Cards have been received in Bellefonte announcing the arrival of a little daughter at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harris B. Heylman, of Philadelphia. The little stranger, who is their first born, arrived on July 18th, and has been named Ruth Rippey Heylman.

An examination for clerks and carriers will be held at the Bellefonte postoffice on August 14th. Under the recent increase granted postoffice employees salaries to start are now $1,200 a year. Applications for examination blanks should be made at the postoffice.

The cider press of the Bierly brothers, at Milesburg, was sold at public sale last Saturday along with the other personal property belonging to the estate. It was purchased by Austin Walker, of Boggs township, for $700, who plans to operate it this fall in converting at least a portion of the abundant apple crop into cider.

The Bellefonte baseball team went over to Philipsburg yesterday to test out their skill against the fast nine of that place. No report of the outcome of the game had been received up to the time the Watchman went to press, but we have no doubt but that the Bellefonte boys gave a good account of themselves. So far they have won every game played on Hughes field in this place.

One of the first county fairs to be held in this part of the State will be the big fair at Lewistown, which will begin on August 31st and close September 3rd. Over five thousand dollars in purses have been hung up for the big racing events and all told the management will present a very attractive program for the week. See advertisement elsewhere in this paper.

The Lewistown troop of Boy Scouts is camping in the Seven mountains just beyond Walter Gherity's, and on Tuesday about a dozen of them hiked it to Bellefonte, spending a few hours taking in the sights of the town, then hiked it back to camp. Wednesday they took a hike to State College, from which it must be admitted that the Lewistown boys are strong on leg work, at least.

'Hands' is the title of this week's State health lesson. Hands sometimes play an important part in the transmission of disease. Their multitude of uses often brings them in contact with infective germs which are conveyed in food and drink to the mouth. If the practice of washing the hands before eating were universal, the toll of many diseases would be lessened.

Pennsylvanians who may attend the annual reunion of the Eightieth division at Richmond, Va., September 4th to 6th, will have an opportunity of hearing that gifted singer, Mrs. Christine Miller Clemson, of Pittsburg, who will attend the memorial services on Sunday, September 5th, and remain for the reception and ball the following night. Mrs. Clemson, by the way, is the wife of Daniel M. Clemson, a native of Centre county, now the Pittsburgh millionaire.

W. Harrison Walker, Esq., chairman of Group 3, third federal reserve district, has had his scope of usefulness in selling war savings stamps and certificates materially enlarged. In fact, he has been made assistant to the director in charge of county activities and placed in charge of the forty-eight counties in central and eastern Pennsylvania. As Group 3 includes but twenty-four counties chairman Walker's territory has been exactly doubled, but all his friends have confidence to believe that he will size up to the job.

A LIST OF ACCIDENTS.

State College Student Killed in Auto Accident.

Edward E. Owens, who would have been a Senior next year at The Pennsylvania State College, was instantly killed last Friday afternoon when the auto which he was driving was struck by a locomotive on a grade crossing in York county, and Dr. H. H. Havner, of the department of animal husbandry at the College, who was with him, was seriously injured.

Owens, who was regarded one of the brightest students in the agricultural course at the College, was spending his summer vacation as an assistant in the York county farm bureau, and with Dr. Havner had been out in the country inspecting a drove of hogs on the farm of a member of the Brutz Creek Hog Breeders' association. They were returning to York and failed to observe the approach of an engine running light with the result that the auto was struck and Owens was hurled a distance of thirty feet, being dead when picked up. Dr. Havner was thrown about fifteen feet and sustained a broken leg and other injuries, which though serious, are not regarded as fatal. He was taken to the Hallam hospital for treatment.

Edward E. Owens, the young man who lost his life, lived with his mother and family at State College. He was a veteran of the world war, in which he served as a lieutenant. In addition to his mother he is survived by three sisters and two brothers. The remains were taken to State College and from there to Tyrone where burial was made on Tuesday.

DR. VAN VALIN HURT IN ACCIDENT

Dr. C. A. VanValin, of Unionville and Bellefonte, was hurt in an auto accident last Wednesday afternoon while motoring to Eagles Mere with his son. According to the doctor's story they were motoring along quite a narrow stretch of roadway along the lower side of which was a stone wall some three or four feet in height, with no guard rail. The road was up grade and the doctor had his foot on the accelerator and thinks that in some way his coat sleeve caught the spark lever and pulled it up a little with the result that the car, a five passenger Nash, shot suddenly forward and a little to the left and fearing they would run into the bank the doctor's son grabbed the wheel and swung it to the right and quick as a flash the car shot across the road, between two trees and down over the stone wall. It then rolled down an embankment some forty feet from where it left the road.

The doctor had one of the bones in his left hand broken and sustained a laceration on the head. His son sustained a cut and a few bruises but nothing serious. The left rear wheel of the car was completely wrecked, the radiator badly damaged, fenders bent, windshield broken and top more or less damaged, but the body of the car had hardly a scratch on it.

MINOR ACCIDENTS

John M. Shugert and party occurred in an accident on Sunday evening in which, fortunately, nobody was badly injured but the two cars were badly damaged. Mr. Shugert with his son George and daughter Molly, and John Curtin, were down at the Country club. They left there about 8:30 o'clock and coming out to the main road they saw a car coming down the road at a fast clip. George Shugert was at the wheel and he gave all the warning he could to the automobilists but they didn't slacken speed. The Shugert car got out onto the State highway and slowed down, and when almost upon them the driver of the speeding car saw the Shugert car. He promptly put on both brakes in an effort to stop but the momentum of the car was such that it promptly began to zigzag and as it was passing the Shugert car it bumped into the left side of it, crushing the running board and bending the fenders down onto the wheels.

The Shugert car was stopped and looking backward to see what had become of the other party Mr. Shugert saw the car turned upside down alongside the road. He and his party jumped out of their car and ran back to the wrecked one and by that time the occupants were crawling out from beneath the ruins. There were two young men and two young women, and the only one injured was one of the young women who had a cut on her wrist, sustained from flying glass from the broken windshield.

It was a State College party and the young men gave their names as Poorman and Krebs. The driver admitted to Mr. Shugert that the accident was all his fault, that he had been talking and not watching the road and when he saw his car so near he simply lost his head. He offered to do anything he could to make amends, but Mr. Shugert is disposed to let the men off without paying him for the damage to his car. Not only that, but he brought the entire party to Bellefonte, took the injured girl to a doctor and thus did his part toward getting them back to the College that night.

Paul King, of Valley View, met with an accident on Sunday in which he badly damaged his Ford car and he and another young man with him sustained some bruises and a good shaking up. While driving along near Valley View he lost control of the steering wheel with the result that the car was not only ditched but turned upside down. It was hauled in to the Beatty garage for repairs.

Among the increases in the salaries of Pennsylvania postmasters last week was that at Port Matilda to $1300 a year.

On Saturday only - Huyler's dollar box of candy at the City Bakery.

Wonder what has become of some of the big trout that inhabited Spring creek between the bridge and the falls all summer. The most notable decrease in number is apparent right below the falls, and peculiar as it may seem, they all happened to migrate (if they did migrate) one night last week. At least a large number was in evidence below the falls one day and the next they were very scarce. Of course, Bellefonte don't have any fishermen who would go in there at night and scoop out the trout, so they must have migrated.

The Wion Garage, of this place, has just delivered to Joseph Diehl, of Howard, a handsome Nash Sedan. The car was driven through from Buffalo on Tuesday with Mr. Wion, himself, as pilot. He left Buffalo at eleven o'clock and arrived in Howard at 4 a. m., Wednesday morning, having made the run with less fatigue than any long trip he had taken previously, which speaks volumes for the riding quality of the Nash. The car is both handsome and commodious. It is painted a cobalt blue and the perfectly plain upholstery is in toupie plush.

The early huckleberry crop is very small on most of the mountains in Centre county this year. Down in the eastern end of the county, where bushes of them were gathered and shipped in past years, comparatively few have been offered for shipment this year. On Bald Eagle mountain they are so scarce that pickers have given up in despair. Whether the late berries will provide a better crop remains to be seen. One reason for the scarcity is the few mountain fires of the past few years, and the consequent increase in the density of the undergrowth.

Over one hundred members of the Bellefonte Presbyterian church this week received modestly printed brochures containing a story of the life work of Mrs. Eva McKean Hawes, wife of Dr. George Edward Hawes, pastor of the Market square Presbyterian church, Harrisburg, who passed away on January 23rd, 1920. The little booklet, which was printed and distributed by the Market Square church, contains a good picture of the late Mrs. Hawes and in addition to a brief history of her church activities, includes the various memoriam adopted by the different societies with which she had been affiliated at various periods of her life.

The Philadelphia North American, that rabid prohibition organ gave space to a long special from Washington on Monday which contained the candid admission that the Eighteenth amendment was a farce. The article in question admitted that any man who had the cash could get all the liquor he wanted at any time and in most any place, even in hide-bound District of Columbia. And the national enforcement officer blames it all on the fact that he was given only $4,500,000 with which to enforce the Volstead act. While we are not conversant with conditions generally throughout the country recent indications show that there's some of it floating around in this section of the State, too; as evidenced by the number of old-timers seen within the past week who evidently had gotten a snoutful somewhere.

The writer has always been just a little bit skeptical as to the potato wart disease and all the various other diseases and blights that scientists are unearthing from time to time, but we are now convinced regarding the potato wart, at least, because of the fact that A. B. Steele, of Bellefonte, brought to this office on Monday a good sized tuber which was literally covered with warts. The potato came from his own garden and was one of two he found there. An examination of the potato through a magnifying glass makes the warty surface look like the hide of an elephant, while some of the warts look like festering sores. While the potato inside looks not unlike any other potato, for eating purposes we would much prefer them without the warts, and anything that the State Department of Agriculture can do to combat the disease should receive the heartiest encouragement from the farmers generally.

Just now, when harness making is not so much in demand as it used to be before the advent of the automobile, there are few calls for horse equipment other than heavy work harness for farm animals. Therefore, the Hon. James Schofield cannot be blamed for manifesting some surprise a few weeks ago when Steve Mattis, the Austrian, of Verona Hill, appeared at his shop and ordered a fifty dollar set of double driving harness for that little team of Texas burros he drives around the town. Of course the Hon. Jim accepted the order then turned it over to Harry Ward, his assistant, to execute. The greatest trouble they experienced was in securing collars and hames small enough for the little animals, but they finally got them and last Saturday Mr. Mattis lifted his harness, as proud in their possession as if he had gotten an automobile. He recently secured a small buggy, and with his new buggy, new harness and Texas burros he can drive around the countryside like a man of easy money.

Convict Gets Check for $11,000.

There is at present in the western penitentiary at Rockview a prisoner whose time will be up in September, and naturally he has been looking forward to his release with a great deal of anticipation, but he was hardly prepared for the surprise he received last week when a letter reached him containing a check for $11,000. The check was his share of a legacy of $33,000 left to the prisoner and his two sisters by the will of a deceased uncle.

The sisters live in Chicago and that city was the boyhood home of the prisoner and also the home of the deceased uncle. The present inmate of the penitentiary left home some years ago and drifted into the western part of Pennsylvania. There he committed the crime which landed him in the penitentiary two years ago for an indeterminate sentence of from two to three years. He is well educated and has been a model prisoner, so that he will be discharged at the expiration of his minimum sentence, which is next month.

The one thing that is worrying the prisoner now is how to keep from his sisters in the future that he has served time in the penitentiary. So far he has reason to believe, according to the story reaching the writer, that they have no knowledge of his exact whereabouts. They know he is in Pennsylvania and have his old address, but so far as known they do not know that he strayed from the straight and narrow path and is now paying the penalty therefor. And it is understood that he has declared his intention of keeping the fact from them, if possible.

The check for $11,000 will be held by the prison authorities until the man receives his discharge when it will be turned over to him.

Bright Outlook for Italian Band.

The NuoVa Italia Banda will be the name of the band being organized by the Italian residents of Bellefonte and vicinity. The name is taken from the NuoVa Italia society, of which Joe Carpeneto is president, and also of which the band will really be an adjunct. Up to the present time thirty-five members have been enrolled but active practice will not begin until the latter part of September or the first of October.

The band has secured the services of Prof. S. Reggio, who is now in charge of the Renovo band, but he cannot come here permanently until the expiration of his contract at Renovo, which will be the latter part of September. Prof. Reggio came to Bellefonte last Saturday and signed the contract as leader and director of the new NuoVa Italia Banda. According to his fellow countrymen he held a prominent position as a musician in his home country, being leader and director of the Third regiment militaire band. Since coming to this country he has had charge of bands at Olean, Brooklyn, and Rochester, N. Y., and at Kane and Renovo, in this State.

Miss Mary Kline Showered by Patriotic League.

The annual meeting of the Patriotic League, held at the home of Mrs. Robert Mills Beach, on Tuesday evening, proved more of a social event than a business meeting. Of course the thirty-five members present got rid of the little business they had to transact first, which included the election of officers for the ensuing year, as follows: President, Miss Eleanor Weston; vice president, Miss Winifred M. Gates; secretary, Miss Beatrice Yeager; treasurer, Miss Nina Lamb.

After the business had been disposed of Mrs. Beach had the girls all assemble in one room then called Miss Mary Kline to come forward and as she did so two of the girls carried into the room a clothes basket filled to overflowing with a miscellaneous collection of useful gifts which were presented to Miss Kline in anticipation of her marriage in the near future to Dr. Jones, of Philadelphia. Naturally the young lady was as pleased as she was surprised and was profuse in thanks to her co-workers in the League for their kind remembrances.

Reminiscence of the old Bellefonte when the town was populated by people who knew one another intimately, and all of our families seemed to be descended from forebears who had always lived here it was a great pleasure to meet Sarah and Lydia Sheridan, Thursday afternoon of last week. It had been twenty-seven years since the latter had seen the home of her birth and it seemed like old times when we were all little folks together on 'cheap-side' to have a few moments chat with these two members of the well remembered Sheridan family of Thomas street.
