Miner Shot to Death.

Ole Johnson, a miner of Janesville, Clearfield county, died at the Cottage State hospital, Philipsburg, Thursday forenoon as the result of a mysterious shooting on Wednesday evening. Johnson was employed at the Mountz mines near Ginter, and after completing his work on Wednesday afternoon started on the five mile trip to his home with his own horse and buggy. He had covered about half the distance when there was a regular fusillade of shots. One bullet struck Mr. Johnson in the right side and another hit the horse, causing the animal to run at almost top speed the remaining distance to the Johnson home. Members of the Johnson family helped him from the buggy and when the seriousness of his condition was ascertained he was sent to the Cottage State hospital where he lingered until almost noon on Thursday when he passed away.

Johnson was thirty-six years old and leaves a wife and seven children. Before losing consciousness at the hospital he told the authorities that the shots were fired from the dense underbrush along the roadway, and he did not see anybody. He further stated that he had no idea who his murderers were.

The shooting is believed to be the result of a strike at the Mountz mine which has been in effect the past two years, and early this week Peter Burchesse was arrested on suspicion of being implicated in the shooting. Mrs. Ella Mountz, owner of the mine, has deposited the sum of $10,000 in bank to be used for the support and education of the seven children rendered fatherless by the shooting of Mr. Johnson.

Forester Horning Located at Milroy.

State Forester W. H. Horning has established his headquarters at Milroy, Mifflin county, from which place he will supervise the State forests in the Seven Mountain district. As a result of the readjustment of State lands and the consolidation of many of the smaller forests into large units, Forester Horning has charge of most of the State forests in Mifflin and Centre counties. He will look after the territory formerly supervised by Forester John W. Keller, who was at Boalsburg for several years.

More than a hundred bushels of white pine cones were collected this week by forest rangers in Centre county. Large quantities of cones were gathered on a lumber operation in the Milheim Narrows, and others were collected from the Allison tract which is being cut over near Potter's Mills.

Unionville people are planning for a big community picnic to be held on the school house grounds in that place on Saturday, September 18th. They have secured Wetzler's band, of Milesburg, to furnish the music and have planned for a big parade to include the I. O. O. F., the P. O. S. of A., the W. C. T. U., Civic club, Sunday schools, school children and the people generally. They will also draw liberally on the fat of the land for the big dinner in contemplation.

WILLIAM P. HUMES

HUMES.—In the passing away of William P. Humes the last of the male descendants of a family that has been prominent in the life and history of Bellefonte for a period of one hundred and ten years has gone and not one is left in Bellefonte to perpetuate the name. Mr. Humes, who had been a sufferer for a year or more with arterio-sclerosis, breathed his last at 5 o'clock on Tuesday morning, Monday he was up and around his room and no particular change was noticed in his condition until four o'clock on Tuesday morning, when he complained of feeling worse. A physician was hastily summoned but he soon passed beyond all mortal aid.

Mr. Humes was a son of Edward C. and Lucy Alexander Humes, and was born in Bellefonte September 21st, 1844, hence was just two weeks less than seventy-six years old. His grandfather, Hamilton Humes, came to Bellefonte from Lancaster county in the spring of 1810 and ever since the family has been prominently connected with the banking interests of Bellefonte. William P. Humes was educated at the Bellefonte Academy and the Farmer's High School (now The Pennsylvania State College.) Returning from that institution in 1861 he immediately identified himself with the banking firm of Humes, McAllister, Hale & Co., and was with it through its various progressive steps until it was organized as the First National bank of Bellefonte. A member of one of Bellefonte's oldest families he lived up to all its traditions and his passing away is cause for deep regret among the people of Bellefonte in general.

He was a life-long member of the Presbyterian church and had always been one of its most faithful supporters, being the ruling elder for many years. In politics he was staunchly Republican and was a member of the Union League, of Philadelphia, and several other organizations. On December 27th, 1877, he married Miss Eliza D. Harris. They had one daughter, but both the child and its mother preceded Mr. Humes to the grave so that his only immediate survivor is his sister, Miss Myra Humes. The funeral will be held at three o'clock this (Friday) afternoon. Dr. W. K. McKinney will be in charge of the services and burial will be made in the Union cemetery.

At a meeting of the Board of Directors of the First National Bank of Bellefonte, on Wednesday the following very appropriate minute on the death of Mr. Humes was adopted:

The Directors of the First National bank of Bellefonte desire to show their utmost appreciation of their late associate, Mr. William P. Humes, and to record by this minute the high place he held in their esteem, and the sincere sorrow they feel at his death.

Mr. Humes' membership in the board embraced a period of thirty-six years. During this period and to within a few months of his death, he was constant in his attendance, not only on the sessions of the board but in the work of the bank, his inherent courtesy inducing him to help in the active work of the institution. He did this for many years without salary, solely from his desire to lighten the labors of the officials of the bank.

His name was synonymous with all that stood for the highest standards of commercial honor, his courtesy was unflinching, his desire to help others unbounded; his conduct was unimpaired by selfish motives, and he exemplified in a striking manner the divine saying, "It is more blessed to give than to receive."

Mr. Humes will be remembered in all classes for his kindness. He possessed to a degree those qualities of the heart and the way of life that men of all ages have looked up to, and which are the basis of a true nobility. In his civic relations, in his church life as well as in his business career he stood always for that which is right.

Long association with him only served to strengthen the conviction that, in the higher attributes of humanity, he was a man apart.

MILLER.—Mrs. Catharine Miller, widow of B. F. Miller, of Madisonburg, died at the home of her son K. A. Miller, at Surveyor, Clearfield county, on Saturday, September 4th. She was taken sick with heart affection last March and being unable to secure the proper attention and care at her home her son took her to Surveyor where she improved sufficiently that three weeks ago she was strong enough to return to Centre county for a brief visit to her house. Upon her return to Surveyor she suffered a relapse from which she never recovered.

Mrs. Miller was a daughter of John and Rebecca Smeltzer, and was born in Miles township April 18th, 1847. She was a devoted member of the Come On and Help Us.

On the 15th of September the Watchman will have to draw a check for $2040.00 for paper. In the average country newspaper office that's an awful pile of money and this one is no exception. The price of the white paper on which the Watchman is being printed is now a trifle more than our subscribers are paying for the printed sheet we mail them. In other words we are editing, setting up, printing and mailing the Watchman to you for less money than we are paying the mill for the paper.

We can't do this long, but we have been struggling hard to keep it up with the hope that paper prices will fall before the sheriff gets us or we have to boost subscription rates in the effort to stall him off.

But to get back to the point. In fifteen days we will have to have $2040.00. It is needless to say we don't have it now. It is standing on our subscription list, however, and we want those whose subscription is not paid up to 1921 to come to our rescue. It won't be much from any individual; probably only $1.50 and in a few cases a trifle more.

Won't you look at the label on this paper right now, and if the year figures don't appear as '21 or '22 after your name and the month, sit right down and send us a check or money order for $1.50 for each year that intervenes between the year figure on your label and 1921. For illustration: Suppose your label reads: John Doe Sept 15-'19. To Sept. 15-1921, you would owe two years or $3.00.

It will cost two cents and no end of time to send each one of you a bill. Then it would cost two cents more and much more time to send a receipt. So please don't ask us to do either. We are actually losing money now in sending you the paper for $1.50 and surely you will help out by not insisting on a bill or receipt. Make a memoranda of what your label reads now and then if it does not change within a month after you have remitted write us. We correct the list only once a month.

Won't you try and consider this call in the spirit in which it is issued and send us your remittance, if you are not paid up to 1921, at once. We are not crying wolf. We are up against meeting a bill without sufficient funds.

THE DEMOCRATIC WATCHMAN
 by Geo. E. Meek.

Reformed church, Madisonburg, and a woman highly esteemed in that community. She is survived by two sons, J. Elmer Miller, of Lewisburg, and Kline A. Miller, of Surveyor, one son, William D., died in infancy.

Burial was made at Madisonburg, on Tuesday morning. Rev. Kurtz conducted the services and interment was made in the Reformed cemetery.

DONACHY.—Mrs. Mary Schrock Donachy, widow of the late Thomas Donachy, died at her home on Bishop street at five o'clock on Wednesday morning following an illness of two weeks as the result of a general breakdown.

She was a daughter of Benjamin and Hannah Peters Schrock and was born in the old Schrock home on Bishop street where the Sisters home is now located, being about seventy-five years of age. With the exception of a few years of her early married life which were spent in Lock Haven her home has always been on Bishop street. As a girl she was educated in the public schools of Bellefonte with a course at the Dickinson Seminary, Williamsport. Following her graduation at that institution she taught school several years and in 1869 was united in marriage to Thomas Donachy, a civil engineer. They went to housekeeping in Lock Haven but after a brief residence there moved to Bellefonte, and she thus rounded out her life in the place of her birth.

Early in life she became a member of the Methodist church and her enthusiasm in all church work was limited only by her ability to do any service, be it little or big. She was a very active member of the Woman's Aid Society and its very faithful treasurer for a period of eighteen years.

Mr. Donachy died on March 24th, 1918, and out of a family of seven children only two brothers survive her, namely: Christ Schrock, of Beaver Falls, and John, of Altoona. Never having had any children of her own she took a little girl named Emmy to raise and showered upon her all the love and filial devotion of a warm hearted generous nature. When the girl grew to womanhood she married Maurice Tucker and is now living in Akron, Ohio.

The funeral will be held in the Methodist church at one o'clock this (Friday) afternoon. Rev. Alexander Scott will officiate and burial will be made in the Union cemetery.

GRAY.—Following an illness of several years Miss Nannie Burket Gray passed away at her home in Stormstown last Friday afternoon. She was a daughter of Jacob Green and Miriam Burket Gray and was born on the old Jacob Gray farm in Halfmoon valley (now occupied by F. H. Clemson and family) on August 26th, 1867, hence was 53 years and 8 days old. Her mother died when she was a small girl and Miss Jennie Potts was installed as housekeeper in the Gray home and under her care and guidance the girl grew to womanhood. Many years ago her father sold the old farm homestead and moved to Stormstown and that had been Miss Gray's home ever since with the exception of a brief period spent in Tyrone.

She was a faithful member of Gray's Methodist church and until overtaken by illness a regular attendant. But her greatest charm, probably, was in her home life. Following the death of her father she and Miss Potts kept the home going in Stormstown and friend and stranger were always found a hospitable welcome awaiting him at the threshold. She never married and her only survivors
