Every Continent Sends Students to Penn State.

Every continent in the world is represented by one or more students at The Pennsylvania State College, according to an announcement by A. H. Eppenshade the registrar.

Seven nationalities in addition to the overwhelming majority of Pennsylvania nativity make up the 3000 student body, the most diversified ever enrolled at the college.

Europe is represented by one French girl, Asia by four Chinese boys, Africa by one Liberian, South America by a native of Venezuela, North America by one Canadian and 2980 children of Uncle Sam.

Six from Porto Rico and one from the Philippine Islands complete the college enrollment.

The United States is represented from Maine to California, and Alabama to Minnesota, by 130 students from twenty-one States outside of Pennsylvania, most of them coming great distances to pursue courses of study for which the college is noted.

This world-wide representation is found entirely among students of the upper classes, as only the children of Pennsylvania taxpayers compose the newer classes. Crowded conditions made it necessary to refuse admission this year to all applicants not residing in Pennsylvania.

Membership in the National Grange stands at approximately 750,000, S. J. Lowell, of Fredonia, N. Y., Master of the Grange, reports. "The first Grange was organized on April 15th, 1868, in Fredonia, N. Y.," says the report.

"It is a secret order, similar to all secret orders in many respects, with a ritual surpassed by none. It is non-sectarian and non-political and is devoted wholly to agriculture and agricultural pursuits.

"The Grange is now organized in thirty-three States, which are chiefly in the north, as many of the southern States have no Granges. The largest Grange State is New York, which has a membership of 128,000.

"A great deal of co-operative work is done. Insurance of farmers' buildings is probably the greatest financial enterprise. The amount carried in the insurance department runs into the hundreds of millions."

Winter Precautions About Autos. Motorists need not be quick about putting their cars in storage this year; in fact, they will get plenty of use from them if they don't store them away, for there are many indications that the approaching winter will be a short and mild one.

In noting these facts, the United States Tire company points out that one nice thing about motoring in winter is that wear on tires is less in cold weather than in the hot summer.
