NEWS ABOUT TOWN AND COUNTY

-A special meeting of the Logan Fire company will be held next Tuesday evening, at 8 o'clock. All members are urged to attend.

-One industrial worker in Centre county was fatally injured during the month of July, according to a statement issued by the Department of Labor and Industry.

-In a seventy-five mile trip ties last Saturday the writer did not see one poor field of corn, but he did see many exceptionally fine ones And the corn in Centre county is much further advanced than in Huntingdon county, where some fields are just beginning to ear.

-The Lehigh express from Tyrone to Lock Haven, last Thursday, August 12th, had to stop at Mrs. Belle M. Mattern's farm at Julian to avoid killing a number of Kyle Alexander's cattle, which had strayed onto her farm. Fourteen head of threeyear-old heifers and young cattle were pasturing on her field.

-Now that the big business men's picnic is a thing of the past everybody will have time to prepare for the Grange encampment at Centre Hall, which is only three weeks away. The long detour from Bellefonte to Centre Hall will likely have some effect on the daily attendance from this side of the mountain, especially among those who generally motor over and back each day.

-Now that the sugar situation has been relieved so far as quantity has been concerned, if not the price. the coal situation is looming up as the big bugaboo to the long suffering public. The price of all kinds of coal really puts it in the luxury class, notwithstanding the fact that it is one of the absolute necessities, and even at the high price there is every indication that it is going to be scarce. In fact there was not a car load of coal all told in Bellefonte yards the beginning of the week, but one of the yards got a car of soft coal on Monday and three cars of hard coal on Tuesday, but orders have already been booked for practically every pound of it. The coal is not coming in fast enough to permit the yards to accumulate any surplus stock, and if such a condition continues until winter sets in the coal situation cannot help but become critical.

----Considerable excitement was created at the intersection of Allegheny and Bishop streets about 8:30 o'clock on Sunday evening by a collision between an automobile and a buggy in which were Tippy Cowher and two young ladies. The first knowledge the people of that section had of the collision was when they heard Tippy scream and naturally everybody promptly rushed to the scene expecting to find several people killed. But the only damage done was to the in the least, but Tippy was talking a officers, 3rd class, $60; second class, raveled the story of the accident they of victory buttons, which may be seting out of the way of another car. see him.

It is quite likely that the job will be done by the regular registration assessors but they can be helped in their work considerably if the women of the county will book themselves in advance and be ready to respond promptly to all questions asked. And now, as last, after a fifty years' struggle, the women have gotten what they have been fighting for, and there is no reason to doubt but that they will exercise their right as fairly and judicially as the average man.

Bellefonte Young Men Purchase the Meese Grocery.

Richard S. Brouse and Alfred Heverly have purchased the John Meese grocery and are now engaged in taking an inventory of the stock preparatory to taking it over. The recent death of J. Will Conley left the Meese grocery without a manager, and the family decided to sell the store as soon as possible. Quite a number of buyers were after it but the two men mentioned above were the successful purchasers.

Mr. Brouse has been the junior member of the R. S. Brouse grocery while Mr. Heverly has been associated with Claude Herr in the Herr & Heverly store. Under the name of the City Cash Grocery the new owners will dispose of their stock of dry goods and general merchandise and convert the store into an up-to-date grocery.

Among the Sick.

Mrs. George Blackford is so critically ill at her home on Bishop street that her daughter, Mrs. Grace Keefer, has secured a leave of absence from the Potter-Hoy store and is devoting all her time to looking after her mother.

William Burnside was taken violently ill last Friday at the Newcomer home on Curtin street, and his condition for several days was so serious that his friends were very much alarmed as to the outcome, but yesterday he was so decidedly improved that his recovery is anticipated.

Through Aerial Mail Service Put in Force on Tuesday.

Aerial mail service through from New York to Chicago without stopping at Bellefonte and Cleveland was started on Tuesday with the Larsen all metal monoplanes. Pilot Robinson drove the first of these planes carrying mail from New York to Chicago, passing over Bellefonte at 9:30 a. m. Just to show that he had no ill feeling against his old friends here he sailed low enough to wave his hands to the men on the field. He got through to Chicago the same evening. On the other hand pilot Page, who left Chicago for New York, failed to get through the same day. Just where he was compelled to come down is not known at this writing, but he did not reach New York until 10:30 o'clock on Wednesday morning.

Pilot Stevens left New York for Chicago on Wednesday morning but was compelled to come down in Bellefonte for a supply of gas, after being in the air three hours and twenty minwill be a success remains to be seen try-out. The one thing that may be against it is the length of time the pilot is compelled to stay up in the air, as the best flying time possible is estimated at from nine to ten hours. Naturally Bellefonte people are wondering what will become of the local aviation field in the event that the through service can be etablished on a sound basis, and of course, nobody knows definitely what may result. But for the present, at least, it will be kept as an emergency field, for just such occasions as that on Wednesday pelled to come down for gas.

Auto Wreck Caused by Sting of Bumblebee.

If you were driving an automobile and a bumblebee stung you in the face, would you let go of the wheel and kill the bumblebee, or stick to the wheel while the bumblebee was getting in his work? Of course very few drivers know what they would do. but one driver, at least, tried the experiment of letting go of the wheel and he not only wrecked his car but seriously.

The accident happended last Thursday afternoon. Two traveling men, A. R. Bixby, of Scranton, and William M. Walters, of Pittsburgh, left Lock Haven in the latter's Ford car to drive to Bellefonte. Down at Lamar a bumblebee lit on Walters' lip station. It is alleged that a motor the fall. While no one saw her fall and stung him.
