THE FISHING OUTFIT.

You may talk of stylish raiment, You may boast your broadcloth line, And the price you give in payment...

THE DOG AND THE CROOK

This is only partially a dog story. Otherwise it is a man story. man and intelligent. His dog "Doc" was an Airdale, and his goodness and intelligence were not recognized so generally as they were entitled to be recognized.

"Doc" never liked Henry Bross, who for six months of a certain seedtime and harvest worked at the Kent farm. He would not make up with him.

Henry Bross was well thought of by the Kent family. He resigned his job on the 10th of October to go to the city. Only "Doc" was glad. He trailed the man down to the road with never a tail-wag, and then, having watched him go over the hill towards the railway station, wagged his tail back to the house.

"Queer," said Mr. Kent, thoughtfully. "Doc, old boy, what's wrong with Henry?" The animal answered the question later.

Mr. Kent arose one morning to find his automobile gone. Also to find his dog gone. Shortly after breakfast the dog came back. He was very weary and was spattered with mud.

The deputy drew his pistol and fired. The man stopped and put up his hands. "Fine!" grunted the sheriff. "Go get him."

"Your car?" asked the sheriff when the man stood before him. "Mine and my partner's." "Where is your partner?" "Gone over yonder for gasoline."

"Look!" whispered the deputy. "Follow the dog's nose. See!" There he was with a gasoline can, edging out of the woods. He's the foxy bird of the two.

"Henry Bross!" muttered Mr. Kent. "Watch close!" commanded the sheriff. "There! I knew it! He's seen us. We'll have to run if we get him. Shoot, Bill. Maybe he's as yellow as his partner. What the—"

With a growl which was almost a roar "Doc" leapt forward, and in less than three minutes later when Henry Bross meekly clambered down from a tree at the sheriff's request.

"How much for the dog, Kent?" asked the sheriff, as they stopped at the Kent place on the return trip. "You're owing him something, for I fear these birds would have got clean away if it hadn't been for him."

"Not for sale, Sheriff," replied Mr. Kent. And then, obeying a sudden impulse, he dropped to one knee and put an arm affectionately around "Doc's" neck. "You good old—misunderstood—Unappreciated—brother!" he whispered brokenly.

More Sugar for You. People who have soft-pedaled the sugar bowl for six years may be interested in the statement that crop conditions on July 1 promised an increase in next fall's sugar production in the United States; an increase amounting to, approximately, 333,000 tons or enough to load a train of freight cars 70 or 75 miles long, allowing 40 tons per car. This prospective crop is equal to more than 22 pounds of sugar for every man, woman, and child within the United States, and the increase over last year equals more than six pounds per person. The sugar-beet crop this year covers almost a million acres as against the 5-year average of about two-thirds of a million; and the growing conditions on July 1 were about the 10 year average.

INDIAN SYMBOLS

To the old-time Indian warrior the wearing of feathers was a serious matter. He adopted only the feathers of certain birds and wore them in accordance with well-understood law and custom.

He held in high honor the eagle, the raven and the falcon, commonly called the hawk. The owl and some of the waterfowl, such as the loon, the cormorant and the pelican, played a minor part in Indian myths and folklore, for in the warriors' codes and emblems only the dashing and courageous birds of prey were permitted to appear—the eagle standing first.

The feathers of this bird were highly prized, since they stood for brave deeds. They were variously worn among different tribes. Perhaps the best and completest system was developed by the Sioux nation, a system that their neighbors on the plains gradually adopted.

No Sioux could wear an eagle's tail feather unless he had counted a coup, or stroke, upon an enemy dead or alive, yet he was able to count no coup, he was witness of the deed; but if he was alone when he made the coup, to obtain the feather he must have unmistakable proof.

There were four coup counts on each enemy. If a man struck an enemy in a hand-to-hand battle and got away without being killed or even seriously hurt, he could count one coup, but he might not kill his foe and yet be able to count no coup.

The eagle feather is the only one that represented a coup given in battle, but other feathers and subsidiary trimmings were used to express various degrees of courage and endurance. For example, a group of raven on the sides indicated that the wearer had been wounded in a battle more than once. A single goose feather dyed red and trimmed meant that the wearer was severely wounded in battle. Sometimes a man wore an eagle feather dyed or trimmed, meaning that he was wounded at the time he counted the coup. An eagle feather with a notch dyed red meant that the wearer counted the coup and took the scalp also, but was wounded while accomplishing it.

Perhaps he had the feather cut off at the tip, showing that he had killed his foe and counted the coup on the same day. If he had a desperate battle, with the odds against him, in which he came off victorious, he might tip his eagle's feather with buffalo hair; and if he counted coup in a charge on horseback in the face of imminent danger, he was privileged to tip the feather with hair from a horse's tail.

Sometimes an acknowledged warrior decorated his long pipestem or the handle of his war club. But no Indian wore the honorable insignia of another; in fact, he wore only what had been awarded to him in due course by the council of his tribe.

The Boy Scouts may, if they choose, adapt this system to the honors counted in their organization, grading the various exploits in accordance with the real manhood needed to accomplish them.

Paid for His Paper and Costs.

The Court of Common Pleas of Lawrence County recently decided a small case involving $5.40 in the interest of a newspaper published in that county. It appears from the evidence that a carrier delivered a paper for a year and several months to one Henry Seiber who refused to pay for it because he hadn't ordered it. Seiber accepted the paper and the carrier read it. The court in instructing the jury said among other things that Seiber by not refusing the paper was party to an implied contract to pay for what he got on the same theory that if a merchant delivers groceries to the wrong house and the person who got the groceries used them, he was liable, or a man called to do a day's work in a garden and gets in the wrong lot and works a day with the knowledge of the owner of the lot, the man who received the benefit of that man's work was under obligations to pay for the labor, or the man who cleans another's premises while the owner looks on without ordering the workman to stop, there is an implied contract to pay for that man's service.

The decision by the court in directing verdict against the man who read the paper in favor of the publisher is not new as the question has been decided by many of the lower courts and upheld by appellate courts of nearly every State in the Union.—Huntingdon News.

Infected Areas are Under Scrutiny.

Ebensburg, July 29, 1920.—Inspectors D. C. Reese and H. L. Roberts of the Potato Wart Quarantine Office here, today began the work of visiting gardens in the districts quarantined for Potato Wart Disease in order to ascertain whether or not each person who has planted potatoes has the necessary permit. During these visits the inspectors are counting the rows, and the length so that when digging time comes in the fall there will be no mistake as to the amount to be inspected. Every grower of potatoes in infected areas should read the reverse side of the permit, with special attention to paragraph 2, which provides for the present and future in prohibiting the digging, harvesting or removal from the soil of any potatoes grown under the permit except in the presence and with the consent of an authorized inspector or by his written permission. All persons concerned will be visited prior to the time of digging to arrange dates for the inspection of the crop. The foregoing applies only to the Boroughs of Nant-y-Glo, Vintondale, Willy with the adjoining area of Washington township, villages of Dunlo and Llanfair with the adjoining area of Adams township, borough of Oseola Mills, with the adjoining area of Rush township (Newtown), Snow Shoe borough with the adjoining area of Snow Shoe township, (Clarence).

For information regarding any matters connected with the Potato Wart Quarantine in the districts named, people interested are requested to write or phone to the Potato Wart Quarantine office, room 203, Cambria Trust Building, Ebensburg, or Bell phone 21-M.

Something Else Again.

PROPOSED AMENDMENTS TO THE CONSTITUTION SUBMITTED TO THE CITIZENS OF THE COMMONWEALTH FOR THEIR APPROVAL OR REJECTION BY THE GENERAL ASSEMBLY OF PENNSYLVANIA, AND PUBLISHED BY ORDER OF THE SECRETARY OF THE COMMONWEALTH IN PURSUANCE OF ARTICLE XVIII OF THE CONSTITUTION.

Number One. A JOINT RESOLUTION

Proposing an amendment to section eleven of article sixteen of the Constitution of Pennsylvania. Be it resolved by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met, That the following amendment to the Constitution of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania be, and the same is hereby proposed, in accordance with the eighteenth article thereof:—

Section 1. Be it resolved by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met, That the following amendment to the Constitution of Pennsylvania be, and the same is hereby proposed, in accordance with the eighteenth article thereof:—

Section 1. Be it resolved by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met, That the following amendment to the Constitution of Pennsylvania be, and the same is hereby proposed, in accordance with the eighteenth article thereof:—

Section 1. Be it resolved by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met, That the following amendment to the Constitution of Pennsylvania be, and the same is hereby proposed, in accordance with the eighteenth article thereof:—

Section 1. Be it resolved by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met, That the following amendment to the Constitution of Pennsylvania be, and the same is hereby proposed, in accordance with the eighteenth article thereof:—

Section 1. Be it resolved by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met, That the following amendment to the Constitution of Pennsylvania be, and the same is hereby proposed, in accordance with the eighteenth article thereof:—

other municipality or incorporated district, except as provided herein, and in section fifteen of this article, shall never be increased in such amount that the total city debt of said city shall not exceed ten per centum (10) upon the assessed value of the taxable property therein, but the debt of the city of Philadelphia, as provided in section fifteen of this article, shall never be increased in such amount that the total city debt of said city shall not exceed ten per centum (10) upon the assessed value of the taxable property therein, nor shall any such municipality or district incur any new debt, or increase its indebtedness to an amount exceeding two (2) per centum upon such assessed valuation of property, without the consent of the electors thereof at a public election in such manner as shall be provided by law. In ascertaining the borrowing capacity of the city of Philadelphia, at any time, there shall be deducted from such debt so much of the debt of said city as shall have been incurred, or is about to be incurred, and the proceeds thereof expended, or about to be expended, upon any public improvement, or in the construction, purchase, or condemnation of any public utility, or part thereof, or facility therefor, if such public improvement, public utility, or part thereof, whether separately or in connection with any other public improvement or public utility, were paid for, or may reasonably be expected to yield revenue in excess of operating expenses sufficient to pay the interest and sinking fund charges thereon. The method of determining such amount, so to be deducted, may be prescribed by the General Assembly.

In incurring indebtedness for any purpose the city of Philadelphia may issue its obligations maturing not later than fifty (50) years from the date thereof, with provision for sinking fund sufficient to retire said obligations at maturity, the same to be paid out of the general fund, or equal or graded annual or other periodical installments. Where any indebtedness shall have been incurred by the city of Philadelphia for the purpose of the construction or improvements of public works or utilities of any character, from which income or revenue is to be derived by said city, or for the reclamation of land to be used in the construction of wharves or docks owned or to be owned by said city, such obligations may be in whole or in part secured by a sinking fund, which may include the amount of the interest and sinking fund charges accruing and unpaid on such obligations, and until the expiration of one year after the completion of the work for which said indebtedness shall have been incurred; and said city shall not be required to levy a tax to pay such interest and sinking fund charges as required by section ten, article nine of the Constitution of Pennsylvania, until the expiration of said period of one year after the completion of said work.

MEDICAL

A Safe Test

For those who are in need of a remedy for kidney troubles and backache, it is a good plan to try Doan's Kidney Pills. They are strongly recommended by Bellefonte people.

Mrs. J. F. Thal, 23 N. Thomas St., Bellefonte, says: "I suffered with backache and severe pains through my kidneys. I had headaches and dizzy spells, when I first got up in the morning and my kidneys acted irregularly. My attention was called to Doan's Kidney Pills and I heard of so many being benefited by their use that I procured a box at the Green Pharmacy Co. That one box removed the backache. The headaches and dizzy spells left and my kidneys became regular and I felt better in every way. I cheerfully recommend Doan's to anyone who suffers as I did." (Statement given October 19, 1916.)

On October 18, 1918 Mrs. Thal said: "I am very glad to confirm my former endorsement of Doan's Kidney Pills. Today I am a well woman and to recommend Doan's is a pleasure."

Price 60c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mrs. Thal had. Foster-Milburn Co., Mrs., Buffalo, N. Y. 65-31.
