Sunday School Conference.

The Centre county Lutheran Sunday school conference will be held at Boalsburg Wednesday afternoon and evening, June 16th. At a recent meeting of the board of school directors of Spring township the school tax millage was increased from 14 to 15 mills, and a poll tax of $2.00 was laid on each voter in the district. Who Has the Guns?

One hundred guns and belts were borrowed from State College for the use of Troop L soldiers on Memorial day. In checking up since the officers have found three guns and belts missing. These guns and belts have been charged to Troop L, and while it is not believed that the guns were stolen, it is merely thought that some persons have so far failed to return them to the armory, and request is hereby made that they be returned at once so that they can be taken back to State College.

Wool Marketing.

At a meeting of the sales committee of the Centre county Sheep and Wool Growers association on Saturday evening, June 5th, it was decided to rent a store room and collect the wool as soon as possible. To date wool marketing agreements have been returned to the extent of 75,000 pounds of wool. A great many sheep men have neglected to send in their marketing agreements. However, in order that the sales committee may know exactly the amount of storage room required it will be necessary that all marketing agreements are in the Farm Bureau office not later than June 15th. If you have some wool better send in your agreement blank before you forget it.

Children Wander from Home, One Dead When Found.

Annie and Julia Tokarchek, six and four years old, children of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Tokarchek, of Rush township, left their home about two miles south of Oseola Mills last Thursday morning to go to the woods on the hunt of teaberries. Failing to return that day a diligent search was made for the two little girls but without any fruitful result. As time passed more men and women joined in the search, and the state constabulary of Philipsburg started an investigation under the supposition that they might have been kidnapped, but Monday evening the little tots were found in the woods about three miles from the parents' home. But it was a sad finding as the youngest was dead from exhaustion and the elder one so famished she could hardly stand up. The children had wandered so far away from home in their search for teaberries that they became lost and the more they strove to get out of the woods the more bewildered they became. The great mystery of the search is how they escaped being found sooner by the hundreds of people who were out looking for them day and night.

Graduation Supper for Miss Bent.

Mr. and Mrs. James G. Bent gave a supper on Sunday evening in honor of the graduation of their daughter, Miss Catherine V. Bent, which proved a most delightful affair to all present. Miss Bent was the recipient of many beautiful gifts, among them being a gold locket and chain, a lavalier and gold bracelets. Many friends of the young lady were present among them being Francis L. Sullivan, William A. Buckley, Edward M. Longee, Arthur R. Lorrain and Misses Mildred Ryan, Carolyn Longee, Mary Rush and Marie Buckley, all of Boston, Massachusetts, where the Bents formerly lived; Andrew G. Knapik, John S. Knapik, Melvin R. Wade, Thomas A. Todsock, Patrick L. Torsell and Misses Marjorie Wagner, Beatrice Yergler, Helen Martin, Agnes Dersztine and Dorothy Hassinger, of Bellefonte.

After the supper had been disposed of the young people spent the evening in dancing and games. Owing to the approaching marriage of Mr. Buckley and Miss Longee the Massachusetts young folks left on Tuesday for their homes in Boston, expressing regret, however, that they were unable to stay longer, as they all were delighted with Bellefonte and the people they met while here.

Christian Endeavor Rally.

Regardless of the rain and bad roads another very successful district Christian Endeavor rally was held at the Paradise United Brethren church, near Waddle, on Tuesday evening of this week. Fifty-one persons were present from Houserville and Lemont, thirty-seven from Paradise, twenty-seven from Bellefonte and seven from Valley View. Rev. Geo. E. Smith, district president, was in charge. Devotions were conducted by R. H. Grove. George Kelly and daughter Edna sang a beautiful duet entitled, "No Tears." J. H. Schreck talked on some of the essentials of our christian well being, after which Mr. Kelly and Rev. Smith sang "I've Had a Glimpse of Jesus."

An interesting feature of the rally was a debate between John R. Schreck and Mrs. H. B. Baisor on the question: "Resolved that for the extension of the Kingdom consecrated money is as essential as consecrated life." The judges were R. H. Grove, Mrs. Joseph Thomas and Mrs. Fern Ackley and they decided in favor of the negative. It was decided to hold the next rally at Runville in July if the road is in shape for travel, otherwise it will be held in Bellefonte. The rally closed with an inspiring musical selection by the young men's class of the Houserville Sunday school.

Delegates from the various societies in the district who expect to attend the Allegheny branch convention in Johnstown June 15-17 inclusive, should take the 9:15 a. m. train west next Tuesday.

Only ten more days until summer will be here, according to the official calendar.

BIG CONSERVATION PICNIC.

To be Held June 25th on Col. Boal's Estate, Boalsburg.

Early in the spring representative men from every section of Centre county, interested in the conservation of the forests and fields, fish, game, song birds and wild life generally, met at the home of Col. Theodore Davis Boal, at Boalsburg, and decided that the best way to interest the people generally was to organize a Centre county conservation association, and to do so successfully it was deemed advisable to hold a big conservation picnic at a time that would be deemed most auspicious for a large attendance.

To arrange for such a gathering the following committee was appointed: J. A. Ferguson, State College, chairman; David Chambers, Snow Shoe; S. Ward Gramley, Millheim; J. Will Maves, Howard; George R. Meek, Bellefonte; and Ralph A. Smith, Sandy Ridge. The committee has selected as the date for the meeting Friday, June 25th, at 2 o'clock p. m. The gathering will be in the shape of a basket picnic to be held on the Boal picnic grounds and the public has the option of going in the morning and spending the entire day there or getting there for the afternoon meeting.

It was the sentiment of those present at the initial meeting that while there are many groups of people in Centre county interested in special phases of the conservation movement, there is no central organization for correlating the efforts of the different groups and for extending the conservation movement in its many branches; that there is such work to be done in Centre county in reforesting denuded and idle forest and waste lands, in the interest of game and fish and water conservation as well as in providing for a future supply of timber for the people of the county, in restocking farm woodlots with forest trees, in the planting of shade trees along highways and about schools and churches, in the stocking of our streams with fish, in the prevention of stream pollution, in the introduction and protection of game animals and birds, in the protection of song birds, in the introduction and protection of wild flowers, in promoting the use of our forests and streams for camping and for other recreational purposes, and in the education of the people of the county and the children of our schools in the right use of all these resources.

Arrangements are being made to have State officials interested in various phases of the conservation movement present. Governor William C. Sprull will be invited, and since he is a man intensely interested in the conservation movement, there is every reason to hope he will attend. Governor Pinchot, Forestry Commissioner, N. E. Buller, State Fish Commissioner, and Seth Gordon, State Game Commissioner, have all expressed their interest in the movement and have promised to be present. There will be talks by representative men from the different parts of the county and from State College.

Go and spend a day at Col. Boal's picnic grounds at Boalsburg. There are buildings in case it rains, spring water from the mountains, and every convenience for your comfort. The splendid exhibit of war relics collected by Col. Boal are housed on the grounds and can be inspected. It is planned to have music during the day.
